SARA NACHAMSON EVANS DEAD AT 80

¹⁹⁶⁸
DURHAM, N.C., March 27 (JTA) -- Sara Nachamson Evans, a local, regional and national leader of Hadassah who was active for more than a half century on behalf of Israel, Jewish and civic causes, died at Duke Hospital here Sunday at the age of 80. She was the wife of Emanuel Evans who served as Mayor of Durham from 1950-63 and who, with her, created and supported the Judaic Studies Center at Duke University and the University of North Carolina over the past 15 years.

Evans inherited her passion for Israel from her mother, Jenny Nachamson, who founded the first Hadassah chapters in the South in 1919 and led the organization while raising nine children.

Sara Evans served as president of the Durham chapter of Hadassah from 1942-45 as president of Hadassah's Seaboard region, which covered nine states. A life member of the Hadassah national board since 1942, she was its national vice president from 1954-57.

A dynamic public speaker, she was known as Hadassah's "southern accent" during her travels across the South, beginning in the late 1930's, organizing local and state chapters.

During World War II, she and her husband signed more than 50 affidavits enabling Jews fleeing from Hitler's Europe to come to the United States. The guarantee of a job from an American citizen was a prerequisite for them to obtain a visa. Many were employed in the Nachamson family chain of stores in North Carolina and Virginia, known as United Department Stores.

After the founding of Israel in 1948, the Evanses lobbied for political support of Israel among the North Carolina Congressional delegation and other political leaders in the South. She headed the Women's Division of the United Way campaign in Durham in 1952 and was a member of the League of Women Voters and the North Carolina Board of the American Association of the United Nations.

Dear Herb,

I was saddened to hear about the death of your father. I want you to know that my sympathies go to you and your family. I trust all else is well with everyone.

I hope to get in to see you the next time I get to the city. Once again, I'm sorry about the news of your father.

As always,

Dear Herb,

We were sorry to learn of your father's death. This is indeed a difficult time for the entire family. We hope it is some comfort to you to know that your friends share your sorrow. Our deepest sympathy

Dear Herbert:

Sybil and I just learned about Dad's passing a few weeks ago from cousin Rose Englander. We were indeed very sorry to have gotten this news. I'm certain that Dad had lived a full and satisfying life that somehow seems to elude those of our generation and that of our children. There are so few of the Aaronson's left.

My mother, at 88, is at the Home of the Daughters of Jacob in the Bronx. Blind, not ambulatory, but quite alert. Not a pleasant experience for us when we visit her each week. We have never told her about my brother Perry's passing a couple of months ago. I'm sure her knowing this would be jointless.

We do hope that you and your family are in excellent health. Please convey our best wishes to them.

Sincerely

Sybil Aaronson

Dear Herbert:

I was indeed sorry to hear of your dear father's passing, via Rose.

Since childhood, I was fond of the sweet, handsome man; when your parents visited us, en famille, it was always a happy occasion.

My husband George joins me in extending sincere condolences at this Sad time, to you and family.

Dear Herb -

I know how dearly you treasured your Father, and I am sorry you have lost him. I offer you the small consolation that I took to myself two years ago, :- that while he lived you were truly a good, dutiful and loving son. -

Be well, Herb. - With warmest regards. -

Dearest Ned -

The news of your father just reached us. There is little we can say - your father looked so fit at your cocktail party in December, and as always, his friendly and warm personality made us all feel welcome. While I never had the pleasure of knowing him well, we always exchanged greetings, and knowing you and what he has made you the most unique person we know, much of your greatness surely comes from your parents. May the pleasant memories sustain & comfort you always -

Dear Francine + Herb: Jan 21, 1971

I was sorry to learn of the untimely death of Herb's father.

At a recent UJA Conference, I met him, quite by chance, at one of the sessions.

He was a gentle man who was deeply moved by events in Israel. I need not tell you how proud he was of Herb's accomplishments and leadership of UJA.

I extend deepest sympathy to you + hope you will be spared future sorrow + grief.

Sincerely,
Hank

I remember your father well, and I also recall the warmth with which you spoke of him. Believe me when I tell you that I can well appreciate the sense of loss you now feel. My own father is gone twenty years and the wound I suffered when he died has never completely healed. The scar is still there. I wouldn't want it any other way, and knowing you or I do I'm sure you wouldn't either.

