From the Rabbi's Study

by Jerome P. David, D.D.

During a service at an old synagogue in Eastern Europe, when the Shema prayer was said, half the congregants stood up and half remained sitting. The half that was seated started yelling at those standing to sit down, and the ones standing yelled at the ones sitting to stand up....

The Rabbi, learned as he was in the Law and commentaries, didn't know what to do. His congregation suggested that he consult a housebound 98 year old man who was one of the original founders of their temple.

The rabbi hoped the elderly man would be able to tell him what the actual temple tradition was, so he went to the nursing home with a representative of each faction of the congregation.

The one whose followers stood during the Shema said to the old man, "Is the tradition to stand during this prayer?" The old man answered, "No, THAT is not the tradition."

n e whose followers sat said, "Then the tradition is to sit during Shema!" The old man answered, "No, THAT is not the tradition."

SL

Then the rabbi said to the old man, "But the congregants fight all the time, yelling at each other about whether they should sit or stand....

The old man interrupted, exclaiming, "THAT is the tradition!"

Thankfully, at Temple Emanuel we have many fine traditions, and yelling is not one of them. On the contrary, we received an outpouring of positive comments following the High Holy Days as well as thoughtful and challenging questions. Perhaps no question is as difficult as those dealing with doubts.

People tell me that....

They come to Temple to worship, but just can't pray because of their lack of faith. They have doubts about whether God exists. They have doubts about praying, the meaning of prayer, the efficacy of prayer. Does God hear prayer? Does God respond to prayer? So I hear many of these post High Holy Day questions. I especially like the story of Elisha ben Abuyah, a brilliant Rabbi who also had doubts. He doubted prayer – but he prayed. He doubted the authority of the Torah but he studied it. He doubted the validity of Divine justice, but he tried to do the right thing. So if you have doubts, you are not alone and doubting has never been forbidden in Jewish life.

Yes, question, doubt, ask, but with humility. And keep your mind and heart open to the possibility of God.

THAT is the tradition!

PRESIDENT'S Message

K, Ready for my November Light Message? Here it is in one word. VOTE!! I don't care whom you vote for (nor would I ever suggest that I do), just make sure that you and all the eligible voters in your circle of family and friends do so. I realize that if you are getting this issue of the Light after November 2nd, or if you are not registered to vote, that these words of advice are too late for this election, but my message this month is intended for the "long term" (November just reminded me to share it with you). As Americans we have a duty to exercise our constitutional prerogative and as Jews in our wonderful country, we have a special obligation to show up at the polls every opportunity we can. Why do I believe that we as Jews have a special obligation? Glad you asked!

This year marks the  $350^{\text{th}}$  anniversary of a Jewish presence in North America (I'll have more to say about this in a future edition of the Light). As such, Jews have been a fixture in the United States since our country's inception and have been active participants in all aspects of our national experience. I can also state, without any fear of contradiction, that our history in North America over the past 350 years has been an incredible bright spot of tolerance and acceptance given our circumstance in other parts of the world over the past two thousand years. What is even more amazing about this feat is that Jews, just like in the rest of the world, have always been a minority in our country. So why our better treatment here?

Well first off, we can thank the Constitution and a very clear demarcation between "church" and state (this is an issue which we as Jews must always be vigilant about!). Second, it is widely recognized by politicians of all stripes that Jews vote. And not just some Jews, but virtually all eligible Jewish voters. Even though Jews in the United States constitute only around 2% of the population, historically the importance of the Jewish vote has been a focus of politicians because of our high turnout during elections. Our voices, and our concerns, are of critical import in the political process (regardless of our political leanings) since we make our opinions heard on Election Day. While I know that many young people (and maybe some who are not so young) have become jaded about politics, voting may be the single most critical thing we do as Jews to ensure our rightful place in America. This is a duty we must never ignore!

So remember – as they say in Chicago, "vote early and vote often" (just kidding!). As Thanksgiving approaches, let's reflect on the wonderful blessings we enjoy as Jews in America.

B'Shalom,

y father loved Thanksgiving. For that matter, my father loved all holidays that brought our family together. He was happiest when we (my three sisters, our husbands and children, and, quite frankly, anyone else) were sitting around the dining room table. The simple pleasure of sharing holidays, creating memories, eating and laughing together continue in our shared memories years after his passing.

