WATCH, AMERICA

Where the northern ocean darkens,
Where the rolling rivers run,
Past the cold and empty headlands,
Toward the slow and westering sun,
There our fathers, long before us,
Armed with freedom, faced the deep;
What they won with love and labor,
Let their children watch and keep.
By our dark and dreaming forests,
By our free and shining skies,
By our green and ripening prairies,
Where the western mountains rise;
God who gave our fathers freedom,
God who made our fathers brave,
What they built with love and anguish,
Let their children watch and save.

—Robert Nathan.

SOME PARENTS

"Some parents say that religion is an intimate, personal matter, which every child has a right to choose for himself, and that they propose to leave the child neutral while he is growing up, and then let him freely select his own religion. Even if we try to, we cannot keep the child neutral religiously. Religion is not an addition to life but the very climate that pervades the whole of living. As soon as a child is born in any home, it begins creating in him a spiritual climate, teaching him basic relations to life, feelings about life, which inevitably enter into the very substance of any religion which he will ever possess."

—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick.

CALAMITIES

It has been said that there are three calamities which may befall one at birth, because any one of these three things will cause one to be spoiled. And these three things are: To be born comely, to be born rich, or to be the only child in the family. For if one is born comely, his comeliness will spoil him. If born rich, his money will spoil him. If the only child in the family, his parents will spoil him. —Rev. J. B. Chapman.

A THANKSGIVING PRAYER

In accordance with the President's proclamation that Thanksgiving Day be set aside by the American people as a day of prayer, it has been suggested that the following prayer be recited in our homes on Thanksgiving Day:

Heavenly Father, God of all peoples and races of men, we pause in prayer on this Thanksgiving Day to give thanks for our country, our homes, our families, for friendship, and for all those ties that bind us together in unity and in strength.

Thou art the Maker of the world, the source of its beauty, its majesty and its meaning. All that we are, we owe to Thee; all that we have is a gift from Thy hand. Earth and sky, rain and sunshine, flower and fruit, all the beauty and bounty of nature, attune our souls to thoughts of Thy beneficence. In all things we feel Thy nearness and behold the tender care with which Thou dost watch over the children of men.

We thank Thee for our heritage of freedom. Fervently we invoke Thy blessing upon our country and our nation. Guard us, O God, from calamity and injury. Suffer not our adversaries to triumph over us, and let the glories of a just righteous and God-fearing people increase from age to age. Enlighten with Thy wisdom, and sustain with Thy power our Commander-in-Chief, the President of the United States, and all those in the United Nations associated with him in this war for victory. We pray for our husbands, sons, and brothers and all our dear ones in the armed services of our country, whether they be on land, sea or in the air. Preserve them, O Lord, in health and in strength, and grant them that victory, for which they stand ready to give the last full measure of their devotion. May they be returned to us speedily and in safety.

May the peace that follows victory, bring with it a better world order, one that will secure for all men everywhere life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. May religion spread its blessings among us, and exalt our nation in righteousness. Amen.

"TO HELP BRING GOD'S KINGDOM"

The following are some statements in letters from our Christian neighbors in appreciation of the Sisterhood Inter-Faith Meeting held recently, at which Mrs. Eva Lips was the speaker.

These excerpts show how much communication between the faiths can mean in building toward real democratic living:

"These are the days when we need the richest fellowship between religious people of all faiths."

O. M. Walton,
Executive Secretary
Cleveland Church Federation.

"The thought that made it possible was completely in accord with my own convictions. I have spoken in so many of our churches on the theme that real democracy can not be, as long as prejudices of race and class, etc., exist—that intolerance is probably the greatest of all sins and that it is very important for all Americans get acquainted with each other."

Julia M. Hunt.

"May I tell you how much I enjoyed the Inter-Faith meeting presented by your Sisterhood last Tuesday.

"It was very kind of you to invite me and I do want you to know that your thoughtfulness is deeply appreciated."

Helen C. Ruess,
Pres., Catholic Federation of Women's Clubs of Cleveland.
National Council of Catholic Women.

"Thank you for a wonderful afternoon and a rich experience. All here are glad I took such complete notes on Mrs. Lips' address because my two shut-in sisters were greatly enlightened that very evening when I repeated to them most of Mrs. Lips' talk."

Gertrude Cody Wheaton

"Words cannot express the joy and inspiration I derived from your Sisterhood's wonderful Inter-Faith Meeting."

Marcene Bialosky,
Pres., Temple Women's Association.

"I have never experienced such cordial and gracious hospitality and am filled with admiration at the very efficient manner in which each and every detail was so perfectly taken care of.

"To me, however, it meant more than just an enjoyable social gathering. It seemed a definite step toward a movement which I hope I may live long enough to see well on its way—a movement in which all peoples who love righteousness and justice, regardless of race, creed, or color, will unite to help bring God's kingdom here on earth."

BOOMERANG

As far as the people of Europe are concerned, if one may conclude from the daily mounting evidence, they are now profoundly disillusioned with anti-Semitism. They are not only sick at heart over the cruelty and savagery it has let loose; they have also come to realize the danger of it all for themselves, and are turning away from it more than from any other aspect of Nazism. Anti-Semitism is now perhaps the most discredited movement in Europe. Nor is the sentiment against it merely negative in expression. Unprecedented friendship is now being extended by Christians to the Jews in Europe. At no time within living memory has Christian Europe shown a more sympathetic concern with the Jewish problem, and given more practical aid to the Jews. Despite the Nazi censorship, reports of this remarkable fact penetrate into the newspapers daily, providing ample proof that Europe is now in the midst of the strongest reaction against anti-Semitism that it has ever known.

BELIEVE IT—OR NOT

A man's true wealth is the good he has done.

If a man is determined to treat other people right, he has a pretty fair education even if he has never graduated from college.

It is not so much doing the best you can for God as allowing God to do His best with you.

Some people are forever doing something that makes their friends say, "He means well."

A husband's worst days are when his wife is wishing she were a man.

It takes the plowshare of drudgery to turn over the furrow of success.

The child unschooled to honor father and mother may turn out to be the husband or wife that wrecks a home.

The only way to learn by your mistakes is to pay for them yourself.

One should either be silent, or say something better than silence.

Some people seem to think that the only way to make all men equal is to pull the highest down to the level of the lowest.

The slip of the tongue may be more serious than the slip of the foot.

Some people need a boss. They are so easy on themselves they never get anything done.

The word "honor" in the marriage service is fully as important as the word "love," and there can be no love worthy of the name without honor.

Humility is unconfessed.

The quality of the prayer is vital to its reality.

It may lie in your power to make every day good.

You do not find time for many things. You must make time for them.

What some people must mean when they say they are broad-minded is that they permit their mind to spread out to include everything wrong.

An eloquent tongue is no proof of a clear mind or a pure heart.

—From The Bulletin of Temple Beth El, Detroit, Mich.

TIRED OF GIVING?

"Go break to the hungry sweet Charity's bread,

For giving is living," the Angel said.

"Must I be giving again and again?"

The weary, wondering question came.

"No," said the Angel, piercing me through,

"Just stop—when the Lord stops giving to you."

—Edwin Markham.

Story of the Week

Two Nazis met in Berlin.

"How are things with you?" one asked.

"Very good, considering—I have a fine job?"

"What sort of a job?"

"I sit on top of a steeple all day long, watching so that I can report immediately to the Feuhrer when Germany has conquered the world."

"What is your salary?"

"Twenty marks a week."

"Huh—that isn't very much."

"Maybe not—but it's a lifetime job."
