What do an engineer, a college professor, an educator, a psychologist, a realtor, a social worker, a business systems analyst and a lawyer have in common? Each one has combined his or her professional background, love of Judaism, and commitment to children and become a Temple Emeth B'nai Mitzvah tutor.

At Temple Emeth we are very proud of our tutors, who review the Hebrew and English prayers with the children and serve as mentors during the process. The program began several years ago as a way to ensure that each child received the individualized attention he or she required to feel confident on the bimah. Today there are twelve tutors representing a cross-section of the congregation.

As part of the Bar or Bat Mitzvah process, each one of our young people meets with a volunteer for a half hour a week for about six to eight weeks. The match is usually made nine to eleven months before the Bar or Bat Mitzvah date. During their time together, the tutor not only helps the child perfect his or her prayers, but also builds a rapport with the student. This is one of the things the tutors find most rewarding about this program. Where else is such an intergenerational relationship possible!

Our tutors enjoy getting to know families that they may otherwise never have met. When the child's big day arrives, the tutors usually attend the service and kvell right along with the family. It reinforces the Temple's belief that becoming a Bar or Bat Mitzvah is not just a family simcha, but a congregational celebration. The work of the tutors, then, helps strengthen our bonds of community.

Our current tutors are Gloria Barsky, Fred Binder, Marc Chelemer, Judy Fox, Linda Klempner, Eley Kohn, Steve Leeman, Linda Poskanzer, Estelle Spiewak, Janis Warren, Paul Wilson, and Marion Wolf. I thank them for their dedication to Jewish education.

We are always looking for new volunteers to join the ranks of our B'nai Mitzvah Tutors. The only requirements are a familiarity with the prayers commonly recited at our Shabbat morning service and thirty minutes or more a week to spend with one of our young people.

The Talmud [Sanhedrin 19b] says, "Whoever teaches his friend's child Torah, the Torah considers it as if he gave birth to them." I thank our tutors for portraying the truth of these words and setting an example for the whole congregation.

MESSAGE from the Rabbi

RABBI
STEVEN SIRBU

CAN WE MAKE A DIFFERENCE?

How many of us feel overwhelmed when walking the streets or subways of New York City (or any other decent sized city) by the sheer numbers of homeless and hungry begging for some spare change for their next meal? How many of us turn away from the front pages of the newspapers or the news shows on television and radio because we are bombarded by stories of poverty and hunger around the world and here in the United States? How many of us, when confronted with these things on a daily basis, shrug our shoulders and go about our business saying silently to ourselves, "What can I do? I am only one person?"

Judaism teaches us otherwise. We are required by our faith to do deeds of loving kindness and to do Tikkun Olam – Repair the World. From Pirke Avot, we learn, "You are not obliged to complete the work, but neither are you free to desist from it."

Temple Emeth tries to help us fulfill that mandate. It is part of our mission. We have two longstanding committees, Social Action and Caring Community, that work to provide us opportunities to perform mitzvot as a community. Our children are taught these values in our Religious School and Early Childhood Center. Rabbi Sirbu guides our B'nai Mitzvah children to perform Mitzvah projects that are meaningful to them.

More specifically, our Caring Community Committee performs such deeds as visiting housebound or ill congregants at home or in the hospital or providing a meal to them, and driving congregants to Shabbat services or medical appointments who are unable to drive themselves. To help, fill out a Commitment Card at the Temple office and you will be contacted. You should also make the office aware of congregants who are ill or otherwise in need of a helping hand.

In addition, January is Social Action month at Temple Emeth. There are a number of opportunities to become inspired, to learn how you can make a difference, and ultimately - to do.

On Sunday, January 11, Monday, January 19 and Friday, January 30, Temple Emeth is sponsoring, hosting or running three events with Social Action themes. For details, see the front page of this bulletin.

On Sunday, February 1, Rabbi Sirbu will speak at our B'Yachad breakfast. His topic is "Reform Jew – Who Speaks for You?". He will relate his experience as a legislative intern at the Religious Action Center in Washington DC.

