BIKUR CHOLIM

When I ask you to listen to me, and you start giving me advice, you have not done what I asked.

When I ask you to listen to me and you begin to tell me why I shouldn't feel that way, you are trampling on my feelings.

When I ask you to listen to me and you feel you have to do something to solve my problem, you have failed me, strange as that may seem.

Listen: All that I ask is that you listen, not talk or do -- just hear me.

When you do something for me that I can and need to do for myself, you contribute to my fear and inadequacy.

But when you accept as a simple fact that I do feel what I feel, no matter how irrational, then I can quit trying to convince you and get about this business of understanding what's behind them.

So please listen and just hear me.

And, if you want to talk, wait a minute for your turn -- and I'll listen to you.

REFLECTIONS

The best remedy for those who are afraid, lonely or unhappy is to go outside, somewhere where they can be quite alone with the heavens, nature and God. Because only then does one feel that all is as it should be and that God wishes to see people happy, amidst the simple beauty of nature. As long as this exists, and it certainly always will, I know then there will always be comfort for every sorrow, whatever the circumstances may be. And I firmly believe that nature brings solace in all troubles.

FROM RABBI PRIESAND

With June comes the task of preparing the Temple calendar for the coming year. Always it is for me not only a record of our many activities and the goals we set for ourselves but also a reminder of how quickly time passes and how often we wish there were more hours in the day. I remember reading the results of a survey which suggested that in just one lifetime the average American will spend: six months sitting at stoplights; eight months opening junk mail; one year looking for misplaced objects; two years unsuccessfully returning phone calls; and five years waiting in line. Little wonder that so many of us become slaves to time, always in a hurry, always trying to do more.

Periodically, we need to pause and think carefully about the ways in which we use time, knowing that once it is spent it can never be regained. Do we stop to appreciate the beauty of God's world? Do we spend sufficient time with the people who matter most to us? Do we include in our lives time for study and Temple and community service and social action? Do we make time for rest by observing Shabbat? Often the routine of daily life makes it difficult for us to use our time wisely, to slow down and reflect on those things that can refresh our spirits and help us make a difference in the world.

Among the many biblical verses that offer us guidance is this one from the Book of Proverbs: "He that hastens with his feet sins.: On the surface, it seems a rather strange thing to say. Did the biblical author really mean to suggest that being in a hurry is a sin? The lesson of the verse becomes clear when we remember the meaning of sin in our tradition. In Hebrew, the word for sin is chet. Literally it means to miss the mark, like an archer who aims for the bullseye and misses. If we strive to do the right thing and fall short of the goal, we miss the mark, we sin. Thus, this verse from Proverbs could just as easily be translated: "The one who hastens misses the mark." In other words, according to the Bible, those who hurry through life, paying no attention to time, will miss the mark. Those who always rush about, forgetting to make time for those things that matter most, will never quite grasp life's essential meaning. In the words of an unknown poet, "time is the life of the soul."

FROM THE PRESIDENT

This will be the last bulletin until August. As we are all getting ready for a restful and relaxing summer, there will be much happening at MRT. Preparation for the Holy Days is now underway (Erev Rosh Hashana is Labor Day, September 6.)

Our Long Range Planning Committee, ably led by Stu Tuchband, is hard at work assessing both future and current needs of the Temple. There is an update located elsewhere in the bulletin.

Looking far into the future, the weekend of September 8,9,10 1995 has been set aside for a dual anniversary celebration. MRT will celebrate its Double Chai anniversary and Monmouth Festival of the Arts will have concluded its 25th year. While on the subject of Festival, it is my pleasure to announce that Semmes Brightman has agreed to continue as Chairperson and lead it into what I know will be an outstanding Silver Anniversary year.

Semmes and her committee have done a terrific job for the past two Festivals. 1995 should be no different.

As you have been informed, Lisa Aronow has assumed the Presidency of Sisterhood. We all wish her well in this undertaking. At the same time, I heartily thank Elaine Espy and Florence Diller, the outgoing co-presidents. Elaine was previously a co-chair of Fellowship and I thank her for her contributions to MRT. Florence has served three terms as Sisterhood president or co-president and was also chair of the Scholarship Committee. Thank you, Florence, for all you have done!

