BAR MITZVAH PROFILES

ADAM GOLDBERG

Adam, a 7th grade student at Markham Place School, finds studying for his Bar Mitzvah "interesting." At regular school his favorite subjects are math and social studies. He particularly enjoys social studies because he's interested in the history of our country.

Adam plays basketball, baseball and soccer. His favorite TV viewing is football and Sienfeld, and in his free time he enjoys reading and shooting baskets. Adam plays the trumpet. He certainly has no trouble filling up free time!

Someday Adam would like to go to Africa to see the animals in the wild.

DANIEL CAVISE

Daniel, an 8th grade student at the William R. Satz School says math is his favorite subject. When he isn't doing his school work or studying his lengthy Haftorah lesson, he enjoys basketball and baseball and watching those sports on TV, especially the Cleveland Indian games. Daniel also plays the electric guitar.

He's looking forward to his class trip to Washington, D.C. in May. Also his family spends every summer at Chatauqua, NY - a cultural and educational community on a lake. There he and his family can avail themselves of lectures, concerts, and various courses.

Mom, Dad, Heather and Adam will be helping Daniel celebrate in just a few short weeks.

DAVID PERLMAN

David, his parents, Mike and Kathleen and his sisters, Brianne and Caitlyn, are looking forward to David's big day on November 18.

Along with his Bar Mitzvah studies, David, a 7th grade student at Thompson School, is working hard at his secular studies. Spanish is his favorite subject.

He enjoys tennis, baseball, and basketball. He also enjoys hanging out with his friends, listening to music and playing computer games.

Recently, David made a trip with his family

to Ellis Island and the Lower East Side of New York City in order to trace the roots and locale of early Jewish immigrants.

DANIEL METZ

Daniel is a 7th grade student at Rumson Country Day, where his favorite subjects are science and math. He enjoys baseball and skiing and watches football and baseball on TV. When Daniel has leisure time, he rides his bike and watches TV.

He finds studying for his Bar Mitzvah hard, but worthwhile. Mom and Dad, Lauren and Daniel are looking forward to the day that will make his studying worth the effort.

Last summer Daniel vacationed in Bermuda. His main memory of Bermuda is the cleanliness of the beaches.

SOCIAL ACTION

The committee wishes to thank the congregation of Monmouth Reform Temple for their generous contributions to the Center of Asbury Park. We collected 440 bags that amounts to 4500 lbs.

REFLECTIONS

Watch your thoughts; they become words. Watch your words; they become actions. Watch your actions; they become habits. Watch your habits; they become character. Watch your character; it becomes your destiny.

FROM RABBI PRIESAND

During these months of illness and recuperation, I have become more aware of the work of the National Jewish Healing Center. It's West Coast Director, Rabbi Nancy Flam, gave a wise and caring answer to the following question: "I am about to visit a friend who has just been diagnosed with a very serious illness; what do I say?" Her response helped me, and I hope you will find it helpful too.

"Visiting someone who is seriously ill can be anxiety-provoking. To be with a person who is ill can stir up many feelings: our own fears of sickness and death, sadness we suffered when a loved one died, or discomfort with what is unfamiliar. Often we feel at a loss for words when we see this person in such great distress. Or, we may feel nervous that we will say something that will 'make the situation worse.' For all these reasons, it is understandable that one would want guidance in saying the right thing.

"The truth is, however, that there is no 'right' thing to say. Nothing you can say will shrink the tumor, remove the fear, or 'make things the way they used to be.' What you can do is be present with this person whoever he/she happens to be; this is the spiritual gift you bring when you fulfill the mitzvah of bikur holim.

"Being present is what bikur holim is all about. By visiting, we hope the one who is sick feels less isolated, more loved, and more truly in the company of God; our presence should be a vehicle for magnifying the person's feeling that God is near. In the laws of bikur holim we learn that God's presence (the Shechina) dwells at the head of a sick person's bed, and that therefore we are not to sit there. I understand this halacha as a metaphorical teaching: whatever we say or do when we visit, we should make sure that we are not an obstacle to the Shechina! We should not be so focused on our own agenda or desire to find the 'right' words that we fail to be present with our loved one.