This month, as I prepare for Thanksgiving, I think of my dad and what lessons I learned from his commitment to our family and how my mother and father fostered the importance of family and tradition into our collective conscience. Their dedication to continuity, their understanding that we are each links in an ancestral chain, the lessons they taught each of us about loyalty, devotion, hard work and ethics reverberate today, not only within us, but within each of our children. The power of parenting, of providing their children with a good role model, and in giving us a consistent and clear message was not lost on my parents – and the only "maven" they had to rely on was Dr. Spock. No pop culture gurus in those days!

Last Thanksgiving my mother was close to death. Samaritan Hospice, to whom we will always be thankful, provided our family with the support we needed to help us through this devastating time. Miraculously, mom survived. In fact, she was featured as the cover girl in the fall edition of the Samaritan Hospice newsletter, as one of their "graduates." Whether her survival is due to the power of prayer, the power of good medicine, or the combination of both we will never know. What I do know is that as we sit down for Thanksgiving dinner this year, each member of our family will certainly feel a power and connection greater than ourselves to which to offer thanks.

Family. Connections. Traditions. Memories. For me, these are life's essentials. My Temple Emanuel family, the connections you have provided me, the traditions we have developed together, and the memories that continue to accumulate have enriched my life. This is our community, this is the place where you get back redoubled what you give. Try to draw closer to our Temple and bask in the positive feelings you will surely experience from your efforts.

What is community? What it certainly isn't is isolated segments or groups. As my parents knew, we are each a segment of our ancestral chain. This is "our time" to be part of the Jewish community. Generations to follow will have this unique opportunity only if the chain remains unbroken. This is a formidable task. As you sit down with your loved ones to celebrate Thanksgiving, consider "our time" in history, how far we Jews have come – and the importance of maintaining our Jewish heritage and culture for future generations.

Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote:

What lies behind us and what lies ahead of us are tiny matters compared to what lives within us.

I look forward to seeing you often at Temple Emanuel.

CANTOR'S NOTES

"If a Jew breaks a leg, he thanks God he did not break both legs; if he breaks both, he thanks God he did not break his neck!" Yiddish proverb s I was sipping my coffee the other morning, I was reflecting on my latest life change, the inspiration I had to come to Temple Emanuel and move to Cherry Hill, and I felt very grateful for all my blessings. I am grateful to be in a wonderful Jewish community, to work with wonderful colleagues, to have a decent roof over my head and abundant food on my table.

This feeling of thankfulness brings to mind a prayer from our liturgy, the prayer for thanksgiving (page 61 in the prayer book) which we intone every time we read the Amidah: "We gratefully acknowledge that You are our God and the God of our people, the God of all generations..."

This prayer is actually quite ancient, possibly from Temple times which became a fixed part of the liturgy after the destruction of the Temple. In Temple times the prayer was accompanied by sacrifices and gifts. After the destruction of the Temple and dispersion of the Jews, prayers became much more important as they replaced the sacrifices and so this very important prayer also became part of our liturgy.

Thanksgiving is also a major theme in many of our psalms. Psalm 92 for instance states:

"It is good to give thanks to Adonai and to sing praises unto Your name, O Most High!...." (Tov lehodot l'Adonai, ulezamer leshimcha elyion.)

So why is it so important to give thanks? Giving thanks to Adonai for one, acknowledges our relationship with God. Giving thanks to others helps us become aware of how much we depend on others for our happiness and our security, making us more sensitive to others helping us live in a society harmoniously. It makes the world around us more positive!

In September, on Yom Kippur, we took a tally of everything we did wrong and made our apologies and started anew. This month, as we celebrate Thanksgiving, let us have a different kind of reckoning and think about all the things we should be grateful for and acknowledge all those forces, people, things, who contributed to our happiness and sense of well being...

Family Education Days in November & December

Come learn with your child! These programs are planned for parents and children to learn together. Mark your calendars.

