March 3, 1952

Dear Herb:

I was very disappointed to learn upon my arrival in Denver that you were transferring to Milwaukee. I had hoped to visit with you and to discuss among other things what happened to prevent my visiting Israel in accordance with my previously well-laid plans of which you were aware.

Certainly, I wish you all happiness and success in your new stewardship. Maury tells me that it is a very fine promotion.

Denver has lost a very fine clergyman whose few short years in our midst will be long remembered and whose contributions to the community will be long felt.

Warmest personal regards,

Secret

Dear Mr. Saltzstein:

I deeply regret that another commitment made it impossible for me to accept your thoughtful invitation to attend the installation banquet for Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman as a guest of Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun.

As Governor of Wisconsin I am daily made aware of the rich contribution which has been made to American life and American government by citizens of the Jewish faith. I believe that this contribution owes its inspiration largely to the religious activities of the Jewish community and it would have been a privilege for me to be present on this significant occasion.

I hope you will express my cordial greetings to the members of Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun and extend my personal welcome to Rabbi Friedman.

With good wishes,

Sincerely yours, Walter J. Kohler, Jr.

Dear Rabbi:

Bluma and I returned from Florida a few days ago, and I found your kind invitation to your installation in your new pulpit at Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun.

I'm terribly sorry I could not send you my good wishes sooner, but of course, better late than never.

Bluma joins me in wishing you and Mrs. Friedman lots of health and happiness with your congregation in Milwaukee. I know that Milwaukee will gain by the loss that Denver has taken, and sincerely hope that you will be loved amongst your new friends as you were amongst your old ones.

You can rest assured that if ever in my travels I am any wheres near your new home, I certainly will stop to say hello.

Again, wishing you all that is good. I am,

Dear Mr. Saltzstein:

We regret very much that unbreakable campaign commitments make it impossible for us to attend the installation services for Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman to which you were kind enough to invite us. It would have been a source of great pleasure and gratification to us to have the opportunity of joining with his many friends on the occasion of this important event in his life.

Here at the United Jewish Appeal we have always found Rabbi Friedman to be ready and willing to offer his great talents for the advancement of the State of Israel and for Jews who need help wherever they may be. We are aware, too, that he makes his devotion to the Jewish people and his capacity for leadership felt in all other areas of service.

We are confident that Rabbi Friedman's association with Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun will yield deep satisfaction both to Rabbi Friedman himself and to you and your congregation, and we want to express the hope that his installation marks the beginning of a long and happy relationship.

I was happy, indeed, to learn from the invitation sent to me that you will be installed as Rabbi of Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun of Milwaukee on Friday evening, March seventh.

I know this congregation quite well, because, in former years, my contacts with it were quite frequent, and I think I still have friends therein. I congratulate you from the bottom of my heart upon your election as its rabbi. And I wish you rich achievement in this service and the great happiness which is sure to flow therefrom.

I was very much pleased to receive an invitation to your Installation Services at Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun on March 7th. I only wish that I could attend, but I am all tied up with Israel Bond matters here in New York.

The Congregation is to be congratulated on your acceptance of the post, and I know they will find your spiritual leadership an inspiring thing. I hope that in turn you will be very happy in your work.

This brings you a step nearer New York and I hope we will be seeing you here more frequently than in the past.

Dear Herb:

This is the first chance I ve had to write you a mazel Tov on your removal to Milwaukee for the scene of your future operations. Avis and I know this community quite well as we used to speak there on the average of a dozen times a year when I lived next door on the North Shore of Chicago. It needs a bit of revitalizing and I know you will be able to do just this. If you are interested, I'll be glad to supplement whatever picture you have of the general situation that embraced the Baron-Hirschberg regnancy. That is, whatever knowledge I have. Some of my people in Riverdale have relatives in Milwaukee now and I hear indirectly, of course from time to time. I don't know whether the information can do you any good, but you are welcome to it. Since I had some sixteen years in my old stamping ground, the Middle-West, I know the country fairly well. There are some swell people in the outskirts of Milwaukee, too---Madison and Appleton. But I suppose you know this.

At any rate, best of luck to you in your endeavors. And if there is ever an opportunity I can be of help, the response is yours for the asking.

Sincerely,

Charles

I have just noticed in the National Jewish Post that you are about to move to Milwaukee.

While I have had occasion to question the veracity of this journal as it relates to personal gossip, since this report emanates from Milwaukee, I assume it to be correct, and I just want to take this opportunity of wishing you and your family much happiness, in this undertaking.

I welcome this move particularly because it will bring you many hours closer to New York and I hope will enable us to see each other more frequently.

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

As I believe you know, our Congregation Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun, is now seeking a Rabbi. I believe Rabbi Louis Egelson and Rabbi Maurice Eisendrath of the Provisional Placement Committee have discussed the matter with you.

Our Pulpit Committee would like very much to discuss this subject with you. Rabbi Eisendrath, who was in Milwaukee, has told me that you will be going to New York the latter part of this month and would find it possible to stop in Milwaukee on Tuesday, October 23rd.

Would you let me know by return eir meil, if possible, what your arrival time in Milwaukee will be, and whether you will want a hotel reservation in Milwaukee for that evening and possibly the following evening.

Our plans for your visit would be very simple. We would like to have time to have dinner with you and a meeting of the Pulpit Committee and yourself in the evening following dinner. We would also like to have the opportunity and pleasure of showing you the city and, of course, the Temple which could be done either Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday, depending upon your arrival time.

We would certainly like to have the pleasure of meeting and entertaining Mrs. Friedman if she is planning to go to New York with you. Would you let me know whether or not she is coming so we may make the proper hotel reservation?

Kind regards.

Sincerely. yours 6.11. E.R.Prince

Dear Herb:

By this time you have undoubtedly heard directly from Mr. Prince, the Chairman of the Pulpit Committee of the Milwaukee Congregation.

I am delighted you are going to visit Milwaukee en route to New York, and I am hopeful that you will react as favorably to this congregation and community as I did during the few delightful days I spent with as fine a group as I have met anywhere in the country. I sincerely believe the Milwaukee pulpit offers almost unlimited promise and I do hope you willbe favorably impressed and that they will react favorably to yourself.

We will have an opportunity to talk it all over when we get together here in New York during the dedication.

Looking forward to seeing you at that time, and with fondest from Rosa and myself to Elaine and yourself, I am, as ever,

Rabbi Herbert Friedman Temple Emanuel Denver, Colo.

Dear Herb:

I cannot tell you how much joy your splendid letter brought me, and I assure you that the fine spirit manifested therein is profoundly reciprocated.

ERICAN IEWISH

Milwaukee has been in touch with me and I have learnt that they are still unanimously in favor of calling you to their pulpit. As a matter of fact, Ben Saltzstein, Ed. Prince, and Mrs. Schoenfield -- the latter being presently in New York -- all have indicated to me that you captured them by storm.

They are struggling at the moment with a matter of technical procedure. Because of the errors which they admittedly have made in the past, the Pulpit Committee appears to have made a commitment to the congregation that they would thoroughly investigate the person or persons in whom they would finally be most interested, which would entail a visit to the respective communities of such individuals. There are some members of the Committee who are so enamoured of you that they wish to waive this technicality; there are others who are still enthusiastically for you but who believe they should keep faith with this commitment.

Because I am so firmly convinced that whatever they do they will call you to their pulpit, I have urged them to do whatever they may think necessary to have the congregation, as a whole, fully satisfied. I believe, that in the long run, this will be a decided asset to the individual whom they ask to come to Milwaukee. Should they act otherwise there might always be some feeling of a certain person being railroaded through and foisted by a handful upon the congregation.

Under all circumstances however, I have told them that, to be perfectly fair, they must inform you of any intention which they may have to visit Denver.

PERSONAL

Dear Herb:

I cannot tell you how thrilled I was to have had you share these exciting days of dedication with us. It was so good to have seen you -- however briefly. I would have liked to have spent much more time with you, but I know you thoroughly understood how crowded every minute was of those hectic days.

By this time you should have heard from Ben Saltzstein. I spelled out for him the specific things he should do. I don't think I omitted any details, and he promised me the matter would be taken care of precisely as outlined. In all events, do keep me informed as you k now how anxious I am.

With fondest to Elaine and yourself from Rosa and myself, I am, as ever,

Most cordially yours,

Mauril

Dear Member:

This noon a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Temple took place. At this meeting, Rabbi Friedman announced to the Board that he has accepted a call to the pulpit of Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

It is with a deep sense of regret that I, as president of the congregation, am faced with the unhappy task of notifying our members of this fact.

Our congregation has grown and prospered immeasurably during the ministry of Rabbi Friedman. Not only have we increased in numbers, in strength, and in general interest in Temple life, but our Jewish consciousness has been heightened and our Jewish loyalty deepened under the dedicated leadership of our Rabbi. In addition to our Temple family, the entire community, both Jewish and non-Jewish, has come to respect and admire Rabbi Friedman, both as a man and for the ideals he represents.

In accepting the call to a larger congregation in a larger Jewish community, the Rabbi wants you to know that he has derived great satisfaction from his eight years of service here and leaves Temple Emanuel and Denver with genuine regret.

We are sorry to see him go. I shall personally feel a great loss both as his friend and co-worker in our Temple. We know that indirectly we shall continue to share with him the benefits of his service to the cause of Liberal Judaism in America. Our best wishes follow him and we shall always cherish the many years of happy association.

Rabbi Friedman will continue his ministry with us for several months during our period of readjustment.

