Dear Herb:

Max has told me of his conversation with you. I did not know you were now living in Israel, but I am pleased for you. It must be an exciting life.

Thank you for your help, dear friend.

All my best.

Sincerely,

Hubert H.

Dear Herbert:

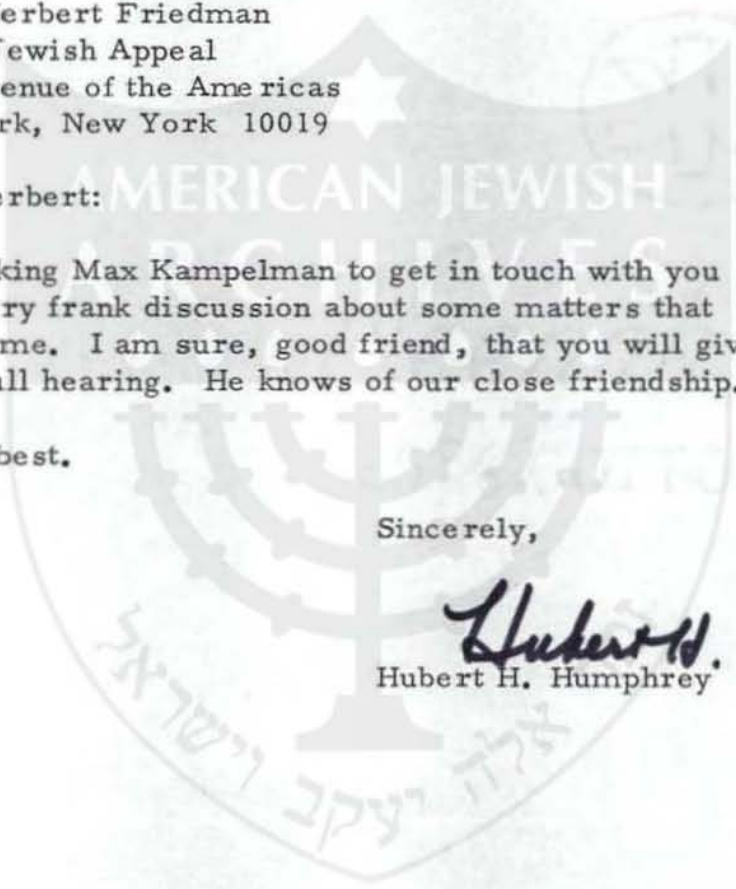

I am asking Max Kampelman to get in touch with you for a very frank discussion about some matters that disturb me. I am sure, good friend, that you will give him a full hearing. He knows of our close friendship.

All my best.

Sincerely,

Hubert H.

Dear Herb:

It was good to see you the other night in New York at the UJA dinner. Yes, it's always good to be with you.

As I told you, I am going to seek the nomination; and believe me, Herb, I need your help wherever possible.

Thanks for all your many kindnesses to me. And be assured of my full and enthusiastic cooperation with you and your work.

Sincerely,

Hubert H. Humphrey

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

I have been thinking about our conversation. I do want to go to Israel and am going to select a date very shortly.

In the meantime, permit me to make the following suggestions. When planeloads of leaders from the Jewish community go to Israel, they should be accompanied by a good selection of professors from our universities, radio, TV and press people, and also ministers, priests and pastors from the Christian community. I think it is very important that the story of Israel be told not only to the leaders of the Jewish community but to other Americans -- business, labor, academic, media, and church leaders. I know you are doing some of this, but really more needs to be done. These college professors would love to go, and so would some of the labor leaders. And by the way, they are our friends and can be very helpful.

I just pass these thoughts along for whatever good they may be.

Sincerely,

Hubert H. Humphrey

Dear Herb:

How I wish I could be with you in Israel. I am afraid that my journey will have to be delayed until sometime in April or early May. That's the way it looks now, but I am going.

Your suggestion of a planeload of academicians is just what I had in mind. I guess it's better to send a planeload of people of similar activity and profession rather than mix them up.

When you get back from Israel, get in touch with me. I'll try to be helpful.

Sincerely,

Hubert H. Humphrey

Dear Mr. Humphrey:

I have your letter and look forward to hearing from you concerning the date you select for a visit to Israel. I plan to be there from approximately 15 - 25 January. It certainly would be fun if we were there together. On the other hand, that is obviously not mandatory, and you please feel free to pick any date you want.

Regarding your suggestion about adding professors, ministers, media people, to the planeloads of community leaders who go to Israel each week, I appreciate your thoughtfulness and have the germ of an idea from what you wrote.

I am not certain that these people will all mix well together, but I do think that a planeload of people from the academic world does make a great deal of sense. What would your reaction be to our trying to arrange one planeload of academicians? Would Professor Humphrey be willing to go along with that planeload? Let's think of a handful of important names around whom we could build a planeload.

Looking forward to hearing from you, I am,

As ever,

Herbert A. Friedman

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

I have learned from Hyman Bookbinder of your plans for the Young Leadership Cabinet of the United Jewish Appeal. Your proposal to bring this group to Washington for a general briefing on major national issues is an excellent one. You are to be commended for developing this program.

While it would be inappropriate for me to be the official host of such a gathering, I want you to be assured of my desire to be as helpful as possible in putting together a useful program. I have asked both Mr. Bookbinder and Mr. Martin McNamara of my staff to help you obtain the most appropriate speakers and to help you as much as they can, but I cannot commit myself to attend at this time. However, please keep my office informed of the date when it is selected.

Sincerely,

Hubert H. Humphrey
