MESSAGE FROM THE RABBI CROSSINGS. . .

The summer is waning. Autumn is peeking its head around the corner as the school year begins again. The Days of Awe will soon be here, bringing our extended Temple Family together once more. But how do we make these potentially sacred days more than a yearly Homecoming game? Will we in some way respond to the call to re-examine our lives and the choices we have made? Or will we again revert to last year's patterns, return to the old familiar ruts? Before we cross over into a new year, we should stop, look and listen.

Stop.

Step aside from the routine.

Take control, if but for a moment, of your time and your mental and spiritual energy which are used for so many other things.

Be open to the new.

Look.

Take a look at your life.

Look at where you have been, and ask yourself, "Where am I?"

Then look at those around you, in your immediate world and in the world at large.

Look with your eyes, look with your heart.

Listen.

Listen to yourself and the world.

Listen to the joy and listen to the pain.

Listen to what is said in silence.

Listen to the words of the prayers of the Days of Awe which present for us a moral/spiritual standard for our lives.

Listen to your inner calling, the "still small voice" of God/conscience that knows what must be done.

Cross Cross over into the New Year renewed and determined.

And let us each begin this Jewish year with at least one New Year's resolution: to become involved. Get on a committee, help with one of our many Social Action projects. Volunteer. We have all gained from being part of the "mega-mishpacha," the super-family of the Jewish people. Temple is a place where we can give something back, strengthening ourselves at the same time. Remember in this New Year: Being Jewish is not a hobby. It is part of who we are and how we live our lives. We are heirs to a beautiful and compelling heritage of meaning, part of a Covenant People whose whole life should mirror the Divine. Best wishes from all of us on the Temple Staff for a joyous and meaningful New Year.

Rabbi Rossoff

Torah Digest

September 4-5

SHOFTEEM

Deuteronomy 16:18 - 21:9

In this week's Torah portion, are many laws under the rubric, "Justice, justice shall you pursue": setting up a system of courts and judges, limiting the power of any future king who must be subject to the Torah, requiring two witnesses for any conviction, establishing cities of refuge for unintentional manslaughter, setting up a system of wartime ethics which dictates that peace must always be the first option pursued, that those who wish to escape must be allowed to do so, and that fruit trees must not be destroyed as part of war strategy.

September 11-12

KITETZE

Deuteronomy 21:10 - 25:19

The Israelite People living in the Land of Israel were to have exemplary ethical standards to follow. Laws discussed here include fair treatment of war captives, laborer and slaves, equal treatment for wives, ways of dealing with wayward and defiant children, return of lost property, compassion for animals, the obligation to extend interest free loans to the needy, keeping vows, marriage and divorce, respect for those to whom money has been lent, individual rights, rights of and obligations towards the stranger, widow and orphan, business ethics and the command to wipe out the memory of the eternal enemy Amalek.

September 18-19

KI-TAVO

Deuteronomy 26:1 - 29:8

The Israelites are given laws meant to insure that they would follow God's commandments when in their new land. When the first fruits of the land were collected, they were to take an offering. Using the first liturgy written, they were to recount the Hebrew origins, the Egyptian slavery and God's having brought them to the Land of Israel. This "confessional statement" was later made a central part of the Passover Haggadah. As the people crossed over into the Land of Israel, blessings and curses were to be pronounced from two mountain peaks denoting the positive consequences of following the commandments and the negative consequences for rejecting them.

September 25-26

NITZAVIM

Deuteronomy 29:9 - 30:20

The central theme of this portion is the Covenant between God and the People of Israel. All Jews were present at the giving of Torah and are part of the Covenant, "those standing here today and those not standing here today." If the Israelites reject the obligations of the covenant, their punishment will be exile. And yet God will bring them back to their land in love when their hearts open up again. The Torah, blueprint for fulfilling the covenant, is not obscure and far away, but is accessible to all. A choice is given: life or death, the blessing or the curse. As we read on Yom Kippur as well - the command to the Jew is always, "choose life!"

Thoughts From The Cantor

"I shall praise the Name of God with a Song"

- Psalm 69:31

As we all start back to our busy schedules, let us be sensitive to our spirits for there is a heritage of spiritual responsiveness in the souls of our people. There are so many activities here at Temple B'nai Or, each one of them offering in their own way a connection to the Jewish part of our being.

The Temple B'nai Or Jewish Singles (36 -52 years) has been thriving throughout the summer and more activities are planned for the 1992-1993 season. Feel free to call if you have any questions.

