TEMPLE PLEDGES SUPPORT TO PRESIDENT

Last Tuesday night, after the Temple Board meeting, the following telegram was sent to President Roosevelt in accordance with the resolution adopted at the Board meeting that evening:

"The Board of Trustees of the Euclid Avenue Temple at its meeting tonight on behalf of the 1350 Jewish families which comprise the membership of the temple adopted a resolution affirming its faith and trust in your leadership and offering to you its every service in the task now before the nation. The sons of many members of this temple are already wearing the uniforms of the American Army and Navy. The members of this temple are confident of the ultimate victory of our nation and pledge to you their loyal support in the days to come."

James H. Miller, President,
Barnett R. Brickner, Rabbi

THE JEWISH COMMUNITY COUNCIL has sent the letter below to: Hon. Frank J. Lausche, Director of Civilian Defense; Keith Wilson, Executive Director, Civilian Defense Committee; F. M. Stephens, Chairman Greater Cleveland Chapter, Red Cross.

"Dear Sir: The Jewish people of Cleveland, like all other Americans, are eager to give every possible aid to our country in this all-out effort to preserve our liberties and democratic institutions.

"The Jewish Community Council through our 150 member organizations, is able to reach quickly and effectively the Jewish citizens of our community. I know that everyone will consider it a privilege to be able to help in any phase of our common cause.

"Please do not hesitate to call upon us for any service we can render. You can count upon our immediate help."

Sincerely yours,

Philmore J. Haber, President.

NEW EXECUTIVE SECRETARY TO ASSUME DUTIES

The Board of Trustees is happy to announce the appointment of Mr. Bernard I. Pincus as Executive Secretary of our temple and we take pleasure in welcoming him into our midst.

Our new Executive Secretary comes to us from the Central Jewish Institute of New York City where he has occupied the post of administrator for the past six years. He has had considerable experience in the kind of work his new post will require. He attended the School of Business at the College of New York City where he was awarded a diploma in accounting. He also has a fine Jewish education and background.

Mr. Pincus is a capable, energetic and personable young man who makes friends easily and we are confident that he will find his work with us congenial. He will arrive to assume his duties on December 18th.

ON THE STEPHEN S. WISE FAMILY

To our knowledge, this family is the only one in America all of whose members are included in the American Who's Who. They are: Dr. Wise himself, his wife, Louise Waterman Wise, his daughter, Judge Justine Wise Polier, and son, James Waterman Wise.

Because American Jewry shares in their glory, this fact should be known.
—From the Detroit Jewish Chronicle.

"That which endures on earth is the spirit in which man understands and meets his fate. This he passes on to his children and his comrades; only a breath indeed, but the breath of Life. Death comes to all; but death comes best to those who are ready to die, so that Man may live."

—Lewis Mumford in "Faith for Living."

YOUTH SPEAKS TO YOUTH

As the huge black boot of Nazi tyranny and persecution tramps across Europe's continent, it leaves a hot brand on the heart and soul of the entire world; it leaves a warm trail of red behind, red symbolizing the lives of that great horde who sacrificed themselves to protect Democracy for their posterity, red for the thousands that still struggle to overthrow the yoke of slavery pressed upon them, red revengeful blood, red painted in the shape of a V signifying a new democracy to be formed illuminating the entire world out of the dark chaos of death.

But only through our fight, too, can this become a realization, young America. We are the backbone of a new world liberty to be formed. We must rid our minds of all thoughts of greed, selfishness; intolerance, and injustice toward fellow men. A great task remains before us, that of building a foundation for generations to come, a foundation of liberty, righteousness, and social justice. In the factory, the mill, the draft-room, the fields, and the office we must work to our utmost towards these principles.

Your duty America perform it.

(Martin Gal, age 14, is in the Confirmation Class of the Euclid Avenue Temple.)

THE FEAST OF LIGHTS

Kindle the taper like the steadfast star,
Ablaze on evening's forehead o'er the earth,

And add each night a lustre till afar
An eightfold spendor shine above thy hearth.

Clash, Israel, the cymbals, touch the lyre,

Blow the brass trumpet and the harsh-tongued horn;

Chant psalms of victory till the heart takes fire,

The Maccabean spirit leaps new-born.

--Emma Lazarus.

THE BILL OF RIGHTS

I. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

II. A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

III. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

IV. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

V. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

VI. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertainied by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

VII. In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise reexamined in any court of the United States than according to the rules of the common law.

VIII. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted.

IX. The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

A Quaker living in Berlin, who has never yet given the Nazi salute, was asked what he expected to accomplish "against the mighty will of Germany in a world like this." The Quaker replied:

"If I were in a dark room, I wouldn't get a broom to sweep the darkness out. I would light my little candle, and hope others would do the same, until at last the darkness would be gone."

"Our democratic way of life is a way of respect for all human beings. This respect calls for more than verbal acceptance. To defend democracy we must act out democracy."—Harry O. Overstreet.