> Very sincerely yours, CONGREGATION EMANUEL

Dear Member:

Immediately following the mailing of my previous letter to you regarding Rabbi Friedman's resignation it was felt that the congregation would be interested in knowing Rabbi Friedman's reasons which prompted his decision.

I therefore am sharing with you the letter he wrote to me as president of the Temple. Enclosed you will find a copy of the letter.

I will attempt to keep the members of the congregation fully informed of all subsequent actions regarding our rabbinical situation.

Dear Phil:

It is not easy for me to write this letter. A sense of satisfaction in my work, good friends in my personal life, and eight years of happy associations all combine to make a separation very difficult.

Yet I must inform you that a call has come from Temple Emanuel -B'ne Jeshurum of diluaukee which I have accepted. It is my feeling that an area of scrvice exists there which I could not conscientiously turn down. I assure you that I did not seek to leave Denver.

The decision was very hard to make. Happy memories of progress and accomplishment here flooded over me as I sought to come to a conclusion. All the good and satisfying things in which I have been privileged to share in the past as well as the abiding confidence I have in the future of this congregation, represented strong and powerful factors to remain mere.

On the other hand, the greater cause of Liberal Judaism in America, about which I feel so keenly, required me to give earnest consideration to a congregation which desperately needs strengthening and upbuilding.

It is to this challenge that I have decided to respond. Temple Emanuel of Denver is on its way toward becoming a stronghold of vital, pulsating American Judaism. Its future is bounded only by the imagination and zeal of its members. Temple Emanuel of Milwaukee needs help and guidance. We all benefit if our total movement is strong.

This congregation shall always hold a special place in my heart. It was here that I began my career and I shall never forget that. Confidence was placed in me as a young man, and I was given the opportunity to learn the practical aspects of the rabbinical profession. This Temple shall ever be my first love, and I look forward to returning to Denver many times in the future.

I resign my pulpit here in overflowing good feeling and with the deepest gratitude for the years of service I have enjoyed with you.

Let me add that I shall always treasure the fine relationship which has existed between us, not only as President and Rabbi, but as personal friends.

Sincerely,

Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman

Rabbi Friedman will give the Response and the Benediction.

Special music will be provided by the organist and the choir augmented by the a Cappella Chorus of Wisconsin State College.

YOUTH SERVICE HONORING RABBI FRIEDMAN ON SATURDAY, MARCH 8

A special Youth Service to welcome Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman will be conducted on Saturday, March 8, at 10:30 A.M. in the Main Temple. Mr. Edward R. Prince, Vice-President of the Congregation, will welcome the new Rabbi. Rabbi Morton M. Berman of Chicago will preach the sermon to which Rabbi Friedman will respond. Rabbi Emil Leipziger will read the Torah portion.

The entire Youth Service is being conducted by members of the Junior Congregation, the Confirmation Class, and students of the Religious School. The Service has been prepared by Mr. Elkan Voorsanger and Dr. Herman Weil, Director of Religious Education.

Participants in the Service are: Sanna Scheinfeld (9A) Marjorie Scharf, member of the Junior Class of the Junior Congregation and Vice-President of the Great Lakes Region of the National Federation of Temple Youth; John Saltzstein, President of the Junior Congregation; Benjamin Zitron, President of the Emanu-El Republic of the Religious School, and James Kohn, President of the Confirmation Class.

Rabbi Leipziger will be assisted in the Torah Service by Jane Teweles, Elizabeth Ettenheim, John Baron, and Robert Krauskopf, all members of the Confirmation Class. Special room assignments have been made for all students to meet at 10:15 A.M. The Service will begin promptly at 10:30 o'clock. Members of the Confirmation Class will form a welcoming "Honor Guard" to greet the new Rabbi.

All students are urged to attend this important Service together with their parents, to welcome the new Rabbi.

BRING PRAYER BOOKS TO SABBATH SERVICES

We anticipate capacity crowds for the installation ceremonies at the Temple on Friday evening. March 7th. We are most anxious for guests at our services to follow the service with the Prayer Book. If you have your own copy of the Union Prayer Book, Newly Revised Edition, Volume I, please bring it with you for services. In this way, we will be able to supply our guests with Prayer Books that are the property of the Congregation.

Please bring your Prayer Book with you to services. However, do not leave it here.

SPECIAL MUSIC FOR INSTALLATION

Special music has been arranged for the Installation Service for Rabbi Friedman. One of the musical highlights will be the presentation of 97th Psalm which was especially arranged and written by Heinrich Schalit, a prominent composer of Jewish liturgical music as well as an organist and music director, whose residence is in Denver.

Ten voices from the a Cappella Choir of Wisconsin State College will be used to augment our regular Temple Choir for this service.

Welcome, Rabbi Friedman

With his installation as Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun Friday night, Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman begins his ministry here in an atmosphere that bodes high hopes for both the congregation and the new spiritual leader.

Though Rabbi Friedman comes to this community and the congregation as a total stranger, there is evidence and assurance that the high mark of quality is stamped upon this man and that he will soon win friends, position and esteem here. He has accepted the pastorage of Temple Emanu-El because he believes that it is a challenge to his avowed purpose of advancing the cause of liberal Judaism. With vigor, determination, kindliness, patience and understanding — all qualities which he seems to possess — Rabbi Friedman can by fearless and unfettered devotion to high principles achieve his personal and congregational goals.

The congregation is enthusiastically welcoming Rabbi Friedman. Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun needs a strong and clear voice of leadership to galvanize the strength of its great numbers. More than that, because he has displayed that capability, too, he can continue to be, as he was in Denver and the Rocky Mountain region, a great unifying and potent influence among Milwaukee and Wisconsin Jewry.

The CHRONICLE welcomes Rabbi Friedman and his family to Milwaukee. We join all in wishing that his ministry here will be fruitful with spiritual substance, that wisdom, equality, courage and consecration will characterize his tenure. Above all, we wish him the happiness and satisfaction that comes from a service appreciated and praised by his own congregation and the larger Milwaukee and Wisconsin Jewish communities.

Religion Held Essential Arm War of Ideas Cited

Religion is an essential weapon in the war of ideas between communism and democracy, Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein of Rochester, N. Y., president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, said here Sunday night.

He spoke at the Schroeder hotel at the installation dinner for Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman, new rabbi of Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun, 2419 E. Kenwood blvd. More than 500 congregation members and representatives of non-Jewish civic groups attended.

The Communist idea, as distinguished from communism in practice, "has a tremendous effect upon the people of the world." Rabbi Bernstein said. "It can be met only by an idea that is just as good. I believe we have it in religion."

Religion emphasizes "the worth of the individual shaped in God's likeness" and is fundamental to the democracy of this country, he said. He added that religion was needed to bring compassion and understanding back to a world given over in recent years to 'mass cruelty, mass sadism, genocide, the destruction of great cities and the training of youth to kill.

City Needs "Best Kind"

"Without religion the world canont be saved," Rabbi Bernstein said.

"WE WERE CHILDHOOD sweethearts . . . I chose him before he chose his profession."

Mrs. Herbert A. Friedman was talking about herself and her husband, recently installed as spiritual head of Congregation Emanu-Ei B'ne Jeshurun. She grew up in Meriden, Conn., and he came from nearby New Haven.

That it was a good choice shone out in the happy face of the tall, dark-eyed young woman . . . in her attractive, spic-andspan home . . . and in the well mannered youngsters at her side - Judith, 3, and Daniel, 2.

If adaptability is a major prop in playing her role, Elaine Friedman won't be found dipping into the prompter's book. In the fortnight since Rabbi Friedman and his family arrived here from Denver, Mrs. Friedman has settled their contemporary furnishings into a period home—an adaptation of Norman architecture—at 4530 N. Murray Av. There's not a suggestion of

WORKED OUT WELL

"THIS IS the sort of contemporary house we had in Denver," she explained, pointing to a Denver friend's home, pictured in this month's House Beautiful, "I was afraid our things wouldn't look right here," she continued, "but everything has worked out rather well, hasn't it?"

In the vaulted, cream-walled living room, abstract patterned sofas in lime green, natural and black, and plain grayedgreen sectional sofas have been placed. A yellow topped table holds a contemporary wrought iron lamp. There's a Picasso on one wall, and realistic etchings—the work of a present-day Israeli artist—on another. An elongated wood carving, a study of a female figure, is placed on another table, and a parade of tiny Biblical figures on the mantel, next to a Persian urn, recall the Friedmans' visit to Israel last summer.

A glimpse into the dark paneled dining room showed blond wood table and bright green woven tape backed chairs. Vivid green scatter rugs contrasted with dark wood floors.

WILL STUDY ART

MRS. FRIEDMAN'S art interest is more than a gallery visitor's. She plans to join an art class here. Following her graduation in 1939 from Wellesley—where she majored in English literature — she studied for her master's degree in the Yale School of Fine Arts. Drama was her specialization.

And then adaptability teamed with dramatics training . . . While Rabbi Friedman ministered to troops and war refugees in Europe, serving under Gen. Mark W. Clark in Austria and under Gen. Lucius D. Clay in Germany, his wife packed up her foot locker and joined the Joint Distribution Committee in Germany. She was classified as a social worker, and drama study stood her in good stead when it came to filling the job's recreation requirements.

It was touch and go-living abroad as a family, however. There would be occasional reunions in Munich and Paris. The Friedmans finally got together for a time, however, when they were taken into the Frankfurt household of Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein, who was also serving in a top civilian post under Generals Clark and Clay. Rabbi Bernstein, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, came here from Rochester, N. Y., to be dinner speaker when Rabbi Friedman was installed.

