A WORD FROM RABBI BOB

RABBI ROBERT S. FEINBERG

Dear Friends,

Each year, on November 11, Americans commemorate Veterans Day, the day we honor men and women who have served in the Armed Forces. Why is this day important for us as Jews?

First, we should pause to recognize the heroism that Jewish fighting men and women have displayed in all our country’s wars—from the Revolution to Iraq and Afghanistan. In particular, we must honor those who served in World War II. Five-hundred fifty Jewish personnel comprised nearly 4 percent of military; 11,000 made the ultimate sacrifice. Let me take this oppor-tunity to salute the members of Temple Israel, as well as the parents and grandparents of our members, who served in World War II; and let us never forget you did nothing less than save the world.

Another reason why Veterans Day has significance for American Jews is that military service has changed the relationship of our community to the wider society. Most especially, the valor displayed by members of the Greatest Generation led to the inclusion of Jews in areas of American life that had been closed to us. Because of their readiness to serve shoulder-to-shoulder with Americans of all backgrounds, Judaism now stands on equal footing with Protestantism and Catholicism. And we can live in any neighborhood; our children and grandchildren can go to any college and choose any career, thanks to their sacrifices.

Who would ever have thought I would be standing here tonight 15 years later being your president again. I didn’t.

I look at the history here, a 145-year old congregation, along with the building that was built 100 years ago by people with the names of Buxbaum, Polsky, Berk, Cohen, Holub, Loeb, Nobil and many more. Then in 1952 their children built what we see here today led by families such as the Darskys, Holubs, Stones, Sacks, Rabbs and Shaws.

Now 58 years later it’s our time. Ken Weinberger started the long range plan in 2004 with co-chair-persons Larry Kaye and Dick Schwartz. For 18 months this committee effectively and diligently obtained input from our congregants participating in all types of focus groups. It’s taken six years, three months this committee effectively and diligently obtained input from our congregants participating in all types of focus groups. It’s taken six years, three months this committee effectively and diligently obtained input from our congregants participating in all types of focus groups. It’s taken six years, three months this committee effectively and diligently obtained input from our congregants participating in all types of focus groups.

At this time I would like to personally thank the following 15 families for their financial commitment for the future of Temple Israel and for their help in securing the future of Reform Judaism in Akron, Ohio.

*Mary and Michael Cohen
*Laura Lee Garfinkel
*Chrsissy and Larry Levey
*Joyce and Martin Levin

OUR FUTURE IS NOW!!!

Yes! I know that some of your children or even your grandchildren don’t live here anymore but they live somewhere—New York, Chicago, Atlanta or Denver—and if they are attending temple tonight, it is because someone had a vision in those communities. We need to build on our vision now. It is our time to act.

Please join me and your fellow congregants in the coming months to make our vision of a new temple a reality.

On behalf of Candy and myself, I wish you all much health, happiness and peace during the year to come. L’Shana Tovah.

Temple Israel’s Future Home

By Betty Groner

On a Sunday morning in October a few congregation members and I had the opportunity to walk through Temple’s new property on Springside Drive. The proposed new location for our congregation just off of West Market is expected to be the wellspring of much discussion and inspiration.

I was amazed; it’s a Taj Mahal. So many huge hallways and classrooms and meeting rooms at first glance were difficult to keep track of. The crowning touch was a beautiful huge Great Room that calls out to be a sanctuary.

As Ron Winer proudly walked through room after room, he suggested that we should be proud of what has been done so far and excited about the future. “It’s a gorgeous building,” said Terry Zimmerman. “There is a lot of potential,” agreed Julie Zimmerman.

“Our future is now,” agreed co-president Keith Mirman, looking thoughtfully at the building.

An early glimpse of the future will be available to congregants of Temple Israel on an ongoing basis. The consensus is that vision and good ideas will always be welcome. A suggestion box near the current working entrance will be available for thoughts about this magnificent building. See two photos below.

Veterans Day

Veterans Day also gives us an opportunity to recognize that Jews have changed the Armed Forces, just as service has changed us. You’ve probably heard of Commodore Uriah Philips Levy. Beginning his career as a cabin boy in the War of 1812, he retired as the Commander of the entire Union fleet in the Civil War. He is credited with abolishing the practice of flogging and instituting more humane treatment of sailors.