Sunday, February 1 is also the start this year of our annual commitment to the Bergen County overflow homeless shelter system. Each Sunday evening to Monday morning in February and March, we shelter and feed the homeless in our youth lounge. Volunteers for cooking or staying overnight should contact Bill Graizel, at 201-833-8403, or Paul Wilson at 201-836-8071.

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it is the only thing that ever has."

Anthropologist Margaret Mead

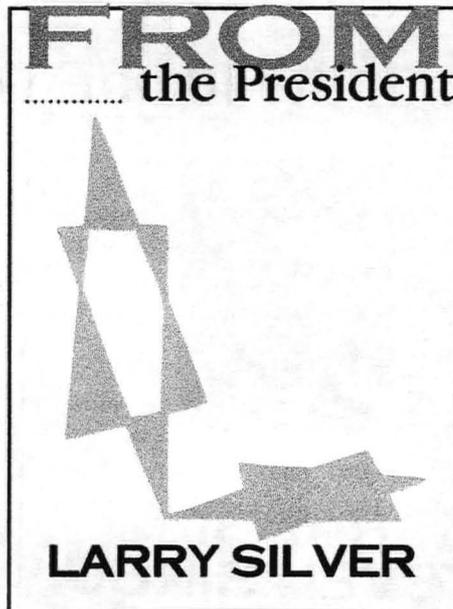

And as we recite when we return the Torah to the Ark at Shabbat services:

"Let us learn in order to teach"

"Let us learn in order to do"

B'Shalom and have a Happy New Year. This year, resolve to make a difference.

Larry Silver, President

WONDER MAKING

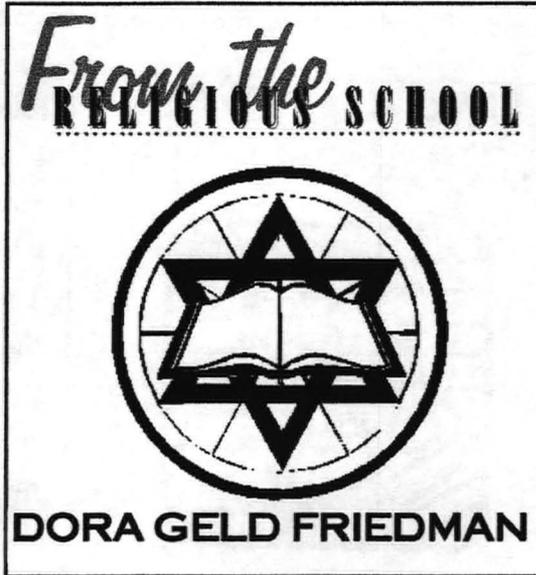

If you walk onto our school any Sunday morning, you will come upon a wonderful sight – young adults, graduates of our religious school, participating and helping in so many important ways to make our religious school a success. Our madrichim and madrichot (guides to learning and behaving) are special. They do so much in the classroom and in our school. Yes, they help pass out juice and cookies, flyers, and tzedakah boxes; but they also tutor one-on-one. They lead games and small group discussions. They sometimes read a story or serve as an extra shoulder to “lean on”.

Our madrichim and madrichot make it possible for us to create a fully, participating learning environment. They add immeasurably to the “family feeling” and teaching team at Temple

Emeth. They are another pair of eyes, hands, and ears to observe and listen and provide feedback. They are role models who continue, in an active way, their involvement and participation in Judaism. Who are they?

I have always felt fortunate to be an American Jew for many reasons. One reason emerges more clearly and strongly at this time of the year: the opportunity to welcome a new year for the SECOND time. We all approach a new year with a new – or re-newed – set of aspirations, expectations, and hopefully, dreams. The secular new year gives us this second opportunity to reassess where we are and where we would like to be.

Nowhere is the reassessment of goals and constant self-examination more evident than in the Early Childhood program. This past month has been filled with many opportunities to reflect upon our values and look at the people we are, as well as those whom we would like to become.