The Adult Volunteer Choir had great success during its year of formation and I expect that this year promises to be just as wonderful. We have been asked to present "A Sephardic Musical Journey" at Temple Ner Tamid in Bloomfield, New Jersey on Sunday, November 1st and that will be the Adult Volunteer Choir's debut outside the synagogue. So come out and support them!

Music can speak to us in ways that words cannot. Jewish music in particular can inspire our souls as we simultaneously identify with it. Jewish worship music is a means of religious experience. It must contain nobility and depth while giving life, enhance and glorify the prayers so that they become our very own expressions before God. We can let the music inspire us both when we listen passively and at other times when we make those old and new Jewish sounds ourselves. So, think of adding this commandment to the 613 that we have: "Thou shalt sing with all thy heart, with all thy soul, and with all thy might." May you be blessed with a healthy, fulfilling and spiritual New Year.

Bring a Friend/
Shabbat of Welcome

Attention all members! You are cordially invited to bring an unaffiliated friend or friends to a very special "Bring a Friend/Shabbat of Welcome". On Friday night, September 18, will be a very special service of welcome to friends, introducing them to our Temple and helping them feel at home. There is no better way to introduce potential members to Temple than through the personal recommendations of you the current members of our Temple family. Your friend(s) may not be thinking about joining a Temple right now. But being brought to our Temple and being made to feel comfortable, not as a stranger but as a friend, will go a long way when your friend is thinking about Temple affiliation.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"It can't be September already, what happened to summer?" That may be the most popular comment when Labor Day and the September issue of our Bulletin arrive. You can imagine the mixed feelings as this first message of the new Temple year is being written.

As you read this Bulletin, the High Holy Days will be approaching, Erev Rosh Hashonah on Sunday evening, September 27th. Most of us feel a gradual sense of change. We recognize, perhaps with surprise, that another year has passed and we create our own scorecard: what we've accomplished; concern for what remains; increased sensitivity to the needs of our families, our Temple, our community, and for People everywhere.

We may have escaped the "real world" during our vacations and enjoyable summer weekends, but now we are back to our normal lives and routines. But the High Holy Days are not normal. We feel the difference and recognize that this is a very special time. From Rosh Hashonah through Yom Kippur (October 8) we are transformed. At this time, without fail, we come together at Temple needing and receiving spiritual guidance. We find new meanings in our lives from the deeply moving religious services created and led by Rabbi Donald Rossoff. This year, Cantor Deborah Stalman will again add a beautiful dimension to our worship experience.

While we recognize the high emotions and deeply felt influences of the High Holy Days, we, your Clergy, Professional Staff, Board, and Officers, will be working with great diligence to persuade each of you to participate more fully in Temple's many programs and to provide the financial support needed to maintain YOUR Temple.

The good news is that there is a welcomed and recognized increase in Temple projects. There is a new spirit within the congregation and more members willing to participate in important projects. With the continued help of such dedicated members of our congregational family, we should be able to handle the real challenges of the coming year. However, our success is totally dependent upon everyone's involvement.

We need and look forward to increased participation and support for the new year, 5753. Based on our progress during the summer, we will be "Working Together" very well. In closing, a reminder:

How goodly is our portion.
How blessed our lot.
How beautiful our heritage!

Irv Gozonsky, President

Intermarriage Dialogue on Yom Kippur

During the High Holy Days, abbi Rossoff will be speaking on the issue of intermarriage and how it affects us personally and as a people. On Yom Kippur, between the morning and afternoon services, he will be conducting an open dialogue on the subject, providing an opportunity for members to respond to the abbi's sermon and to share their thoughts, feelings and experiences.

NEW BEGINNINGS FOR 5753

Another productive summer has passed, registration is going well, the school is fully staffed, the entire facility has been painted and waxed in preparation for the students and we eagerly await the opening day of school which will be on Sunday, Sept. 13th. Grades Four through Seven will meet from 8:45 AM to 11:15 AM, while students in Grades Kindergarten through Three will meet from 11:30 AM to 1:15 PM.

All parents have been invited to accompany their children to school on the opening day. Please meet in the sanctuary. There will be time for listening, questioning, socializing and worship. In addition Rabbi Rossoff and Cantor Staiman will offer a blessing for the opening of the new year.

