

Hurry Up and Slow Down!

June already? Where did the year go? Indeed, I find it hard to believe that with the coming of summer I begin my fifth year as a part of the Emeth family. How quickly these first years have flown by! And how rich they have been! This year has certainly been one filled with activity -- from our Early Childhood and Religious Schools to our various groups and committees. Throughout this past year our program has kept our calendars filled and our building humming with activity. With the onset of the summer months the pace of life will slow. But it will not come to a complete halt!

Remember: your synagogue continues to operate throughout the summer months. Services will continue each Shabbat evening at 8:30 p.m. and each Shabbat morning at 10:30 a.m. A Family Service will be held on Friday, August 2nd at 7:30 p.m. and Tot Shabbat will continue on the third Saturday of each month at 9:15 a.m. Torah Study will continue to meet each Saturday morning through early August and once again we will offer Adult Education courses this summer. Watch your June mid-month mailing for details. Brotherhood will hold its annual Congregational Picnic in August and our schools will move into the preparatory mode as we gear up for another exciting year.

Perhaps most exciting this summer will be the move forward with our Tradition and Tomorrow Capital Campaign. In the weeks to come you will see the plans for our upcoming renovation and expansion displayed in our Museum area along with a model of what we are planning to do. The coming year, Temple Emeth's 49th, will be no less full and I pray, no less exciting. As we move towards our 50th anniversary we continue to build on a proud tradition of Jewish learning and Jewish living at Emeth.

As the quieter pace of summer sets in, I invite you to stop by for a cup of coffee and conversation. What do you look for as we approach the second half of our first century as a congregation? What programs and activities would you like to see us explore in the year and years ahead? How can we better serve your needs and the needs of your family?

And as we head towards the summer, another reminder as well: we don't close. If you, a loved one or a friend are ill or hospitalized -- please call the Temple office and let us know. We cannot call or visit when we do not know. Help us to be of help.

May the summer months ahead bring rest and refreshment to body and soul. I look forward to seeing you and hearing from you during the months ahead.

Leave It A Lawn.

- If you have a lawn, it's worthwhile to learn a few environmentally sound ways to take care of it.
- For most types of grass the proper length is 2" to 3" high. This encourages longer, healthier roots, enabling each shaded plant to retain soil moisture.
- Keep mower blades sharp. Dull blades tear grass, weakening the plants and making them more susceptible to weeds and disease.
- Water from sprinklers evaporates 4 - 8 times faster during the heat of the day than early morning. Watering at night can cause fungus in grass plants.

BASED ON "50 SIMPLE THINGS YOU CAN DO TO SAVE THE EARTH"

Installation Friday evening, May 18, 1996

It is hard for me to believe that a year has gone by since last year at this time, when I began filled with anticipation, plans, excitement, enthusiasm--and nerves and worry. Well, I still have all of the above-- but along with all of that, I have learned a few things along the way.

Firstly, it is actually fun being President. Well, most of the time. Surely I also hear lots of complaints and discontent and problems-- but this is after all a big and diverse family, and I would expect nothing less. Although I knew it before, in an even more profound way, I know that we have a wonderful congregation, Board of Trustees, Executive Committee and the most incredibly giving, talented and dedicated volunteers-- all who nurture and support this Temple and all that we do and represent. I have had the opportunity to speak with and listen to many Temple Presidents, visited other congregations and peek into their workings and Jewish hearts, and I can tell you that Temple Emeth is unusual. We have an extraordinary tradition of kindness and caring-- for our members, clergy and staff, of behavior ethically and morally in the finest sense of "menschlichkeit". We should all be very proud of this -- and know that it will continue in the hands of this Board of Trustees.

I am happy to say that some of our plans and dreams have been realized during this past year, with our additional and varied religious services for families and holidays, our new Women's spirituality group, Renaissance group, Family Retreat weekend, the upgrading of our financial structures and procedures and of course-- the most exciting thing that Temple Emeth has undertaken in over 30 years-- our Tradition and Tomorrow 50th anniversary Renovation and Expansion. What a fabulous opportunity for all of us to follow in the footsteps of our past builders and dreamers-- what a phenomenal way to celebrate our 50th anniversary by doing something so important and lasting. We are also planning quite a celebration as well-- stay tuned! We will be proud and pleased with the new and improved Temple Emeth. We will be warm and dry in the winter, and cool in the summer. What a concept!! And I know it will be accomplished in the same tradition that I spoke of earlier.

