If you have not made a Bar/Bat Mitzvah date for the school year 1993-1994, please call the Temple office 747-9365 to make arrangements.

BROTHERHOOD - SISTERHOOD

JOINT BREAKFAST MEETING

Sunday, February 9 9:30 AM

Speaker: RABBI PRIESAND
NEW DIRECTIONS IN REFORM JUDAISM

Menu: Bagels, Juice, Coffee & Tea

Plan to attend! - Bring a friend.

REMINDER

Certain individuals, including some MRT members, are extremely allergic to perfume, to the point where it makes them physically ill.

Please don't apply fragrance before attending services.

WHEN CALLING THE TEMPLE LET THE PHONE RING SIX TIMES

Often times the Rabbi or administrative assistant have to put someone on hold on one line in order to answer your call. Sometimes people have to go from one area to another in order to reach the phones in the front office or school office—and it's a big building.

Thanks for your patience.

AD JOURNAL FOR FESTIVAL

It's that time of year when the ad journal asks every Temple member to help make this year more successful. Please help us. Each ad you get helps that business and us. In addition, it allows you an opportunity to win one of 2 $25 gift certificates for the Festival.

Any questions, please call Ann Wolf 229-7296.

GIFT CERTIFICATES...

...are available for the 1992 Monmouth Festival of the Arts. What a wonderful way to help celebrate a birthday, anniversary, a special something for a "thank you", a Bar or Bat Mitzvah gift or just to say I love you. Contact: Joanna Charnick 542-1562.

ARTS FESTIVAL '92

April is Festival month! It is never too late to volunteer to help during the hours that we are open to the public. Hours are: Sunday, April 5 12-9 and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; April 6, 7 & 8 9-9. You don't need to wait to be called. Call Susan Masluk 530-9767, Betty Schulman 542-2092 or Lila Singer 542-2399. It's a great way to meet other Temple members and a valuable way to serve Monmouth Reform Temple. If you're feeling particularly energetic or if this is your thing, we especially need help to clear out the Temple on Sunday, March 29 after 12 noon and to put everything back on Thursday, April 9 during the day and evening. Call Baldy Davidson—he really could use young muscles! Of course, our Gala Opening reception is fabulous, so plan to be there and share the excitement. That's Saturday, April 4. So, be there for the two weeks that shake Monmouth Reform Temple. You'll enjoy every busy fund-raising minute.

----Laurie Lowenstein

BULLETIN & MAILINGS

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL NOTES

It is very difficult for our Religious School to cover in depth all areas of its curriculum in 2.5 to 4.5 hours of class time per week. Rarely do our students delve into a textbook from cover to cover or exhaust the educational possibilities of a unit. We do not have the time, for example, to examine Jewish history for three years as is done in secular elementary, junior high school or high school programs. Our students make a gallant effort to learn Hebrew prayers, leaving little time for conversational Hebrew. Areas of fundamental importance to every Jew, such as ethics, Jewish identity, mitzvot and literature never receive the sustained class time required for full understanding. I refer you to the Religious School Booklet for the complete course outline.

As parents concerned with the Jewish education of your children you are in an excellent position to assist the school. The suggestions that follow do not require much of your time and might even be fun for you.

1. The print media is loaded with stories devoted to Israel. Encourage your children to use these articles for their secular school current events assignments. Of course, a family discussion around the dinner table about Jewish content articles would be great.

2. Television is a super source for Jewish content material. Suggest to your children to view an appropriate show and report on the material to their Religious School classes.

3. Ask your children to borrow books from our wonderful library for secular school book reports.

4. Attend Rabbi Priesand's Bar/Bat Mitzvah Workshop as a family.

5. Support our holiday curriculum by making festival foods at home and bring your children to holiday family services.

6. Let your children educate you by asking them to "teach" you what they have learned.

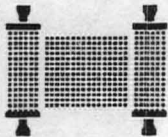

7. Get involved with our concern for ethical behavior by voicing your disapproval when stories reporting bigotry, cheating, etc. appear in the news.

8. Join the Religious School in its effort to support Rabbi Priesand's Mitzvah of the Month Program.

9. Foster Jewish identity by placing Jewish symbols and books conspicuously in your homes—mezzuzah, seder plate, kiddush cup and Torah Commentary.

10. Bring your family to Confirmation Service. Please let me know if you have additional suggestions for me to pass along to other families.

----David Levinsky

FROM RABBI PRIESAND

Recently a member of our Temple family mentioned to me her discomfort at making Shiva calls. She indicated that she never knows what to say or how to act. It occurred to me that others may have similar concerns; therefore, I share with you the following guidelines prepared by the National Institute for Jewish Hospice with the hope that they will prove helpful to you on those occasions when you are called upon to provide comfort and consolation.

