Dear Alex:

The UAHC Committee on Drug and Alcohol Abuse cordially invites you to participate in the second annual Greenwich Colloquium, a yearly conference for Reform Jewish leaders devoted to understanding and fighting substance abuse. The Colloquia are possible thanks to the generosity of the late Dr. Maury P. Leibovitz. This year's topic will be, "Addiction As A Family Dilemma: The Role of the Synagogue in Reconsecrating the Family As a Mikdash M'At."

The Colloquium will be held on Sunday, June 13, from 10:00am to 5:00pm, at the residence of Carole Anne McLeod, 121 Old Mill Road, Greenwich, Connecticut. Full particulars regarding the program will be forthcoming in the near future. In the interim, we would ask that you reserve the date now. We look forward to your participation.

Sincerely yours,

Rabbi Sheldon Zimmerman

MEMORANDUM

FROM: Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler
TO: Melvin Merians

The enclosed is self-explanatory, Mel. Shelly has been active on the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Committee and is vitally interested in its work. You may recall that he gave a superb paper at what turned out to be Maury Leibovitz's last Conference and meeting. I think that this appointment is in order.

I really don't like the fact that Sandy discussed these appointments with both Shelly and Ellen before he cleared it with either of us. But that doesn't negate the validity of his judgment that these are the best possible appointments. I would appreciate it therefore if you were to send the official letters or make the appropriate calls.

Thank you.

Dear Maury:

It's good to be home -- for a while at least! The last weeks have been stimulating and exciting... but exhausting. It will be good to have a respite over the Shavuot holiday and Rhea and will have the joy of baby-sitting for the three einichlach so I look forward to a pleasant week-end before we're "on the road" again.

This is my first opportunity to express heartfelt gratitude for your third annual gift in support of the Committee on Substance Abuse. The excellent Greenwich Colloquium truly underscored the critical aspects of the Jewish spiritual component in seeking to combat such substance abuse in our community. I agree, it was a most inspiring - and important - program.

All of us of the Union are grateful to you for making the Colloquium possible. The learning experience and the marvelous papers which will come out of this program will help us move our congregations forward in their role as caring, healing communities which will touch many lives in a positive and meaningful manner.

With love from house to house.

Sincerely,

Alexander M. Schindler

Dear Dr. Leibovitz:

Your letter to Rabbi Schindler and your generous gift to be used for the Committee on Alcohol and Drug Abuse arrived here, unfortunately, after Rabbi Schindler had left the city for engagements that will keep him away from his desk until June.

However, I informed him of your correspondence by telephone and he asked me to write you of his gratitude. He values your friendship highly and I know he will want to acknowledge your letter and your gift when he returns.

In the meantime, I send a thank you, not only from Rabbi Schindler, but all of us here at the Union, for your continuing care and concern.

Dear Alex:

I am delighted to send you my third annual contribution of $15,000 to be used for the Committee on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

We just completed the Greenwich Colloquium on Alcohol and Drug Abuse on May 3, and it was one of the most inspiring days that I have had for many years--starting with the warm, eloquent and intimate account of Kitty Dukakis, followed by Rabbi Michael Signer's sharing of his understanding and wisdom from his experiences, and then the imaginative and spiritual account of Rabbi Jim Goodman about the unique services at his synagogue in St. Louis.

I think the summary presented by Rabbi Sheldon Zimmerman was especially important where he spoke about the future possibilities of a new spiritual journey--the healing synagogue of the future.

I thank you for your participation and sharing.

My best,

Dr. Maury P. Leibovitz

Now the business world is battling with drugs.

A totally new charitable concept formed to combat the constantly growing threat of drug, alcohol and chemical abuse.

Our main aim is to promote awareness amongst the business community of the need, opportunities and benefits of sponsoring a variety of drug prevention and dependency reduction programmes.
One of the most important of these programmes is educating those who are most at risk – young people.

BUSINESS AGAINST DRUGS

Now we are in business, with your help, we shall win the battle!

BUSINESS AGAINST DRUGS

On the occasion of the first ever World Ministerial Drugs Summit on drug demand reduction held in London in April 1990, a new charitable organisation called Business Against Drugs was established to combat the ever increasing threat of drug abuse.

Business Against Drugs is already supporting charities such as Action on Addiction, Turning Point, SHARP, ADAPT, Drug & Alcohol Foundation, Phoenix House, etc, who are working in the field of chemical dependency and are doing more than seems possible on their inadequate funds. As business people we know only too well that there are limited resources to devote to the numerous requests for assistance from charities of all kinds. It seemed logical, therefore, to form a focus to help support this very important group of allied charities. In this way we can encourage sizeable injections of money to boost the charities' own efforts and thus enable them to concentrate on doing their chosen job more effectively.

If the business community helps to fund these organisations it is, in reality, helping itself by securing a future in which billions of pounds are not lost through sickness, absence or inefficiency due to employees' personal dependency problems or those of their families. A person whose child is addicted to drugs or other substances, or whose spouse is an alcoholic, is probably as unreliable as a person with a dependency problem.

We are aware that there is still something of a "stigma" attached to drug and alcohol related charities and that a number of otherwise intelligent business people are wary of linking their companies' names to such charities. We believe that we can and must change that attitude.

Drug, alcohol and chemical abuse are problems which transcend class and economic barriers. Is there one of us who does not know, or know of, someone who has such a problem? Pressures created by the home, school or work environment can destroy a life which could have benefitted society as a whole. The charities are working hard to combat this destruction but limited resources limit action. Should funds be used to help those for whom the pressures have already proved too great or would those funds be more effective if used to educate the world, and especially the young, before they submit to the pressures? Obviously the answer is that both of these aspects are equally important — they simply need more resources.