Of course there is much more to accomplish. We had frustrations in not being able to fix our drainage --re grading problem, and complete our ECC playground in the timely manner as we have tried so hard to do. We know we need to do more to serve the singles, gays, young adults and elderly in our community. We strive to improve and enhance all we do-- which often takes personnel and money-- of course we want all this without raising dues too much or having to ask for extra. These are very difficult and sometimes Solomon like tasks.

I want to thank Rabbi Gurvits, Cantor Zvulun, our professional, administrative and custodial staff. They have been very generous with their time and talents and have counseled, helped and encouraged me in more ways than I could possibly say. Thanks to all of you for all your support and kind words. They have been very much appreciated.

This year has been an amazing personal journey for me as well. I have overcome speech hysteria, the "oh no, I have run out of anything to say in the bulletin" panic attack and the terror of Robert's rules-- and any of you who attended my first board meeting will know how I developed it!! I have learned that parenting from a distance is not so bad, that my children thrived and survived and made us very proud at college-- even without my actual "in person" nagging-- and that being "just the 2 of us" after 25 years of marriage with my Gidon is really quite nice. I learned that being Temple president, you get lots of attention and credit for the hard work and talents of many, many, other people. To our new Board of Trustees, I say get ready to roll up our sleeves and work. We will be part of a very special and important year in the life of Temple Emeth -- and I know a productive and rewarding one.

GMILUT CHASADIM

I have been privileged to teach the 7th grade students this year, whose enthusiasm and commitment to learning has been inspiring to me. We have been studying the text, Why be Different? by Janice Prager and Arlene Lepoff which supports the idea that being Jewish requires us to make daily choices based on acts of loving kindness- gmilut chasadim.

This group of 12 and 13 year old children have been involved in making choices throughout the school year. Examples of their choices include the following: during Chanukah and Pesach we visited the Sam Gorvoy Senior Residence in Bergenfield. On both occasions our students sang holiday songs and schmoozed. On our second visit we gave a four slice toaster to the residence as this was a much needed appliance. I know that these Seniors were grateful to our kids for bringing them joy, ruach and love.

On Purim, our 7th graders made hamantaschen and shalach manot. We delivered them to the homeless who were guests in our synagogue. I think that the kids felt sadness at their suffering and hope that although brief, they were able to share joy with them.

Last week, our children raised over $180 in a fundraiser Bake Sale. They are in the process of deciding to which organization they will make a donation. The children were really excited by this activity. They had a lot of fun in planning it and in selling their goodies. (Athen's Bakery of Teaneck kindly donated many delicious baked goods. This was organized by Bob and Estelle Spiewak who had noticed our colorful advertisements of this fundraiser all over the Temple).

Next week our final act of gmilut chasadim is to make peanut butter and jelly sandwiches which will be delivered to the Hackensack Soup Kitchen.

All of these choices were made together recognizing that doing mitzvot is one of the greatest ways in which we express our Jewishness.

Debbie S. Rutz

The year has flown by so quickly, I can hardly believe that I am now in the building without my students and preparing for the fall. I have many projects that I am hoping to complete over the summer (including making my office and desk more visible). However, while I am thinking toward the future I would like to take the time and reminisce over the past year.

I really believe that we had a terrific year despite the various curve balls, to coin a seasonal phrase, that were thrown at us this year. The weather and other man made problems (water main breaks, leaking roofs...) created a period of time that we were either not certain if we could have class, or it felt to both students and teachers that they were never in class. Teachers left mid-year for a variety of personal reasons, yet we were able to find good replacements and substitutes. I want to thank my faculty for holding everything together this year. Despite all of the situations, they really helped the students maintain a level of excellence in their education.

Through all of this, the Religious School Committee has been an invaluable support. Led by Rhona Herman and Roberta Geisenheimer, they assisted me in making decisions, planning programs and anticipating the needs of the students, faculty and me. They are a wonderful group of people and I encourage you to become involved in this very important committee.

I also want to thank all of the parents who took the time to help out with the variety of programs that we have run throughout the year. Without your assistance the programs would not have been as successful as they were. I also enjoyed getting to know some of you through your efforts for the school. As you know, there are just too many names to mention all of you (and I am glad that there are so many people who have volunteered), however I did not want you to think that your efforts have gone unnoticed.

Now I will return to my fall preparations and look ahead toward the start of another wonderful year. I wish you a happy and healthy summer.