You have all my sympathy in your bereavement.

There is perhaps no need to tell you that my thoughts are with you. It is the wrong moment to speak of my frustrations:

What is there really

Perhaps a new expression

Dear Herbert:

Words of sympathy, I realise, do not help the bereaved. However at a moment of personal loss, they do I hope, provide some consolation to you and your family, at the passing of your father. Your friends, who did not know your father, must assume that ^{he} was an inspiring personality, endowed with unique qualities, you have inherited. Herbert, you have never spared in giving of yourself for Klal Yisrael. Your late father, I am sure derived satisfaction in your achievements; and you, I hope, will be comforted with this memory, and your continued dedication for Zion's redemption.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Herb:

Letters of condolence are the most difficult thing for me to write. It's hard to express the thought that your loss somehow touches me as well - particularly when I did not have the pleasure of knowing your father. I do know his son, however, and admire and respect him. Therefore, when a person who is important to me feels a loss, I must express my own thoughts of sympathy upon that loss.

The year past has touched our staff with many bereavements. I hope that the year ahead will balance these with occasions of joy.

Kindest personal regards.

Dear Herb:

I know I offered you my condolences on the death of your father when we were in Israel, but I wanted to drop you a note anyway.

Your dedication to the Jewish world is fantastic. You went far beyond anything anyone would have ever expected you to do by coming to Herzliya on Wednesday night. If you hadn't shown nor called it would have been completely understandable.

When we lose our parents, regardless of age or physical condition, there is a deep hurt because we only have one mother and father and it strikes home how limited our time on earth is. You are truly one of the history makers of the modern Jewish world and I hope God gives you strength and endurance to carry on your dedicated work.

*Sincerely,
Lou*

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

We were saddened to hear of the passing of your father, Israel Friedman. I did not know your father personally but I can well imagine he must have been a great human being if for no other reason than to have had a son such as yourself.

Having experienced the loss of my own father not too long ago I can appreciate the thoughts that must be running through your mind and I wish there were some way that I could add some consolation. I have found out from my own personal experience, however, that there is no true consolation that can be gotten except to say that there is no question but that memories such as I am sure you will have will be of great help in the future.

It is with deep sadness that I learned about your beloved father's death. I had had the pleasure of enjoying his company on several occasions, therefore this expression of sympathy to you and your good brothers are far from perfunctory.

I don't know if he ever expressed this to you, but I know that it was a source of solemn pride -and joy- that it had been given to him to contribute a son of such glowing qualities to the service of the Jewish people. I do hope that your continued great deeds will forcefully remind us of this for many more years.

Dear Herbert,

We have just seen the announcement of the death of your father. Please accept our very sincerest sympathy; we earnestly hope you will be spared further sorrow or anxiety for many years.

Last time we heard you were in Caesarea we 'phoned (again!) There was no reply, but the next day - when we happened to be in Jerusalem - we heard we'd missed you by one day! - This seems to happen all the time so that, since you have been "neighbours" you have neither been offered the hospitality of our home, nor given us a chance to come and wish you luck in yours. We do hope that next time you are here you will 'phone and tell us so - so that the errors of omission can be repaired. Since we live "the wrong side of the tracks" we can't see when you are in residence, and have to rely either on hearing the chance remark, or having the chance meeting. Remembering the "old days" in Caesarea, we don't like to think that now we are the only ones of your neighbours who have not brought greetings to your beautiful new home....

Our united good wishes to you all. We are sure that you will have found comfort, during your mourning, in your delightful family and in the relentless pressure of all your good work.

Very sincerely,

Herschell & Coral

Dear Herb:

We were terribly sorry to learn today of the passing of your father. Having gone through this myself, it is not difficult to realize the hurt and pain that one experiences. I am sure that the memories of boyhood, later relationships and his teachings to you will always be present.

Fathers are usually something special. Even though their lives may have been full-lived and in accordance with usually accepted time tables for number of years, when the twilight and finally night comes, the darkness is not easy to bear.

Time alone can help to assuage the suffering; memories help, too. Please accept our deepest sympathy.