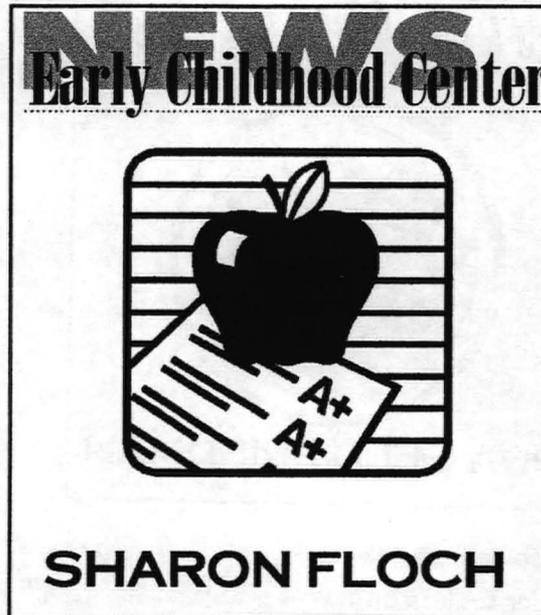

One of the values we embrace is that of sharing. The past month has provided the Early Childhood Center children with the opportunity to do just that. We had the pleasure of performing for the National Council of Jewish Women board members, and it is hard to say who enjoyed it more, the adults or the children. Suffice it to say that there was “kvelling” all around!

Helping others in need is another core value we hope to inculcate in our children. The response to the Early Childhood Center’s Toy Drive has been both generous and heartwarming. One of our four-year-old classes counted the tzedakah money they have been collecting every Shabbat since September and found that they had enough to purchase a board game and a beautiful, big, soft teddy bear. The look of pride on their faces as they put the toys in the box was truly one of those moments that make it all worthwhile.

So, along with our resolutions to lose weight, find more time for ourselves, pay our bills more promptly, or whatever your particular vice may be, let’s remember our responsibilities to ourselves and the children with whom we have been blessed and entrusted. That is to identify the values we choose to embrace and work just a little bit harder towards making them a meaningful part of our lives.

Rabbi Joshua Trachtenberg Memorial Library Update:

350 YEARS OF AMERICAN JEWISH HISTORY

ASSOCIATION OF JEWISH LIBRARIES ACCREDITATION

In 1654, a group of Dutch Jews who had settled in Recife, Brazil, fled the colony when the Netherlands lost it to Portugal. After an eventful journey, 23 of the Jews from Recife landed in New Amsterdam. They established the first Jewish community in what became the United States.

Now Congress has passed a resolution celebrating and honoring the 350th anniversary of American Jewish history. This resolution supports the designation of the American Jewish History Month and urges all Americans to share in this commemoration. It also recognizes The Commission for Commemorating 350 Years of American Jewish History, which is creating events and programs to be presented throughout the nation during the anniversary year. Distinguished partners in this enterprise are the Library of Congress, the National Archives and Records and Administration, the American Jewish Historical Society, and the Jacob Rader Marcus Center of the American Jewish Archives at Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, Ohio. The commission is producing an exhibit of documents and artifacts spanning all of American Jewish history. This exhibit will open in September 2004 at the Library of Congress, and then travel to Cincinnati, New York, and Los Angeles in 2005. The commission has already launched an online exhibit of rare documents vital to the story of America's Jewish community (www.350th.org).

Speaking in favor of the resolution October 15, 2003, Congressman Henry Waxman (D-Calif) said, "Jewish immigration to America throughout the last 350 years brought with it legions of notable researchers, lawyers, statesmen, inventors, artists, authors, musicians, doctors, entrepreneurs, spiritual leaders, and members of Congress. This resolution honors the life, culture, and contributions of the 6.5 million Jews who live in America and those who came before them." This resolution also notes that American Jews have fought valiantly for the United States in every one of our nation's military struggles, from the American Revolution to Operation Enduring Freedom.

On display in our library this month are books related to the theme of American Jewish history, including the following books.

A Portion of the People: Three Hundred Years of Southern Jewish Life, edited by Theodore Rosengarten and Dale Rosengarten, focuses on Jewish life in Charleston, South Carolina.

The Jews in America, by Arthur Hertzberg, is a challenging revisionist history of the Jewish experience in America. Hertzberg examines pervasive ethnic tensions in our country.