~~News from the Early Childhood Center.....~~

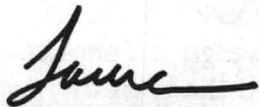

It is hard to believe that we are coming to the end of this school year. The children have had another exciting year of socializing, playing and learning about the world around them.

Our Early Childhood Committee met throughout the year to set policy. Thank you to Debbie Rutz for her fine leadership skills and valuable input over the past year and half. We welcome Wendy Dessanti as our new ECC chair. Wendy has been an involved parent and committee member for two years and we look forward to working with her.

Rabbi Gurvis and Cantor Zvulun met with the children twice a month. These are special times where we sing songs, listen to stories about Shabbat and the holidays. The Rabbi and Cantor have a special way and we are all mesmerized. Gathering together with other classes and sharing Shabbat brings a warm sense of togetherness and belonging.

There are several families who will be leaving the Early Childhood Center. It has been a pleasure having them as part of our school community and they will be missed. Best of luck to our graduates: Liam and Thomas Cohen, Madeline Dessanti, Millie Dillon, Sam Gardenswartz, Tovah Goldstein, Jodie Joseph, Eric Lawrence, Jill Massarsky and Michelle Seares.

My best wishes to everyone for a fun-filled and relaxing summer.

LIBRARY REOPENS!

Temple Emeth's library will reopen! The Joshua E. Trachtenberg Memorial Library will be open on Friday evenings one half hour before and after services. Members may browse and borrow books as well.

Borrowing is a self-service procedure. On the library desk is a list of instructions with a small file box. When you have made a book selection, remove the orange date card in the back of the book and put your name and a due date of 4 weeks later on it. Place the orange card in the file box under the first letter of the author's name.

You may return a book either by bringing it to the office, or before and after services on Friday evenings.

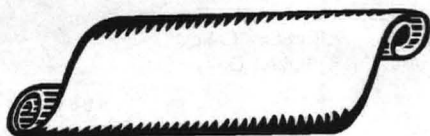

Our library is arranged in the same way as public libraries, using the Dewey Decimal System. We have a wide variety of books on many subject areas, including history, fiction, biographies, the arts, cooking-and much more.

We are happy to help in any way. Anyone wishing a personal tour or further explanation can contact either of us for an appointment. We would also welcome more committee members.

EVENTS, ITEMS AND INFO FROM THE FUNDRAISING COMMITTEE

Coming soon: The Emeth Outdoor Flea Market/Craft Fair on Sunday, June 2 (raindate: June 9). See center section minis-flier for details.

New Stuff: Temple Emeth tribute cards and t-shirts will be available for sale within the month. Watch for further news!

Calendars: The new, best-ever-thanks to Johanna Sturm and Peter Adler—Temple Emeth calendars are here for you to pick up. They run from July '96 to December '97 and contain lots of info ... holidays Jewish and secular, Emeth bar- and bat mitzvah dates, birthdays and anniversaries, ads for services, places and things to try, even a discount coupon or two. Come and get one! And take an extra for anyone who gave you an ad, or who might do so in the future.

And...speaking of which, many thanks to those who solicited and/or contributed ads to this year's calendar. All told, we netted over $7,000 on the dinner dance and calendar combined.

Congratulations to Marianne Berg, Gail Levy and cohorts for making this one of the loveliest such events we've had. And, even though they are thanked elsewhere, big hugs to my talented, enthusiastic, cheerful and super hard-working singers (especially Howard).

SOCIAL ACTION NOTES

The last Social Action Committee meeting of this year is scheduled for May 29 at 8 pm at Temple Emeth. We welcome old and new faces!

In April, Temple Emeth volunteers prepared and served dinner for 110 at the Community Action Program's drop-in soup kitchen in Hackensack. Thanks to all who helped—Mindy Egber, Caroline Fleishman, Carrie Goldberg, Laura Gurvis, Martin Hymowitz, Pam Leff, Leila Schwartz, and especially Rachel Sugarman and Rhonda Goodman for organizing the effort.

We also want to express our continuing thanks to Ken Rosenthal, who quietly and capably coordinates all our efforts with Mazon, the Jewish Response to Hunger. Thanks to Ken and all of you who help Mazon at your simchas and throughout the year.

On May 4, we attended a "Consultation on Conscience" at Temple Anshe Emeth in New Brunswick. We came back energized with new ideas, and also reminded of how vibrant Temple Emeth's social action program already is. That is possible only because it enjoys tremendous support from all parts of our temple family. We look forward to continued growth of our programs with the help of all of you.

