Sunday Service

Rabbi Brickner’s subject next Sunday morning, March 31st, will be on the highly interesting theme “Is the Soul a Myth?”

He will develop a scientific basis for Belief in the Soul and Immortality, and explain how in accordance with the best in modern thought it is possible to believe in the soul and hold to a theory of immortality.

From a Recent Address

The following is from a recent address delivered by Dr. Henry Neumann, leader of the Brooklyn Society for Ethical Culture, before the Women’s City Club:

“ARE you refraining from giving your children religious instruction through a fear of unduly influencing them, while they are learning superstition instead of religion from the maid, the groceryman and other school children, who suffer from no such inhibitions?”

“ARE you leaving their moral training to face the problems of life to the books of Mrs. Bertrand Russell and Judge Ben Lindsey?”

“Cheap talk, cheap books, cheap movies are bound to get their innings at influencing your child’s mind, and the only way to offset this danger is to give your child ‘the feel of the first-rate.’”

“And this can only be done by yourself providing the example. Argument is of no avail. Saying one thing and doing another will not fool the smart child for long.

“If you don’t go to church yourself,” he told the parents, “there isn’t any use sending your children to Sunday School. They will only get the idea that religion is a childish thing to be dropped as a signal of independent manhood.”

Children's Service

Just as the Children's Service for the month of March was an all-boys' service, so the service for next month to be held on April 6th will be conducted entirely by girls including the reading of the Torah and the sermonette.

Mothers are strongly urged to accompany their children, for attending the Children's Service is an inspirational experience that no mother can afford to miss.

Purim Celebrated

Purim always a holiday of joy and gay festivity, was this year celebrated by our temple with two affairs, both of which are probably the most outstanding events in the temple calendar.

Mother-Daughter Day began with an inspiring service conducted by the mothers and daughters of the Sisterhood and closed with a very beautiful and moving pageant of life. It depicted every vital part the Mother plays in the preservation of Judaism. "The Cycle of Motherhood" opened with the infant in mother's arms and followed its way through life, showing entrance into Sunday School, Confirmation, problems of adolescence, marriage, and ended with the very touching picture of four generations. This year's Mother-Daughter Day is one that will not be soon forgotten.

In contrast to the quiet atmosphere running through Mother-Daughter Day, there followed the Purim Carnival on Sunday, with its noise and gaiety. Over fifteen hundred people, both parents and children, filled the Auditorium to capacity and contributed to the festive spirit in the Recreation Hall. During the entertainment presented on the Auditorium stage, there was a procession of the girls who aspired to become the Queen of King Ahasuerus' vast realm. This was the climax of a Queen Esther contest conducted through the entire school, with each class sending one representative. A Queen Esther was chosen from each department, and the following were selected:

Primary Department....Dorothy Weisberg
Intermediate Department....Regina Rosen
Junior High Department..Janice Newman

Following the performance, the entire audience went to the Recreation Hall which was gayly decorated in all sorts of bright colors. Booths of many kinds greeted the throng with a "ballyhoo" worthy of the best that Coney Island can offer. The Shushan Postoffice, Oriental Tea Room, Marionette Show, Upsetting Haman and a host of other novelties contributed toward making the afternoon a memorable one in the minds of the children and parents. Prizes were awarded to many children who came in costume.

Bureau of Jewish Education

Several hundred men and women have volunteered for service in the fifth annual campaign of the Bureau of Jewish Education to be launched next Sunday, March 31st and to be terminated on Monday, April 8th. Mr. Irwin N. Loeser is Chairman of the Campaign, and Mrs. Marc J. Grossman is Chairman of the Women's Division. The Steering Committee has as its members, Messrs. B. H. Sinks, A. H. Sachs, Geo. J. Klein, Rabbis A. H. Silver and B. R. Brickner, in addition to the campaign officers.

The goal for this year's campaign is $90,000, representing the minimum amount required to provide for 1929 subsidies and to meet the deficit that has accumulated from year to year. The Bureau subsidizes Sabbath and other schools that give education in Jewish literature, ethics and religion to thousands of Cleveland children unaffiliated with the schools of temples or synagogues.

Our Sunday School staff and the Sisterhood Hebrew class have each organized themselves into a committee, in addition to the many others of our temple who are participating in the campaign.

Hillel Players

"The Dybbuk" by S. Ansky, a folk play dealing with the traditions of the Chassidim, will be presented in our Auditorium on Sunday evening, April 6th, by the Hillel Players of Ohio State University. It will be given under the auspices of the B'nai B'rith of Cleveland. Tickets at one dollar are now on sale at the temple office.