Become a friend of BUSINESS AGAINST DRUGS because we need your support in order to promote awareness of the problems associated with chemical dependency. Please sign a Covenant or make an initial donation — but do it NOW — as money is essential both to educate and to help eliminate the stigma of drug and alcohol misuse.

BUSINESS AGAINST DRUGS

BACKGROUND AND ACTIVITIES

Business Against Drugs was formed in April 1990 on the occasion of the first ever World Ministerial Drugs Summit held in London. Anxiety about the growing incidence of drug and alcohol misuse, together with the arrival of new inexpensive drugs, led to calls for new initiatives in prevention and education. Business Against Drugs was started as a charity by a group of businessmen who felt more should be done to raise funds and promote awareness of the dangers of drug and alcohol misuse at school, at home and in the workplace.

In its first year, Business Against Drugs raised and donated over £250,000 to some twenty-five organisations concerned with drug prevention and treatment. Some of the principal recipients were Action on Addiction, Turning Point, The Self Help Addiction Recovery Programme (SHARP) and The Core Trust.

Business Against Drugs has helped other charities engaged in demand reduction activities by endorsement and promotion. Close links have been established with the principal Government Departments in this field. Joint-ventures include, joint funding with the Home Office of an International Conference held in London by Positive Prevention Plus, and a School's Competition organised by The Department of Health to which Business Against Drugs is contributing £60,000 for the prizes. At local level, Business Against Drugs is contributing to the new Community Task Force programme, and, in conjunction with Westminster City Council, to the "Dome" interactive exhibition for young people.

The battle against drugs extends beyond the national boundaries and Business Against Drugs is active in Europe and beyond. Business Against Drugs is affiliated to Europe Against Drugs (EURAD) and has links with Media Fights Drugs in France and with concerned members of the European Parliament and the European Commission. Arrangements are in hand for projects, events and conferences to coincide with the U.K.'s Presidency of the European Community culminating in European Drug Awareness Week in November 1992.

Internationally, Business Against Drugs enjoys close links with Governor Bob Martinez, Director of National Drug Control Policy in the U.S.A. and with the Parents' Resource Institute for Drug Education (PRIDE). At the request of the British Government, Business Against Drugs funded a research project on ICE in Los Angeles and will shortly be backing similar research into MDMA ("Ecstasy").

In all these activities Business Against Drugs is endeavouring to break through the stigma and ignorance which surrounds drug and alcohol abuse, not least in the business community. Companies are encouraged to acknowledge their self-interest in instigating workplace schemes and more enlightened policies towards their employees.

At work, and in the community, efforts to advise and help those at risk or those who are dependent on drugs, work best on a small group basis. But the profusion of and competition between treatment and advice centres mean they have neither the resources nor the size to influence policy or to obtain adequate funding on a collective basis.

Business Against Drugs has drawn together many of these activities and charities and, in doing so, sought to identify the best practises and reduce the rivalry and petty differences which have inhibited success so often in the past.

However, Business Against Drugs recognises that there are genuine differences of approach and policy among many of those concerned with drug and alcohol misuse. The approach of Business Against Drugs can be put quite simply. It is opposed to legalisation of drugs, sceptical about many harm reduction techniques which do not lead to abstinence and it believes above all, in the need for more proactive efforts to educate and raise awareness of the dangers of drug and alcohol misuse. In short, Business Against Drugs believes prevention is the cure.

European Drug Misuse/Awareness Week, 16-22 November 1992

Business Against Drugs are involved in a joint venture with the Department of Health in promoting awareness through projects, events and conferences in the European Community to coincide with the UK's Presidency of the EC during the European Drug Awareness Week. On Tuesday 17 November there will be a sponsored media campaign aimed at young people. National and regional television companies will present programmes on drug and alcohol misuse including community commercials on drug advisory services and special reports on the dangers of drug abuse in schools, the workplace, the home, etc. The keynote speaker is expected to be the Prime Minister or HRH The Princess of Wales.

Business Against Drugs' major contribution to European Drug Misuse/Awareness Week will be a fund-raising event on Tuesday 17th November which is expected to be graced by the presence of HRH The Princess of Wales.