Today, at the Naval Academy, in Annapolis, MD, there is a Jewish chapel named after Commodore Levy. It is located in the center of the campus; and it is made of Jerusalem stone. The Chapel was not built for the small Academy Jewish community alone; it was built for the entire Naval Service, for personnel of all backgrounds to learn more about Judaism. The Chapel is also a symbol for the American Jewish community, reminding us how much we have accomplished, as well as the many opportunities that have been afforded us, in this great country. One day, I hope to take a group from Temple to visit the chapel—an experience that will have a great impact on us.
In the back of Mishkan Tefillah, our current North American Reform prayer book, there is a gigantic Songs and Hymns section. Browsing through this section, one may come across a song that looks like it is in Spanish with the title, “Non Komo Muestro Dio” on page 327[631]. What’s a nice Jewish song doing with words in it like “Dio,” “Senor,” “Rei,” and “Salvador”? As many of you already know, “Non Komo Muestro Dio” is to Spanish as “Rozhinkes Mit Mandlen” is to German. It is the Jewish component of these songs, a slight dab, dash, or teaspoonful of Hebrew and Judaic concepts in each, which puts them in completely different languages than the languages in which they seem to be. In the absence of a nearby copy of Mishkan Tefillah, you may have guessed that “Non Komo Muestro” is a song that is in Ladino, a language that is also referred to as Judeo-Espanol. It is a form of Castilian Spanish which, after the Expulsion in 1492, spread to all of the communities in the world to which the expelled Spanish Jews fled.

Other famous Jewish songs in Ladino include “Cuando El Rey Nimrod” which weaves a villainous persecuting king named Nimrod midrashically into the Abraham story and runs slightly differently than the Torah narrative in that a mohel is present on the eighth day after Abraham’s birth even though the Torah tells us that he was an old man when he was circumcised.

Another song is a wedding song called “Scalerica De Oro” in which the guests wish the bride a hearty “mazal bueno.” There is also the ever-popular Chanukah song “Ocho Kandelikas” by Flory Jagoda from the Jewish community of Sarajevo, Bosnia, in which the Chanukah treats consist of almond horns with honey. There are many Sephardic songs in Ladino that Ashkenazy Jews have recently started to learn.

Going back to “Non Komo Muesto Dio,” this song, if you haven’t already peeked in Mishkan Tefillah, is none other than... you guessed it... “Ein k’Eloheinu.”

The History of our Yom Kippur Bimah Flowers

Ted Marks was very active in the Akron Jewish community. His life’s passion was B’nai Brit. He served as past president of the lodge in Akron, which was renamed in his honor after his death in 1979. He was also past president of the B’nai Brit state and district organizations and was serving as vice-president of B’nai Brit International at the time of his death. The Theodore B. Marks Scholarship was founded in his memory to allow Akron’s Jewish teens to attend summer programs offered by BBYO International.

Ted was also a life member of the JCC board and started the Boy Scout troop at the JCC. He served as vice-president of the Federation (now JCBA). He also helped start the Hillel chapter at Kent State University, serving as chairman of the board when he died, and he served on the board of the Anti-Defamation League.

After his death, Ted’s children chose to honor his memory by donating toward providing the flowers that grace our bimah every Yom Kippur. Shelley Kaye, Janet Silverman and Rick Marks have been very generous to Temple Israel in this endeavor. A few years ago, their mother, Lila Marks, also joined their cause.

When we sit in the congregation during Yom Kippur, we always admire the beautiful floral arrangements displayed across the bimah. Now we know that they are donated annually by a very active family at Temple Israel in memory of the man they loved so much. We thank them for their continued generosity.
Temple Israel 7th and 8th Grade Field Trip to the Maltz Museum

On Sunday Oct. 3, 2010, the 7th and 8th grade classes went to the Maltz Museum’s Fifth Anniversary Celebration. Thank you to Mrs. Duckworth, Mr. Kalish, Mrs. Leeds Richman, Mrs. Pidhorodeckyj and Mr. Weinerman for driving our students to the museum.

The students were able to see many of the artifacts from the first Jewish immigrants as they came into Ellis Island and eventually to Cleveland and Akron. They viewed the beautiful artwork from the Kalish family artisans and saw many of the accomplishments in science, medicine, broadcasting, education, and the arts from Jews in our area.

After the tours, students sampled Jewish cooking and visited the Maltz Museum shop. It was a great day.

Daylight Savings Time ends 11/7/10. If you don’t turn your clocks back, you will be an hour early for school.

Pasta and Prayer—A Young Families Program

Temple Israel’s family programs are off to a delicious start. Everyone informally gathered in the social hall on Oct. 2 for a Havdalah service led by Cantor Rosenman. We then enjoyed a wonderful pasta and salad bar prepared by our Kitchen Supervisor, Diane McClusky. Everyone had the opportunity to eat and socialize in a relaxed atmosphere!

