CAMP WISE CREW

The Camp Wise Crew, the organization of volunteer counsellors of Camp Wise, is conducting a Spring Training Course, designed to prepare young men and women for leadership in a Jewish community camp. The course will consist of six meetings to be held at the Jewish Center, East 105th street at Grantwood, beginning with Monday evening, March 4th, at 8 p. m., and continuing on alternate Monday evenings thereafter. Those who take this course will be preferred in the selection of leaders for Camp Wise next summer.

A MESSAGE TO THE PARENTS

Dear Parents:

This Saturday, we are having another one of our inspiring Children's Services.

These services are especially arranged to inculcate in the hearts of our children a love and attachment for worship and to create in them the habit of Temple attendance. In order that this aim should be accomplished, it is essential that particularly the mothers should set the example and accompany their children to Temple.

Everything else should be set aside this one Sabbath a month, so that the children may realize in Temple attendance something which not alone the school emphasizes as important, but that parents too regard as worthwhile.

I would like to see the Temple filled to capacity with children and parents next Saturday morning.

Sincerely yours,

Signed: BARNETT R. BRICKNER

In response to the numerous requests being constantly received for copies of Rabbi Brickner's weekly radio addresses delivered over station WHK each Tuesday night, the Cleveland Jewish Review and Observer announces that it has obtained permission to publish these addresses and will print them in their columns every Friday.

OIL FROM THE WELLS OF IRAQ

A great event in which many of the leading countries of the world are directly interested took place recently in the town of Kirkuk in Iraq.

Here in the presence of many government officials King Ghazi opened the great Iraq trans-desert oil pipe line. American, French, British and Dutch Oil companies are deeply interested in this pipe line which covers a distance of 1,150 miles from Iraq to the Mediterranean Sea. King Ghazi pressed a button and a great stream of petroleum started its long journey to the Sea.

Designed and largely built by Americans, this pipe line connects the Mediterranean ports of Haifa and Tripoli with the rich oil fields east of the Tigris and will carry about four million tons of oil annually to the world's markets.

In the early biblical days Iraq was known as Mesopotamia. This country has been connected with the Jewish people from the beginning of its history. Here the patriarch Abraham was born and here the Jews lived in large numbers and had important schools. About 110,000 Jews live in Iraq, and in Bagdad (the capital) there are close to 70,000 Jews. Mosul, containing these rich oil fields, has a Jewish population of 7,000 and 5,000 Jews live in Basra.

All the inhabitants of the Near East look forward to the completion of this oil line because it means so much to all of them.

MAURICE SAMUEL IN CLEVELAND

Maurice Samuel, author of "On the Rim of the Wilderness," "Beyond Woman," "I, the Jew," "You Gentiles," and others, will be a guest in our city this week. He has just returned from a trip to Palestine and is touring the country.

He will speak at the following places: Thursday evening, February 28th under the auspices of the Professional League for Labor Palestine at the Euclid Avenue Temple; Friday, March 1st at the Jewish Center at 8 P. M., and Saturday, March 2nd at the City Club.

BROTHERHOOD DAY

Brotherhood Day was observed in hundreds of communities in every state of the United States and Canada this year under the national chairmanship of Dr. John H. Finley, educator and publicist. A statement outlining the purposes of the observances issued by the National Conference declares: "Brotherhood Day aims not only to wipe out all discords that may still derive from religious differences, but also to emphasize the great constructive tasks which all Americans and Canadians of every faith have in common. It aims to mobilize the good will of people, and their natural friendliness and cooperativeness against the fomentors of group hatreds. Especially in these times, when distressing economic conditions break down the normal resistance of good folk to pernicious propaganda, Brotherhood Day is a call to arms for members of every faith to stand by their belief in human fellowship."

Last week Rabbi Brickner spoke on "The Art of Friendship" in connection with Brotherhood Day.

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE ON ANTI-SEMITISM

"Of all the bigotries that savage the human temper there is none so stupid as the anti-Semitic. It has no basis in reason; it is not rooted in faith; it aspires to no ideal; it is just one of those dank and unwholesome weeds that grow in the morass of racial hatred. How utterly devoid of reason it is may be gathered from the fact that it is almost entirely confined to nations who worship Jewish prophets and apostles, revere the national literature of the Hebrews as the only inspired message delivered by the deity to mankind, and whose only hope of salvation rests on the precepts and promises of the great teachers of Judah. Yet in the sight of these fanatics the Jews of today can do nothing right. If they are rich they are birds of prey. If they are poor they are vermin. If they are in favor of a war it is because they want to exploit the bloody feuds of the gentiles to their own profit. If they are anxious for peace they are either instinctive cowards or traitors. If they give generously—and there are no more liberal givers than the Jews—they are doing it for some selfish purpose of their own. If they do not give—then what could one expect of a Jew but avarice? If labor is oppressed by great capital, the greed of the Jew is held responsible. If labor revolts against capital—as it did in Russia—the Jew is blamed for that also. If he lives in a strange land he must be persecuted and pogrommed out of it. If he wants to go back to his own he must be prevented . . . No good has ever come of nations that crucified the Jew. It is poor and pusillanimous sport, lacking all the true qualities of manliness, and those who indulge in it would be the first to run away were there any element of danger in it."