Dear Herb:

I was delighted to learn of your election to Milwaukee, though I had taken it as a foregone conclusion. I am sure that you will find a larger field of service in Milwaukee. It will be a great pleasure to us to have you and Elaine near us.

Believe me, if I knew that you were not going to be in Denver on March 6, I might have hesitated to accept the invitation in the light of the coming of the baby and the One Hundredth Anniversary business, but seeing that I am committed, I am committed.

Elaine and I look forward to seeing you both soon.

With very best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

My dear Herb:

It would have done your heart good to feel the warmth and enthusiasm with which the report of the Rabbinical Committee was received at yesterday's congregation meeting. I know that it did mine a lot of good and I was deeply conscious of the relief and joy of the congregation at the action which they took. The whole atmosphere was surcharged with a feeling of place, amity, and enthusiasm, something which I must say to you, frankly, I have not seen in this congregation for a long time.

I tell you this because I feel that it augurs well for a happy and worth-while relationship between you and the congregation. Ed Prince did a masterful job of reporting and I had the privilege of following him with a few remarks and suggesting that you be elected unanimously by acclamationand so it was. I am very happy at the outcome and I am eagerly looking forward to your coming here as soon as it can be arranged.

Need I say to you that along with my congratulations goes my whole-hearted pledge to you to render every and any possible kind of assistance that you may require of me. I am convinced that there is a great opportunity here for real leadership and I am further convinced that in assuming the position here that you will derive great satisfaction and that over the years you will have a sense of real achievement and contribution to the growth of this congregation and Jewish life in general. I hope, Herb, I don't sound stuffy.

What I am trying to say to you in plain language is that we are all awfully happy at your decision to come here and that you will have Henriette's and my full cooperation in every way. Please give our congratulations to your wife and tell her how eagerly we are looking forward to meeting her. If there is anything that you think I can do immediately or in advance of your coming, please let me know.

With warm regards, I am

I want to congratulate you on your unanimous election to Congregation Emanu-El. I heard from every source what a wonderful meeting it was as to complete accord and satisfaction. I think you will find this a very challenging post. From what I hear of your work I am quite sure you will be one who will be able most adequately to accept the challenge.

I trust that you will be able to come here no later than February 1st, as that is the time I have set for my terminus ad quem. Besides that, it is extremely important that the confirmation class of over 60 young people will soon have as their teacher the Rabbi who will confirm them. They have already had two or three different teachers this year. Of course, the main reason of this note is to extend my heartiest congratulations to you and the congregation.

PERSONAL & CONFIDENTIAL

Dear Herb:

I cannot tell you what a thrill your letter has given me. I immediately called Rosa and she shares my own sense of joy that everything went so well with Ben Saltzstein and Ed. Prince. I know this would be the case, and from the very outset I have felt that this would be a perfect "shiddach." I hope that you will derive as much happiness and gratification from your prospective ministry in Milwaukee as I am confident they will gain from you.

It will be a tremendous joy to me to feel that you will be so much closer to our headquarters in New York and that I will be seeing much more of you. This is on a personal level, and you know how genuinely happy I feel about it. However, from a purely official angle, I am also delighted because I feel that you can be of inestimably greater assistance to us from as important and strategically-located a post as Milwaukee will provide. Let me know just as soon as the formalities are over, as you know how eager I am to receive word that the situation has been finalized.

Now the question arises -- just how soon you are going to be able to go to Milwaukee. I am particularly interested in this from a special point of view, because of the fact that when I was coerced recently into making a trip to the Pacific Coast I included the possibility of stopping off in Denver only with the prospect of visiting with you. If you will not be there in the latter part of January, I believe I will fly over your lovely community. Please let me know about this as soon as possible.

There is much for us to talk about both with regard to what lies ahead for you and also regarding the many things that have concerned us both in common. I hope we will have an opportunity of being together soon.

Once more with, what I hope will in no wise prove to be premature, congratulations and our prayers for deepest happiness to both of you in your new undertaking, I am, with fondest from both of us to both of you, as ever,

Dear, Mr. Saltzstein: At a special meeting of our Board, held Monday noon, December 10th our Rabbi Herbert Friedman presented his resignation in order to accept the call to your congregation.

The reaction was instantaneous throughout our community. It was our initial feeling to request him to stay in Denver, but when he told us that he had given you his word, we realized that his decision was irrevocable.

It is obvious that he has made an outstanding record in this Temple and in Denver, and that his place will be difficult to fill. Nevertheless we send him to you with our blessings for his and your success.

The Trustees have asked me to convey to you their congratulations upon your good choice. We know that you will come to admire and love Rabbi Friedman as we have in Denver.

GAVEN

I have been reading in the papers of your call to a larger area of service in Milwaukee. Just a note to wish you well in your new venture. From all I have heard about you in this neck of the woods, I know you will be sorely missed in Denver, and that Milwaukee will benefit accordingly.

I regret very deeply that we had no opportunity to meet personally during my stay here. A number of factors conspired against it. Perhaps, we shell have the opportunity of doing so before I leave for at home at the conclusion of my tour of duty -- which, barring and outbreak of war, will be March 16.

Lest Sabbath Eve's beautiful and impressive naming eremony for our Judy Arlene is an honor for which Ruth and I are very grateful. Your performance of this service, and of our marriage ceremony too, provides us with very precious and intimate associations.

It is therefore with great surprise and a deeply personal sense of loss that we learned of your leaving Denver. Knowing that you have carefully weighed all the factors involved, we would not gainsay your decisions. You can bring strength to the weak: you would be remiss to refuse the challenge.

You leave with sincere acclaim for a job well done. May even greater achievements lie ahead:

In years to come, we fondly hope, you will return to Denver often and renew friendships which distance will only make the more valued.

As you possibly know, ours is the second reform congregation in Milwaukee. Dear Colleague:

Although our personal meetings have been few and far between you know of my everlasting gratitude for your invaluable assistance in bringing my in-laws over here while you were still a chaplain in Berlin.

This alone is sufficient reason for taking a personal interest in everything that concerns you. In addition I see in you the standardbearer of a new, liberal interpretation of the idea of "Catholic Israel" especially on account of the views you expressed at the Cincinnati Conference in 1950.

Thus I wish to be among the first to congratulate you on your election to the Milwaukee pulpit.Since some of my members here have family ties in Denver I can acutely feel how heartbroken your many friends there will be at the thought of your leaving your present charge-I know of few congregations to whom a Rabbihas endeared himself as strongly as you have done.

I tell you this without any attempt at cheap flattery. Being your senior by almost ten years and having no personal ax to grind I can easily assure you that I mention this achievement of yours for the sole reason of encouraging you to continue on the path you have taken thus far. My longer experience also has taught me to sift the wheat from the chaff and thus I have recognized for some time that you have not simply been "popular"-which is often the result of rather strange means employed by some of us-but truly beloved which alone is the true mark of success in the ministry.

I know your old master and my good friend, Dr. Stephen Wise, would be immensely proud of you, had he lived to see this new success of yours. It is my wish and my prayer that your honest and unselfish endeavors, your warm-hearted idealism and your love for K'lal Yisrael will meet with an equally strong response in your new sphere of activity. May you keep going from strength to strength both in ministering to them and setting new standards for a truly progressive leadership of American Israel!

My dear Herbert:

Some friends from Milwaukee, who were former members of my congregation in Kenosha, Wisconsin, sent me the news about your unanimous election to Ehann-El in Milwaukee. Margaret and I extend to you our heartiest greetings and congratulations on your decision to accept the invitation from one of the outstanding congregations on the continent.

We know you will like Misconsin and that it will like you. We shared six years with Kenosha, Wisconsin, prior to my entry into the chaplaincy service, and because of your life and labor in Milwaukee, you will probably find Kenosha, which is forty miles from Milwaukee, part of your major bailiwick.

Joe Baron is an old friend of mine and I know you will find in him a real maskil, as well as fine friend. He and I worked on a number of projects throughout the state while in Kenosha. Another unusual chap is Manfred Swarsensky at Madison, Wisconsin, and of course, you probably know my successor in Kenosha, Wisconsin, Brody.

When you get to Milwaukee, if you wish, I will give you a few names of folks from Kenosha who are now members of the congregation. I should like for you to relay greetings to mutual friends as the Flouses, Adelmans, Agulniks, Golds and of course, the Barons, as well as Sacytime and Baums.

Perhaps this letter will get to you after you probably get here for the United Jewish Appeal! Sam Selecters, Vousseyer, Poulette Oppertand other method friends,

With fondest best wishes for a happy Chanukah and with renewed congratulations, I am

Dear Herb:

I have read your letter of the 14th with great interest and can very well imagine and understand the reactions in Menver. My understanding is based upon not only my knowledge of your position in the hearts of the people in Denver, but also upon the very enthusiastic reactions of people in Milwaukee to your coming here.

It may be repetitive for me to say again that you're coming to, I believe, a tremendous opportunity. Our congregation can and should become under your leadership one of the great congregations in the country. The unity and enthusiasm with which the congregation called you was a wonderful beginning. You must know that you already have many good friends in Milwaukee, including myself. We will do everything in our power to help you to build the sort of congregation which you and we want.

Without talking to Ben, who has been out of the city, I can assure you that there will be no difficulty in arranging to meet the request of the youngsters of your Confirmation Class. For my part, I would not have it otherwise. I think the proper approach to the problem would be for them to write a letter to Ben as president of our congregation.

