Catholics and Jews have begun the long overdue process of reconciliation. In a world of increasing interreligious, interracial and interethnic strife, the recent meetings with the Pope and Jewish leaders were one of this century's most positive step forward.

AJC's Director of International Relations, Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum, had a major role in these meetings. He will present an insider's report and an analysis of Catholic-Jewish reactions.

A discussion period will follow.

Limited seating. Tickets: $7.50 per person. Reservations necessary.

For information call Sadye Olivieri at 751-4000, Ext. 407.