November 14 – Kindergarten December 5 –  $4^{th}$  Grade

IFELONG Education

What is "service of the heart'? It is praver. Talmud Ta'anit 2a

Several parents have asked how often their child should be attending Shabbat services. According to Temple Emanuel policy, students in the younger grades minimally should attend their class services plus the number of services equal to their grade level. For example, a third grader should attend Third Grade Shabbat and, at least, three more Shabbat services. In the year before their B'nai Mitzvah ceremony, students are expected to attend a minimum of twelve Shabbat services.

I certainly encourage you to accompany your child to services, according to the congregation's expectations. Prayer is something that you learn by doing and, by attending services, your child will utilize his or her classroom knowledge and become increasingly familiar with Jewish lituray and our congregation.

But, of course, prayer is not something that we should do exclusively "by the numbers." I also encourage you to make prayer something that you foster more organically in your child's life. Make prayer something that is part of his or her "heart" and not just a numbers game. Here are a few suggestions:

Say the Shema with your child before he or she goes

by Rabbi Deborah Bodin Cohen Director of Lifelong Education

to bed. Make it a daily ritual.

- Attend services after something special, or difficult, happens in your family's life. Emphasize that prayer help us say "thank you" to God and find support at our time of need.
- When a friend is sick or you see an ambulance rushing to the hospital or you hear about people coming into harm's way on the news, say a prayer for healing with your child. It can be as simple as "Please God bring healing to our friend .... "
- Incorporate the Birkat Hamotzi, the blessing over bread, into your ritual before eating.
  - When you and your child see something beautiful like a rainbow, experience something special like meeting up with an old friend or accomplish something important like winning a big soccer match, say a prayer together. It can be as simple as "Blessed are you God for. . ." or reciting the Shechayanu. I would be happy to provide you with a list of traditional blessing to recite at different moments.

There is classic debate in Judaism about whether prayer should be fixed or spontaneously. The conclusion: a little bit of both. At Temple Emanuel, we can teach your child the fixed set of skills to pray. Yet, you will be much better equipped to help your child spontaneously connect prayer to the triumphs, pitfalls and ho-hum moments of daily life. Together, we can be partners in making prayer important and accessible to your child.

SENIOR SCENE

by Gert Pastelnick

t this time of year, many of the members of our senior group have gone to spend part of – or the entire winter – in a warmer climate. We wish them well, and look forward to their return in several months.

Meanwhile, for those who will be braving the seasons with us, we have planned a brown bag lunch meeting on Wednesday, November 17, at noon. Our program is sure to benefit us all. Our special guest speaker will be August Longo, the Special Assistant to the Director of the Elder Fraud Unit in Camden County. He will speak about areas of fraud that we can fall prev to, and inform us as to how we can protect ourselves. Even though we might think that this does not apply to us personally, we are all vulnerable. Being informed makes 115 safer.

With great anticipation we are looking ahead to our noon meeting, on December 15. We are excited to have as our guest, Cantor Miriam Eskenasy, who will present "Chanukah Songs from Around the World." This will be a lovely and entertaining afternoon.

I hope to meet and greet you all at our next meeting on November 17.

The Sixth Night of Chanukah: Ner Shel Tzedakah

Did you know that, according to a recent Census Bureau report, one in twenty Jewish households - and one in ten American households - live in poverty? This Chanukah, OUR CONGREGATION is helping to ameliorate this desperate situation through Ner Shel Tzedakah ("candle of righteousness"), a part of the Union for Reform Judaism's Poverty Initiative.

How can you help? Devote the sixth night of Hanukkah (Sunday, December 12) to learning about the problem of poverty. On that night, donate the value of the gifts you would exchange to organizations that assist the poor . By participating, you will help our "candle of righteousness" glow brightly for those in need.

For more information and resources on Ner Shel Tzedakah, contact our Social Action committee, or visit the Commission on Social Action of Reform Judaism's website at www.urj.org/csa/projects/poverty, or contact the Commission at 212.650.4160,csa@urj.org.

KOL EMANUEL

by Beth Strum

Kol Emanuel is now in full swing since the High Holidays, and we hope all of your prayers have been answered. You can hear us again on December 10, when we will sing for Shabbat and Hanukkah. That evening, Kol Emanuel will be complemented by our youthful singers, Shirei HaYeladim.

