Dear Rabbi Tanenbaum,

There are no accolades expressive enough to voice our extreme pleasure with your powerful and erudite address at our annual Inter-Congregational Men's Clubs Dinner.

We were honored to have a man of such fine calibre and knowledgeability as you as our guest speaker. Every man there was sitting on the edge of his seat so as not to miss a word and our phones have been ringing with only the highest compliments.

We look forward to hearing great things about you in the future because you are such a master in your field of endeavor.

Thank you for making our evening one of the classics of our synagogue.

Sincerely yours,

Irving Laker

Dear Marc:

In the crush of the crowd following your excellent address of last evening I did not have the opportunity of conveying my appreciation to you for the analysis and insight which you presented so effectively.

I could tell from the rapt attention of your audience how successful your presentation was. A hearty yasher koach to you for making it such a well-spent evening.

Cordially,

Milton Arm
