Dear Joan:

Thank you for your New Year's greeting. It was good to hear from you.

Yes, this was a wonderful turning of the year for us and for the entire world. It is only the beginning of a long and painstaking process, but the first step has been taken and that is to the good.

I appreciate and reciprocate your good wishes with a full heart.

Sincerely,

Alexander M. Schindler

Dear Rabbi Schindler:

How miraculous it is that your new year should be ushered in by the signing of the peace principles in Washington, D.C.! The blasts of the shofar this year herald a new beginning that fills all of us, I think, with hope and renewed commitment.

At the signing ceremony in Washington, I was struck by the simple solidity of the things that make for peace. A plain table, a chair, pens and paper were the humble tools which became charged with significance as they were used to affirm mutual recognition between Israelis and Palestinians. At great cost of commitment, perseverance, and after too much loss of life, this transformative first step has been taken.

In this new year, and in this new era, I renew my commitment to work with you for justice and peace, both in the Middle East, and here in our own land. Emboldened and strengthened in our resolve to take up the call as God's people, may we all be inscribed in the Book of Life for a new and sweet year!

Faithfully,

Joan

Dear Joan:

Many, many thanks for your warm and gracious greetings on the eve of our Passover. I very much appreciate your thoughtfulness as well as your beautiful message.

In turn, I write to express to you and my many friends of the NCCC best wishes at this Easter season. It is my fond hope that your celebration will be a beautiful and meaningful time for one and all.

I join you in the prayer that all of us will continue to work together for justice and peace. This world, which you so aptly describe as war weary, certainly needs men and women of faith and caring concern to join together in the search for peace and understanding.

With warmest regards and best wishes, I am

Sincerely,

Dear Alex:

Joy and blessings to you in this Passover season! May your celebration of freedom refresh and renew you.

As we in the Christian community prepare to celebrate Easter, and as I begin my duties as General Secretary of a renewed National Council of the Churches of Christ, I am encouraged by remembering what we can and do share. Our celebrations and stories are different, yet at the heart of both lie the conviction that God does act in this world to set people free, and the hope that we share in the coming of God's reign. We join you in celebrating the redemptive power of a God who sets us free to free others, and to pray and work for the renewal of the world.

It is my prayer and commitment that, as people grounded in such hope, we will continue to work together for justice, for peace, and for the healing of our broken and war weary world.

With my colleagues in the National Council of the Churches of Christ, I offer my warmest good wishes to you and all those you hold dear.

Faithfully,

Dear Mr. Hamilton:

Many thanks for your gracious Passover greetings. I much appreciate your thoughtfulness.

I hope you had a very meaningful and beautiful Easter.

This is certainly a time for all free people to call to mind those who have not yet been freed from the shackles of poverty, hunger and want. At this season of renewal, when we are reminded of God's bounty, we must all pause and give thanks for our blessings, even as we seek to alleviate the pain and suffering of those less fortunate than ourselves.

With every good wish and warm regards, I am

Sincerely,

Alexander M. Schindler

Dear Rabbi Schindler:

My greetings and warm regards to you this Passover, the season of freedom.

The affirmation of God's power to set people free is near to all of our hearts. Easter, too, reminds us in the Christian community, of God's redemptive power. We are joined in the hope that the world be redeemed and that we be set free to be partners in God's healing work. May you be refreshed and renewed in this festival season.

Renewed by our Holy days let us continue to find ways to stay together with those in our world who are hungry for bread, freedom and justice.

With the joy and blessings of this season,

James A. Hamilton

New York, N.Y. 10027

Dear Reverend Cousins:

Hearty congratulations and all good wishes on your election to the presidency of the National Council of Churches. This is a very important position and your election bespeaks the esteem, admiration and affection in which you are held by your friends and colleagues of the NCC.

It is my fond hope you will find your term of service to be a rewarding and meaningful experience. I am certain you will lead with devotion and dedication.

It is also my hope that you and I will have an opportunity to meet and to take counsel together. There are many areas of mutual concern shared by our individuals communities and I do hope we will have a chance to discuss them. It would give me great pleasure to welcome you to our UAHC House of Living Judaism and to have you meet some of our staff members who are deeply involved in interfaith affairs.

With all good wishes and kindest greetings, I am

Sincerely,

Alexander M. Schindler

Dear Dr. Randall:

As Rabbi Schindler is out-of-the-country I am taking the liberty of responding to your letter of September 28. I know he will be most grateful for your kind invitation to be the guest of the NCCC at the Ecumenical EVENT to be held in Cleveland, November 5-7.

Unfortunately, a previous engagement precludes Rabbi Schindler's presence in Cleveland for the EVENT. I am writing to ascertain the possibility of our designating a UAHC representative to attend the program in behalf of Rabbi Schindler. If this is possible we will be happy to have the Union of American Hebrew Congregations represented at the Ecumenical EVENT.

With kindest greetings, I am

Sincerely,

Edith J. Miller
Assistant to the President

bcc: Rabbi David S. Hachen -- Would you be free to attend if the NCCC permits us to send a substitute for AMS? The Event will be held at the Bond Court Hotel - plenary, seminars, etc. Once I have all the info and know we can name a representative I'll send it on to you.

Dear Rabbi Schindler:

It is my pleasure to invite you to attend the NCCC Ecumenical EVENT as a special guest of the National Council of Churches.

The EVENT, to be held November 5-7 in Cleveland, Ohio, is intended to bring together some 1,300 persons including the constituency of the NCCC and ecumenical leaders from local, regional and world organizations. The EVENT will be a celebration of the community we share with one another, a time of renewal and an opportunity to examine future directions and strategies. It will also be a statement about the underlying values which motivate us, our ecumenical commitment and our stance on key social and ecclesial issues.

It is my hope that you will be able to represent your organization when we gather in Cleveland. Your presence and participation in the plenary and seminar sessions will be highly valued. In addition, it would be my pleasure to introduce you, along with other special guests, at the morning plenary on Friday, November 6. Dr. William Howard and I also are requesting the honor of your presence at a luncheon we will host for special guests and the heads of NCCC member communions that same day.

Details of the Ecumenical EVENT program are being mailed to you under separate cover. Enclosed here are a registration form for the EVENT (please disregard the $75 registration fee), a housing form and a response card for the luncheon on November 6. These should be returned to the addresses noted on each.

We are looking to the Ecumenical EVENT with heightened expectations. I look forward to being with you in Cleveland and having you share with us in this ecumenical experience.

Sincerely yours,

Claire Randall/cu