"In Judaism, we believe that your very presence in the mourner's home marks the beginning of consolation. If you feel uncomfortable, know that it is understandable and perfectly natural.

◦ Listen considerately—not as though you are taking a breather before beginning to talk again. It is better to be silent than overly talkative.

◦ Show concern for the mourner's well-being. Your face should wear a mien of seriousness, not necessarily sadness.

◦ Ideally, your conversation should not be distracting, but therapeutic. The mourner's "small talk" should trigger your interest as though it is of great import.

◦ Speak of the departed. It may appear to be hurtful, but in fact it helps the mourner to unburden himself. Recall the major events in life, his opinions on important matters, the quality of his relationships.

◦ Levity may bring you relief—but it is inappropriate for the mourners. However, humorous anecdotes of the deceased spoken respectfully are quite in place.

◦ Do not dwell on your own mourning experiences as it may appear to belittle the grief of the newly-bereaved.

◦ Do not offer gratuitous psychological advice.

◦ Conclude your words of consolation with hope—that the values of the departed will be incorporated by his relatives and friends; that the sunlight of health and happiness will shine once again on the family members; that this tragedy will turn into an experience of personal growth; and that the behavior of his survivors will reflect on the worth of the departed.

In order to obviate fumbling with cumbersome good-byes, some people conclude their visit with a traditional formula of consolation: May God comfort you among the mourners of Zion and Jerusalem.

Other good-byes are:

'Please accept my sincerest condolences. I wish that sharing your grief could remove it. I will call to see if I can be of help.'

Or: 'I know _____'s memory will always be with you. I have many fond memories of _____.'

Or: 'I hope that this will be the last such sadness, and that we will share many happy occasions together.'

* * * * *

FROM THE PRESIDENT

A special event will take place at the end of this month—the fourth annual Scholar-In-Residence weekend. The program brings to MRT a knowledgeable person to lecture on a particular topic. This year we will have Judith Baskin to speak on "Judaism in the Middle Ages." Dr. Baskin will give three talks—on Friday night, Saturday night and Sunday morning.

The Scholar-In-Residence weekend offers Temple members a great deal. It is an opportunity to expand one's mind, to hear a recognized academic expound on a subject she knows well, to share an activity with other congregants and to set an example for one's children. It is not necessary to attend all three lectures in order to benefit from the program. If you can attend only while your children are at Religious School, please feel free to do so.

The Scholar-In-Residence weekend deserves widespread support. It serves the entire congregation and no special preparation is needed to attend. If you have participated in the past, please come again. If you have never participated, "try it, you'll like it."

SISTERHOOD NEWS

Great food and good friends!

The Sisterhood Brunch was delightful. Susan Kahn and Sandy Corbett did a great job. Phyllis Kinsler gave us much food for thought and Barry gave us much food for the body—thanks to all of you who helped make the morning a success.

I cannot talk about our Goods and Services Auction at this writing (1/7/92). We are all busy planning and working with Lois Avrin. Needless to say we are all hoping for a huge success. I'll let you know.....

----Joanna Charnick

Get your raffle tickets in. You have to be in it to win it.

JUDAICA SHOP

Our space for Judaica Shop is very small, preventing us from stocking many items which we can access.

However, special needs for Shabbat, all holidays, Bar & Bat Mitzvah items, can be ordered, and are usually delivered within a week or sooner. We have a beautiful catalog to help with your selections.

Passover merchandise will be available after March 1st. The first seder is Friday, April 17th.

Please call us for your Judaica needs.

THIRD ANNUAL AMERICAN-ISRAEL CONFERENCE NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

MARLBORO— The third annual American-Israel Conference and Expo, backed by churches, municipalities, chambers of commerce, and synagogues, is in the works and according to coordinator and founder Ben Weiner volunteers are needed to help with the conference and expo.

"Last year the American-Israel Expo, held at Marlboro High School, attracted over 3,000 people, and we need volunteers to make this next conference bigger and better," said Mr. Weiner.

The American-Israel Conference, which is sponsored by the Marlboro Jewish Center, also features exhibits, displays, workshops, children's activities, and an Israel trade fair featuring Israel consumer products.

Rabbi George Schlesinger is honorary chairman, Martin Siskel is the chairman and Amy Handlin is a co-chairman of the American-Israel Conference.

For more information or to volunteer for the Expo, please call the Marlboro Jewish Center at (908) 536-2300.

