SUBJECT: POSSIBLE DATES FOR OCTOBER COMMISSION MEETING

HLZ and I suggest that we begin now to find a date for our celebratory event in October. There are very few dates from which to choose.

The last of the major fall Jewish holidays, Simchat Torah, occurs on Friday, October 12. The JDC has workshops and executive committee meetings October 15-17. The Jewish Agency Board of Governors meeting takes place in Israel October 25 through November 1. If we wish to avoid Fridays, as we have in the past, and to give Jewish Agency people the day previous to their meeting for travel, that leaves us with Thursday, October 18, Monday, October 22 or Tuesday, October 23 as the only possible dates.

I understand that you are unavailable on the 18th. I suggest that I contact key commissioners about the 22nd and 23rd.

The format will have to be determined. Our preliminary recommendation calls for a brief business meeting of perhaps one hour, followed by a reception and possibly a dinner meeting for funders. Following this scenario, I suggest a 3:00 p.m. starting time.

We also have to think about a location for this event. I believe this is better suited to a hotel than to the UJA/Federation. I can work with Bea Katcher on this, once I have your thoughts.

SUBJECT: DATE FOR FINAL COMMISSION EVENT

Thursday, November 8, 1990 is the date which senior policy advisors tentatively settled upon for a final Commission event. I had checked this date with Mr. Bronfman, Mr. Crown, and Mr. Hirschhorn in addition to senior policy advisors and all but Lester Crown indicated their availability.

You took the assignment to check the date with your brothers.

Is this date now firm enough to be announced in the follow-up letter which will go to Commissioners with the minutes? Please advise.

The celebratory meeting could accommodate 125-150 persons. These would be members of the Commission and selected individuals who have a close relationship to the work of the Commission.

They should be invited to a luncheon or dinner meeting which should be billed as the final meeting of the Commission. It's purpose would be to issue the report of the Commission, and to discuss follow-up arrangements to see to the implementation of the Commission's findings and recommendations.

The invitation list should be carefully scanned to include key professional and lay leaders whose support will be needed to implement the recommendations of the Commission.

The occasion might be used to announce the membership in the professional leadership of the follow-up mechanism. It might also be utilized to try to get an expression from private foundations as to their plans for Jewish education support during the next 5-10 years. If we are far enough in our discussions with federations, the program should include our plans for urging increased federation support.

There might also be some sort of presentation to members of the Commission, and recognition of the work of David Finn and others who have made an important contribution to the preparation of the report.

SUBJECT: NOVEMBER 8 COMMISSION EVENT

My contact at the JCC Association is now back from vacation and tells me that there is space available at the Grand Hiatt for an event on November 8. She is concerned, however, that if we do not move quickly, the space will be taken.

Nothing is definite, but she projected a cost of approximately $300-400 for the use of the room (although she would help us to try to get this waived). A luncheon would cost approximately $65-70 per person. In addition, the Hiatt would give us a "special" rate of $165 per person per night for participants wishing to stay there.

The cost of a luncheon at the UJA/Federation would be $60-70 per person. There is no charge for the room.

The overall cost of using the UJA/Federation (and staying at the Doral Tuscan for $180) is not substantially less than the Hiatt. I suggest that we use the Hiatt and that we reserve space now.

I understand that we will probably have a luncheon rather than a dinner. I would suggest reserving the space from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm.

Please advise.

With the help of staff at the JCC Association, we have tentatively reserved space at the Grand Hiatt for an event on November 8. Others also have the space tentatively reserved, so it is important that we move quickly.

The projected cost of use of the space is $300-400 (although there is a chance that we can get this waived). A luncheon would cost approximately $65-70 per person. In addition, the Hiatt would give us a rate of $165 per person per night for participants wishing to stay there.

HLZ and I have discussed this and recommend that we use the Hiatt. I suggest that we reserve the space from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm. This allows us the flexibility of holding a meeting prior to a luncheon, should we decide to do so.

It has been suggested that we make a definite reservation as soon as possible, preferably by the end of the week. Please advise.

SUBJECT: NOVEMBER 8 MENU

Attached are 2 proposed menus for the Commission luncheon at the Grand Hyatt on November 8. Both are glatt kosher, and should be acceptable to everyone. The cost of either is $45.00 plus 18% gratuity.

I am told that we can mix and match. I suggest that we select menu A, but offer participants a choice of the lemon sole or grilled chicken breast. The main course options would be proposed in the letter of invitation and the response card would include a box to indicate preference.