THE MODERN SPIRIT AMONG THE PROPHETS

Their spirit is to be found in the modern soul. It matters little that they spoke in the name of a God, Jehovah, and that the modern age speaks in the name of human thought. For their Jehovah was nothing more than the apotheosis of the human soul, the projection of their own conscience against the background of heaven. They loved everything that we love, and their ideal was reared at the expense neither of reason nor of conscience. They unveiled in heaven a God who seeks neither altars nor holocausts nor psalms, "but let righteousness run down like water and justice like a mighty stream." They turned right into a power, and from the idea they fashioned a fact before which all facts were shaken; by sheer belief in justice, they made justice a factor in the march of history. They uttered the cry of pity for the unhappy, the cry of vengeance against the oppressor, the cry of peace and unity among the peoples. They did not say to man: "This world is not worth while." They said: "The world is good: be thou good also, be just, be pure." They said to the rich: "Thou shalt punish without humiliating." To the sage: "Thou art responsible for the soul of thy people." And they taught more than one how to live and how to die for righteousness and without the hope of Elysian Fields. They taught the peoples that, without an ideal, "The future is nothingness," that the ideal alone gives life, that this ideal is neither the glory of conquest, nor riches, nor power, but the lifting up, like a light in the midst of nations, of the example of better laws and a higher soul.—James Darmesteter.

ANNOUNCES MERGER OF TEMPLE MEN'S CLUB AND SISTERHOOD FOR BIG PURIM PARTY

An event unique in the annals of Temple affairs will be held Tuesday evening, March 19th at 8:30 P. M. at the Temple. The high water mark of social activities for both Men's Club and Sisterhood will be reached in the featuring of an event called Husband-and-Wife Night — the Purim celebration packed with thrills and replete with deluxe entertainment. But let the principals speak for themselves.

Oscar H. Steiner, president of the Men's Club says: "To my knowledge this is the first party merger of both Temple organizations on a scale hitherto unknown. Beside it, all other social events pale into insignificance." (Oscar Steiner talks like that).

Mrs. Arthur M. Lindheim, president of the Sisterhood says: "Our 800 members are enthusiastic over the coming Hard Time Purim Party and are bending all their energies to make it an overwhelming success."

Arthur Haas, general-director of Husband-and-Wife Night, and celebrated for arranging radio and night club programs, says: "I get a bigger kick out of providing the gala entertainment for the hundreds who will crowd the Temple for this affair, than I do selling a dozen cars. You may quote me when you say that amongst other numbers we will have a Grand Pageant called 'The Temple Marches On' motion pictures of the assemblage—valuable gate and costume prizes—radio entertainers—dancing to a 10 piece orchestra, and EATS. How you boys can do it at $1.00 a couple is beyond me."

From the foregoing it may be seen that no effort will be spared to bring the night of March 19th to the very summit of success in merry-making. Participants are urged to wear old clothes, masks, and hard-time costumes—valuable prizes will be given for the most humorous and the most dilapidated costumes.

There is but one fly in the ointment—the capacity of the Temple ballroom is 500 persons, and the deadline for selling tickets has been set at March 10th. The first 250 couples who obtain tickets (at $1.00 per couple) will have no regrets at what might have been—and it is well to remember that the combined membership of the Men's Club and the Sisterhood is over 1000!

Tickets may be purchased at the Temple, from Irwin Greene at 1511 Guarantee Title Building and from Mrs. Simon Lewis, 1317 Eddy Road.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES OF MEN'S CLUB AMAZES MEMBERS

An avalanche of diversified Men's Club activities descended upon the members early this year and continues without abatement. Fifty members attended the first Contract Bridge Night at the Alcazar and early returns indicate a much larger number will attend the second Bridge Night at the Wade Park Manor, February 26th. Elmer Babin's popularity attests to the success of these affairs.

Bowling Night started with a bang when 25 members played at Coventry Alleys, February 14th. Prizes were given for high scores and Bert Spiegle in charge of this activity will announce the next bowling date in the following issue of the Bulletin.

Members of the Discussion Group who heard Professor Hotchkiss lead the Forum on the economic aspects of the N. R. A., February 12th, are eagerly awaiting for March 6th to roll around. For on that day the second Discussion Group meets under the leadership of Ed Byers to evaluate the political aspects of the N. R. A.—"Is the Trend Toward Fascism?" This group meets in the Temple Library—You Are Invited!
