Dear Rabbi Tannenbaum:

After many informal talks and a delightful per chance meeting this summer, I am contacting you once more to formalize final details.

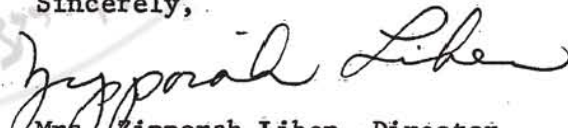

We look forward with great pleasure to your being our first lecturer of the series on Thursday, October 2, 1975 at 8:00 p.m., room 142, Student Center, North Campus.

As you had suggested the title of your lecture will be "Religion in an Age of Violence."

We will be most pleased to pay you the honorarium of $250.00. Should you have any problems in terms of transportation, do not hesitate to get in touch with me. If you are not driving and have to resort to the railroad, I would be happy to make arrangements to pick you up.

I am looking forward to a meaningful lecture series and to meeting with you once again.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Zipporah Liben, Director

Dear Mrs. Liben;

Thank you for your letter of June 25th.

The subject of my lecture for October 2nd will be, " Religion In An Age Of Violence".

The lecture will seek to describe the growing "epidemic of religious-ethnic conflict" in many parts of the world and the challenges that this pattern of violence and dehumanization poses for the moral, spiritual, and human values which are the foundations of all ethical monotheistic religions. A series of proposals will be made regarding what Jews, Christians, Muslims, and people of good-will might be doing together to stem this growing erosion of belief in the sanctity of the human personality.

With warmest good wishes, I am,

Cordially yours,

Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum
National Director
Interreligious Affairs

Dear Rabbi Tannenbaum,

Our projected series, "Religion in the Future", has reached the point of submitting copy for our catalogue. I would appreciate it if you would send me a title for your lecture and some general ideas as to what it will encompass. We will draft the actual copy that will appear in print.

Since time is of the essence, please try to get your material to me as soon as possible.

You had suggested a choice of two dates for yourself, October 2 or 16th. We will schedule your lecture for October 2.

Thank you so much for your efforts. I look forward to a successful lecture series.

Very truly yours,

Zipporah Liben