Please advise.

Dear Steve:

Thank you for your letter of August 27th regarding the November 8th meeting of the Commission on Jewish Education in North America.

I am really at a loss as to whom to suggest to you that you may not have thought of, because I would suspect that would have thought of everyone. But I will give you some sense.

I do believe, for an occasion such as this, that you should invite all national agency executives and presidents. We will be happy to provide you with such a list if you agree with this recommendation.

2. I also think that you should invite the Large City Federation presidents and executives, and let them be on the ground floor. You may not end up with a great attendance, but at least they will know that they were included. ¹⁹ special
3. In addition, I would suggest that you invite Bill Berman, Coray Goodman, Norbert Fruehauf, Jeff Solomon, Joel D. Tauber, Detroit (He headed the Detroit Commission), Mark Schluskel, Detroit.
4. From a parochial point of view, I would like to suggest that you invite Bernie Olshansky, Don Feldstein and Dick Jacobs, because I would like CJF to be well represented.

Dear Steve,

It is not too late to wish you a Shana Tova and a Gmar Chatima Tova. Zevulun Hammer the Minister of Education has agreed to participate on November 8th. We checked with his office and he is to be listed in the following way:

The Honorable Zevulun Hammer
Minister of Education and Culture
State of Israel

I think it would be a good idea if we spoke to each other in the next few days. This would make it possible for me to more fully brief the Minister on his role and help him consider the content that would be most helpful to us.

Sincerely yours,

Seymour Fox

RE: Invitations

Invitations to commissioners and policy advisors and the first 40 from the reduced list (see attached) have gone out. We will work on the rest of the names we have for mailing on Mon. MLM felt that the original list was way too long. He eliminated some names and Steve and I did some more cutting, at MLM's request(!).

Some questions for you:

1. Either you or Seymour told me that we should write to Jaime Constantiner in New York. Can you send me the address?
2. You did not provide me with addresses for several of the people who attended forums. Are they not to be invited? Remember, we should limit the list wherever we can. They are:

Sylvia Fishman, Sam Heilman, Susan Shevitz, Larry Steinberg

- invite

3. The following names were on your list, but not mine. Which are to be added? (Note: we are not paying expenses for anyone other than the few commissioners and policy advisors who have come to expect it.)

Anita Epstein (I assume we'll ask for her help, if her health is ok.)

- invite

Sylvia Ettenberg

Paul Freedman - call Bob Abramson re US names - add only those

Art Naparstek (MLM removed from list. Care to argue it?)

- no

Jacob Ukeles

Israel Katz

Danny Tropper

Zvi Barak

Simcha Dinitz

Mendel Kaplan

Zeev Mankowitz (MLM removed from list.)

To put this in perspective, we asked each of the seminary presidents to suggest names of people. We also have the presidents of the rabbinical organizations and a short list from UAHC. We've asked the following organizations for a few names, each: Torah Umesorah, Hillel, CAJE, CLAL.

As of now, we will be inviting 103 non-commissioners plus 38 federation presidents and execs, who are getting a special letter indicating that there will be a presentation at the GA and who will probably not come on 11/8. I need your advice on how to proceed. HELP!

With SHH, I went through the list of possible invitees for 10/8 and cut to just over 100, of whom we expect fewer than half to come. We will continue to get 2-3 names from several more sources, but are finding now that many of the suggestions are repeats of names we have.

In addition to commissioners and policy advisors, we got 40 out by 10/3. We're ready with the rest to go on 10/8. (Had to stop for Sukkot.)

Please review the attached lists + return to me 10/8, so we

MLM: Following is the list that Seymour and Annette have suggested. They say that the Israelis will come only if they have plans to be in the US anyway and feel that they should all be invited. I questioned the inclusion of Anita Epstein, but was told she was in on this from the beginning, that she is too ill to come, but that she should be invited. 2. There will be eight principals present at the press conference. I suggest that we use placecards to identify each person. Do you agree? yes

3. I suggest that we not use placecards at the 10:30 meeting. I believe that assigning seats for this large group would cause confusion. We have placecards for commissioners and could make them for others, if you think we should. Please advise.

only for Head table

Ginny said that, awhile ago, she asked you if you thought there should be assigned seating (and placecards) for the Commissioners at the meeting on Thursday. You said no.

Steve Hoffman thinks there should be places assigned for the Commissioners at the tables in front. The seating for everyone else would not be assigned.