I believe that Mrs. Louise Abrahams has written to you regarding the housing situation, and she, my wife and Mrs. Richard Teweles, the president of the Sisterhood, have been working on the problem which I would say can be solved without too much difficulty. I have asked Louise to try to get the situation into shape so you can plan to come before you go to Phoenix. She will let me know as soon as possible and I will then wire or write you.

Kindest regards.

Dear Herb,

Good news travels fast. Last week-end Anne Shapiro went to the Conference of Temple Secretaries in New York and met Miss Lillian Friedman whom she knows very well. Miss Friedman told her that you were coming to Milwaukee, and how very happy she was to have the opportunity to serve under such a young and outstanding person as yourself. Now, that's what I call a good way to begin in a Congregation.

Of course I was very pleased to hear the news as I knew how well you did in Denver in spite of the difficulties there. I am certain that Milwaukee will prove hospitable and I think the congregation is fortunate in their choice.

My sincere congratulations and best wishes to you, Elaine and the children for the Chanukah season and for your new congregation.

On my return from the U.J.A. Conference I found your letters of the 12th and 14th inst. I was very glad to hear from you, especially of your plans, which I hope will not be too difficult for you at the other end.

I am enclosing you herewith some clippings that appeared in the last issue of the Wisconsin Jewish Chronicle, which I thought you would be interested in.

I quote from a letter received from Maurice N. Eisendrath, which I thought you would be interested in:

"I cannot tell you how thrilled I am to receive your official notification of the election of my very good friend, Herbert Friedman, as your new rabbi. Your congregation and Rabbi Friedman are both to be heartily congratulated: Rabbi Friedman because he is coming into an unusually challenging and stimulating congregation and community, that has been especially blessed by your consecrated and devoted leadership; and your congregation because you will have the ministration of one of the most dedicated rabbis in our Reform movement. I am confident that, together, you will build an ever greater congregation and community".

With my very best to you and Elaine.

My dear Herb:

Naturally, I have been thinking about your coming to Milwaukee and, of course, subject to your approval, I should like to have an induction ceremony at the Temple on the first evening you are to occupy the pulpit. It is my thought that we would invite Doctor Eisendrath and Doctor Glick to participate in the ceremony, also such persons as you might wish, some of your close friends or associates. For instance, Rabbi Bernstein, and if you have any close friends in Chicago. This matter, of course, is entirely what your wishes will be.

I should also like to have a reception at our home for you and Elaine on the Sunday afternoon before, limited strictly to the members of our Congregation.

The time table is, of course, important. February 29 is on a Friday evening. We should probably fit in close enough to March 1, so that I assume you could make that date. The Sunday before is February 24. I don't know how you could fit in with that date, but probably you could make it. I should like to wind up the ceremony with a dinner Saturday night, either at the Community Hall of the Temple, if we can accommodate the people, or at some place downtown.

The reason I am writing you now is because these things do have to be arranged, both as to time table and accommodations, and if it is to be done, I should like it done properly. Of course, I do not wish to do anything that does not meet with your approval, but the more I have been thinking about it, the more do I like the idea, and I do hope that you and Elaine will fit in with these thoughts and suggestions. I know that you and I are going to start out on the frankest possible relationship, and that you will really tell me how you feel, and I don't want you to be at all hesitant. Please be free with any suggestions that you and Elaine may have. Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman

I regret that we did not get to see you more often or to pay tribute to your consistently fine work for Jewry and for humanity. It seemed as if you always would be here, so there was time enough... until the recent announcement of your leaving proved otherwise.

Though by no means an active member of the Temple, I have always supported and believed in your policy and practices. Whatever may be said or felt now, I am sure that you have made a deep impression on the Jews of Denver and that your good influence will be long felt.

AIRMAIL - SPECIAL DELIVERY

Dear Herb:

I am already beginning to get the most enthusiastic repercussions from the announcement of your going to Milwaukee. I think, except perhaps for the few individuals who may themselves have been interested in going there, that your election will prove a very popular one among your colleagues in the rabbinate who do admire you and heartily agree that you are deserving of this advancement. This makes me feel all the more justified in my own confidence in you and in what, I am certain, will prove a happy and mutually satisfactory relationship.

I have been informed that I am now definitely scheduled to come to Denver, and I cannot tell you how delighted Rosa and I will be to see both of you at that time. I would have preferred to have made Denver immediately after Portland on January 29th., rather than the 30th., as I am most eager to get back to New York as speedily as possible since this is the year in which I must capitalize on our new Union House of Living Judaism in this area. I have been told that the 29th. is not convenient for you and, if this is the case, I will, of course, be with you on the 30th. However, if the change could be made, it would be most convenient for myself. Please let me know.

Once more with best wishes to Elaine and yourself, and fondest from both of us, I am, as ever,

Most cordially yours,

My dear Carol:

I am in receipt of your letter signed by the thirty-four confirmants of the class of 5712.

It was indeed heart-warming to me, both personally and officially, to receive such expressions of love and loyalty to Rabbi Friedman. It is not only an indication of the respect, loyalty and devotion of the confirmants to Rabbi Friedman, but the highest tribute that could be paid him. It is indeed fortunate that Rabbi Friedman possesses those fine qualities of spirituality and leadership that give him the love, devotion and respect of his pupils.

The desire of the confirmants to receive Rabbi Friedman's blessing on their confirmation is indeed a blessing in itself.

I do realize your feelings and what all this means to you, and I cannot tell you how much I personally appreciate these feelings on your part.

I hasten to reply and say to you that Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun of Milwaukee will be most happy to have Rabbi Friedman with you on your confirmation day.

Our confirmation has been tentatively set for Sunday, June 1. Of course, you must understand that the final decision in this entire matter is up to Rabbi Friedman.

With kindest personal regards.

MAN AT LESS

Mr. Benjamin Saltzstein President, Temple Emanu-El Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Saltzstein,

Milwaukee is only six hours from Denver by plane, but this short distance does not lessen our loss. You are more than fortunate to have our own Herbert Friedman as your new rabbi. Congratulations.

With Chanukah, the holiday for remembering and giving, only nine days away, may we be presumptuous and ask for our gift?

We, the thirty-four confirmants of the class of 5712, would like to have Rabbi Friedman with us on our confirmation. We have not yet set a date for confirmation in order that the two dates will not conflict.

It will mean a great deal to us to have Rabbi Friedman with us for confirmation. During the eight years he has been with our congregation we have grown very close to him. Ever since we were old enough to realize the true meaning of confirmation we have looked forward to his blessing on that very important day.

Now you know our feelings. We hope that you will realize all that this means to us.

We are waiting for your reply. We wish you the very best of

We are delighted to know that you are to be our neighbor clergyman here in the East Side campus residential area. Since my arrival at Plymouth Church in Decemberof 1948 I have been greatly pleased with the genuine and cordial friendly relations between the members of my church and those of Temple Emanu-EL. I feel sure it could not be if there had not been years of steady good will built up by the leaders of our congregations.

It has been customary for some years to rotate Thanksgiving services for about ten East Side churches in the five largest buildings, including the Temple.

Rabbi Joseph L. Baron was the first clergyman to call on mg when I was now in the city. He invited me to preach for him on Friday night within ten weeks of my coming. This is to invite you in return to preach for me at 10:30 on Sunday morning, May 4th, if you should find it convenient and suitable. If not, I would suggest Sunday, April 27th or that we hold it over to October 12 in order that we may give you a good hearing before our people. They will be very delighted if you can accept.

Most cordially yours.

I wish to take this opportunity of extending to you a warm hand clasp of fellowship and greeting.

We of the Men's Club are most gratified that you have answered the call of our Congregation and have decided to accept our pulpit. I cannot tell you how desperately we need aggressive, vibrant spiritual leader-ship, and I know that we shall receive both through your presence here in the city. On behalf of my officers and Board, I hope you will accept honorary membership in our organization, and you will undoubtedly be pleased to learn that the Rabbi of our Temple is an ex-officie member of the Board of the Men's Club under our present constitution. All of us hope that you will find it possible to give us the benefit of your guidance as a member of our Board.

I do not know whether or not any of us can be of any help to you prior to your arrival in the city, but I do want you to know that if we can in any way be of assistance, all you need do is call upon us.

You will probably recall that I met you in the foyer of the Temple when you arrived with Mr. Oscar Rozoff, and I feel that perhaps I was very instrumental in your decision to come to Milwaukee, since it was I, and only I who knew the location of the switch box so as to illuminate our Temple for your inspection tour.

I read with the greatest joy the news of your election to Milwaukee. Rumors have been heard for some time that you were to be invited to occupy this pulpit, but of course there was nothing definite known until the article in The Jewish Post. I want to congratulate you and to wish you well. From everything that I hear, Milwaukee is one of the top places in the country and is badly in need of the kind of imaginative leadership that you will bring to it. I hope that your coming east, or shall I say coming relatively east, will mean that we shall have an opportunity of seeing each other a little more often.

Lillian joins me in warmest regards to you and your wife. We recall your charming home in Denver so well, and we realize that it will not be easy to leave it. May there be much joy for you, however, in the new home which you will establish in Milwaukee.

Dear Herb:

Through the grapevine I learn that you are leaving Denver to occupy the pulpit in Milwaukee. I was married in Milwaukee by Rabbi Hirschberg just 30 years ago. I know what a grand community it is and that you will have great happiness there.