National Schools Competition

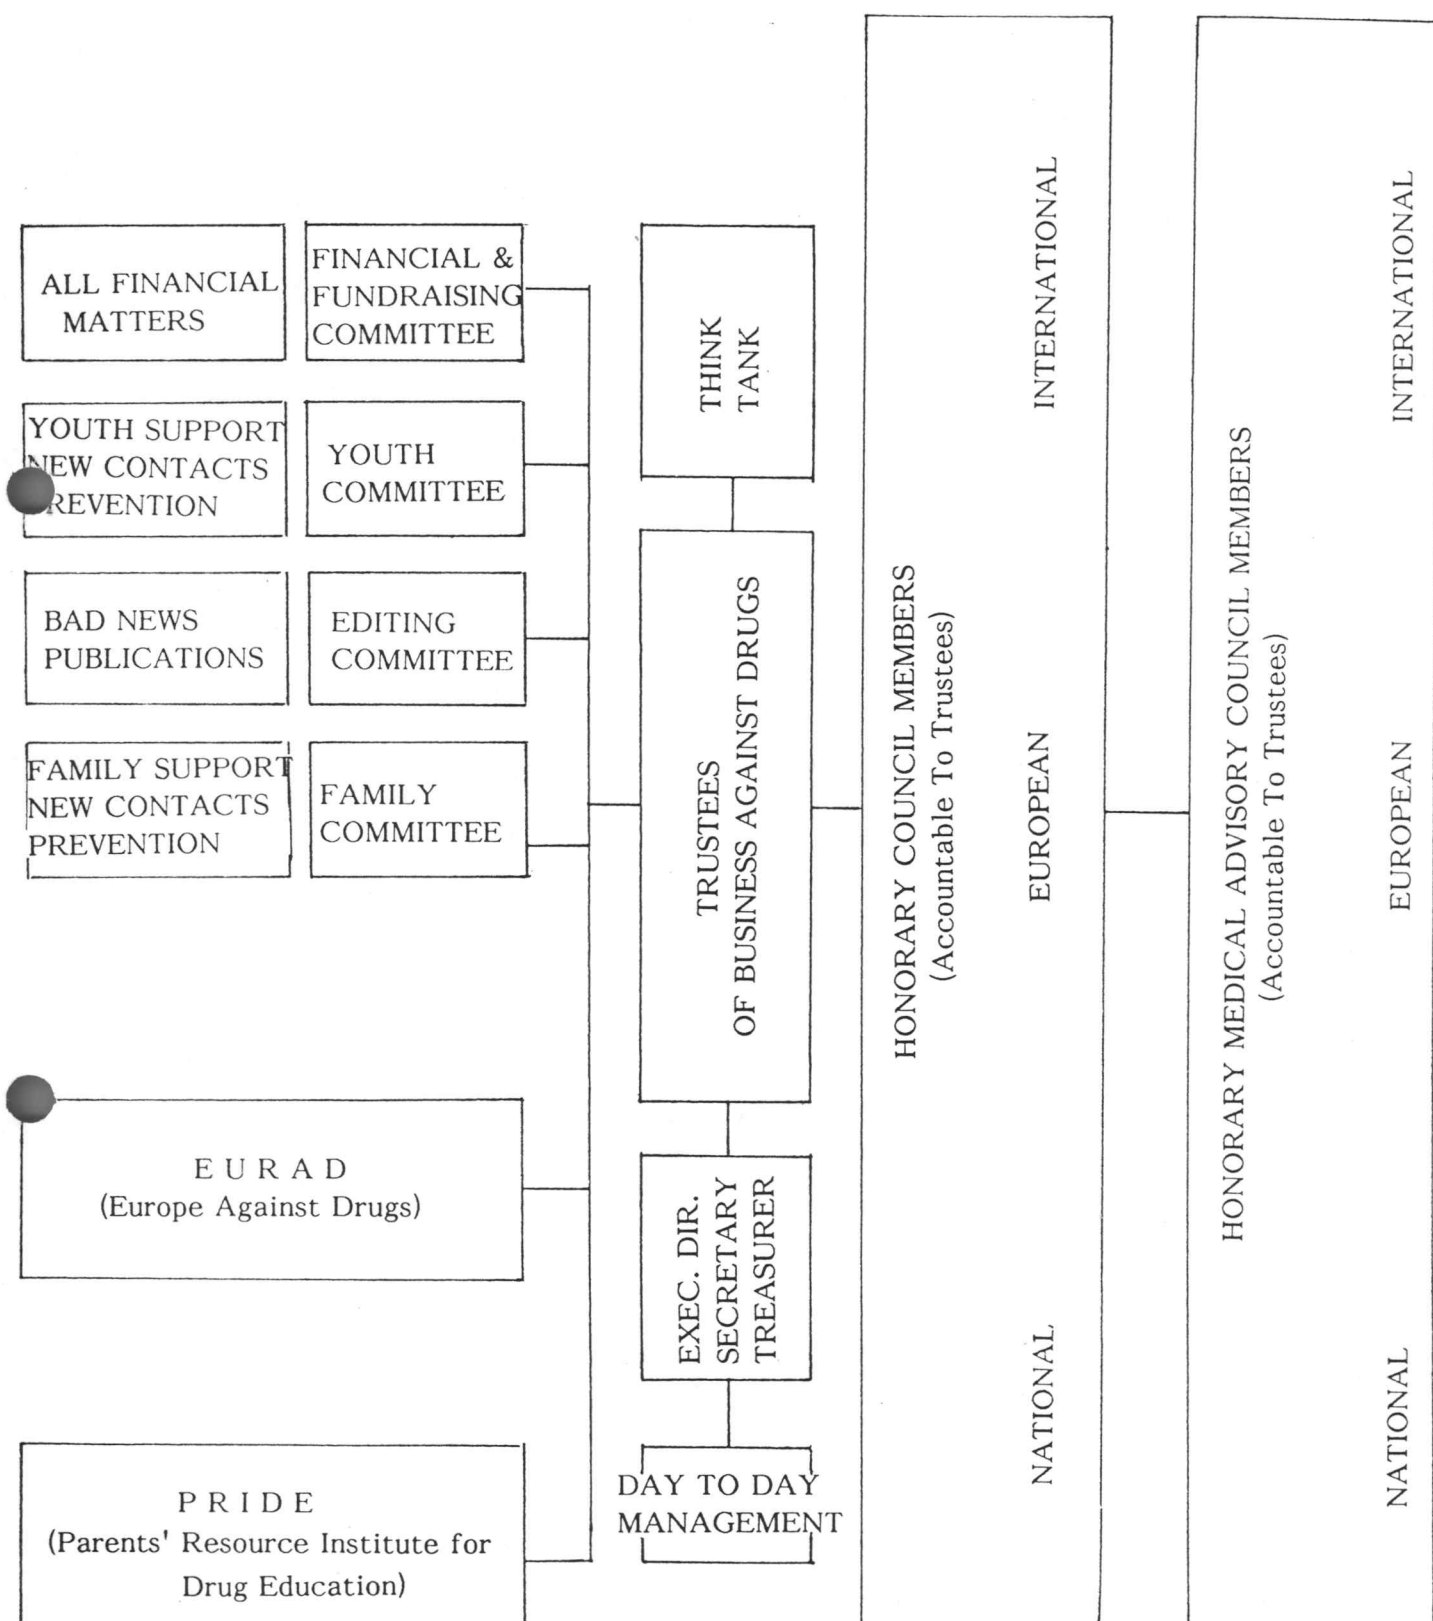

We are supporting the National Schools Competition in conjunction with the Department of Health, where children will be encouraged to take a personal interest and write a ten minute play or video in association with a television channel. The winning entry will be shown during European Awareness Week. Associated with this would be material specially designed for teachers and parents telling them how to recognise drug misuse and how to seek help and advice.

City of Westminster Dome Project

This is the Community Task Force programme to which Business Against Drugs is contributing in conjunction with Westminster City Council. The Dome project is an interactive exhibition for young people and the idea is to exhibit material in a Geodesic structure away from the classroom. The aim is to educate youngsters about drugs and alcohol abuse with the emphasis on audio-visual stimulation, by using video projectors, sound systems and special effects to maximise interest and learning impact of the theme.

Dear Mr. Ishag:

Thank you so much for taking the time to write. I was delighted to hear from you and pleased to learn of your organization.

Just yesterday, Sunday, May 3, 1992, our Committee on Drug and Alcohol Abuse convened a very high level conference. At that time we had a report on what transpired within our Reform congregations during the special Shabbat when teach-ins were held on the subject of drug abuse.

The work of this Committee on Drug and Substance Abuse is directed by Rabbi Sanford Seltzer of the UAHC staff. I am sharing your letter with him so that he is apprised of your organization. I am asking him to send you some of the materials which we have created. I am certain he will also be interested to learn of the work of your organization. We do, obviously, have much in common.

Please note that we did not receive any materials with your letter. Should you wish to send materials directly to Rabbi Seltzer, his address is:

Dear Rabbi Schindler

I was very interested to read in The Jewish Chronicle last week your comments regarding drug and alcohol abuse among Jewish families and I could not agree more with your comment that there is too much denial in the Jewish community about its extent.

I noticed too that the reformed communities across the USA have held teach-ins as a curtain raiser to your programme entitled "Drug Abuse".

Business Against Drugs was formed in April 1990 on the occasion of the first ever World Ministerial Drugs Summit held in London. Anxiety about the growing incidence of drug and alcohol misuse, together with the arrival of new inexpensive drugs, led to calls for new initiatives in prevention and education. Business Against Drugs was started as a charity by a group of businessmen who felt more should be done to raise funds and promote awareness of the dangers of drug and alcohol misuse at school, at home and in the workplace.

I would appreciate hearing from you with further details and any documentation regarding your programme and I am happy to enclose some material about the work we have been doing which I am sure you will find of interest.