VFL thinks this would suggest "second class citizenship" for the rest of the people.

Another suggestion, made by HLZ, would be to put a sign on the front tables saying "Reserved for Commissioners".

VFL would like to know what you think would be best.

SUBJECT: DETAILS FOR NOVEMBER 7 AND 8

1. We have a room reserved at the Grand Hyatt for the planning meeting at 9:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 7. There is a charge of $4.50 per person for coffee and tea and a charge of $100 for the set up and use of an overhead projector and screen. There is no rental charge for the room.

You mentioned the possibility of meeting at your apartment. While we could not then view the projected slides, AH could have hard copy of the slides available for review.

I should notify Josie as soon as possible if we do not wish to use the room, or if we wish to use the room and no projector. Please advise.

2. For your information, the breakfast and press conference on November 8 will take place on the Conference Level, the 10:30 meeting will be on the Mezzanine Level, one flight below, and the luncheon meeting will be on the Ballroom Level, two flights up from the Mezzanine Level. I am told by Josie that there are sufficient elevators and that they move quickly.

OK

3. The 10:30 meeting will be set up schoolroom style with chairs at rectangular tables. At the front will be a dais with a table for up to five people. There will be three main speakers at that session: MLM, AH, and SHH. I propose that these three plus HLZ be seated on the dais.

OK

4. The luncheon will be set up with round tables, one of which will be reserved. The tables are designed to seat ten, but I have asked that they be set for eight. I suggest that the following ten people be seated at the speakers' table: JNM, JCM, MLM, SF, AH, HLZ, Hammer, Berman, Pollack and Fisher.

BULLET POINTS FOR MLM PRESS CONFERENCE
NOVEMBER 8, 1990

I. SAW A PROBLEM

- * In 1987 - Consensus that Jewish Education was not working
- * North American Jewry had succeeded in finding its way into the mainstream of society. Assimilation was the reward - Jewish identity and commitment the trade off
- * Feeling there was a vacuum
- * Need for comprehensive look at the issue
- * A billion dollar industry in North America
- * Sense that we were not getting a fair return on our investment
- * We needed to forge a new response which would not rest on the shelf of a library - but will lead to a new action agenda

II. ORGANIZED TO ADDRESS THE PROBLEM

- * The Commission on Jewish Education in North America was conceived and organized
- * Mandel Associated Foundations funded its work (one million dollars)
- * Convened 46 of North American top scholars, educators, philanthropists, community leaders and foundation leaders from across all denominational lines.
- * This forging of diverse segments was both a major challenge and opportunity to make a difference for historical commission
- * Each group of players enriched the process and energized the work of the Commission
- * The commissioners were major actors and not passive observers. They reviewed and critiqued all draft material
- * The Commission held six plenary sessions between August 1988 and June 1990.

III. WHAT WE SAW

- * A system under strain and having been neglected for too many years
- * A system with people deeply dedicated but highly frustrated
- * Competing demands for human and financial resources
- * A weakening commitment to Jewish life
- * While a large majority of Jewish children have at one time or another received some form of Jewish education, it has often been so sporadic so as to have little impact
- * A corresponding weakening of commitment to Israel as the center of the Jewish world
- * Deficiencies in community support
- * An underdeveloped and unappreciated profession of Jewish educators
- * Need for reliable data i.e. current state of activities and opportunity for change

IV. THE PLAN OF ACTION

- * Commission identified twenty-three areas for possible intervention
- * Commission agreed from the out-set that a) we are determined to make a concrete impact on Jewish life; b) we would not conclude the work of this Commission without beginning the implementation process the very day we issued our report.

Therefore, we have created a new entity: the Council for Initiatives in Jewish Education

Its functions have been set forth in our report, initial funding is in place, a director has been appointed and a board of directors is in formation.

- * The Commission in its report makes the following recommendations:
 - 1) Making Jewish Education a Profession
 - 2) Creating a body of research
 - 3) Increasing the level of community involvement
 - 4) Raising fundings -securing $25 - $50 million dollars over next five years
 - 5) Creating several lead or laboratory communities.

POTENTIAL QUESTIONS AT THE PRESS CONFERENCE

1. What exactly were the auspices of this commission?
Who chose the members?

Ans. The Commission was convened by the Mandel Associated Foundations, co-sponsored by the Jewish Community Center Association and the Jewish Education Services of North America and in cooperation with the Council of Jewish Federations; the members were chosen by the chairman of the Commission in consultation with a professional advisory committee drawn from the sponsoring organizations.