I have already taken the liberty of spreading the word to some of our friends in Wilwaukee as to the swell deal they are getting.

You know that you have all of my good wishes for happiness and high success in your new pulpit when you take over.

With all good wishes to you and your family for a healthful and heppy New Year, I am

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

I have learned with great pleasure of your election to the pulpit of Temple Emanu-El-B'ne Jeshurun in Milwaukee and I want to congratulate you most heartily on your new post and to wish you success and happiness. I have had many contacts with the congregation in Milwaukee and am very fond of Rabbi Baron and Miss Friedman. If I can be of assistance to you in any phase of congregational administration, I trust that you will not hesitate to call upon me.

With kindest personal regards and best wishes for a Happy Chanukah and a Happy New Year, I am,

Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman Temple Emanuel Denver, Colorado

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

May I add my own humble greetings to those of others associated with our Temple Emanu-el B'ne Jeshurun and add the fervent wish that we will have the pleasure of meeting you very soon.

The Temple Men's Club has honored me with the position of Co-chairman of the Synagogue Activities Committee. We have set aside Friday evening, March 28, 1952 as Temple Men's Club Sabbath. For several years we have designated one Friday night to be devoted particularly to some phase of the Men's Club activities. In the past we have invited Habbis from other congregations to serve as principal speaker, and on other occasions we have been greeted from the pulpit by laymen.

President Kohner has suggested and I wholeheartedly concur, that we solicit from you and your experience any suggestions that you might desire to make before the program has been definitely determined.

I have hesitated to bother you, knowing that these times must be extremely busy ones for you, but we would value your suggestion on this or any other subject.

Yours very truly,

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

The many events in our Religious School highlighting the Chanukah Festival will come to a fitting climax this Friday evening when the children of our Religious School will participate in the traditional Candle-Lighting Service. The preparation and rehearsals for all these festive commemorations kept us so busy for the past few weeks that we did not find time to extend to you our most cordial felicitations on your appointment as Rabbi of Congregation Emanu-El Bine Jeshurun.

The Religious School, its present administration, the teaching staff and all the children and young people from Kindergarten through Senior High School are looking forward with great anticipation to the day when you will arrive in Milwaukee to take over your new assignment. We are most fortunate that you will be our spiritual leader and we are ready to work with you for the benefit of our Jewish children.

In order to acquaint you with some of the things we have done since last September when I, after an absence of three years, took over again the position of Director of Religious Education at our Temple, we are sending you under separate cover a few selected items of interest. They include the curriculum of the Religious School, samples of various publications and weekly teachers' memoranda, our Chanukah Pamphlet just published and sent to all parents, samples of the School newspapers for the Primary and Intermediate grades, copies of special Worship Services and other materials.

Sincerely yours,

We are most happy to welcome you here in the near future. With kindest personal regards,

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

The letter I received from you this morning cleared up the matter of our correspondence regarding your license plates. I was worried that my letter to you may have miscarried. Mr. Cohan must be a very sweet person.

I am really looking forward to your visit here next week and I do hope that you will permit some time for a meeting with me here at the Temple. Several matters have come up which I am holding in abeyance pending your decision.

I have had a call or two from the program chairman of the Milwaukee Section, Council of Jewish Women. Each year, during Purim, the group has a service and a reception at a different Temple. This year the group would like to held their service at our Temple with you as their guest speaker. They would like to have the service on Friday evening, March 14th. Council is a very strong organization in Milwaukee and many of its members are an integral part of our Temple family. Our Ritual Committee has approved of this Sabbath service, but of course, it will be contingent on your approval. I will await word from you. In the interim you will probably receive a letter from the program chairman, Mrs. A. J. Levin.

The authorities at WTMJ-TV, our only outlet in Milwaukee over Channel 3, will televise a religious service from our Temple on Sunday morning, March 9, provided their engineers find it feasible and provided that you will want to appear then. This will be our first appearance on television. Should it be feasible, it will be a marvelous opportunity for you to meet part of Milwaukee via TV. We'll have an opportunity to discuss the matter more in detail when you get here, but I cannot help but be a little excited about it.

Greetings to Mrs. Friedman and to you.

Sincerely. h.o. Trudma

My dear Rabbi Friedman:

It has recently come to my attention that the Ritual Committee of Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun has granted the Milwaukee Section, National Council of Jewish Women the privilege of having a Council Sabbath on Friday, March 14. We have been further advised that Miss Lillian Friedman has written to you giving the specifics about Council's participation in the Sabbath Service. Our Section respectfully hopes that these plans meet with your approval.

If at all possible when you are in Milwaukee during the coming week, we would like one of our members to meet with you to discuss the details.

I am looking forward to meeting you soon and would like to offer my best wishes for a successful and happy New Year.

Dear Herbert:

Having received a letter from Rabbi Leipziger from Milwaukee a few days ago I am taking for granted that you are still in Denver and, therefore, am addressing this letter there.

I just wanted to tell you that I was delighted to learn that you have been elected Rabbi of Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun and want to extend my sincere congratulations with all good wishes for success and satisfaction in your new field of work in the very best sense of both terms.

You have a wonderful opportunity which I know you will measure up to fully and with your usual forthrightness and vigor. I hope that you will receive all the cooperation which your efforts deserve and that you will be able to perform your tasks as you yourself desire for the benefit and welfare of the congregation and the cause.

I am sure it is unnecessary to tell you that if I can be of help in any way at any time, I shall be very glad to do so.

With kindest regards to you and yours.

Let me wish you everything good on your accession to the Milwaukee pulpit. Your leadership will be a fine thing for the congregation, and your presence in this area will be beneficial to all of us. It is good to know that you are going to be a neighbor, and I hope that we can get together occasionally for informal sessions not unlike that delightful evening we spent with you in Denver three summers ago.

The announcement of your election as Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El Bine Jeshurun in Milwaukee was particularly interesting to me. It happens to be my home city and I have among my friends there a number of Jewish people.

I am sure you will find yourself in a pleasant environment and association with some of the finest people it has been my privilege to know.

In accepting this appointment, I want to extend my very best wishes to you for a long and successful career and that you will find much happiness there.

Dear Herb:

Please forgive me for not replying immediately to your letter of December 19th. First of all, Liz and I want to express our heartiest congratulations on your election to Milwaukee. I don't know much about the community. However, I do know that they are getting superb leadership in their new rabbi. I hope you will do as well by them, as they will do by you.

The reason that I haven't answered before this is that Liz' father, who came to visit us during Chanukah, suffered a heart attack and passed away a short time ago. God bless his memory.

We would have liked nothing better than to share your Las Vegas visit with you, and I am particularly eager to hear all about Milwaukee. Unfortunately, however, we will be unable to get away. I will explain the reason in a later letter. For the moment, let me say only that it is a happy reason.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

January 28, 1952

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

Greetings! I meant to write to you about two weeks ago when I first heard the news of your change of pulpit. The news came to me in rather vague terms so I do not know whether you are still in Denver or have moved to your new charge. My best wishes go out to you wherever you are.

It was a great surprise to me to learn that de facto or de jure you left your post in Denver. I know how much you are idolized in Denver, and how completely the congregation and the entire community were in the palm of your hands. However, I assume that your change is for your own advancement and will bring you ultimately closer and closer to New York, which seems to be the Mecca of all Rabbis -- though I do not know why.

I had intended to write to you as soon as I knew more of your present whereabouts. But I was galvanized into immediate action by the information that I had from Mr. Finkel concerning his correspondence with Mr. Rosenberg on the one hand and you on the other. I need not tell you how deeply concerned I am about the situation in Denver vis-a-vis Dropsie College, and if you can exert influence on your Allied Jewish Community Council, please do so and earn my gratitude in even greater abundance than you now have.

you are so that I can more visually direct my blessings in your direction.

With kindest greetings,

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

I was very much interested in your letter, and particularly interested to know that you are going to Milwaukee.

If my impressions of that community are correct, you are heading for a challenging experience. You are evidently cut out for the crusading role of a Jewish apostle.

No doubt, there is strong Jewish potential in Milwaukee, if you agreed to accept a pulpit there. Your intuition is sound; and you obviously gave the matter careful thought.

Some day, I hope we will have the opportunity to talk over many of the larger issues confronting us. Meantime, you have my warmest good wishes for your personal happiness and for the success of the new great adventure.

It is superfluous for me to tell you how much I appreciate your helpfulness to the College and how much I enjoyed finding in you such warm kinship of spirit. Best of all good wishes.

Dear Rabbi:

The news that you were leaving Denver for your new Milwaukee pulpit, came as quite a surprise to me, because I thought after getting over so many hurdles and helping so much to make Denver less peculiar, that you might even exceed the tenure of service of the previous Friedman.

You were, nevertheless, in the right pulpit at the right time and helped so much to do so many necessary things for Temple Emanuel and the Denver Jewish community generally.

I do hope that you will find it possible to carry out your ambitious program in your new charge and join in the many activities in the important national focal area of Chicago.

Rabbi Ralph Simon, leading Conservative rabbi of Chicago and a neighbor of Rabbi Morton Berman, is a very dear friend of mine. You will undoubtedly meet him so you can extend my personal regards.

I want to extend to you my whole-hearted congratulations on your assuming your duties as Rabbi of this great Congregation in Milwaukee. Personally, I don't think they could have picked a better man. Personally, I'm not so sure the Congregation deserves to have a guy as good as you are. The challenge then is for you to perform, though you be a Reform Rabbi, the miracle of physical resurrection. I have taken issue with this Jewish concept but only on the level of the individual. I think it has tremendous validity in terms of the society or the Congregation.