Always,

Dear Rabbi Friedman,

I learned with great regret of the passing of your father and would ask you to accept and convey to all members of your family my very sincere sympathy.

With every hope that you will find comfort in your great work for our People,

Sincerely,

Dear Herb:

I have Irving's memo advising of your loss. It brings instant recollection of another sad occasion - exactly 4 years ago, almost to the day - in Atlanta, when Megot's Dad passed away while we were at the regional meeting. I recall how comforting you & all the U.J.A. family were at that moment - I wish I had the right words to comfort you now, as I am aware of the depth of your loss. I'm told your Dad was quite a man. Please accept warmest sympathy from Megot & I.
Sincerely,
Herb

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

We have received a contribution for the Jerusalem YM-YWHA (Beth Hanoar Haivri of Jerusalem) in memory of your late father from
Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Strelitz.

Please accept our condolences.

You may be interested to learn that there are now more than 3000 individuals of all ages coming from a cross-section of the city of Jerusalem who are participating in the program and services of the Jerusalem Y. In these times of great tension, the institution is providing activities that help relieve anxieties in addition to meeting the on-going needs of the members.

We are pleased that the Jerusalem YM-YWHA was chosen as the channel to memorialize your late dear father.

Paulette was away when I received word from Irving about your father's death. I realize that no matter when one loses his father one feels very sad.

In my own case my father was lost to the family when I was only three months old, the result is that I have no recollection of him therefore have always envied those who were fortunate enough to have their father for many, many years. I hope that your many memories of the days that you and your father shared together will keep alive your warmest recollections of him. January 31, 1971

Dear Herb:

With its customary speed, the bad news reached me immediately after the event. The temptation was to send a wire but I resisted it because I wanted to say more than a few cryptic words.

I do not know how many hours I spent in your father's presence. What I do know is that each time I saw him you were there also. And I could not help but sense his deep feeling of pride that he had sired a son of your stature.

You treated him with great respect and made him feel wanted. This, I am sure, made him serene, a privilege relatively few parents have. So you observed one of the major commandments and he blossomed because of it.

Since no human being is exempt from frustrations and disappointments I am certain that your father had his just share of them. However, as I contemplate what you gave him, I believe that he closed his eyes for the last time, happy--happy that he had given his people a son who, in my humble judgment, has done as much for Jewry as any man of our times.

I want to believe that you draw comfort from the fact that your father was granted a full measure of years--years that fell short of the traditional 120 but then...

I have before me the image of your father, a very sweet human being whom I did not know too well but in whose presence I felt good.

Your have my sympathy in this hour of your loss.

Affectionately,

Use

Dear Herb,

It was saddening to learn of your father's passing, I can well understand grief over the loss of one so near and dear. Your Dad must have felt great pride in, and derived much personal satisfaction from, your outstanding leadership, both in your chosen profession and in your dedicated work on behalf of the Jewish people and the State of Israel.

Please accept my deepest sympathy, and extend heartfelt condolences to all members of the family.

Dear Herbert,

I was grieved to learn that your father had passed away. He is part of my happy memories of my youthful days when I visited New Haven as often as I had a date up there, and spent the week-ends in your parents' home.

Your mother was very dear to me, and I know how happy your father made her, and how proud they both were of their three sons.

Lolly Dordon and her sister Clara

Dear Rabbi Friedman,

We were deeply concerned to learn, through the columns of the "Jerusalem Post", of the death of your father.

I am asked by the Executive Council of the South African Zionist Federation and the Committee of the Israeli United Appeal to convey to you and your family their sincere sympathy in your great loss.

With warm regards,

Yours sincerely,

L.H. HODES:
GENERAL SECRETARY.

Dear Herb:-

I was deeply sorry to learn of dear father's passing. I met him many years ago when we were both young boys, in Worcester Mass. It was a few weeks after my arrival in the United States that I organized the "Young Zionist Society" and he was one of the first to join. I remember him as a devoted member, kind & considerate and everyone's friend. Last time I met him in Israel I believe, in '64 and we talked of those "wonderful days" in Worcester.

Please accept my deep sympathy.
Enclosed is a tree certificate in his memory.

Sincerely,
Meyer