If you have not received your Parent Manual and Registration Confirmation Cards indicating class assignment, then you have either NOT registered your child(ren) or have NOT paid the school fee. Please make sure this is done prior to the opening day of school. Hebrew Readiness is introduced in Grade Two; we teach students how to read Hebrew in Grade Three. Therefore, to ensure optimum success, please make sure your Third Grader is registered in our two-day program. Please remind your friends and neighbors about our Pre-Kindergarten program which meets on eight Saturdays during the year in conjunction with Tot Shabbat; families do not need to be Temple members in order for their children to participate. For more information, please call the Religious School Office.

As the 5753 (1992-1993) school year begins, let us join together, teachers and parents, in our effort to create a positive learning atmosphere in which our children gain positive feelings about their Jewish heritage. May the New Year bring you and your family health, happiness and above all, peace, and may you be inscribed in the Book of Life.

Elaine B. Gaidemak, RJE Director of Education

THANK YOU...

...to Roberta Berman, who volunteered her time on Sunday morning to help the Religious School Office run smoothly during the 1991-1992 school year, and who helped begin to organize the Teacher Reference Library during the summer.

...to Elaine Schwartz, Immediate Past Chairperson of the Religious School Board, who guided the Religious School during her six year tenure. Her wisdom, creativity and educational vision have contributed greatly to the positive growth of our school.

MEN'S CLUB

In an era in which people are bemoaning the lack of family values and community ties, we at Temple B'nai Or can take pride in the active role our Temple takes in supporting these precious ideals.

The role of the Men's club in Temple life is to provide a vehicle for promoting a sense of community. To this end we sponsor programs that include the entire Temple. Our Sunday breakfasts, for example, have become a family event to which you are all invited.

This year the Men's Club Breakfast Plan, which appears on your Temple bill, will include all breakfasts for Men's Club members and their spouse or guest, with the exception of the gourmet breakfast. Enrolling in the plan will constitute a 34% savings over paying for the breakfasts individually. Also, your enrollment provides us with the working capital to ensure that our breakfasts remain a wonderful event.

I urge you all to join the Men's Club so that our Temple community may continue to flourish. The Men's Club budget is independent of the Temple's budget, and our dues are used to support both Temple activities and the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods. We cannot function without your support. If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me.

Finally, I would like to welcome all new members to our Temple and wish you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Richard W. Burgh (201)984-9703 Men's Club President

Slichot Services

Saturday evening, September 19
with Rabbi Rossoff and Cantor
Staiman

On a Saturday evening close to Rosh Hashanah, late at night, the Jewish People gather in synagogues throughout the world. It is the time to begin to look at ourselves and our need for spiritual connection and growth. The Days of Awe do not offer instant grace. Repentance and turning only come with serious reflection and introspection. We thus begin with the beautiful and awe inspiring service of Slichot.

Join us for one of the most beautiful and personal Services of the whole year!

Reception at 8:00 pm

8:30 pm in the Social Hall

VOTER REGISTRATION

Are you registered to vote? Have you voted in an election within the past four years? Have you recently moved into the county and remembered to re-register? If not, you cannot vote in the November presidential election.

According to the Synagogue Council of America, 1,000,000 American Jews are not registered. In the past, Jewish votes have influenced elections and the passage of legislation favoring a domestic and foreign Jewish agenda. This influence may be eroded if Jews no longer take the time to register and vote.

The Social Action Committee urges you to register, and we will even help you. For information call Connie Rubin (267-6553).

HOUSING FOR THE HOMELESS

YOUTH GROUP SERVICE

Once again the Youth Groups can look forward to a year filled with great activities! Last year's Junior Youth Group enjoyed a dance at the Jewish Center, a pool party at Joshua Zlotkin's, a trip to the Meadowlands for a basketball game, as well as other great events. So, 7th and 8th graders, we hope to see you all at our first great event! Co-Presidents this year are Joshua Zlotkin (908) 766-7967 and Elise Rosenberg 539-3283.

Last year's Senior Youth Group started off the year with a bang by hosting a JFTY (Jersey Federation of Temple Youths) dance in the social hall. This was followed by a trip to a local pool hall, a Meadowland's excursion and lots of other activities. So, 9th through 12th grade teens, take a look at the enclosed roster of events for this year and join in! Call Senior Youth Group President, Dan Rosenberg 539-3283 if you have any questions.

Small Change Can Make A Big Difference

Sitting somewhere in your home, in a jar, a box, or a glass, do you have an accumulation of pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters? As a part of this year's multi-faceted fund raising drive, we are asking for your small change.