I would mention that we have good contact with Abraham Twerski of the Gateway Rehabilitation Center.

Best wishes

Yours sincerely,

Dear Kitty and Michael:

It was as delight to be with you at our Colloquium on Drug and Substance Abuse. I genuinely appreciate your taking the time to travel to Greenwich to be with us, most especially just hours before an important family gathering in the Boston area. That was truly generous of you both.

Kitty, you were absolutely superb! Your message is critical and you share it with honesty, intellect and a deep and abiding concern for all who may suffer from the effects of personal or familial alcohol or substance abuse. Thank you for your words and your wisdom.

Michael, thank you, too, for being with us and for your excellent comments on the need for a meaningful and sensible national policy. Your message is most significant for our nation and should be heeded.

The two of you make for quite an exciting team and I am delighted that we taped the proceedings. With proper editing, we will have a wonderful 20 or 25 minute video for which teacher's guides will be created. These will be a critical educational tool for adults as well as young people in our synagogues, camps, religious schools, and even in our homes.

With heartfelt thanks and warm good wishes, I am

Sincerely,

Alexander M. Schindler

Dear Michael:

Your presentation at the Greenwich Colloquium was splendid. Your contribution to the Colloquium was very important and I am delighted that it was possible for you to be with us.

I have heard so many wonderful comments about you and hearing you speak yesterday confirmed all of the words of praise which I have heard. High among your admirers is my daughter, Judy. I now understand why she feels so strongly about you as a teacher. She speaks of you with great admiration. I always told her she had good taste! Please give my love to Judy when next you see her.

With repeated thanks for your message and for taking the time to be with us and with warm good wishes, I am

Dear Maury:

The meeting yesterday was really extraordinary. First of all, you and MacLeod are such gracious hosts and you made everyone feel very welcome in your lovely home. I thank you for that.

I am also absolutely delighted that the determination was made to videotape the proceedings. Just to reassure you that it is very possible with good editing to take a conference of yesterday's magnitude, and bring it down to a 20 or 25 minute presentation, I am sending to you a copy of the UAHC Biennial film. The Biennial taping was beautifully edited to create a 20 minute film covering a convention of five days. This particular video will show you just how effective a tool film can be. What I would like to do when the tape is in final format, is to have copies sent to each and every one of our congregations, together with a teacher's guide, for use in our synagogues and religious schools, for youth and adult education. We will also make certain that every UAHC camp has the film for use with our campers. I believe this will be a most effective teaching tool for the entire movement.