"In order to be lovingly present with another person, we must learn how to quiet our own internal dialogue ('He looks awful... Why isn't she angry about what's happening? She must be in denial... I wish I hadn't just said that... Why is he talking about the football game?'). We must learn to be aware of those times when our own agenda, judgments or preoccupation interfere with our ability to stay present with the thoughts and feelings of the person whom we are visiting.

"To establish connection and be present with our friend, relative, or neighbor, not only is it helpful to quiet our own internal dialogue, but also to follow the person's lead in conversation; to be able to listen; to be comfortable with silence; to be willing to communicate nonverbally; to be willing to show love; and to be oneself. In the course of visiting, we might say, 'I love you;' 'I'm sorry that this is happening to you;' 'I'm here for you;' or 'I'll pray for you/you'll be in my thoughts.' Such comments can express true love, care and respect.

"Although there is nothing magical to say to someone who is seriously ill, it is usually not helpful to say: 'Cheer up;' 'Don't feel/upset/angry/depressed/sad...' 'It could be worse/count your blessings.' 'It's God's will/God gave this to you for a reason' or 'It's going to be okay (you usually do not know this).'

Remember that what you say is less important than who you are. Your presence really says it all."

FROM THE PRESIDENT

There are two critical, controversial issues which have been facing all of us, as Jews, as Reform Jews, and as Americans. Since I'm not used to how the President should engage our Temple in this type of discussion - please indulge me in my directness, and please let me know what you think.

First, we are now more conscious of the strained relations between the African American community and the Jewish community. I believe we have an opportunity to show concern, compassion, and demonstrate leadership while doing something very Jewish - Tikkun Olam. At a time when misguided rhetoric fills the media and fans the flames, we can find a way to turn the energy into positive, helpful actions. The question is not why, but how. What are your ideas - many heads are better than one!

Second, there have been new statements which attack our position of tolerance, acceptance, and appreciation of so-called alternate lifestyles, whatever they are. The specific issue is the support of gay and lesbian rights in the United States, and what happens to people, businesses and organizations which have espoused the values we have at MRT. Again, the challenge before us is to demonstrate leadership and focus our energy and attention to Tikkun Olam. In keeping with the basic Reform Judaic principle, we have choices of how we act and how we speak out to confirm our support of everyone's rights.

Let's pull together to make these choices thoughtfully and positively.

Shalom, Rich Goldberg

ADULT EDUCATION

Join the Adult Education Committee for our Fall Series

On three consecutive Thursday evenings we will view portions of Jonathan Perlman's "Symposium on Being Jewish." Produced in 1994, while he was still an undergraduate at Brandeis University, these remarkable videotapes provide a unique opportunity to view in action some of the most original and exceptional minds of the Jewish community. Feel free to attend one or all three evenings as we encounter and discuss these topics...

Thursday, Nov. 2, 7:30-9:30 PM

Among the themes from "The Jewish Tradition," to be discussed will be "Oneness," "Creation," and "Monotheism," as well as the importance of "Ritual and the Shabbat."

Thursday, Nov. 9, 7:30-9:30 PM

On this evening the focus will be on the "Current Situation of Jews in North America," and will center on "Intermarriage" and the importance of "Jewish Existence and Survival."

Thursday, Nov. 16, 7:30-9:30 PM

On this final evening the emphasis will continue on "current" issues and range from "Strategies for Minority Survival in a Multi-Cultural Society" to "The Design and Intent of Jewish Education."

Among those interviewed: Rabbi Zalman Schacter-Shalomi, Pros. Ruth Wisse, Arno Penzias, and Pros. Eliezar Schweid.

Dessert, coffee and lots of conversation provided.

