PRESIDENT CALLS AMERICANS TO KEEP COUNTRY "FREE OF BIGOTRY"

In a message to the National Conference of Christians and Jews, made public here, President Roosevelt called upon Americans "To keep our country free of prejudice and bigotry so that when our fighting men return they may find us living by the freedom for which they are ready to give the full measure of devotion."

The President's message, on the occasion of Brotherhood Week, February 18 to 25, reads:

"It is highly fitting that in the midst of the world struggle for liberty we should remind ourselves of the spiritual realities by which the ideals of freedom are nourished. The principle of human brotherhood is the source of our political democracy and this principle is rooted in the faith which our fathers knew and which we have lived by. One God is our father and all of us are brothers and sisters in his family. We worship at different altars and express this faith in many ways. But deeper than the differences is the spiritual unity that makes us one people.

"On battlefields throughout the world, Americans of many cultural backgrounds stand together in one fighting force that presents an unbroken front against the enemies of freedom. We move forward to victory—one people dedicated to one flag in the service of justice and peace for all. As these men and women of the fighting forces carry on their struggle against tyranny overseas, they dream of the homeland in which equal opportunity for the good life is open to all.

"The United States is the greatest team of free men and women that the world has ever seen. This is the hour for us to decide that our determination shall be peace, as in war—teamwork. I am happy, therefore, to welcome the twelfth anniversary of Brotherhood Week, February 18-25, 1945, under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. I hope that our people will come together during this week to renew and strengthen their determination to serve the high principles of liberty through spiritual unity."

THE MASTER WORD

A famous physician, William Osler, of Johns Hopkins, said on one occasion to the students of the University of Toronto:

"You remember in one of the jungle stories that when Howgli wished to be avenged on the villagers, he could not get the help of Hathi and his sons by sending them the 'Master Word.' This I propose to give to you in the hope, yes, in the full assurance that some of you at least will lay hold upon it to your profit. Though a little one, the master word looms large in meaning. It is the open sesame to every portal; the great equalizer in the world; the true philosopher's stone which transmutes all the baser metal of humanity into gold. The stupid man among you it will make bright, the bright, brilliant; and the brilliant student, steady. With the magic word in your hearts, all things are possible, and without it all study is vanity and vexation. The miracles of life are with it; the blind see by touch; the deaf hear with eyes; dumb speak with fingers. To the youth, it brings hope; to the middle-aged, confidence; to the aged, repose. That balm of hurt minds, in its presence the heart of the sorrowful is lightened and consoled. It is directly responsible for all advances in medicine during the past twenty-five centuries. Laying hold upon it, Hippocrates made observation and science the warp and woof of our art. Galen so read its meaning that fifteen centuries stopped thinking and slept until awakened by the De Fabrica of Vesalius, which is the very incarnation of the master word. With its inspiration, Harvey gave an impulse to a larger circulation than he wot of, an impulse which we feel today. Hunter sounded all its heights and depths and stands out in our history as one of the great exemplars of its virtue. With it, Virchow smote the rock and the waters of progress gushed out; while in the hands of Pasteur, it proved a veritable talisman to open to us a new heaven in medicine and a new earth in surgery. Not only has it been the touchstone of progress, but it is the measure of success in everyday life. Not a man before

G. I. JOE WRITES

Chaplain Milton Rosenbaum:

"Just a note to tell you that I have been promoted to Captain. Thought you would like to know . . . Thanks for the very nice Chanukah gift. The package arrived in excellent condition, the salami was perfectly preserved . . .

We had Chanukah services here last night. We held a combined service for all Jewish personnel on the Island with refreshments following the service. The piece de resistance consisted of potato latkes. A dozen men volunteered to prepare these delicacies. They started preparations 10 o'clock in the morning and worked right through the day. Their latkes were eloquent gustatorial evidence of their diligence and their skill. The latkes were served piping hot and crisp and needless to say were relished by all."

Pfc. Henry S. Becker:

"Thank you very much for your kind remembrance. Knowing that people other than our families, think of us, is very re-assuring and leaves a warm spot in my life. I always read the Bugle Call Rag with great interest. It keeps me up to date with the affairs of my friends and temple . . .

If the people at home could spend just one day with me in the operating room, I am sure much of their complacency would disappear, for believe me, while the families that have lost loved ones in this war can understand, many others don't really understand the meaning of the word "war."

From "Sonny" again:

"Am now in the Reconnaissance Observation section. Ever since my buddy, who was on the R. O. was killed I wanted to leave the Gun Crew and join the R. O. The Gun Crew was all right but I wanted something a bit more exciting. The new job gives me a bit more freedom. We go out with the infantry and Tanks to spot targets for the Artillery. It is a bit more risky but I like it and am very happy . . .

Things here are so far more or less static, but there will be a lot more "static" in the future. It is going to be a hard winter for Jerry . . ."

One of my buddies was injured rather badly the other day and had to be shipped back to the States. He will be in a cast from his shoulders to above his ankles for nearly six months. The war is really hitting close and only serves to make my temper sharper and killing seem less sinful. I helped carry him to the dispensary and as I looked into his greenish face and motionless eyes I felt my blood boil, but remembered that it does not pay to lose your head. The day of reckoning will come.

Better close now and remember I am always thinking of you and waiting for the day when we may all be together in a world of peace. Do not worry and God bless you.

SIXTH WAR LOAN PASSES THREE QUARTER MILLION MARK

The final sales for the Sixth War Loan Drive conducted by our congregation netted 1,391 bonds totaling $763,427.50. This includes E, F, and G bonds as well as Treasury Notes.

It was possible therefore for us to provide various types of equipment with the E, F, and G bonds which we purchased. On hospital service alone costing $125,000, and three heavy field ambulances, each costing $3,430 will bear the name of the Euclid Avenue Temple. In addition $41,000 will go to a Convalescent Camp and $1,200 toward purchase of 40 adjustable beds.

We are very proud of our record and we sincerely hope that this effort will help in bringing the war to a quick and successful conclusion.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Gal on the Bar Mitzvah of their son, Richard; to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey J. Mahrer on their 25th wedding anniversary.

IN MEMORIAM

Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved families of Mrs. Tillie Levi and Mrs. Amelia Keller; and to the families of Lt. Sanford Goodman and Lt. Marvin Goldston, who died in the service of their country.

me but is beholden to it for his position here, while he who addresses you has the honor directly in consequence of having had it graven on his heart when he was as you are today. And the master word is 'Work,' if you can but write it on the tablets of your hearts and bind it upon your foreheads."