At any rate, I wish you very much happiness, a quick adjustment, and long years of great service.

Gentlemen:

Let me thank you for your announcement of the Installation Services for Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman on Friday Evening, March 7th. Please convey to Rabbi and Mrs. Friedman and accept for yourselves my hearty congratulations (in which I am joined by Congregation Rodeph Sholom) on the happy occasion which is to be.

Your Congregation has been most fortunate in its Rabbinical leadership and we know that your present strength is the consequence of the ministry of Rabbi Hirschberg, Rabbi Baron and their devoted co-workers. In Rabbi Friedman the notable tradition of the past will be maintained, and we are confident that he will continue to bring distinction and significance to your Congregation and all its undertakings. Rabbi Friedman is greatly admired by his colleagues and by all who have had the provilege of coming to know him.

With every good wish believe me to be

I hasten to welcome you to Wisconsin and to wish you great happiness and success in your new pulpit. I know that Tepple Emanuel is eagerly expecting great things from you and that you will fulfil their highest hopes.

I regret that I cannot be with you this week end. It should be a wonderful occasion.

Please accept my heartiest congratulations and those of the Officers and Members of Beth Hillel Temple. May your ministry be a blessed one enriching the spiritual life of the community, State and nation.

I happen to be chairman of Wisconsin for the Joint Campaign of the Union and College and I would appreciate it if you would let me know whether you have already contributed for 1951-52. If you have not, I would like to know just what we may expect from you in this respect as I would like to make a report of the personal contributions of the Rabbis in this State.

I trust we shall have the opportunity of meeting together and working in close friendship and cooperation as has been the history of our Rabbis and Congregations during the years.

A NATIONAL ORGANIZATION DEVOTED TO RELIGIOUS, EDUCATIONAL AND SOCIAL ACTIVITY AMONG JEWISH STUDENTS AT AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES

March 7, 1952

Rabbi Herbert Friedman Congregation Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun 2419 East Kenwood Boulevard Milwaukee 11, Wisconsin

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

My heartiest congratulations and best wishes on your assumption of the rabbinical duties at Temple Emanu-El.

Since there are well over one hundred students from Temple Emanu-El who are at the University of Wisconsin currently, I have heard much of the temple and of its educational and religious program, and from what I have heard of your own background and achievements, I am quite sure that your influence will be a most beneficent one at the temple as well as within the Milwaukee Jewish community.

May God grant you many years of rewarding and creative service in Milwaukee. I look forward to meeting you personally some time in the very near future.

Cordially yours,

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

As a member of your new Congregation, I personally want to extend a warm and hearty welcome to you and your family to Milwaukee, and to narrow it down, to the suburban community of Whitefish Bay.

I understand that you are located in our vicinity and although I do not know whether or not you have a means of transportation, I do want to tell you that if you do not have, we will be very happy to furnish transportation to you. If you have a car I am including herewith a small token in the form of a Lubrication Card which will entitle you to lubrications on your car for one year. I want you to know that there is definitely no mercenary thought, simply a gesture of friendliness.

After listening to you last night I was greatly impressed with your remarks and your ideals. Please accept my best wishes to you and your family.

Call your Minister:

- WHEN YOU ARE FACING A SERIOUS PROBLEM. Ministers have been trained to help people with their personal, family and vocational problems. The impartial judgement of a spiritual leader, together with his prayers for divine guidance will enable you to face your difficulty with confidence. Don't allow your problem to get too hig for you.
- WHEN SOMEONE IS INTERESTED IN THE CHURCH. You will meet young people and adults who are new in your community, and others who have not united with the local church. Put in a good word for your church and tell your pastor about these prospective church members.

WHEN THERE IS ILLNESS. Your minsiter is as near as your telephone. His presence, counsel, and prayer will be helpful. Your pastor will appreciate your phone call when you, your loved one, or friend is ill or going to the hospital.

- WHEN THERE IS DEATH. Your minister should be notified immediately when there is a death in the family. He can give comfort and counsel at this difficult time. It is proper to consult him before funeral arrangements are made.
- WHEN YOU MUST MAKE AN IMPORTANT DECISION. If you are a young person and face a decision about going to college, arranging your course of study, or choosing your life work, make an appointment to see your minister. The viewpoint of your spiritual advisor should be considered.
- WHEN THERE 18 TO BE A WEDDING. Your pastor should be consulted before the wedding day is set. Since you undoubtedly desire to have one or more conferences with your minister, it is advisable to contact him well in advance of the wedding.
- WHEN YOU HAVE A SPIRITUAL PROBLEM Many Christians have questions or fears that bring no little discomfort. Your minister is your spiritual advisor. He can help you overcome your fears and solve your problems.

A MINISTER'S PRAYER

I do not ask

That crowds may throng the temple, That standing room be priced;

I only ask that as I voice the message, They may see Christ!

I do not ask

For churchly pomp or pageant, MISH Or music such as wealth alone can buy;

I only ask that as I voice the message, He may be night and the message.

I do not ask

That men may sound my praises, Or that headlines spread my name abroad;

I only pray that, as I voice the message, Hearts may find God !

I do not ask

For earthly place or laurel, Or of this world's distinctions any part; I only ask, when I have voiced the message,

My Saviour's heart!

Dear Rabbi Friedman:

Hor

I am a member of your congregation and after properly digesting your opening talk to us, my spirits were very much stimulated.

Your remarks about, "You and I", as well as your challenge to the congregation, in my humble opinion, were very timely.

Some years ago, I had the honor of spending a few hours with your illustrious teacher, Rabbi Stephen Wise. I believe that you emulate him and that concept of religion which should be close to the heart of every thinking Jew.

My family joins me in expressing to you, our desire to be helpful and co-operative, and wish that your effort in our behalf will be fruitful and successful.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Rabbi and Mrs. Friedman:

This letter should have been written at least a month ago but I was away on vacation and then came home ill. There should be a law about vacations after vacations.

However, it is a great deal easier to write now that I have had the pleasure of meeting you. Furthermore, since your arrival the Shabbos services have attained a warmth and impressiveness that make our Temple a much more attractive place. Incidentally, I know because I have seldom missed Friday night services in almost six years.

The officers and members of Milwaukee Region of Women's American ORT join me in extending a warm welcome to you. We were very pleased to hear of your active interest in ORT.

If there is any way that we as a group or as individuals may do to make you happier in your new home we shall be eager to have you call on us.

Again may we extend our "Sholom Aleichem" to you.

MESSAGE TO THE CONGREGATION

Dear Friends:

I had the honor and pleasure of meeting many of you at the festivities held recently in connection with my Installation as your Rabbi. These festivities were quite stirring and exciting and we all shared in the sense of something greater than ourselves.

There were many of you, however, whom I did not come to meet, and certainly there were multitudes whom I met only briefly. May I, therefore, through the columns of the Bulletin extend to every member of this congregation my heartfelt greetings and most cordial word of thanks for the magnificent reception you have tendered my family and myself.

You have welcomed us with friendship and with warmth, and we reciprocate these feelings most sincerely. I hope that as time goes on we shall come to know each other as individuals and members of one large family.

I shall do my best to be a pastor and minister, but will need your friendly help and cooperation in this regard. In a congregation as large as ours, it is almost impossible to make the number of personal pastoral calls I would like to make. If there are occasions of serious illness, I would appreciate being informed so that I might help.

Primarily, a Rabbi is a teacher, and it is my hope that I shall be able to bring to our congregation some of the lore of our people, couched in attractive form, so that it may be understandable and palatable to the generations ahead. No teacher can transmit the body of his doctrine unless the student is willing and eager to learn.

Nothing you can do will gladden the heart of the Rabbi more than for you to attend the services religiously Sabbath after Sabbath, partaking in the age old ceremonies and sharing in the wisdom of the centuries.

Besides being your pastor and teacher, I should like to be your friend. This I hope to be able to accomplish at least with the youngsters of our congregation. It is my wish to expose myself to them in the various grades of our religious school, and to develop an abiding friendship which will carry us into the years ahead.

There is much more I would like to say, but there will be time in the future. Believe me, that I come to you in the spirit of humility and with a most sincere desire to serve the members of this great and historic congregation. The causes in which I labor, the goals toward which I strive, the ideals which I seek to preserve and transmit, will all be more realizable if you understand them and if we work together for them.

Thank you for all you have done to make our coming blessed. Thank you for all I know you will do to make this congregation ever more noble in the decades ahead.

Sincerely yours,

Herbert A. Friedman

RABBI'S SERMON TOPICS

Friday Evening, March 21, 8 P.M. "What I Believe About God"

A belief in God is central to any religious system. Judaism's belief in God was the first monotheistic system on earth. Our people, at the very beginning of its history, discovered the concept that there is one God who created the Universe, controls its programs, and is responsible for its direction. This discovery came at a time when the human mind was almost unable to conceive the magnitude of this notion.

Since that early moment of insight, the Jewish people has spent four millenia refining and defining its God-concept. Belief in God is difficult for modern intellectuals to accept. Somewhere in our modern education the notion has crept in that God is outdated and irrelevant.

I shall attempt to explain the basic Jewish concept of God, and its relationship with our concept of Man and the Universe. Wherein are God and Man partners? Wherein are they antagonists? Is there a valid God-idea which modern people can find meaningful?