With love from house to house, I am

Fondly,

Dear Shelly:

It was good to see you at yesterday's Substance Abuse Conference. I thought the program was exceedingly good and I am delighted that we taped it for I am certain that with proper editing we will have a wonderful educational tool for use in our camps, religious schools and synagogues, together with teacher's guides prepared for this specific area of concern.

Shelly, I really felt terrible about leaving the Conference before you spoke. Rhea is in terrible pain with a pinched nerve or a herniated disk, we are not yet 100% certain as to the problem, but she was at home alone and I really felt pressured to get back to see to her needs. She will be getting an X-Ray today and possibly an MRI and I do hope they will be able to determine just what the problem is and find a way to relieve her of what is apparently dire pain.

Be that as it may, Shelly, I hope you understand my situation and in understanding, forgive my departure from the meeting. I would have loved to have heard your comments for I am certain you had much of great worth to add to the proceedings. It was truly a remarkable colloquium.

I am pleased to make my second contribution of $15,000.00 to the Union of American Hebrew Congregations for the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Program.

I think we should husband the funds we have in the account so we can prepare for the 1992 Greenwich Colloquia. As you know, we are hoping to invite people who are at the cutting edge nationwide on the newest methods for planning successful drug abuse programs.

Dear Todd:

As I mentioned in our phone conversation yesterday, I received a copy of your letter to Rabbi Schindler of August 18th, and his reply to you of August 26th. Although it is true that we don't have a full-time rabbi on staff, we have been successfully served through the Student Rabbi Program of Hebrew Union College (Cincinnati) for the last three years. As long as I know, we have always offered Jews-by-Choice (conversion) classes right here in Fargo. We offer these classes at two levels and use a very good manual on the subject and have an extensive bibliography (and most of the books are available locally) to help people in their pursuit of knowledge. Unless you feel it is necessary, I don't think you will need to pursue help from the UAHC Office in Chicago.

According to the Regulations on Student Congregations, and I quote: "With regard to conversions, the student may guide the studies of the prospective convert under the supervision of an ordained rabbi. The ordained rabbi should officiate or co-officiate at the conversion ceremony, and should sign the conversion certificate." Since we have been on the Student Rabbi Program, this has been the method we have followed. We have been very grateful to have Rabbi Norman Cohen, of Bet Shalom in Hopkins, MN, helping us out with these conversions in the ordained rabbi capacity.

I was very flattered to learn that your interest in Judaism was brought about by the fact that our bulletin "The Messenger" is delivered to your Fraternity House. I work so hard on that bulletin and was gratified to find out that you have been reading it. I will continue to send it and we hope you will take note of the schedules and make an effort to attend some of our services.

In the meantime, I have scheduled your initial appointment with Student Rabbi Larry Malinger for Friday, September 6, 1991, at 3:00 pm. at the Temple. I will have a manual ready for you on that day. If you have any further questions, or there's anything else I can help you with, please let me know.

Providing information and insights regarding substance abuse in the Jewish Community and efforts to overcome it.

CONGREGATIONAL SURVEY

Over 250 congregations responded to a recent survey designed to enable the Committee to learn more about the needs and concerns of congregations as they confront these issues. Foremost among congregational suggestions as to how the UAHC could assist them were breaking the silence regarding substance abuse, raising the consciousness level of our membership and disseminating program information regarding what congregations are already doing.

HOW CONGREGATIONS ARE MOBILIZING AGAINST DRUG AND ALCOHOL ABUSE

Temple Beth-El, South Bend, Indiana,

Temple Alcohol Policy calls on its members to exercise their responsibility in the consumption of alcoholic beverages demonstrating an awareness of the example they set for adolescents and children.

For a public religious ceremony and service, Oneg Shabbat and holiday receptions, for use in the Sanctuary and Community Room, a non-alcoholic "Fruit of the Vine" drink only will be utilized. Additionally, Temple Beth-El will provide, at the individual's expense, an appropriate non-alcoholic drink available for Bar/Bat Mitzvah services and receptions.

At all other functions where alcohol is served, congregants and guests of congregants are encouraged to promote a temperate use. Water and non-alcoholic options for drinking should be available and alcoholic beverages should not be served during the last hour of functions. At all events, the Law of the State of Indiana shall be both respected and observed; minors are not allowed to serve or be served wine, beer, or alcohol at any such function. Temple Beth-El calls upon its members and guests to exercise responsibility in driving after such functions.

Temple Beth-El, Rockford, Illinois, has stopped serving wine at Kiddush as a courtesy to recovering alcoholics in the congregation. It has also formed a L'chaim group for recovering Jews.

North Shore Congregation Israel, Glencoe, Illinois, has organized a CST (Congregational Support Team) to whom individuals can speak regarding problems due to drug or alcohol abuse. All CST members have participated in a training program sponsored by the Jewish Federation of metropolitan Chicago.

Temple Israel, Canton, Ohio, has created a substance abuse resource group for the purpose of providing information and education concerning the abuse of alcohol and other drugs and the resources available to treat them.

Temple Habonim, Barrington, Rhode Island, conducts a series of classes for all 9th and 10th grade students in the religious school, entitled, "Drink, Drugs and Jewish Values."

Temple Israel, Akron, Ohio, provides substance abuse counseling to congregants at no cost.

Temple B'nai Jehudah, Kansas City, Missouri, hosts an underage improvisation troupe that presents skits on issues of peer pressure including alcohol abuse.

Temple Beth Am, Buffalo, New York, has been running a "Tough Love" parents' support group since 1983. Now in its 8th year, "Tough Love" serves the entire western New York area and reaches out to all parents in need regardless of religion or background.