The Jews of New Jersey: A Pictorial History, by Patricia M. Ard and Michael Aaron Rockland, showcases the everyday life of New Jersey's 460,000 Jews and our ancestors.

Jewish Americans, by Robert Stein, tells the story of three waves of Jewish immigration. It describes the vibrant culture we Jews brought with us.

Dear Auction Maven:

Our winning bid at the 2002 Temple Emeth Gala-Auction was for several days of holiday in a beach house at Westhampton Beach on Long Island. We anticipated a nice relaxing few days not at "the shore" but at the beach, as we called it growing up in New York!

We couldn't take advantage of the original September date as we were in the midst of selling our house in Teaneck and getting ready to move. So we were happy to learn that the auction contributor was willing to allow us to postpone our visit to a spring 2003 date that was more convenient for us.

The one bedroom apartment right on the beach was comfortable, clean and very quiet as it was before the start of the season. The smells and noises of the ocean made for excellent sleeping at night. The area had plenty of good restaurants and even a movie theatre that we attended. We really enjoyed being there on top of which we helped earn some money for Temple, which is always a good thing.

See you at the Gala and Auction on May 22, 2004!

Make Time for Ten Minutes of Torah!

"If we make time to answer our cell phones a dozen times a day and to check our email five times an hour, surely we can find 10 minutes to contemplate sacred words that nourish the soul," Rabbi Eric Yoffie, president of the Union for Reform Judaism, said during his Biennial sermon.

Why not answer the call and sign up for Ten Minutes of Torah. Sign up to receive a daily e-mail (Monday through Friday) on a topic of Jewish interest, including social action, Jewish ethics, and news of the Jewish world at www.urj.org/torah/ten.

Words of Healing

New from the UAHC Press and the Women of Reform Judaism, The Mitzvah of Healing is a collection of essays, traditional texts, personal stories, and meditations that look at healing from a Jewish perspective. To order, see www.uahcpress.com, or contact the Press toll-free at 888.489.8242.

Tu BiShevat

What better time to celebrate the rebirth of the earth than the dead of winter? This February 7, celebrate Tu BiShevat with your family with the activities, recipes, and other ideas prepared by the Union for Reform Judaism that can be found online at www.urj.org/educate/parent.

URJ NEWS

Outreach at 25

Outreach was born December 2, 1978, when Rabbi Alexander Schindler revolutionized American Judaism with his controversial Outreach Initiative. Calling for synagogues to welcome non-Jewish spouses of interfaith marriages and encourage them to choose Judaism for their families, the initiative reversed a 500-year-old tradition of discouraging converts and helped welcome thousands of interfaith and non-practicing families into Judaism, dramatically changed the face of North American Judaism and congregations everywhere. Congratulations, everyone!

Calling all Bikers

This March 21-25, the Israel Movement for Progressive Judaism is sponsoring its first annual bike ride in Israel – "Riding4Reform", a five-day, 220-mile trek from Nahariya, Israel's northernmost seashore town, to Jerusalem. Riders are welcome, but you can also participate by adopting a rider, thus helping raise funds for the educational programs in Israel. For more information, visit the Web site at www.riding4reform.org, or contacting the IMPJ at riding4reform@impj.org.il.

THE REFORM MOVEMENT & YOU

Temple Emeth is a proud member of the Union for Reform Judaism: Serving Reform Congregations in North America.

Each month this space will highlight programs or events sponsored by the Reform movement.

"Who among us is so busy that he cannot spend 10 minutes a day in the study of a Jewish text? Just 10 minutes?" Rabbi Eric Yoffie, President of the Union for Reform Judaism, asked rhetorically as he unveiled a new initiative called "Ten Minutes of Torah."

By signing up at the URJ website, www.urj.org/torah/ten you can receive five weekly email lessons on the topics of Torah, social justice, Israel, ethics, and Jewish world.

Those who study 10 minutes a day for the next two years will have accomplished 100 hours, and will receive special recognition at the next URJ biennial convention in November 2005.