MEDICAL PROFESSIONALS SOUGHT FOR REFORM MOHALIM

To serve the growing need for Mohalim who are both medically competent and Jewishly sensitive to the needs of today's Jewish family, the Reform movement is seeking to train health professionals to become Reform Mohalim (ritual circumcisers). Open to male and female doctors and other medical professionals affiliated with Reform congregations, a program consisting of 10 weekly sessions will be offered in our area beginning in mid-March.

The curriculum for the program includes historical, legal and aesthetic background of circumcision and the ritual surrounding the Brit Mila ceremony itself. In addition, participants will learn about the social and psychological implications of Brit Mila in contemporary society; educational, medical and theological issues, and the Reform perspective on Brit Mila.

Successful completion of the course will result in certification as a Reform Mohel or Mohelet by the National Brit Mila Board of Reform Judaism. For further details and application materials contact Rabbi Priesand or Kathy Kahn, the UAHC Regional Outreach Coordinator at (201)599-0080.

ADULT EDUCATION NOTES

In February the jewel of Monmouth Reform Temple's adult education series will be presented. We are pleased to announce the arrival of Dr. Judith Baskin and her lecture series "Medieval Jewish Life and Thought."

Dr. Baskin earned her Ph.D in Medieval Studies from Yale University and is currently Chair of the Department of Judaic Studies at the State University of New York at Albany.

She has written a book titled Pharaoh's Counsellors: Job, Jethro and Balaam in Rabbinic and Patristic Tradition in which she compares Jewish and Christian biblical interpretation and views of gentiles in late antiquity. She is currently working on a study of Jewish women in the rabbinic and medieval period.

During Scholar-In-Residence Weekend, Dr. Baskin will present three programs. Friday night, 2/28, her topic is "Jewish Life in the Middle Ages: Family and Community." Saturday, 2/29, after our covered-dish dinner, Dr. Baskin will present a lecture on "Medieval Jewish Thought: From Philosophy to Mysticism." Then on Sunday morning she will share with us her insights into "Medieval Illuminated Hebrew Manuscripts," complete with illustrations.

According to the survey we conducted last fall, you wanted to learn more about these very topics, so come meet and learn from our honored guest. Help us make Dr. Baskin feel welcome at Monmouth Reform Temple. The weekend of February 28th promises to be enlightening and memorable. Watch the mail for our flyer. Mark the date. Plan to participate.

----Joel Morgovsky

SOCIAL ACTION UPDAGE

On February 8, 1992, the Monmouth People for Peace and Disarmament Organization will hold its eighth anniversary Peacemaker Awards Dinner at our Temple. Local individuals will be honored for their contributions and efforts toward a more peaceful world. A cocktail hour starts at 6:00 PM and dinner will be served at 7:00 PM. Please make your dinner reservations as soon as possible by calling 747-1901. The cost is $25 for one person and $45 for two.

The 5th annual Children's Peace Fair will be held on April 11, 1992 at Brookdale Community College. For more information and participation in this event, please call Jeff Willard at 583-2256.

Last month, the Temple Board endorsed proposed legislation that protects the religious freedom of people. Letters were sent to New Jersey Congressmen with a positive reply from Representative Pallone. A disappointing reply was given by Representative Christopher Smith who introduced his own bill that links restrictions on abortion and abortion funding to the bill. Please be aware that the bill we endorse is H. R. 2797 introduced by Rep. Solarz and the bill to defeat and protest against is Rep. Smith's H.R. 4040. If you would like more information about this, please call Paul Brenner at 389-2582.

Please consider supporting the Center for Holocaust Studies at Brookdale Community College. The Center offers a unique and complete program of Holocaust education. It also promotes conscious awareness throughout the community of the grim realities of death and torture that took place during the lifetime of many of our Temple members. Watch your mail for more information about how you can become a member of the Center for Holocaust Studies.

From time to time, I hear people reply to the call for Social Action with statements like "I doubt that my protest makes much of a difference." Recently, the American Jewish Congress successfully encouraged 11,000 people to mail post cards to the CEO and President of Toshiba Corporation protesting Toshiba's endorsement of the Arab economic boycott of Israel. Toshiba subsequently opened an office in Israel proving that we can make things happen. Presently, Al Paley of our congregation has launched a program to flood three other Korean electronic companies with post cards protesting their support of the Arab Economic Boycott. Watch your mail for these post cards and be sure to mail these shortly after you receive them. Call Al Paley at 542-7485 if you want more detailed information about this issue.

Remember to encourage other family members and friends to support and participate in the Social Action issues endorsed by our Temple.