And now, to continue our features on choir members, we give you the musical life and times of longtime congregation and choir member Murray Fineman.

Murray joined Temple Emanuel in the early 1980s, before there was a choir. For years, the temple used a paid, professional choir for the High Holidays.

"When Robin started the choir in the mid-80's I joined," he says.

Murray got "hooked" on vocal music as a child at the Walton Elementary School in Philadelphia. He was selected to join the Philadelphia Boys Choir in the sixth grade, and performed at the Academy of Music with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

He sang at family gatherings, and grew up listening to Jewish music in his home.

After moving to New Jersey in the mid-1950s, he continued to sing in school choirs, often being chosen for solos. He also sang with the dance band at his high school.

"Those were the days of Fats Domino, Harry Belafonte and Elvis," he remembers.

He continued to sing in college, and brought his voice to weddings and bar mitzvahs. He even sang at a friend's Catholic wedding.

"I sang Ave Maria," he laughs. "A Jewish guy singing at a Catholic wedding!"

Many years later, Murray sang at his own two children's weddings.

If you would like to join Murray in Kol Emanuel, we welcome new singers. Please call Debbie Freedman Fee at (856) 489-0029 for more information. Choir meets on Tuesday evenings from 7 pm to 9 pm.

Family Tile Workshop

Artist Donna Moskowitz will help you become an artist on November 21, as you and your family create a tile with your names and Jewish images that are important to you. The tiles will become an addition to the already-adorned wall at the Religious School entrance.

Plan to arrive between 2 pm and 3 pm to begin your tile. The tiles are 8 inches by 8 inches, if you would like to plan out your design in advance. The cost is $18/tile.

Proceeds from the day will support educational programming at the congregation.

To sign up, call (856) 489-0029 ext. 10. A sign-up form will be going out from the Religious School.

New Baby Shabbat

New parents, new grandparents, new aunts and new uncles – bring your little one to services on November 5 at 7:30 pm for a special blessing.

All babies, born in the past year will be called with their families to the bimah (pulpit) to be blessed in front of the open Ark. Let's help to welcome the newest additions to our world and ask for a blessing of long life, good health and happiness. All participants will receive a certificate.

Visitors to Temple Emanuel are invited to be part of this meaningful service. If a friend, neighbor or relative had a Jewish baby, let them know that they are invited to come and have the child blessed.

November is Jewish Book Month

B ooks have always been very important to us as a people, after all we are known as The People of The Book. Books and stories mean everything to us as a people, as a culture and to our religion. No matter what continent we have ended up on or country we have ended up in we have created stories and tales that have passed down from generation to generation.

This tradition of storybooks that we pass on and on goes all the way to our most important book – the Torah. It is so important to us that each year we celebrate receiving the Torah at Mt. Sinai on Shavuot, and we also celebrate the time when we finish reading it and start all over again, Simchat Torah. In fact, Jewish life recognizes the significance of storytelling and commands us to keep reading and hearing our stories. On Purim we hear the story of Esther, on Passover we tell the story of the Exodus and every week we hear a little bit more of our Torah.

Here at the Pre-School, we have learned from our Jewish traditions and recognize just how important storytelling is in our children's lives. Each classroom has a reading corner with lots of books for the children to "read" and for us to read to them. Last month our 3- and 4-year olds began our lending library program. Twice a month the classes visit the Temple Emanuel Library where they hear a book read by a guest reader and then choose a book to take home to share with their family. Each child has his or her very own handmade library card! It is so wonderful to see the children's faces light up as they travel down the hall back to their classrooms proudly carrying their special books.

The benefits of reading books and telling stories to your children at home are innumerable. Among the most important benefits are learning about books, life and the world around us, to love books, about language, to communicate and to experience the special loving bond that can be forged during this time.

So read to your children, tell them stories - about anything, about everything.

When a day passes, it is no longer there. What remains of it? Nothing more than a story. If stories weren't told or books weren't written, man would live like the beasts, only for the day...The whole world, all human life, is one long story.

TREE OF LIFE

12 Jerri Pinsky Chairperson

As you read all the inscriptions on our Tree of Life, you will share in all the happy memories of your Temple family. It lists the birthdays, anniversaries, births and weddings of Temple members. It recalls Bar/Bat Mitzvahs, special occasions and honors to loved ones. All the names on our Simcha Tree represent people who friends and family chose to honor. How special for them as they view this tribute for years to come.