After Labor Day, when you enter Temple, you will see our receptacle, a massive container. The pick-up and deposit arrangements are up to you. When our Penny Patrol calls you, they will ask whether you want to bring your change to Temple or have us pick it up. We'll be happy to provide receipts. If we all give a little, we can amass a lot! If you have any questions, please call Barry Efros at 895-4275.

THE COLLEGE CONNECTION

The College Connection was created to provide a link between our college students and Temple. Throughout the year, students receive the Temple bulletin, holiday packages, and information on Jewish issues. In addition, resources are available to help future collegians in their search for the "perfect" school.

As another academic year begins, we need to update the college addresses for all Temple members currently enrolled in schools to insure they become part of the connection. Please complete the following form and return it to Temple c/o Judy Allen.

Youth Group gets Tikkun Olam Award

A hearty Mazal Tov to the Senior Youth Group. It has been awarded the prestigious "Tikkun Olam" award for its excellent programming during the last year. SENIOR YOUTH GROUP

The Senior Youth Group is off to another terrific year with a new terrific name, or acronym, BOFTY (B'nai Or Federation of Temple Youth). Look for this new name and all the exciting events. At the conclusion of last year we joined together at the annual Youth Group Shabbat Service to celebrate the efforts of the 1991-1992 Executive Board: Sarah Nelson, Chad Cookler, Jordana Raanan, Rachel Nelson, Kimberly Ross, Dan Rosenberg, and Julie Marx. Thank you all. The 1992-1993 Executive Board was elected last May and installed at the Youth Group Service. Congratulations and Mazal Tov to: Dan Rosenberg, President Rachel Nelson, Special Projects Vice President David Handler, Religious Vice President Jordana Fenik, Social Action Vice President Sarah Nelson, 12th Grade Representative and JFTY Liaison Raanan Weintraub, 11th Grade Representative and Secretary Kevin Cookler, 10th Grade Representative and Treasurer Dara Weinerman, 9th Grade Representative and Membership Chairperson 1992-1993 looks like an incredible year already. The newly elected board already met to begin Leadership Training and create the 1992-1993 Calendar, which is inserted in this issue of the bulletin: with all the activities currently scheduled and each one's tentative time.

Exciting activities fill this calendar such as a Pool Party, Great Adventure, Ski Trip and Sporting Event are on the calendar along with the annual Purim Carnival. In addition, we have many new programs such as "Revert to Childhood", "A.C. Comes to BOFTY (Casino Night)" and "Maccabiah (Olympics) Between the Grades" along with our monthly "M-n-M" -Monday Night Meetings which will alternate between dinner with a n interactive program and dinner with hangin' out time. The calendar is also full with lots of regional events with JFTY and we are eager to get even more people to these activities to represent BOFTY. Details will follow on everything except the "M-n-M" just plan on attending now!! Other activities which do not appear on the calendar include weekly candy sales on Monday nights (come prepared -- $.50 each) and various social action projects such as visiting the local hospital, helping with Temple projects and visiting the regional food bank. What a great year this will be! Of course there is always a possibility of change with these dates and/or times, but we still ask that you put these dates in your calendar now, hang on the schedule on your refrigerator and look in your mail for specific details. Please keep your eyes open for youth group mail with Membership information and details for all the events. See you soon.

- Do you know someone 22-35 living in New York City?
- Then let him/her know about this: Being Jewish: so what?
- A provocative evening for Jewish New Yorkers 22-35, to explore issues of Jewish identity: Why be Jewish today? How does Judaism influence my personal and professional decisions? Can the Synagogue play a role in my life? Hear the personal Jewish stories of prominent New York professionals and participate in roundtable discussion groups. Wine and cheese hour...hot dinner...live jazz music...social hour
- Tuesday, September 15, 6:00 pm Congregation Rodeph Shalom 7 West 83rd Street, Manhattan Please send names and addresses of interested participants to Rabbi Altman, UAHC 838 Fifth Avenue, NYC, 10021-6064 or call 1-800-359-UAHC.

On the evening of Wednesday, July 22nd, about 100 lbs. of weeds were removed from the traffic island by the following volunteers:

Paul Flowerman
Josh Flowerman
Barbara Klein
Art Klein
Bill Schlosser
Pat Tolkoff

Richard Burgh, Ron Goldberg, and Art Klein put the finishing touches on the traffic island on Wednesday evening, July 29th.

Many thanks to those who helped. Since only the grounds directly adjacent to our building are being maintained by Busch's Landscaping, more volunteers will be needed to finish weeding the traffic island and outlying areas. Anyone wishing to volunteer one hour of time should call Art Klein after 6 P.M. (201) 539 3591
