COMMISSION ON JEWISH EDUCATION IN NORTH AMERICA

ISSUES REPORT:

Morton L. Mandel, Chairman of the Commission on Jewish Education in North America (fourth from left), and some of his fellow commissioners hold copies of the Commission's report, A Time To Act, the findings and recommendations of an unprecedented two-year study involving 44 leading scholars, educators, philanthropists and community officials. The other commissioners with Mr. Mandel at the November 8 press conference announcing the report include from left, Rabbi Ismar Schorsch, Chancellor, Jewish Theological Seminary; Rabbi Norman Lamm, President, Yeshiva University; Rabbi Alfred Gottschalk, President, Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion; Mandell L. Berman, President, Council of Jewish Federations and Bennett Yanowitz, President of JESNA. Photograph by Robert A. Cumins.

JEWISH EDUCATION COMMISSION CONVENES: Donald R. Mintz, President of JWB, representing the North American Jewish Community Centers; Mandell L. Berman, President of the Council of Jewish Federations; Commission Chairman Morton L. Mandel, Chairman of the Mandel Associated Foundations, and Bennett Yanowitz, President of the Jewish Education Service of North America, convene the historic opening session of the broad-based, action-oriented Commission on Jewish Education in North America, whose members reflect the pluralistic nature of the Jewish people, and include, at the highest levels, leaders of the organized Jewish community, the branches of Judaism, the academic field, business and private Jewish foundations.