Have you been searching for that perfect gift for someone in your life? Your $180 donation will purchase this everlasting tribute. A $500 donation will purchase the larger celebration rocks that appear at the base of the Tree.

Please place your order in a timely manner while space is still available. The next time you are visiting the Temple, make sure to stop by and read what's been going on in the lives of your fellow congregants.

MEN'S CLUB

by Steve Ehrlich

Five years ago, if you had told me that not only would I be a member of the Men's Club, but I would also be the Men's Club President, I would have laughed at you. I incorrectly thought that Men's Club was only for sports. Back then, I had no interest in joining or being active in our Men's Club. About four years ago, a group of Men's Club members started a Men's Spirituality Group, and they talked me into joining. I quickly discovered that Men's Club can and will be whatever its members want it to be.

I also learned another important lesson. The more I participated and became involved in Temple Emanuel activities, the more valuable Temple Emanuel became in my life. I also learned that, because I was actively involved, when my professional career hit a major speed bump, my Temple Emanuel extended family came to my aid.

The core of Men's Club is our monthly brunch meetings. Every month I look forward to a tasty bagels and lox brunch followed by an interesting speaker. In addition, throughout the year, our men participate in many sporting activities, with the Spring softball league being the major sporting competition.

I encourage everyone to become more involved in Temple Emanuel activities. Naturally I am biased and will tell you the Men's Club is one of the best organizations at Temple Emanuel. We are small enough so that every member is important and heard, but large enough to have interesting events. If you have never been to a Men's Club brunch, join us and see how great they are.

Our next Sunday Brunch meeting is on November 21st which will focus on Men's Health issues. This will be followed on December 19th with Rabbi David leading a discussion on being Jewish in a Multi-Cultural world.

We hope to see you at our next meeting which is on November 21 at 10:00 am.

SISTERHOOD

he Hanukah season at Temple Emanuel would just not be complete without the Annual Sisterhood Hanukah Bazaar! Please come and shop on Sunday, November 14, at 9 am, when vendors of every sort will fill up the Social Hall.

Bazaar Chair, Debra Berger, reports that there will be more diversity and fewer jewelry vendors than last year. So, you can expect to see everything from candy bouquets to Judaica, make your own teddy bears, personalized frames, watches, outer apparel, Tupperware, scrapbooking kits, discovery toys, baby gifts, b'nai mitzvah sign-in books and gifts, sweaters, mosaic art, invitations and gift stationery, maternity clothes, photo albums, to name a few! And yes, there will be some jewelry too. Sisterhood will have a table with lots of gift items, including Sisterhood cookbooks, Gift Cards and Entertainment Books.

The Maccabee Mart returns this year as a part of the Bazaar, a special shopping experience for the children in the conference room near the Religious School. DJ Whitley and Linda Harvey, who run the Maccabee Mart, have made sure that it will be stocked with lots of reasonably priced, but not "junky" items for the children to give others for Hanukah. There will be volunteers to help the children choose wisely.

Shopping can make you hungry, so the Spinning Dreidel Cafe will be open for business, once again under the capable direction of Bonnie and Evan Sharps. There will be lots of Hanukah goodies to satisfy your appetite. There will also be a 50/50 raffle.

We have many other events coming up throughout the year, including a Sunday morning of ceramics (January 23, 2005) and the Quarter Auction and Dinner (February 10, 2005). The Annual Retreat (May 13-15, 2005) will take place in Cape May again. Also, I am pleased to announce that Rosie Hymerling will once again open her home and kitchen to Sisterhood for a wonderful evening of cooking and schmoozing (May 26, 2005). We also hope to have trip to the theater sometime in March, so watch your mailbox and this column for more details!

Jessica Manelis, family education chairperson.

We need your help to make this weekend a reality. Please talk with Rabbi Cohen or Jessica if you would like to get involved in planning the weekend. Or, attend the next Family Education meeting on Monday, December 6 at 7: pm. RSVP to the meeting with Jean Klein, 489-0035.

