LETTER FROM ONE OF OUR BOYS

"I just got back from a very enjoyable Seder. A Jewish chaplain came from one of the other islands (Hawaii) to conduct services here (on one of the Gilbert Islands) and, I was almost floored when I saw who he was. For that matter, he told me he felt the same way, because I was the first person that he had met that he knew, since his entrance into the chaplaincy. He was none other than Rabbi Brickner's former assistant, Rabbi Milton Rosenblum.

"We kibitzed quite a bit and he had me sit next to him at the Seder table and read part of the services. I never expected we would have anything as nice as we had. The men in the Navy are certainly a swell bunch. They especially made it their business to build a kitchen and a Mess Hall for tonight's occasion, provided cooks and everything necessary for a Seder. We had Pass-over wine, plus canned gefilte fish, chicken and chicken soup with matza balls. It was all very tasty.

"The above is how I spent my first Passover in the Army, and I hope it's the last. April 27th will be a year since I was inducted.

"We will have services tomorrow again and Chaplain Rosenbaum is staying over to conduct services."

Sgt. Sigmund Ehrens.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR PARENTS

1. Thou shalt love thy child with all thy soul, with all thy strength, but wisely, with all thy mind.

2. Thou shalt think of the child, not as something belonging to thee, but as a person.

3. Thou shalt regard his respect and love, not as something to be demanded but something worth earning.

4. Every time thou are out of patience with thy child's immaturity and blundering, thou shalt call to mind some of the childish adventures and mistakes which attended thine own coming of age.

5. Remember that it is thy child's privilege to make a hero out of thee, and take thy thought to be a proper one.

6. Remember also that thine example is more eloquent than thy fault-finding and moralizing.

7. Thou shalt strive to be a signpost on the highway of life rather than a rut out of which the wheel cannot turn.

8. Thou shalt teach thy child to stand on his own feet and fight his own battles.

9. Thou shalt help thy child to see beauty, to practice kindness, to love truth, and to live in friendship.

10. Thou shalt make of the place wherein thou dwellest a real home — a haven of happiness for thyself, for thy children, for thy friends and for thy children's friends.

IF AMERICA SHOULD EVER FAIL

If America should ever fail, if after the promise of its start and the unexampled marvel of its opportunity, it should come from a fair springtime to a barren autumn, what would be the reason? Not lack of laws, not lack of outward regulation, not lack of dictatorship even, for we would try that before we fell, but lack of people who so disciplined themselves from within that they were self-propelled, having liberty because they deserved it, keeping democracy because they helped create it, running themselves so well from the inside that they did not need to be run from the outside. And that profound and inner matter is, at its deepest, a great religion's gift.

For the roots of a self-disciplined character are profoundly spiritual—faith that there are values worth being dedicated to, faith that there are ends worth being self-disciplined for, faith that beyond the torture of these years, by God's grace, there is a possible world, decent, fraternal, peaceable, that self-disciplined men and nations can build. When such faith is lost, it is all up with democracy. And the place for this kind of living to begin is within each of us.

—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, in "Living Under Tension."

MORALE

MORALE is not a lot of little things,—
A cup of coffee, a pack of cigarettes,
A pillow to sleep on, an extra dollar in the pay-check.

These things may build contentment,
But Morale is something more; It is a quality of the Spirit,
Which makes one resolute when contentment is gone,

Brave when reverses have fallen,
Confident when the earth seems rocking
beneath one's feet.

Morale is what makes a man fight on When muscles are aching and every movement is painful,

Fight on when strength is spent and nerves are raw,

Fight on when all seems lost but the will
to keep on fighting,

Morale is what makes a man smile in the face of Death and Hell,

And when he falls, if fall he must,
To go down in flames,—with triumphant shout—

Knowing that VICTORY is sure.

It is man's basic determination to be decent, to be strong, to be loyal, to be free.

It is the biggest thing in a man's life,
As high as Hope, as deep as Faith, as unfailing as Love.

It is rooted in religion itself—

The clear and unmistakable sign

That man walks with his hand in the hand of God.

DON'T BE AMONG THE MOCKERS

In a radio address on December 5, 1943, Chaplain Roland B. Gittelsohn (confirmant, E. A. T.), denounced mockers on the home front. Among other things he said:

"If you have a son in service and didn't participate in worship last week, you were mocking your own flesh and blood. You may not have meant it—but your boy is willing to fight in the mud for your sacred right to worship God how you please."

By staying home and not worshipping God at all, you showed your son, in the language far more eloquent than words, that what he is willing to die for, you don't consider important enough even to live for.—Exchange.