RITUAL COMMITTEE

While writing this article, the glow of High Holy Days services at Monmouth Reform Temple is still on my heart and the strains of "Avenu, Malkainu" still resonate in my ear. There were some worries as we prepared for this year's new schedule of services, but none became manifest to spoil the Days of Awe. It is with gratitude for the grace and dignity of our services that the Ritual Committee acknowledges the special resolve with which Rabbi Priesand and Cantor Winston met the demands of additional services this year. Each service was replete with its own inspiration and beauty.

We wish to extend our collective thanks to all of you, as well, for cooperating so fully with the many special instructions that were necessary to make consecutive services operate smoothly.

As we move ahead into the Temple calendar and its "magnets" of celebration, we want to reinforce the Rabbi's message about doing one more mitzvah this year than last. In particular, when someone from the Ritual Committee calls on your family to participate in a Sabbath service, please JUST SAY "YES". If you feel unsure about the blessings over candles, wine, Haftorah or Torah, we are ready to help you with photocopies and advice. Helping on the Bema is very rewarding and becomes easier with repetition. So take the Rabbi's suggestion seriously and perform the mitzvah of aliyah in 5756.

The Ritual committee is looking for a few interested congregants to join our hard working group. Now is the time to call me to discuss joining Ritual committee.

Shalom,
Joel Morgovsky, Chair

WE NOW HAVE SEVERAL LARGE PRINT
GATES OF PRAYER...PLEASE TELL ONE OF THE USHERS IF YOU NEED ONE

BROTHERHOOD

A combination of Brotherhood members, prospective Brotherhood members, and general congregants erected the Sukkah on October 8th. The instant we were done hordes of children decorated it. My thanks to everyone that helped.

Our kick off meeting will feature popular columnist Steve Giegerich. Please join us on Sunday, November 5th at 9:30 AM. Men joining that day will get free bagels (of course everyone gets free bagels anyway).

Bernie Brandwene, on behalf of Brotherhood, would like to thank all who served as ushers at High Holy Days Services. You made our services run smoothly.

Jim Berg
Brotherhood President

WAYS AND MEANS

Our food certificate sales for the month of September was $11,690. That is a PROFIT to the Temple of $585. That is our second highest sale record since we began in October of 1993. I am sure this year we will break all records.

As I stated in last month's bulletin, some people use food certificates for a variety of reasons. Here are some thoughts from our members: Jeff Willard, "It helps the Temple and it's easy to use." Karen Grieco, "It's an easy way for a fund raiser and it's like going with cash to the supermarket." Baldwin Davidson, "It's easy money." Dean Ross, "It is a great way to raise money and the supermarket is one of the places we visit most often. Once you get into the habit of using it, it helps raise money for the Temple."

REMEMBER TO PURCHASE YOUR FOOD GIFT CERTIFICATES BEFORE DOING YOUR FOOD SHOPPING. CERTIFICATES ARE AVAILABLE THROUGH YOUR SCRIP CAPTAINS OR AT THE TEMPLE OFFICE.

JEWISH BOOK MONTH EVENTS

I. Book Fair

Our annual Book Fair will take place in November and December. The dates are as follows:
Wed. Nov. 30 4-6 PM (during religious school)
Fri. Dec. 1 after services
Sun. Dec. 3 9:30-12 (during religious school)
Once again, Fair Haven Books will provide a terrific selection of adult and children's books. We will distribute a list of children's books ahead of time. Besides providing "good reading" and great Hanukkah gifts for everyone, the book Fair is a fund raiser for the MRT Library. This year we will also have a selection of books set aside for people to purchase and donate to the library. Donate a book in honor of a family member or special event - we'll have bookplates on hand to fill out.

II. Jewish Book Month Sabbath

At Shabbat services on Dec. 1st, we will offer a program of book reviews by Joanna Charnick. Come and hear about some enjoyable new books and visit the Book Fair during the Oneg Shabbat after services. Coffee, cake, and good books --come and join us.

