RELIGIOUS EDUCATION COMMITTEE NEWS

We want to welcome all our kids and their parents back to Religious School. We are looking forward to a busy happy, and interesting year at school. Our teaching staff is complete and new and veteran teachers alike are planning for the year to come. Opening day, September 15, is now also our "Back To School" event, complete with refreshments and opportunities to meet parents, teachers, learn about opportunities for Jewish youth and our own curriculum at Monmouth Reform Temple. The other September event to keep in mind is Sukkot. Our school celebration will be on Sunday, September 22nd, but plan to have dinner with the Rabbi in the Sukkah sometime during that next week.

One special event to plan for is our trip to Ellis Island for students of grades 4-10 on Thursday, November 7 when secular school is closed for Teacher's Meetings. Mark that date for a special day for parents and children that promises to be memorable.

You'll be hearing from us throughout the year, but for now, welcome back!

---The Religious Education Committee

NEW ONEG SHABBAT SCHEDULING

Due to difficulty of scheduling Oneg Shabbats, the Fellowship Committee will be experimenting with some changes. Onegs for all special services will be the responsibility of the persons or groups involved in the special service. Special services include Bar and Bat Mitzvah and services sponsored by committees or religious school grades. This will reduce but not eliminate the number of Onegs needing to be assigned.

An attempt will be made to assign reminding Onegs on a volunteer basis. You or a group of your friends may want to sponsor an Oneg or you may choose to honor a person or social event. If you know you will be in Temple a particular night (Yahrzeits, for example) this would be a good night to take a turn. Two host families and an usher family are needed for each Friday night.

Please contact us immediately to choose a night. Although we will be attempting to fill all the evenings with volunteers, we will have to assign members for the remaining services.

BAR/BAT MITZVAH FAMILIES

If you have any questions, please call Gene Gilbert 530-9499 or the Temple office 747-9365. We'll try to help.

NEW MEMBERS

On behalf of the Officers and Board of Trustees of Monmouth Reform Temple, I warmly welcome the following members to our Temple Family:

Scott & Patricia Fass, 48 Mariveles Road, Eatontown and children Sarah, Samantha & Shannon

Bradley & Cynthia Newman, 4 Seneca Drive, Middletown and children Liza, Morgan & Alexandra

May their presence add to the vitality and spirit of our Congregation.

The Membership Committee will be holding an Open House for prospective members on Thursday evening September 5 from 6-9 pm. If you know anyone who is thinking about joining a Temple, please invite them to come. Any Monmouth Reform Temple member is welcome to attend the Open House and help prospectives feel comfortable and learn about the Temple.

TRAIN SHOW

A wrap-up meeting was held and our next Train Show will be June 14, 1992. More help will be needed on this committee to ensure another success. Our next show will include several train display layouts to interest our younger attendees. Thank you for all who helped this year. It was a great success.

FROM RABBI PRIESAND

For weeks now, many of us, myself included, have been talking about how early the Holydays are this year. In reality, according to the Hebrew calendar, they're right on time. Rosh Hashanah falls on the first of Tishri as it does every year and Yom Kippur is ten days later. Nonetheless, it is somewhat difficult to begin the process of taking stock of our lives when the activities of summer are still so much with us.

Our tradition teaches that this season of the year, our most sacred, provides an opportunity for teshuvah, tefillah and tzdakah. For our Holyday experience to be complete, we must incorporate all three concepts into our observance. Through teshuvah (repentance), we look inward to those values and goals which shape our lives. Who are we? Where have we been, and where are we going? How much have we grown during the past year? What is there about ourselves that we would like to improve? Teshuvah challenges us to face life without the masks we so often wear, to be honest with ourselves and each other, to make amends for those moments when we fell short of our highest selves, and to recognize that change is always possible.

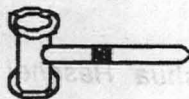

Through tefillah (prayer), we look upward and reunite ourselves with God, the Source of life, whose spirit guides the universe. How often during the year we fail to welcome God's presence into our lives! And yet on the Holydays we yearn for that inspiration which has enriched our people in every generation. We want to know that God is with us, replenishing our spirits, renewing our strength in those moments when strength seems so elusive. These Days of Awe give us the opportunity to rediscover and experience the reality of God, to know and understand that God continues to work miracles in our time, not like the miracles of the Bible, but by enabling ordinary people to do extraordinary things.

Through tzdakah (charity), we look outward to the world around us. God has called us to be partners in the work of creation. So much remains to be done: feeding the hungry, housing the homeless, protecting the environment, making our planet a place that is safe for every form of life, ensuring a future for our children and our children's children. Literally, tzdakah means righteousness or justice. We make it part of our lives because it's the right thing to do.