Wine 102

WINES OF
SOUTH AMERICA AND AUSTRALIA
January 31, 2004 @ 8 pm

Please join us on at Temple Emeth's second annual WINE TASTING AND DESSERT PARTY.

Last year's well attended event - Wine 101 - featured an introductory lecture and discussion on the art of what to look for when selecting and tasting wine. We now hope to broaden our knowledge of wines with an annual series of discussions on the wines of various parts of the world. This year's topic will be the wines of South America and Australia.

The wines of South America (mainly Chile and Argentina) are quickly becoming the wine world's worst kept secret. A good climate for grape growing, improved winemaking techniques and moderate prices are creating some of the best wine values in the world. Australian wines have already earned an outstanding worldwide reputation.

A variety of fine wines will be available for tasting, along with discussion of differences between them. Attendance at Wine 101 is not a prerequisite!

Dessert and coffee (along with some more wine, of course) will be served.

This promises to be a fun evening, so reserve early and bring your friends.

YES, I'M/WE'RE EAGER TO LEARN MORE ABOUT WINES FROM SOUTH AMERICAN AND AUSTRALIA.

Shabbat 101

Dinner & Workshop

Led by Rabbi Steven Sirbu

Friday, January 9, 6:00 p.m.
Temple Emeth, 1666 Windsor Road, Teaneck

Shabbat (the Sabbath) is the most important day on the Jewish Calendar. It is the day that the community gathers for prayer and study. It sets the rhythm of the week. It is the inspiration of countless poems and songs.

Many Jewish families, including interfaith families, do not know how simple and fulfilling it is to celebrate Shabbat at home. This evening is designed to teach the basics so that every Jewish family can enjoy Shabbat.

In our workshop, Rabbi Sirbu will touch on the following topics:

- ◆ What is Shabbat and Why is it Important?
- ◆ Preparing for Shabbat
- ◆ Shabbat Blessings and Customs

You and your children are invited to learn about and celebrate Shabbat over a festive meal. The cost is $7.00 for adults and $5.00 for children. To RSVP, please fill out the form below and return it with payment to Temple Emeth by Tuesday, January 6. For more information, call Outreach Committee Chair Ken Rutz at 201-692-3652 or the Temple office at 201-833-1322.

This workshop is sponsored by the Temple Emeth Outreach Committee, which strives to welcome interfaith families into the synagogue community.

From the desk of MARION SCHECTER

I recently returned from an 11-day trip to Israel where I visited with my daughter and son-in-law and my four beautiful grandchildren, who recently made aliyah. This was my eighth trip to Israel, and each time, I find it to be more moving and lovelier than the previous visit.

Our journey took us through a range of emotions. We saw the old and the new on this trip, from the centuries-old David's Citadel inside Jerusalem's Old City walls to modern wineries on the Mediterranean Coast and in the Golan Heights. We saw old homes and new malls, old synagogues in Safed and new hotels in Tiberias. We laughed while splashing around in the water at the Hot Springs and cried at Yad Vashem.

One thing that struck me as different this time around was the increased security, starting at JFK airport, to the metal detectors at the Western Wall, to the security guards in front of the restaurants, supermarkets and hotel entrances. It saddens me to think that this one country – the size of New Jersey – has to defend itself from 22 hostile neighbors and surprise terrorist attacks. Because of this, Israel has experienced a significant decline in tourism, which is a staple of their economy. Several merchants thanked us for coming to their country (even the ones we didn't buy anything from!). I should point out, however, that at no time did we fear for our safety. I can only say that if you've never visited Israel, or haven't been there in several years, you are depriving yourself of a wondrous and deeply spiritual journey.

I'm sad to say that all good things must end and although leaving Israel and my family was upsetting, it is always nice to come home again. When I returned to the Temple, it was apparent that many of you helped out with the everyday running of the office. It's heartwarming to know that there are people you count on. I would like to thank, in no particular order, Janice Warren, Bea Westin, Sue Keusch, Joan Paul, Carla Silver, Teri Binder, Tsilla Thumim, Barbara Sabella, Carol Geller and Rabbi Sirbu. You all did a magnificent job and I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Toda Rabba!