ARZA sponsors Israel Trip, Pushes for Religious Equality

The Association of Reform Zionists of America (ARZA) is sponsoring important programs in which MRT members can participate.

One of the most interesting is a special trip to Israel July 10-19, 1996, to mark the 3000th anniversary of Jerusalem as the capital and religious center of the Jewish people. Adult education courses in archeology and politics, with Israel's leading experts heading field trips, will be featured as well as gala events celebrating Jerusalem 3000. Optional trips are also planned to Tel Aviv, the Galilee, Eilat, and Jordan. Please call ARZA at (212) 650-4280 for full details on this and other ARZA programs.

As part of the UAHC Biennial in Atlanta, some 5,500 reform Jews participating in the meetings will attend the December 3 wedding of Yair Cohen and Ruth Florsheim. The two were unable to marry in Israel because of ultra-Orthodox rulings barring a Kohen from marrying a divorced woman. The ceremony, to be performed by UAHC president Alexander Schindler, president-elect Eric Yoffie, and executive director Ammiel Hirsch, is part of ARZA's Operation Equality worldwide drive by Reform Jews to ensure religious equality for all Jews.

Please give serious consideration to checking off a contribution to ARZA on your quarterly dues statement and thereby help support its worthy activities.

On another front, the Jewish National fund urgently needs funds to rehabilitate forests, following the largest fire in Israel's history that destroyed more than 2 million trees and devastated almost 6,000 acres of land in the Jerusalem corridor. Please try to send a contribution to the JNF Fire Emergency Campaign, 42 East 69th Street, NYC 10021 (212) 879-9300. All emergency funds will be sent to Israel immediately.

NURSERY SCHOOL NEWS

All of us at the nursery school hope your fall is going well. Our class trips to Eastmont Orchards to pick apples resulted in a pleasant aroma throughout the temple of apple pies and apple crumb cakes that were prepared by some of our classes. (One of my fringe benefits is that I get to sample these goodies.) The children all anxiously await going pumpkin picking and taking a hay ride.

The staff and I are striving to make this school the best it can be. We welcome visitors!! I would like to remind you that we do accept and register children all year long.

I would like to personally thank everyone at the temple that has made my transition into a new job seem so pleasant. I feel very fortunate to work in such a caring and friendly environment.

CANTOR'S CORNER

On Friday evening November 17th I will present a study session on "The Many Forms of Kaddish."

The Kaddish, originally a prayer of the "Beth Hamidrash," became the synagogue's doxology "Par Excellence."

The traditional liturgy has five different versions of the Kaddish - to which the American Reform ritual has added a sixth, replacing all the others. In the traditional service, the Kaddish has the function of dividing various parts of the service from one another, and of concluding the service as a whole.

I look forward to seeing you at the service.
Menorah Winston

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL NOTES

November will be an unusually short Religious School month. We will close for the NJEA break and for the Thanksgiving holiday, leaving two Sundays and three Wednesdays. November is special in that the Temple will be celebrating four B'nai Mitzvah during the month. Families close to their Bar/Bat Mitzvah dates, families just beginning the process or families curious to see how MRT conducts the ceremony should join the congregation at one or more of these significant life cycle events.

Our Religious School continues to grow and has now surpassed 200 students. The spirit and enthusiasm our new Temple family members bring to our school is caring and infectious; and, no where was this more apparent than at our Temple's Simchat Torah dinner and service. My favorite part of the evening was when Rabbi Priesand asked the children new to Religious School to join her on the bima for a blessing. She managed to touch each one on the head, in this case 25, while reciting the blessing and then presented every girl and boy with his/her own miniature Torah.

By now every family should have received a listing of all our Religious School children by class, with addresses, telephone numbers and parents' first names. The oldest Religious School child in the family was given this packet. Let me know if you did not receive it. The direct reason for printing this information is to provide our class parents with the necessary names and telephone numbers in the event school is cancelled. These sheets could be used for other purposes. I am always trying to foster greater socialization among students in the same class. Use these sheets to help your children develop friendships within their peer groups (or to create car pools for yourselves).