2. Who paid for the Commission?

Ans.: The Mandel Associated Foundations.

3. How much did it cost?

Ans.: Approximately $1 million over the two years.

4. What did you expect to come out of it?

Ans.: Did not have a preconceived notion -- wanted to put the tough questions to a group of experts and watch them shape some kind of blueprint.

5. Does the Commission's report meet your expectations?

Ans: Yes, we have a clear sense of direction and a concrete plan on what steps to take next and a mechanism to take those steps.

6. Who will raise the $25 million to $50 million mentioned in the press release?

Ans.: We're not actually raising $25 million to $50 million. We are estimating that $25-$50 million will be granted by a host of foundations with interest in Jewish education over the next 5 years or so. We hope through the work of the Council for Initiatives in Jewish Education to provide some guidance to those foundation grants and some linkages between the foundations and communities.

7. How will the money be distributed?

Ans: Each of the foundations will determine for itself how to distribute its own funds. There is no superfund being assembled.

8. What will the money be used to do?

Ans.: The monies granted by the foundations will be used to pursue the particular programs of those foundations, be it in development of model teacher programs, recruitment efforts, fellowships for outstanding educators' training, better development of Israel-related experiences for youngsters, the development of modern technology vehicles for educational purposes, research interests, and the like. What we hope to do is to link these foundation interests with comprehensive program development in local communities, and that's what we refer to in the report as the "lead community recommendation."

9. How are you going to professionalize Jewish education?

Ans.: What we hope to do here is to work with the major training institutions to develop, where they don't exist already, comprehensive training programs for Jewish educators and, where they already exist in some form, to enhance them. We need to produce many more teachers than we currently prepare each year, and we have to work with local communities to raise salary standards, fringe benefits, and generally give greater empowerment to educators.

10. Who will do the research mentioned in the report?

Ans.: The Council will bring together some of the leading research minds in general and Jewish education and ask them to assemble a research agenda and to identify promising researchers to undertake the agenda.

11. Who will chair the CIJE?

Ans.: I will. Morton Mandel will initially, and then there will be a board, and it will choose its own leadership.

-3-

12. What will CIJE cost?

Ans.: Approximately a half million dollars a year. It's going to have a very small professional staff.

13. When will it get started?

Ans.: We hope to have it underway shortly after the first of the year.

14. How is it different than JESNA?

Ans: CIJE will be a place that brings together many actors in the educational arena who are not currently fully engaged with JESNA, such as the training institutions and the various denominational movements as well as members of the foundation community that have an interest in Jewish education. In addition, the CIJE views Jewish education as a seamless continuum of formal and informal experiences. JESNA today currently spends much of its time servicing Bureaus of Jewish Education and the more formal aspects of our system.

15. How can you get this started now with all of the attention and funds being focused on the needs of Soviet Jews in Israel?

Ans.: What we are witnessing with Soviet Jews in Israel is a miracle in our time. It came about because dedicated Jews worked very hard outside of the Soviet Union to rescue our brothers and sisters. These dedicated Jews all had some kind of Jewish education that passed on to them the values of their tradition and the lessons of Jewish history. It's incumbent on us now, in this generation, to continue that transmittal process of values and the lessons of history. There is never going to be an easy time in Jewish life to get started on a new effort in Jewish education, and we just feel that doing so is as vital as the current rescue efforts so there will be Jews in the future in the Diaspora, and in particular here in the United States, who will defend Jewish rights and Jewish values in generations to come.

16. Did all Commission members agree that things were so bad in Jewish education.

Ans: What we say in our report is that there are elements in the Jewish community that are thriving and that there are many more segments of the Jewish community that are experiencing difficulty in transmitting our Jewish heritage in a way that is exciting and engaging for our young people. We recognize a variety of views among commissioners in our work with them. I think where we have come out is that we want to help all segments of the Jewish community advance their values through their institutions. We are not riding a horse in favor of one denomination over another, but we want to enhance the total educational enterprise.

17. How are you going to get a higher priority for Jewish education in times like these?

Ans.: One of the ways we expect to do this is through this lead community effort in which we will bring outside experts to engage with local community planners. Through the kind of excitement we expect to be generated, we think the educational priorities will come up higher in the communities' agenda.