House Committee/Beautification Fund

"WE'RE MOVING FORWARD"

The building is getting into shape. (After the upcoming latkes holiday, we'll all need a little of this.) Many projects are in the works or have been completed--thanks to our Beautification Fund and all its wonderful contributors. But there's still lots to do.

Work on the Youth Lounge roof is completed. We received the approval from the Teaneck Building Department and are waiting for the manufacturer to inspect and issue the warranty. The new roof will allow us to move forward to do other planned things in the room.

When the teachers and students return from their holiday hiatus, they will find a pleasant Chanukah present waiting for them, as the school doors leading out to the playground will have been replaced. This work will begin on December 22nd. This is a long overdue and much needed project and will solve some of our past heating and air conditioning problems in the school area.

A message board and a literature rack have been installed in the entrance corridor opposite the office. The purpose of these is to keep the lobby and entrance area clean and neat by organizing notices, flyers and other pertinent information. But equal in importance is the fact that this allows everyone entering our building to see the many wonderful activities that take place in this vital and active synagogue. You are welcome to use this area to place your committee or event flyers or other information, which is Temple-related. The message board is locked and all material placed on the message board or in the literature racks needs approval from the office staff. Please help us to keep this area neat and up-to-date by removing your flyers after the event takes place.

More artwork has been placed in the building and we are working on this continually, as money from the Fund permits. We are trying to resolve the lighting problems for artwork and other areas which are too dimly lighted.

We arranged for PSE&G to replace the burned out lights on the perimeter of the parking lot. The property is now better lighted and safer.

To remind all members: Please do not allow children to operate the buttons for the handicapped doors. We have had to repair them several times--an expense that could have been avoided if these buttons are used only by adults in need. Signage has been placed above these buttons to remind everyone.

Thanks to our newest "Angels" for your contributions to our Beautification Fund: Pam and Jeff Etzin, Jacqueline and Howard Guttman, Renita Steinberg, and Sydney Perlow and Paul Wilson. I think you will all agree that, to paraphrase a commercial, "we make your money work for you". We're a work in progress so contributions, large and small, will help to make our dreams come true.

Please put a note in the House Committee box if you have any questions or comments -- especially ones of praise. We love hearing that we're doing a good job. We're all Temple members just like you, and we love making our "family" happy.

FRIDAY, January 30th, 2004

6:30 PM Shabbat Service
7:15 PM Dinner
8:30 PM Dessert and Rabbi Marla Feldman speaking on "The Tradition of Advocacy in Judaism."

An evening of song good food, discussion and prayer will commence with a brief service in the sanctuary led by Rabbi Steven Sirbu. Following the service, enjoy a wonderful, traditional Shabbat dinner catered by Ella Hill and accompanied by Shabbat blessings and songs.

This year, the Social Action Committee is sponsoring guest speaker. Rabbi Marla Feldman, Director of the Commission on Social Action, who will discuss the tradition of advocacy and the Reform Movement, describing the significance of movement-wide resolutions (such as the recent resolution advocating for reducing poverty and hunger), and what synagogues like ours can do to carry on this tradition.

Those wishing to attend the dessert and lecture at 8:30 may do so at no charge. There is no need to RSVP if you are planning to arrive at 8:30.

For additional information, please call Teri Binder at 837-6279.

Trouble with Grandfathers

By Bob Spiewak

Why do we bother to go to Florida?

Despite the inconvenience and the mess

And the need to overdress

The glistening snow by day or night

Is a picture that fills me with delight

Children sleighing on the hill

Never mind the wintry chill

Happy thoughts of long ago

The warmth of their laughter

The fire's glow

Will always be a happy part

Of every snowfall

To warm my heart!

B'NAI MITZVAH

Hi... My name is Hannah Rachel Album and I am a seventh grader at Haworth Public School. My hobbies include internet surfing and reading and I play basketball, like biking and snowboarding. In school, my favorite subjects are music and English. I have a younger brother and a younger sister and we have a black Lab named Rocky.