The children also had the opportunity to play while the adults talked and ate. Board games were available. For this event, people just chose to schmooze.

Carrie Shkolnik, Director of Congregational Life and Learning, was aiming for a laid back atmosphere where people can just get to know each other better and catch up. That is exactly the climate that was created. The Hoffman family, the Woll family and the Bender family all enjoyed the activities of the evening. The Levinsteins, Berkes, Shkolniks, Zimmermans and Rosenmans also found the evening to be fun-filled.

It was unanimous that Pasta and Prayer was a perfect way to end Shabbat and usher in the upcoming week. Children from the age of 6 months to 12 years were in attendance, and together they all had a wonderful time! Our next Havdalah Program is on Dec. 11. Our next Tot Shabbat program is Nov. 13. If you have any questions about these programs or any other event being “cooked up,” contact Carrie Shkolnik, Director of Congregational Life and Learning, at Carrie-Ti@neo.rr.com or call the temple at (330) 762-8617.

Bob Krueger
Sat., Nov. 6, 2010, 5:30 p.m.
Toldot

Bob is the son of Julie and Jerry Krueger and the brother of Jessica Beaudry. His grandparents are Carol Krueger of Akron and the late Robert Krueger, and the late Paul and Patricia Anthony.

An eighth grader at Wadsworth Middle School, Bob is involved in Future Problem Solvers of America, tutors his classmates during his study hall, is doing an independent study in geometry and taking honors algebra (both high school courses). He is on the track team in the spring, plays violin, and loves computer games.

Tikkun Olam projects include attending services, planning a trip to Israel, and playing violin for the shut-ins at Wadsworth Pointe, a local nursing home. He plans to continue to do this on a monthly basis even after his bar mitzvah. He chose to do this because often these patients are bed bound and cannot get out of their rooms to hear the concerts that are performed downstairs.

The theme of the bar mitzvah is the “tree of life.” Bob took inspiration from the prayer that is said as the Torah is returned to the ark and created his own tallit using this as the theme.

He is also a Boy Scout and just earned the rank of Life. He is Senior Patrol Leader, the highest ranking job in the troop, a position he will hold for one year. He wants to be an Eagle Scout by the end of his sophomore year.

Daniel Weinerman
Sat., Nov. 20, 2010, 10:30 a.m.
Vayishlach

Daniel is the son of Judy and Lee Weinerman of Medina. He is the brother of Benjamin Weinerman.

His grandparents are Dorothy Milewski of Brunswick and the late Bill Milewski, and Edythe Weinerman of Tamarac, Florida and the late Sidney Weinerman.

Daniel is a seventh-grade student at Cloverleaf Middle School, where he participates in the Boys Chorus and the Colt Express, an a capella group. Daniel excels at sports; he plays football and basketball.

Because of his interest in athletics, Daniel chose sports-themed projects for his Tikkun Olam work. He researched Jewish athletes and created a poster with information about Dolf Schayes, Ron Mix, Sandy Koufax and several Jewish Olympians. For another project, Daniel used an old basketball to create a globe Tzedakah box. He is collecting donations for Right To Play, an international organization that uses sports and play to improve the development of children and youth in underprivileged areas of the world.

Daniel is encouraging individuals to support this very worthwhile charity by contacting www.righttoplay.com to make donations.

Adam Post
Sat., Dec. 4, 2010, 10:30 a.m.
Miketz

Adam is the son of Curtis and Sue Post. His grandparents are Ron and Carol Glassman, Joe and Judy Erlichman and the late Harold Post.

A seventh-grade student at Copley-Fairlawn Middle School, Adam enjoys playing baseball and playing the drums. He has a red belt in Tae Kwon Do.

For his Tikkun Olam project, Adam raised money for and participated in the annual Cleveland Walk to Defeat ALS (Lou Gehrig’s Disease) in memory of his grandfather, Harold Post.

Adam is a talented filmmaker. To study some family history, he interviewed his grandfather who grew up in New York, and celebrated his bar mitzvah there decades ago. Adam edited the 60-minute interview into a keepsake 3 minute video. He included scenes of the New York bar mitzvah celebration in the background.

The Beautification Watch Award is a program that Keep Akron Beautiful has had for 30 years. Sarah is the first of a trilogy about women of the Bible. The daughter of a powerful lord, Sarah balks at the marriage her father has planned for her. On her wedding day, she impulsively flees to the vast, empty marshes outside the city walls, where she meets a young man named Abram, son of a tribe of outsiders. Sarah's remarkable story reveals an ancient world full of beauty, intrigue, and miracles.