Have a wonderful summer!

-----Baldwin Davidson

MONMOUTH FESTIVAL OF THE ARTS '94

With tremendous pride we announced at the annual meeting that Arts Festival 1994 was another record year - nearly matching last year's net.

No matter how big or seemingly small your contribution, it ALL added up to this year's success. We thank you, for without you it couldn't have happened.

A special note of thanks goes to Dennis Lord and the Youth Groups for their great job Opening Night and on Sunday at the Children's Workshops.

Congratulations to Gerald and Roz Reisner, who were the winners of THE BENEFACTORS' GIFT CERTIFICATE.

LONG RANGE PLANNING COMMITTEE

For the past few months a long range planning committee, appointed by the President, has been meeting to consider the future problems we might face due to the growth of our congregation. The committee has conferred with various people in order to gain insight into our historical growth, and the programs and services that will be strained by such growth. Our charge is to determine where problems can be expected, and make recommendations that will allow us to either avoid or resolve them. Our report and recommendations will be made to the President, who will bring them to the Board for further discussion and any necessary action. Temple Board meetings are open to all members.

If you have any comments that can assist the committee to achieve its goals, please call me. During business hours I can be reached at (908) 632-8000. My home number is (908) 219-7680.

---- Stu Tuchband

When making donations to the Temple, please include your name and fund contributing to on the slip when you write down the information needed for the card to be sent. Occasionally the slips get separated from the checks and it is then difficult to match a donation with a name. Thank you.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL NOTES

Our unusual winter this year made the 93-94 school year the most memorable in recent years. After I canceled school for the fourth mid-week day, the thought entered my mind that nature had selected Wednesdays as the official snow day in Monmouth County.

Traditionally, I devote space in my final column of the year to mention the Temple members who have given of themselves to improve the quality of our school.

High on my list of Temple members to thank are class parents who did a remarkable job notifying families of school closings and special class programs. This parental network is a vital part of our over all communication process. Please contact Susan St. Lifer (780-4778) if you wish to volunteer for the 94-95 academic year.

Extra special thanks go to Brian McMullen and Scott Fass for volunteering their time every Sunday morning while their children attend Religious School classes. By attending to clerical duties and classroom supplies, Brian and Scott free me to spend more time watching over your children.

Next year we welcome Scott to our teaching staff as the Hebrew teacher for grades 6 and 7. He replaces Linda Fox, who completes her first year at MRT, to pursue a full time secular teaching position. I am delighted that our remaining staff will be intact for the third year.

Join our Religious School Committee if you wish to influence Religious School policy, curriculum, teacher selection and textbooks. Committee members put in many hours each month at meetings, on the telephone and in our school to create the best learning environment possible. Names and telephone numbers of committee members are printed every fall in the new edition of the Religious School Booklet. Although our meetings are always open and we welcome non-member participation, committee members will speak on your behalf when contacted. Telephone our chairperson, Gerald Reisner (741-8022) for further information. I thank Gerald and the members for their personal support and well meaning criticism. These committee members do their work with care and kindness; personal agendas always give way to thoughtful discussion and compromise.

Rabbi Priesand is an integral part of the educational process. She writes every Mitzvah of the Month information sheet, supervises holiday celebrations, actively participates on the Religious School Committee and helps us acquire major purchases. THANK YOU, Rabbi.

Soon Cantor Metzger will complete her association with MRT. I have enjoyed our personal and professional relationship and I know that our school was enriched by Cantor Metzger's desire to spread her love for Jewish music.

Most students should have received their final report cards on the last day of school, with the remaining cards mailed by June 1. Contact me if you have not received a report card or if you wish to discuss grades, teachers' comments, or my comments.

Please return any school or library books in your homes. Replacing books that are actually not lost is an unfortunate use of valuable school funds.

I shall leave for Israel on June 20. Again, allow me to express my appreciation to the Temple for the opportunity to represent MRT at the National Association of Temple Educators' convention in Jerusalem.

I wish for your families a summer of health, fun and peace.

-----David Levinsky