EMETH'S FIRST FAMILY RETREAT

Eighteen Temple Emeth families, with children of Religious School age, enjoyed the weekend of April 19-21 at Camp Harlam, a UAHC camp in the Poconos. Lead by Rabbi Gurvis Lisa Barzilai, and Rabbinic Intern Renee Goldberg, the families had the opportunity to celebrate Shabbat, to learn, and to have lots of fun. Activities included outdoor services on a hill overlooking the camp and on the shore of a lake; a scavenger hunt where family groups found clues for Bible stories; and a sing-down. Other programs included making spice boxes and candles for Havdalah; the indoor Havdalah service where dozens of candles kept setting off the fire alarm; and an adult discussion on ethical wills. And there was still time for kick-ball and basketball, a nature hike, and eating, eating, eating! Rabbi Gurvis' song-leading at services and at meals set the tone (and the tune) for the weekend, making it both spiritual and spirited. Many new friendships were made and the happy memories of the retreat will not soon be forgotten.

The following families participated in the Retreat: Anagnostis, Barzilai, Caesar, Chaiken, Fox, Friedland, Gurvis, Herman, Hort, Kosakoff/Kohane, Lilly, Moss, Orenstein/Nagel, Reiner, Rutz, Soifer, Taylor and Warner. All families participated in planning for the Retreat. David Fox served as Retreat Co-ordinator. Katie Warren and Paula Weinberger, members of our youth group, volunteered their time and helped out on the Retreat.

The Retreat was such a success that another one is tentatively planned for the weekend of April 4-6, 1997.

Editorial Comment:

April 23

Last night we enjoyed an unusual treat at a committee meeting planning the renovations and additions to our Temple.

Many meetings are boring or badly planned. Not this one!

Most important was the fine and explicit description of the planned enterprise. Interesting to me, having recently retired after over five decades of business (which included many meetings) was that every facet of the meeting as well as the plans were so expertly and taste-fully presented.

Oh yes, part of the tasteful presentation at the home of Diane and Howard Winer was the home-made goodies, a product of the combined efforts of Micki Grunstein and Diane, our "dynamic duo" past presidents!

Our hats off to the entire group of planners and especially to Ted Greenwood who initially conceived the plan.

We add our urging to those that will follow to support this superb plan that will benefit us and one or more additional generations!

(Sorry, can't resist this opportunity: Rabbi Gurvis has expressed the need for more holiness, but we'd all like to see the holiness created by the leaks in roof eliminated as soon as the project gets under way!)

TROUBLE WITH GRANDFATHERS

By Bob Spiewak

Tamara's Visit

The clock in the den had just struck five
When our expected visitors did arrive
Seven teenagers at our back door
Toting sleeping bags to sleep on the floor
They were planning a mystery game
Object to guess the murderer's name
We all dined on pizza in the happy noise
Of seven sweet girls and two handsome boys
With the misty solved they went for a swim
Despite the fact that the lighting was dim
At one in the morning (or was that still night?)
Two young ladies upstairs had a great pillow fight!
So we lost some sleep but we didn't care
It was so great to have those noisy kids there
Flapjacks for breakfast, shouted good-byes
Brought joy to our hearts, smiles to our eyes!

INVITING CONVERSION

Tradition suggests that when a rabbi is approached by a person inquiring about conversion that he should send the potential convert away three times. In sending the person away the rabbi tests the perseverance, commitment, and sincerity of the prospective proselyte. We, in Reform Judaism, have adapted and modified so much of the tradition as we have recognized the need and now it is past time we change this practice as well.

It is time for us to reverse the posture of tradition, rejecting the distancing hand and adopting a welcoming, encouraging embrace. We can give a gift to the unchurched non-Jews in our families and our congregations. The gift is a simple, direct, no-strings-attached invitation to consider conversion.

We are not talking about making conversion a condition of acceptance or love, and we are not talking about pressuring someone into conversion.

We can say to a fellow congregant, "Have you thought about converting to Judaism? Is that something you would like to talk about?" This new posture requires sensitivity. It also requires our being able to lovingly accept "No," or "Not now," or "Let me think about it" for an answer. Rabbis can make the invitation, but so can any person who loves Judaism and who believes others may welcome an invitation.

The posture of tradition is known to many and so some of our non-Jewish relatives and friends are not aware of our welcoming stance. We need to break the ice and open the conversation and let it go where it might.