BREAKING THE SILENCE

Dr. Abraham J. Twerski, an ordained rabbi and physician who is medical director of the Gateway Rehabilitation Center in Pittsburgh, has emphasized the tendency among Jews to deny the reality of drug and alcohol abuse. He writes:

I have learned that chemically dependent Jews do encounter unique problems in recovery. The denial of addiction, which is the foremost symptom in most chemical dependencies, is much intensified in Jews. If the drug of choice is alcohol, the myth that Jews can't be alcoholic reinforces the denial not only in the drinker, but also in others who could be of help in steering the person toward recovery, namely, the family, the physician, the rabbi and the psychiatrist. The still prevailing stigma of alcoholics is also greatly magnified when the drinker is Jewish.

If the incidence of "pure" alcoholism among Jews is indeed less, it is more than compensated by the existence of a large number of Jews who are dependent on or addicted to other mind-altering chemicals, such as sedatives, tranquilizers or opiates. In one A.A. group which usually draws over 100 members, over 50% of those attending are Jewish. Since addiction to one mind-altering substance renders one highly vulnerable to addiction to other such chemicals (cross-addiction), the true incidence of alcoholism is thus much higher than is generally accepted.

ALCOHOL A PROBLEM FOR OLDER PEOPLE

How Alcohol Becomes A Problem For Older People

There are different types of elderly alcoholics. Chronic, or early-onset alcoholics, have abused alcohol throughout their lives. Intermittent alcoholics have experienced periodic bouts with abuse during their lives. Late-onset alcoholics begin seriously abusing alcohol for the first time late in life, often due to age-related stresses (isolation, increased leisure time, family and friend changes or losses, health problems, and possible loss of self-esteem).

Problems of Denial and Enabling

Alcoholism is a disease which becomes worse over time. Denial and enabling behaviors allow the disease to progress. Alcoholics often deny they have alcohol abuse problems. If family members, friends, or professionals assist older alcohol abusers in denying their disease, they are enabling the problem to continue.

Special Problems of the Older Alcoholic

Alcohol has a greater effect on older people. Physical changes caused by aging decrease the body's ability to break down alcohol.

The effects of alcohol can be more severe due to sensory losses which are part of the normal aging process. Also, alcoholism can cause other chronic illnesses among the elderly to worsen.

Myths and Facts About Alcoholism

Myth: S/he is too respectable to be an alcoholic.
Fact: Alcoholism has nothing to do with personality. It is a disease. Nice older people can have this disease.

Myth: I never see her/him drink alcoholic beverages.
Fact: Alcoholics often keep their drinking habits secret.

Myth: S/he is not always drunk.
Fact: Few alcoholics remain continually drunk. It is their continual dependence on alcohol that defines their alcoholism.

Myth: Her/his family is so respectable that alcoholism is not possible.
Fact: Many older alcoholics have nice families and are able to be an active part of their families while denying their disease.

Myth: S/he only drinks wine or beer, not distilled liquor, so s/he is not a alcoholic.
Fact: Any beverage containing alcohol is capable of triggering alcohol abuse.

Myth: Let him/her have the alcohol. S/he doesn't have that much longer to live. Besides, older people cannot change their habits.
Fact: Alcoholism is a chronic disease requiring treatment to enable a healthy, happy life. Older people can learn and change.

Myth: S/he has always been such an independent, strong-willed person. I'm sure s/he will be able to overcome the need for alcohol.
Fact: Alcoholism cannot be cured by willpower alone, but it can be treated medically and with counseling.

In connection the Committee on Drug and Alcohol Abuse, Maury speaks of an April 21 Colloquium to be held in Greenwich, Connecticut - you have a copy of his September 4 letter.

I had no idea that this was being scheduled and therefore suggested that date to the NYFRS for an FRJ reception for Bernie Zlotowitz. It was one of the few free dates at a time they were seeking to program this affair. Thus, I don't know what the schedule will be for Alex. If he is in Westport and can stop in Greenwich on the way to New York, fine. If the Colloquium doesn't start until late afternoon, that may create a problem. I just want to put you on notice in this regard.

In this connection, lets see what we can do in terms of an announcement and public relations releases on this new Committee and the plans it has for the future.

Dear Maury:

You are truly a gentleman and a scholar. Your initial check for the Marc P. Leibovitz Committee on Drug and Alcohol Abuse is accepted with heartfelt appreciation. All of us of the UAHC are deeply grateful for your generosity in underwriting a very critical aspect of our work. It is my firm belief that the work of this new group may well serve to save the lives of some of our young people and you have helped make possible a truly crucial program! Many, many thanks.

The April 21 Colloquium is noted on my calendar. I shall be watching for details of the full development of the program with interest.

Dear Alex:

I am pleased to make a contribution from my foundation to the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Program that we have discussed in the amount of $15,000.00. In addition, if the program continues in the same manner that we have discussed at our initial meeting, I shall contribute $15,000.00 in 1991 and $15,000.00 in 1992.

I was very pleased to meet with Rabbi Sanford Seltzer and Al Vorspan on August 21 to work out the initial plans that the Committee on Drug and Alcohol Abuse would sponsor its first colloquium entitled "Jewish Perspectives On Dealing With Drug and Alcohol Abuse" on Sunday, April 21, 1991 at my home in Greenwich. We have also agreed that the work of the Committee would be dedicated to the memory of my son, Marc P. Leibovitz.

I am very enthusiastic about this new program, and I think we can take some innovative steps to help change and restore the lives of some of our young people so that they can redirect their energies in a more creative fashion.