GIFTS OF LOVE

The Congregation acknowledges with thanks the receipt of:

A sterling silver Kiddush Cup, beautifully chased in design, a ceremonial object produced by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, from Mrs. Samuel L. Schefrin in loving tribute to the memory of her dear husband. This cup was formally dedicated at the Sabbath Service, Friday evening, March 7.

A sterling silver taper for the lighting of the Sabbath candles, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Teweles in loving tribute to the memory of Mrs. Hugo Teweles, former President of the Sisterhood. Friday Evening, March 28, 8 P.M.

"What I Believe About the Jewish People

We Jews are a difficult phenomenon to understand. Outsiders often fail to understand us, but we must not be impatient with them, because we often fail to understand ourselves. We seek to define ourselves – to determine exactly what we are – to delineate our form. These procedures are filled with difficulty and often frustration. Sometimes we seem to catch an inkling of what we really are, and other times the notion eludes us completely.

In this sermon, I should like to present my ideas about the entity we call the Jewish people. I believe this people has a specific role to play in human history and that there are sufficiently clear guide posts so that we can draw some sort of a figure of our own outline. Who are we? Where do we come from? What are we doing on the stage of history? Why are we so perduring that nothing can cause us to disappear?

PASSOVER SEDER

able dinner will be served at $4.00 per plate for adults, and $3.25 per plate for children (under twelve), including gratuities.

Reservations, accompanied by checks payable to Temple Seder, should be mailed promptly to Mrs. Marvin L. Kohner, 4759 N. Cumberland Blvd.

MAKE MINSTREL PLANS

MEN'S CLUB SABBATH

On Friday evening March 28th at 8:00 o'clock the Annual Men's Club Sabbath will be held. Messrs. Bernard Hankin and Henry Taxman of the Synagogue Activities Committee of the Men's Club are in charge.

Rabbi Friedman will speak on "What I Believe About the Jewish People." Members of the Men's Club will participate in the ritual. A Social hour will follow the Service when the Congregation will be guests of the Men's Club.

A BIT OF SISTERHOOD HOSPITALITY

Members of the Sisterhood, acting as the homemakers for the Temple family, had an unusually busy month preparing for the arrival of Rabbi Friedman and his charming family.

A group of women helped redecorate and furnish Rabbi Friedman's study and many hours were spent in the selection of carpeting, draperies, chairs, lamps, tables and ash trays, so that everything would be in readiness upon his arrival. Other members helped prepare his home for occupancy. Arrangements were made for cleaning and painting, and household help was engaged, so that Mrs. Friedman would find her transition to Milwaukee an easy one. A committee met our Rabbi and his family at the depot and sent flowers to their hotel as a special token of welcome.

Sisterhood members served as hostesses at all of the installation ceremonies and entertained women guests from out-of-the-city at a luncheon on Saturday noon.

It was a great pleasure for members of the Sisterhood to be able to extend this hospitality to our new Rabbi and his family, while at the same time all of the usual Sisterhood activities were carried on by various assigned committees.

COMMITTEES BUSY SETTING STAGE FOR MEN'S CLUB REVUE

Nearly one-hundred members of the Temple Men's Club have accepted committee appointments, and are now busily engaged in planning the First Annual Revue-Minstrel Show to be held at the Shorewood High School Auditorium on May 10-11. Mrs. Ronald A. Padway and Mrs. Muriel Fredman have been appointed by the Sisterhood to form committees and to extend cooperation to help assure the success of the affair.

According to Dr. Samuel Granof, General Chairman, a huge chorus of mixed voices will be needed for the minstrel portion of the show, and it is hoped that at least one hundred of the Temple family will participate. Robert Mann has been appointed Vice-Chairman. Other committee heads include Nathan Berkowitz and Herman Mosher, Patrons; Bernard Hankin, Sherburn Adashek and Frank K. Levin, General Ticket Sales; Lawrence Katz and Joe E. Smith, Casting; Harold Pentler, Ushers and Concessions; Jerry Berman and Charles Rubinstein, Program Book Compilation; Erwin Abramson, Stage, Lighting and Properties; Joe Smith, Music; George J. Laikin, Budget; Arthur Krass, Rehearsals and Chaperones; Burton Zucker, Costumes and Make-up.

Talent is now being sought to participate in the Show; and all members of the Congregation, its affiliates and their families are urged to volunteer. Please call any member of the Casting Committee, whose names will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Leo Mann, a senior member of the law firm of Lines, Spooner & Quarles, was dead last week after a career which had brought him to the forefront as one of the outstanding attorneys in the state. The widely-known counsel, who was also prominent in many activities in the Jewish community, was 58.

Mr. Mann was a specialist in the field of corporation law and was considered an expert in labor relations law work in which he represented many large firms. In 1941, he represented the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. in hearings which proved that fraudulent ballots had been used in a union strike vote to promote a Communist-inspired walkout.

Beginning his law career in 1911 as a messenger with the same firm in which he rose to his high position at the time of his death. Mr. Mann became an attorney by passing the state bar examiners without having a law degree. Born in Milwaukee, he attended the local public schools and Marquette university night classes. He had been admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

His activities in Jewish communal affairs included two terms as president of the Jewish Social Service, membership on the board of trustees of Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun, as an organizer of Brynwood Country club, and membership in B'nai B'rith and the American Jewish Committee. He was a Mason and a member of the Milwaukee and Wisconsin Bar Associations.

Mr. Mann is survived by his wife, Edith, and three sons, Robert, Milwaukee; Douglas, Detroit, and James L. Speyer, a soldier in Korea; two daughters, Mrs. Wallace London, Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Eugene Ruby, Milwaukee, and a brother, J. R. Mann, Milwaukee.

Leo Mann

In the death last week of Leo Mann the community lost a man who was widely respected. In the saga of the American success story, Mr. Mann, the son of Orthodox parents, started from poverty and by dint of diligent study and determination, rose from office boy to a senior member of one of Milwaukee's outstanding law firms. And while he was mounting success, he retained a keen and kindred interest in the affairs and activities of his fellow Jews.

Mr. Mann was a decent, Godly man who walked among other men with a gentle humility. Kindly and considerate, it was foreign to him to utter an ungracious word about anyone. What probably marked the man more than any other single quality, was that he was motivated by the noblest of feelings. It was because of this nature in the man that he was counted among all who knew him as a gentle and true human being.

His interests in the Milwaukee Jewish community were of wide range. He served two terms as president of the Jewish Social Service Association, forerunner of the Jewish Family and Children's Service; he was one of the organizers of Brynwood Country club; a trustee of Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun, an active member of the American Jewish Committee, as well as the Milwaukee and Wisconsin Bar Associations. His was a full life.

We join with many in the community in expressing our condolences to Mr. Mann's family. It should be a satisfaction for them to know that while he lived he won the admiration of his community. THE WISCONSIN JEWISH CHRONICLE

An Open Letter

To the Members of Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun May 23, 1952

The local chapter of the American Council for Judaism requested of the Chairman of the House Committee and was verbally granted by him the use of the Community Hall of Temple Emanu-El B'ne Jeshurun for a meeting of the Council. Written confirmation of the date set, namely June 11th, was to follow in the mail. When this arrangement was heard of by an opponent of the Council, an objection was raised which necessitated the convening of a special meeting of the Board to determine final action.

The Board over-ruled the Chairman of the House Committee and thereby denied the use of the facilities of the Temple to the Council, the preponderance of whose membership are likewise Temple members.

This open letter is, therefore, being addressed to all members because no other alternative is left whereby you may be informed of facts which are of vital importance to you. It is the understandable policy of the Board of Trustees of the Temple not to release the roster of membership to anyone or any organization — else you would have received a personal letter on this subject. We regret deeply both the incident creating the controversy and the use of this medium for having conscientiously to expose it.

We are aware that the Board had one of two thankless choices. They could either repudiate the objector or objectors or they could violate the fundamental precept of democratic procedure from which their prerogative stems. How rapidly the principles of democracy can be diluted is illustrated by the fact that the Board chose to appease the objector or objectors instead of standing by democratic principles which had always governed their actions heretofore.

The basic issue is not whether the Council's principles are good or bad. Obviously those who agree find them good; those who disagree find them bad. The issue is whether the Council should have the same rights as other Jewish groups within the orbit of the Temple. As vigorously as we oppose Zionism we would not condone such a decision of the Board had the situation been reversed. What's more the Council – and its program – were denied benefit of defense. This hardly becomes Jews who have so often found themselves in a minority and who were so frequently victimized by the presentation of only one side of the story. What respect can a minority command if it shows no respect for minority opinions within its own ranks? No opportunity was given the Council at the special meeting to defend, explain or clarify its position. It is believed that the objector or objectors presented their case.

One of the allegations (we are informed) militating against the Council was a derogatory report of a Dramatization of the 23rd World Zionist convention held in Jerusalem last year and which was presented before the annual conference of the American Council for Judaism. This Dramatization, presented by members from the Young Peoples Group of the Chicago Chapter, is factual, straightforward and informative. The introduction to this Dramatization explicitly states that distortion, dialects, accents or other devices which might be construed as lampooning are meticulously avoided.

In any event you will be given the opportunity to judge this Dramatization for yourself for it will be presented in Milwaukee on June 11th at 8:00 p. m. in the auditorium of the Milwaukee Country Day School, 6255 N. Santa Monica Blvd. Because the facilities of this auditorium are limited, those holding tickets will be admitted first. Tickets for this presentation may be obtained through the mail by addressing your request to

The Council has nothing to hide. We rest our case in the forum of free discussion which is in the finest traditions of Judaism and the American way of life.