My parents, Lia and Glenn, and I are looking forward to my Bat Mitzvah on Saturday, January 17, 2003. My Torah portion is Shemot and is the story of Moses in Egypt.

Alexis Herman, daughter of Rhona and Eric, is a freshman at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. Her twin brother, Philip, also attends G.W. Alexis has a part time job as a lifeguard and is hoping to become a member of the Writing Center. School is a blast and, in addition to studying hard, Alexis is loving the D.C. area.

Jessica Firshein, daughter of Joy and Dan, is a junior at Wesleyan University in Connecticut. Jess is majoring in Religion with a minor in Judaic Studies. In her spare time, she practices Yoga and Kung Fu, and plays West African drums in a performing ensemble. As if that isn't enough to do, Jessica and a few of her friends have founded "Kol Israel" (The voice of Israel), an on-campus Zionist group that promotes understanding and support for Israel.

Next semester, Jessica will be studying abroad at Ben-Gurion University of the Negev in Israel.

Ben Wolf, son of Maddy and Mark, is in his first year at Duke University (his mom's alma mater). Ben is very involved in on-campus Jewish life, conducting services at Hillel. Ben joined the Duke Ski Team and will be going to Colorado in December with his teammates to practice and compete.

Ethan Porter, son of Marcy and Scott, is a freshman at Bard. Always involved in politics, Ethan has been busy setting up a college Democrats chapter at his school. The group will be mobilizing students to get out the vote, organizing forums to discuss political matters and informing the community about pertinent issues. As some of you already know, Ethan is an accomplished writer (Teaneck High School Newspaper) and is now writing for Bard school newspapers.

Lane Tobias, son of Eva and Larry, is a sophomore at Ithaca College. Tall and handsome, Lane plays basketball for The Johnny Blazers. One of the JB's games was a benefit for the Make a Wish Foundation, which is a group that grants wishes to very ill children. Lane is also working on ICTV (Ithaca College Television) doing audio and color graphics for two different programs. Lane recently represented Temple Emeth at a campus vigil for the victims of the Istanbul bombings, which was led by the local Hillel Chapter.

I'm happy to report that all of our College kids are doing well scholastically, are very involved in campus life, and very connect-ed to Jewish life.

ADULT EDUCATION: News and Notes

Adult Ed's fall term was a huge success! Near capacity attendance marked our Mini-University courses, Saturday morning Torah study, Lunch and Learn, and our first Sunday Special. What was the key to success? The answer is simple: interesting topics and outstanding teachers.

A complete description of our winter programs will be forthcoming in volume two of the Adult Education Bulletin. However, there are two brand new offerings that will make their appearance early in January and deserve your attention. First, we are pleased to announce that on January 6th at 7:30, Dione Danis will return to the Mini-University with "Literature from a Jewish Perspective." This gifted teacher will lead us through short stories of Jewish life ranging from those set in eighteenth-century villages of Eastern Europe to the west side of Manhattan. If you have yet to experience the excitement of Dione's class, you're in for a treat.

The second early January event is an extraordinary Sunday Special on January 11, at 2:00 pm. The topic of the day will be "Yiddish: 1000 Years of the Language and Culture of the Jews" with Professor Samuel Mintz. Professor Mintz will trace the origin of the Yiddish Language; describe the struggle to maintain the language during the founding of the state of Israel; and illustrate the continuing profound influence of Yiddish on Jewish culture and institutions. Author of books and articles on the history of literature and on Yiddish, Dr. Mintz is Professor Emeritus of English at City College of New York and the City University Graduate Center. Generations of students and colleagues have sung the praises of this outstanding teacher-scholar and so will you.

January will be quite an Adult Education month. Rabbi Sirbu's Wednesday afternoon Lunch and Learn will continue the study of Pirke Avot. Also continuing will be his Mini-University course, "The Talmud Circle." Jennie Freilich's popular Yiddish course will be offered on Monday mornings at 10:45. Prior attendance is not a requisite for these courses. Watch the mail for more complete information on the above and also on the annual Kabbalat Shabbat on January 30th, this year presented in conjunction with the Social Action Committee.