Sincerely,

Dr. Maury P. Leibovitz

RE: The Friday Meeting

I suggested to Alex that Shelly Zimmerman might be a good congregational rabbi to be invited to serve on the Committee on Drug and Alcohol Abuse. I believe that it was during his tenure at Central Synagogue that the congregation opened its doors for meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous. You might want to give thought to naming Shelly to the Committee.

RE: Our Friday Meeting

ABG

The following is a summary of our discussions regarding the creation of a Committee On Drug and Alcohol Abuse. Please make whatever revisions and/or additions are needed and return to me.. It was great fun being with both of you.

I. Committee Structure

It was agreed that the Committee should consist of no more than twenty (20) persons and would hold its first meeting on Friday, November 30, from 10:30am to 3:00pm at the Rye Town Hilton Hotel. The following persons were suggested as Committee members:

Maury Leibovitz, Chairperson
Rabbi Sanford Seltzer
Albert Vorspan
Rabbi Alexander Schindler
Dean Stanley R. Levy, Vice-Chancellor For Student Affairs, University of Illinois, Champagne
Ellen Hershkowitz, M.S.W., Miami, FL
Jocelyn Wurzburg, Memphis
Gerry Kaye, Chicago
Channa Friend, Manhasset, NY
Harris Gilbert
Professor Michael Signer, HUC, Los Angeles
Dr. Deborah Gatins, Adolescent Program Director, Arms Acres, Carmel, NY
Dr. Ann Geller, Smithers Alcoholic Treatment and Training Center, St. Lukes-Roosevelt Hospital Center, NY
Barry Wilansky, Executive Director, Tempo Group, Woodmere, NY
Lisa Schwartz, Wynnwood, PA
Rabbi Howard Bogot
Rabbi Allen Smith
Rabbi Alan Kaplan
Rabbi Susan Stone

It was also agreed that in anticipation of the November meeting Sandy would poll congregations indicating that the Union was creating this Committee for the purpose of helping congregations meet the growing drug and alcohol abuse crises. The letter would ask them to respond to the following questions:

- a. What was the extent of the problem in their community?
- b. What, if anything, was the congregation doing?
- c. Are synagogue facilities utilized for either AA or NA groups?
- d. Were there Jewish resources available?
- e. Had the congregation utilized them?
- f. How can the Union help?
- g. Request that the congregation send us whatever information and materials it had prepared.

One of the goals of the Committee would be to serve as a clearing house for the dissemination of materials dealing with drugs and alcohol. Sandy was also asked to put together an extensive bibliography in anticipation of the November meeting as well as providing information regarding AA and NA. It was also decided that in preparing Committee stationery a sensitive artistic design would indicate that the work of the Committee was dedicated to the memory of Mark P. Leibovitz.

II. Baltimore Biennial

The Committee would develop programs and workshops for the 1991 UAHC Biennial in Baltimore thereby laying the groundwork for subsequent programming at the 1992 regional biennials.

III. Greenwich Colloquia

It was agreed that the Committee would sponsor a series of Colloquia dealing with various aspects of the problem. These would be held at Maury's home before a select gathering and videotaped. The presentations and the discussions would then be published and widely distributed. The tentative title is, "Greenwich Colloquia."

The first Colloquium, tentatively entitled, "Jewish Perspectives On Dealing With Drug and Alcohol Abuse," is scheduled for Sunday, April 21, from 10:30am to 3:30pm. Some 25-30 people would be invited to attend.

Some suggested presentors included:

- a. Dan Shapiro
- b. Dr. Louis Linn
- c. An as yet to be designated rabbi with a reputation in the field
- d. Francis Klagsburn's husband (first name unknown) who is a noted psychiatrist with expertise in the field.

The second Colloquium, entitled, "Religious perspectives On Coping With Drugs and Alcohol: Programs That Work," would be scheduled for late summer 1991 and would feature noted personalities from the Catholic and Protestant Churches as well as the Synagogue. Future Colloquia would deal with such topics as "The Decriminalization of Drugs" with speakers such as Ira Glasser, Senator Bill Bradley and William Bennett, and "The Social and Cultural Context of Drug and Alcohol Abuse in the United States" featuring, possibly, Alan Bloom, Bill Moyers, Murray Kempton or Susan Sontag. Wherever possible speakers would be asked to come solely for expenses, a maximum honorarium of $1,000 would be paid.

Dear Maury:

The words "Thank you," seem inadequate, but for want of an expression which means more than these two simple words, I write to express my deep and heartfelt thank you. Your generous pledge to help sustain and support the work the UAHC is doing in the area of substance abuse is truly gratifying.

I am even more excited that you yourself are willing to involve yourself as we go about the task of developing our program in this sphere. You have so much to offer us and your guidance will be invaluable.

While I gave you some brief outline of how we expect to proceed, the next time you see Al, let him brief you about our AIDS Committee and our Task Force on Youth Suicide, for I see them as prototypes in our approach to the substance abuse problem.

Obviously, the publications which come forth from this sub-committee will bear a legend indicating they were made possible by a grant from the "Marc Leibovitz Memorial Fund." This is a splendid manner in which to memorialize your son.

All of us of the Union are gratified by your care and concern, your support and your friendship.

Fondly,

Alexander M. Schindler

I have bad news and good news but the good news is better than the bad!

You will recall my note of May 9 regarding a Memorial to Marc Leibovitz offered by one of his former partners, Arthur Kokot. It was to be $10,000 a year for five years toward the advancement of the work of our sub-committee on substance abuse.