Looking inward, upward and outward—that's the challenge of this season of the year. May your self-examination be successful and your New Year be sweet. L'shana tova!

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Shabbat worship during July is a change of pace, and it takes on the character of the person(s) conducting each service. While these summer services have their own style and informality, it always seems more like "home" when Rabbi Priesand returns to the bemah. This year, after a vacation auto accident, it is especially nice to have her back in one piece.

Have you and your family ever eaten in the Temple's sukkah? Rabbi Priesand is there every evening during Sukkot and the more people who come, the merrier it is. Bring a picnic supper and join the group! It is a good way to enjoy the festival and to meet some fellow congregants.

The High Holy Days are a time to reflect on the past and to look forward to the future. I hope that in the coming year we will grow together as a community and do our part to repair the world.

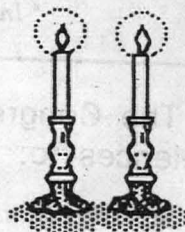

L'shana tova

REFLECTIONS

The Jewish people are represented by every individual Jew. We need to remember where we came from, and the way to do this is by study of our great books. We are God's stake in human history. We must reawaken our consciousness of being involved in a history that transcends the interests and glories of particular dynasties and empires. The gravest sin for a Jew is to forget—or not to know—what he represents.

ETHEL SEMER

May God send peace to all the bereaved among us.

Everything in Outreach is news to me. For six years I was, rightfully, not promoted in Hebrew school. I worked hard to learn my simplified English Bar Mitzvah part. How much my life and striving was reaction to the fact of my being a Jew, all said, a mediocre career as a Jew, and then to be asked to chair the Outreach Committee!

Outreach is an official part of our congregation because our membership is made up of people who are married to Jews (all of us?), who are Jews by Choice (all of us?), and who harbor feelings and ideas which preclude full participation in our congregation. The purpose of Outreach is to comfortably welcome open participation of all members in Temple affairs. Personally, the idea of reaching in to understand oneself is the most important part of being open to and reaching out to others.

The Outreach Committee includes any interested members and will plan and perform according to the needs of our congregants. I personally welcome any input at meetings, 8 PM on the second Wednesday of each month. We started the year off with a congregational picnic and everyone attending had a wonderful time. On October 20, Sunday evening we will have a "hands-on" course in Jewish cooking. We help sponsor the interfaith service on November 27, Erev Thanksgiving at the Temple with the Presbyterian Church. January 20, Sunday evening, 6 PM-8 PM, we have a Holiday Learning Course with Rabbi Priesand. May 31, Sunday, we would like to sponsor a Road Rally.

In the future, I would like to include three parts in this column. First—ideas in Outreach, second—meet our members, and third—news and plans. Outreach information, pertinent meetings and reading lists are yours for the asking.

At Sean Ross's recent Bar Mitzvah he eloquently told of his experience growing up in our Temple and his experience was replayed in its entirety in Rabbi Priesand's annual report. The Rabbi wrote: "Sean's speech reminds us of our goals, educating our children and encouraging them to work toward Confirmation, strengthening their Jewish identity by including in our lives the values and rituals of our people, instilling in them a feeling of pride, creating Jewish memories, providing opportunities for family involvement, serving the community, understanding that study is a life long process, remembering we are part of a people and striving always to set an example for our children by accepting responsibility for our own Jewishness and continue to grow and learn and contribute to the well being of our Temple family." Outreach attempts to accomplish this goal.

ASSOCIATION OF REFORM ZIONIST OF AMERICA

ARZA needs your vote for delegates to the World Zionist Congress, scheduled for June 1992. The Congress, which will be held in Jerusalem, is referred to as "The Parliament of the Jewish People." It provides the only Jewish democratically elected forum in which Israeli and Diaspora Jews face each other on an equal footing, exchanging views in an open, honest way.

For Reform Jews, the Congress is an especially important vehicle to send the Israeli government a message on the importance of religious pluralism and political moderation. Congress elections also will determine if the Reform Movement can continue to control the World Zionist Organization Department of Jewish Education and Culture which supports educational programs in Israel and around the world. The Congress also determines Reform Movement representation in the Jewish Agency for Israel, which allocates UJA funds to institutions in Israel, including Reform programs.

ARZA membership makes you eligible to vote for delegates to the World Zionist Congress, where a large and visible Reform delegation will help safeguard the future of Reform Judaism in Israel. We urge you to join or renew your ARZA membership, remitting $20 (for a couple or individual) with your first temple dues installment. You must be a paid-up ARZA member to be eligible to vote and we must turn your name in to ARZA by the end of this September. If you have not yet responded positively to the ARZA line on your dues bill, please contact the temple office to make arrangements to be a paid-up ARZA member. Act NOW; make your ARZA membership count for religious pluralism in Israel.