18. If you had to sum up the central idea of the Commission, what would it be?

Ans.: I think if I had to pick the central theme it would be the need to develop a better and more extensive cadre of professionals. My experience has been if you train the right people to lead a system, they in turn will find a way to solve the other problems in that system. That's why we focused on the needs of the profession. Complementing that was the desire to get a community to pay more attention to the educational enterprise.

19. Was it a problem getting different denominations to sit down and talk together?

Ans.: Not at all. We are all agreed that Jewish education is of vital importance for us today and for our future. We have different views as to what that education should be. We have different views as to what values and content to stress in Jewish education, but we have no difference in our commitment to providing the very best Jewish education we can for our children and for ourselves as adults.

MORNING MEETING -- MLM REMARKS

1. This is the final session of the Commission. At the very first meeting of the Commission, we announced our intention to be pro-active. We intended not only to issue a report, but also to see to its implementation.

We set in motion, during the course of the Commission's work, the process for implementation of the Commission's recommendations, and this summer, we began to put together the CIJE, which will work with the provider organizations and with funders. The CIJE will carry through on ideas which the Commission has generated and, in some cases, are already in the process of implementation.

2. We have done what we started out to do:
 - a. Formed a Commission.
 - b. Involved a superior group who worked hard and worked well together.
 - c. We adhered to some principles that were key factors for success.
 - 1) Diversity
 - 2) Pluralism
 - 3) Respect for each other's point of view

d. Early on, we agreed to concentrate on two areas that could produce systemic change.

1) Community Support

2) Personnel

e. We have produced a final report that can serve as a guide to those working in Jewish education -- both public and private organizations.

f. We have acted to ensure implementation, and we have formed and launched the CIJE.

g. We have undertaken to increase the flow of dollars from both community and private foundation sources.

3. Now, more about funding:

The CIJE is expected to stimulate increased funding for Jewish education in North America.

We recognize that the bulk of the funding for Jewish education traditionally has come from fees, and from institutional and congregational subsidy and fundraising. Community funding through federations has been an important and growing resource. There is a growing awareness in federations of the importance of Jewish education, and there can be substantial increases in federation and community-wide support in the coming years.

We will work with federations to encourage involvement of important leadership in Jewish education, and increased financial support.

A relatively new development is the growth of private, family and other foundations which have a special interest in Jewish education, and which have already begun to fund innovative and promising Jewish education programs. We have begun discussions with about a dozen such foundations to encourage general support from these foundations, to give a "quick start" to program improvements.

The Council sees itself as:

1. A resource to facilitate family foundation grants to Jewish education.
2. A resource for the development of programs which merit increased support.
3. A provider of information to foundations.
4. A liaison between the family foundation funders and the program providers.

The Council looks on each provider and each funder as completely independent bodies which will make all decisions regarding program requests and responses to those requests.

We hope that the result of the Council efforts, those up to now and those which will be pursued in the future, will encourage a healthy relationship between the funding sources and service providers, and generous support of Jewish education by family foundations.

At the present time, a number of foundations have already committed themselves to support the CIJE as an organization, and others are considering such support. Several foundations have already undertaken important education projects, and we believe that these private foundations, and others, will invest not less than $25-50 million of new funds in Jewish education during the next five years.

We are optimistic that generous support will be coming from private foundations, and that the amount of such support will grow in the coming years.

ASTORION SESSION -- MLN REMARKS

1. Personal Motivations for Establishing Commission

2. The Team that Supported the Commission

a. Educational Consultants

Seymour Fox

Annette Hochstein

b. The Management Team

Henry L. Zucker

Virginia F. Levi

Others

c. The Senior Policy Advisors

d. Consultants - David Finn

3. The Commissioners Themselves

4. We have a chance to make a substantial difference in the rate of gain. The potential now exists for major improvements in Jewish Education.

Suggested bullet points for MLM's afternoon comments.

- Personal motivations for establishing Commission
- We're on the way to achieving the desired outcomes
- Nature and sustained interest of group yielded opportunity to have historical impact
- Unlike most Commissions, this one intended from the beginning to be proactive, to go beyond issuing a report
- Implementation has begun in the process of the Commission's work and will be stepped up in coming months
- Follow-up mechanism (CIJE) allows us to move forward with due speed
- Potential now exists for major improvements in Jewish education in North America
- Hope members will maintain interest in the follow up
 - Maintain high level of organizations' involvement and interest
 - Attend annual meeting to hear report of CIJE
 - Support projects in your communities and nationally
- Thank yous
- Introduce Max Fisher, then Minister Hammer