The socialization process was off and "bowling" in kindergarten last month. Our mighty little ones ended their religious school day with lunch in the building and then went off to enjoy an afternoon of bumper bowling. Class parents are arranging these gatherings and you can expect to hear more about these activities in the weeks and months ahead.

I have to jump to December because you may not receive the December Bulletin in time to consider our annual Book Fair for your Chanukah gifts. The event will be held for purchase on Wednesday, November 29 and Sunday, December 3, and for examination before and after Shabbat services on December 1.

THANK YOU, THANK YOU for your patience at our dismissal times. I understand that many members have places to go on Sunday afternoons and your cooperation is very much appreciated and gratifying. The people who buck our system are becoming fewer and fewer.

The following reminders are being mentioned here out of concern for your children and for the adults not familiar with the system. Do not back into the parking lot; do not make a left into the parking lot from Hance Avenue; and, do not motion to your children to go to your waiting car until I or my volunteers give the verbal signal. The signal is given when each group of cars has pulled up as far as possible toward the rear of the parking lot and have stopped all movement.

Make it a point to ask your students for all notices sent home. To keep you informed regarding their lessons, the Religious School teachers prepare monthly summaries. The Rabbi writes the Mitzvah of the Month page bi-monthly for you to discuss with your children. Various Temple committees send out flyers to inform or invite you to upcoming events.

Shalom,

Monmouth Festival of the Arts Support of Program Journal by all Temple members requested

Program Journal advertising sponsorship is a major contribution to the financial success of the Festival, and therefore most important every Temple member simply ask those merchants and service providers you support by doing business with, to support your effort to further grow and enhance the Festival, a most worthwhile community event.

Modest ad rates, and complimentary ticket(s), depending upon ad [anticipation, continue; 1/8 page, $35 & Festival ticket; 1/4 page, $60 & two tickets; 1/2 page, $95 & Reception and Festival ticket; whole page, $185 & two reception & Festival tickets. Advertising sheets noting all information to be filled out by advertisers, and solicitation letter, is available in Temple office, or please call Temple office or Michael Dodge, 908-741-5749, to have info sent.

Note: Advertisers from last year have been sent a solicitation/thank you letter, and ad sheet to be completed and returned along with ad copy. Please re-solicit these advertisers for their continued support as soon as possible!

And please, if everyone generated just one more ad, or one single ad, we would be in a position to break last year's record breaking year, in spite of current soaring paper/printing costs.

Thank you in advance for your help to continue to grow the excellence of the Festival and Program Journal!

YOUTH COMMITTEE

The Junior Youth Group held its opening event of the year: a Temple sleepover on October 14-15. Eighteen students attended. Rachel Berez, Junior Youth Advisor, organized and supervised a full program, which highlighted bagel making led by Dean Ross. The success of the event was ensured by the enthusiasm of the sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students. Crucial to the success however, was the participation of the adult chaperones: Barbara Amtzis, Della Roberts, Glenn Wasserman, and Eve Wolkind who stayed overnight; Dean Ross Stephanie and Lloyd Fitzsimmons supported the evening activities. We are grateful to you.

Upcoming events for the Junior Youth Group are a roller-skating/blading party on Sunday, November 5 and a Chanukah party on Wednesday, December 20. In January, Rachel Berez will lead a contingent to a weekend retreat at Camp Harlam in Pennsylvania. A varied and excellent set of programs is planned and we encourage all students to join the Youth Group and to participate.

The Senior Youth Group, under the guidance of Senior Youth Advisor Rachel Gitlin, has begun their schedule for this year, emphasizing the Tikkun Olan program of NFTY.

Our youth programs depend crucially on the support of the parents and their willingness to participate in the events; please become involved.