YOUTH GROUP

Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur and the promise of commitment and change still linger in our minds. New plans and greater dedication still fill our thoughts. The idea of making our world a better place, making our lives more meaningful still motivate each of us. Youth Group still remains the single most powerful tool to achieve these goals and promises.

Temple Emanuel teens see possibility in every activity that they do. I would like to take the opportunity to let every Temple Emanuel congregant reading this article hear the words of our incredible leaders. Youth Group is a tool; true greatness lies in each and every heart and soul of our teens!

Our Youth Group Shabbat on October 1 moved everyone by its inclusiveness and its meaningful interpretation of the theme, The Importance of Speaking Out. Jill Cogan, Tefty's Religious and Cultural Vice President, worked diligently to create a beautiful and thought-provoking service that gave all the chance to be heard.

"...I have found that speaking out is a hard thing to do. The fear of rejection and embarrassment are constantly hanging over our heads, holding us back from doing what we want to do in life. ... People allow this fear to prevent them from speaking out. I encourage each of you to use your voice and make a difference in the community. ..To quote Dr. Seuss, 'Be who you are and say what you feel, because those who mind don't matter and those who matter don't mind.'"

Some of our youth spoke on the topic:

- Brianna Kerensky: "When making personal decisions, listen to what your head says; then, listen to what your heart says. If they differ, follow your heart!"
- Meredith Ganzman said she was "always confused as to why people did not speak out to make change, to make a difference...Confusion escalated to anger because at first I was convinced that it was very simple... to produce sound... I realized that everyone who has the ability to speak has a gift, and so many of us are hiding and wasting our gift... So I beg of you to remember that silence does not make change... Speak out! You owe it to yourself and to your throat, which is working hard to make your voice!"
- Jana Karpf told a parable reflecting the power of kindness and reaching out to brighten someone else's day...and that thoughtfulness should never change.

Beautiful music and melodies intensified our service; youth group participation reflected the strength of community and commitment. Pride and love could be felt throughout the sanctuary. This is what Youth Group can do.

See you all at the next Youth Group activity!

Torah Portions of the Month

November 6 – Chayei Sarah Genesis 23:1 – 25:18

In Chayei Sarah, we have another opportunity to learn about the original Jewish family. Sarah, Abraham's wife, dies and Abraham seeks to insure that the next generation will continue the Jewish traditions, which he and Sarah have established. Abraham sends his servant Eliezer to find a wife for his son Isaac from among his kin. Eliezer travels to the land of Abraham's birth and returns with Rebecca, kin to Abraham and considered an appropriate wife. At the close of this portion, Abraham dies.

November 13 - Toledot

Genesis 25:19 - 28:9

In parasha Toledot, meaning generations, we learn about the generations which begin with Isaac. Isaac's wife, Rebecca is pregnant with twins, Jacob and Esau. Even before the twins are born, they fight in their mother's womb, a struggle that will continue throughout most of their lives.

November 20 – Vayetze

Genesis 28:10 - 32:3

Vayetze (meaning And he went out), tells the story of Jacob leaving his home and traveling to the place where his mother Rebecca was born. Jacob stops for the night and falls asleep and has a dream. In the dream, angels are going up and down a stairway that reaches from the earth to the sky. God stands beside Jacob and tells him that the ground he is lying on will one day belong to him and his descendants and that God will bless them.

November 27 - Vayishlach

Genesis 32:4 - 36:43

In Vayishlach, we read about the reunion between Jacob and his twin brother Esau. Twenty years earlier, Jacob fled their home in Canaan after cheating Esau, the first-born of the twins, out of his blessing and inheritance. Jacob left because he believed Esau wanted to kill him for what he had done.

Did you know that Thanksgiving is a Jewish holiday? Well, not really, but it was based on the holiday of Sukkot. Both Thanksgiving and Sukkot are celebrations showing gratitude for a good harvest. While Sukkot remains a seven-day observance, the first Thanksgiving celebration continued for three days, a time frame reminiscent of the Jewish harvest festival. The pilgrims' invited local Indians to the first Thanksgiving during the fall of 1621. Historians speculate that this celebration occurred somewhere between Sept. 21 and Nov. 9, but most likely in early October, around the time of Sukkot.