This morning Mr. Kokot, having received my letter thanking him for his gift, which he made verbally in my office in the presence of Al Vorspan, and asking him to confirm it in writing, called me to say that he had second thoughts regarding the appropriateness of this venture.

With Divine intervention, within two hours thereafter, Maury Leibovitz, Marc's father, called me; of course, I had informed him of the partner's gift. When I told Maury the bad news, he asked me to describe the program and after hearing what we plan, he said, "I'll give $15,000. a year for five years." Of course, Maury wants to be involved in the work of the sub-committee on substance abuse and I assured him we would welcome his participation.

My comments regarding the budget still apply and I know that Maury will not change his mind. He has always kept his word with us in the past and ~~has been involved in backing several of our programs. He always comes through as promised!~~

He is a man of his word.

I just received a grant of $50,000. - $10,000 a year for the next five years - by Arthur Kokot, who was a friend of Marc L^ebovitz (Maury L^ebovitz' son who died several years ago). He will make this donation as a memorial to Marc, and it is intended to fund the initial efforts of our new sub-committee on substance abuse.

It will have some impact on next year's budget in the sense that we did make an allocation for the work of the committee. I don't remember precisely how much it was, but whatever it was, it is offset by this income. No need to alter the budget if it is already in print, but if it is not, then we will note this special grant.

I agreed that anything to be published with these sums - educational materials and the like - will indicate in some fashion that their publication was made possible through the "Marc Leibovitz Memorial Fund".

Kokot is sending me a formal letter which will be presented to the Board for approval so that the conditions of the grant can be accepted and made part of the record.

Dear Arthur:

Just a note to let you know how nice it was to meet with you. I am glad that we were able to find a worthy way of honoring the memory of your friend, Marc.

I am even happier that you, yourself will be involved on our committee which is presently being formed to function in the realm of sensitizing the many young people - in our schools, our camps and in our youth programs - to this problem, and if we can save some of them from this terrible addiction and affliction, your gift will have been used for worthy purposes, and Marc's name will continue to be a blessing.

Now that you are on one of our committees, I will undoubtedly run into you from time to time, and that will please me very much.

With every good wish, I am

Sincerely,

Alexander M. Schindler

Dear Mr. Kokot:

Of course, I remember you from our earlier meeting at the unfortunate occasion of Marc's funeral. It is certainly good of you to offer to create a memorial to Marc. There are two ventures which might be appropriate.

The first of these relates to our desire to provide some Jewish educational opportunities for special needs young people young people in our community. I speak of the physically and emotionally disadvantaged - the hearing impaired, para-plegics, autistic youngsters, sight impaired, etc. - for regarding these children, the Jewish community has, by and large, been remiss. While special education programs have proliferated throughout the public education systems, Jewish educational program have, in the name of budgetary constraint, largely been neglected.

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations operates nine camps for children throughout the United States. I am anxious to enlarge this very successful Summer camping program to include special needs children. Scholarship funds will be required to the tune of about $3,300. per camper, i.e., were we to invite, say thirty youngsters in wheel chairs to one of our camps, we would require approximately $100,000.

In this connection, you ought to know that it is my goal ultimately to establish a permanent special needs camp program to serve these youngsters. That, however, will require the erection of special facilities and equipment at our camps, and special education counselors and teachers will be needed, but that, of course, will require somewhere in the neighborhood of $7,000,000.

Mr. Arthur Kokot

The second possibility relates to the drug problem which affects the Jewish community no less than the general community. Thus, Rabbi Allan Smith, who heads our Youth and Camping Division, reports to me that during the summer just past, substance abuse, -- particularly alcohol- proved to be a more pervasive problem than ever before. It was controlled, of course, but it had to be controlled. And there's the rub. This flies in the face of those "denial myths from the shtetl past," to which we cling, that Jews never become drunkards. They do, and their children do.

Much the same must be said of narcotics. A recent report by the National Center of Drug Abuse concluded that "Jewish students constitute one of the most 'at risk' college groups...that they have consistently higher risk rates." Not long ago, the National Cocaine Hotline concluded a poll of randomly chosen callers and identified eighteen percent as Jewish - eighteen percent in a population that constitutes less than three percent of the general public. Those are grim statistics and we had better face them. We'd best stand at the mirror and see ourselves, transform ourselves, rather than smash the glass in self-denial.

We need to help our member congregations to initiate and support programs to assist substance abusers in our midst. Our Department of Religious Education must prepare and distribute relevant educational materials to congregations, religious schools and youth groups, etc. A grant of $100,000., spinning off approximately $10,000. per annum, would enable us at least to make a modest start toward solving the problem.

In either case, of course, the activities would bear Marc's name, thus the disadvantaged youngsters coming to camp would be provided a "Marc Leibovitz Scholarship." In the second case, the corpus of the grant would be known as the "Marc Leibovitz Endowment" and all publications emanating from this activity would bear the legend that it was made possible by a grant from the Marc Leibovitz Endowment Fund.

Needless to note, I will be happy to discuss these suggestions with you should you have any specific questions. With warm regards, I am

Sincerely,

Alexander M. Schindler

Dear Rabbi Schindler:

We met briefly three years ago at the sad occasion of the funeral of my partner, Marc Leibovitz.

I want to make a memorial to Marc in the form of an ongoing commitment of funds and time to something that Marc would have found fitting. I would much appreciate your guidance in the right way to go about this, both to preserve Marc's memory and to contribute to and achieve something worthwhile with the resources available to me.

I look forward to hearing from you and hope that we can meet to pursue this further.

Sincerely,

Arthur Kokot