Secretary of Defense Lauds Israel Army

WASHINGTON - (JTA)-The House Foreign Affairs Affairs Commitee was told by Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovvett that the Israel Army "proved its competency in the past" and that the area in which Israel is a military potential is strategically necessary for our defense.

Testifying before the Committee was also Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold, chief of the American military mission in Turkey. He was asked by chairman James P. Rich-ards if he had occasion to see the Israel Army. Gen. Arnold replied that he saw the Israel replied that he saw the Israer Army "only on the border," but added: "They are well equipped. They do not have too many. They are actually mobilized, or were at one time but I think practically everyone in Israel has a gun and they have a militia." and they have a militia.

The general pointed out that "you find the same in Syria and Transjordan." He added that he did not think he saw an Arab who did not have a rifle and noted that "a very intense feeling" exists between Arabs and Jews.

Cheyenne Families Average $500 in Bonds

DENVER - (JTA) - The one hundred families of Cheyenne bought State of Israel bonds to the total of $50,000 at a dinner there addressed by Dr. Frank Kingdon, it was announced. The per family average of $500 is believed to be one of the highest of any community in the country. Mrs. Esther Vita was brought to the dinner in a wheel-chair in order to purchase bonds for eight children and fourteen grandchildren.

Winnipeg Worried Over Unmarried Mothers

WINNIPEG, - (JTA) - Serious concern about an "unprece-dented rise" in cases of unmarried mothers was reported here at the annual meeting of the Jew-ish Child and Family Service. The annual average of two or three cases rose last year to nine, it was reported. The agency, it was announced, is now seeking to establish a new children's shelter in a private home in a residential section of the city.

morning. The sun is beginning to gild the rooftops of Mt. Carmel. Mother is in the kitchen making breakfast. Father is getting ready to go to work.

Outside, a Dodge stops. A man dressed in a plain shirt without a tie, gets out, rings the door bell.

"I got your letter," says the man, "complaining about electri-city. Will you please show me where the trouble is?"

The man is Mayor Hushi of Haifa, who has just arrived in the United States on a speaking tour in behalf of the $500,000,000 Israel Bond campaign.

Abba Hushi is sometimes called the La Guardia of Haifa. (Too bad

MAYOR ABBA HUSHI OF HAIFA.

Mr. La Guardia isn't alive today or he might be called the Abba Hushi of New York.)

Abba Hushi is the man who made Haifa the cleanest of the large cities of Israel. (If you throw a piece of paper on a Haifa street, prepare to meet the judge.) Abba Hushi is the man who made Haifa the quietest city in Israel.

ABBA HUSHI is the rootin' tootin'est mayor in Israel, but don't go tootin' your automobile horn in Haifa.

Abba Hushi is the man who in two years has given Haifa eleven public parks.

Abba Hushi is the man who as

IT'S SEVEN O'CLOCK in the executive head of the Labor Council of Haifa built the most powerful organization in Israel so that workingmen are better paid in Haifa than in any of the other large cities.

Abba Hushi is the man who abolished class war in Haifa. There are fewer strikes in Haifa than elsewhere. The unions join with management in seeking to eliminate waste and cut costs. The unions recognize that if capital makes a profit, there will be more capital invested and more jobs for workingmen.

The Jews of Haifa like Abba Hushi for many reasons - one of which is that he took a leading part in the liberation of Haifa during the Israeli war for independence. 4 4 4

THE NON-JEWISH Druzes like Abba Hushi because he organized them as an integral force to fight alongside of the Jews.

The Arabs like Abba Hushi because he was the first man to organize Arab workingmen into unions and thus give them working conditions and wages equal to the Jews

Abba Hushi has a good deal of the theatrical in his make-up. He likes to ride in a parade in a jeep with his grandson sitting on his knee. But he is a man of action as well. He works at City Hall almost to midnight, but even so finds the hours too short. Every-thing has to be brief with him. "I read only summaries," he says.

Abba Hushi is criticized by some as a man of fantastic dreams, but his dreams are coming true one by one. Abba Hushi had a dream of a subway going from the top of Mt. Carmel to the industrial area in Lawor Town. A Swiss Company is not offering to build such a subway.

ABBA HUSHI had a dream of a great port in Haifa, which might serve as a reshipping center among Europe, Asia and Africa. Thanks to Israel bond money, a great in-dustrial zone is now being built in Haifa to achieve this end.

Abba Hushi had a dream of Haifa as a great metropolis of a million inhabitants, and now the port of Haifa is being enlarged to provide a port for such a city.

Abba Hushi's original name was Abba Schneller.

Truman Appoints Blaustein to NAB

WASHINGTON -President Truman has appointed Jacob Blaustein of Baltimore, president of the American Jewish Committee, as a public member of the National Advisory Board on Mobilization Policy. Mr. Blaustein, co-founder with his father, the late Louis Blaustein, of the American Oil Company, replaces John Lord O'Brian who resigned.

Mr. Blaustein was consultant to the American Delegation at the San Francisco Conference which launched the United Nations in 1945. He had served as advisor from time to time on various international problems and is a widely known figure in the petroleum industry.

The NABMP is considered the top advisory board in Washington. It is advisory to President Truman, meeting in the Cabinet Room of the White House with the President regularly in attendance at certain of its sessions. The chairman of the Board is the Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, until recently Charles E. Wil-son. The present Acting Director is John R. Steelman, the President's assistant.

The Board is comprised of four representatives each from industry, labor, agriculture and the public. Among the members are William Green, president of the AFL; Dechard A. Huley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Claude A. Putman, chairman of the board, National Association of Manufacturers; Phillip Muray, president of the CIO; and Walter P. Reuther, pres-ident of the UAW, CIO.

In the midst of one of the most spirited passages of the Rachmaninoff Piano Concerto, Borge recalls, "there was a long two finger trill with the full string section behind me. The sight of those serious musicians grinding away, while I trilled was suddenly too much for me. I winked at the audience over my shoulder. There was a roar of laughter in the crowded auditorium.

And thus was Victor Borge, cemedian, born. He became famous all over the continent for his wit and clowning at the piano. Forced to leave Denmark in 1940, he came to the U. S. It was dif-ficult going, to say the least. Luckily Borge per-formed at a party where he was seen by Rudy Vallee who immediately liked him and introduced him to Bing Crosby. out an improvised theme. There seems to be inherent taste in what he says and does which gives flavor to this Pixie of the Paderewskis, just as he adds spices in the proper pinch to his cooking which is one of his manias. When time permits, Victor likes to do his own cooking, flanked by a staff of helpers. One of his specialties is Marmalade Tea Cakes which was a delicacy in his boyhood in Denmark.

You'll need:

2 tablespoons melted butter 1/2 cup light brown sugar 11/2 cups corn flakes 11/2 cups sifted flour

1/2 cup orange marmalade 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons sugar 1/4 cup shortening 1 egg well beaten

3 teaspoons baking powder 1/4 cup milk

For topping, mix butter, brown sugar and one-half cup corn flakes. Sift flour with baking powder, sugar and salt; cut in shorten-ing. Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, stirring only until flour disappears. Fold in remaining corn flakes. Spread batter in greased pan. Dot marmalade over batter; sprinkle with topping. Bake in 400 degree oven for 25 minutes. Serves nine.

Dear Sam and Marion:

I am addressing this to both of you because I am asking for advice from both of you as to our mutual friend, Herb. Friedman.

I have come to know him somewhat better, and heartily join in your judgment of him. He is a wonderful fellow, both as a Rabbi and as a men. Edith and I are very fond of him and feel sure that as we get to know him better our sentiment for him will enlarge. He has already done wonders for our Temple. As he probably told you himself when he was in Denver recently, attendance has held up wonderfully. Although ordinarily summer services have been very brief and attended only by people who want to say Kaddish, I feel sure that under Herbert's leadership they will be almost as good as they have been since he first came. Edith and I, who have not been much as Temple goers, haven't missed a Friday night when we have been in town. We also went to hear him a couple of Sundays ago at Plymouth Episcopal Church. He was wonderful, and we are very proud of him.

But, being a man of action, like everybody else, he makes mistakes, for which his friends, of course, forgive him. But I would like to help him avoid repeating some of them.

His last mistake was with respect to the American Council for Judaism, which, as you know, is anti-Zionist. Israel is a subject on which Herb. is apt to be more emotional than logical. I was once a member of this organization. Its principles on paper sound beautiful. They are comparable to those of the American Jewish Committee, to which I also belong. But I do not approve of the Council's methods. Their publicity is provocative of controversy. For this reason I resigned some time ago, and I told them why. I said that I object to using "fighting words". Rabbi Berger's reply to me was that the situation called for fighting words. Recently they asked for the use of our Community House for a meeting. The Chairman of the House Committee, although not a Council member, and being one who disapproved of their methods, nevertheless wisely, I think, gave them permission to hold the meeting. I am told that when Herb. heard of this, he protested to Ben Saltzstein. As a result, a special Board meeting was held, and by a vote of 15 to 5 the permission given by Herb. Heilbronner was reversed. Here is what followed:

a) At the Temple annual meeting, certain Temple members who are also Council members, made a motion to reverse the action of the Board. Several members of the Board who voted to permit the Council to use the building opposed this motion on the ground that matters of this kind should be left to the Board, and that it was up to the membership to support its own Board. This view prevailed and the motion was killed.

b) The Council then bought a full page in the Jewish paper for an open letter to the Temple members protesting the Board's action as a denial of the right of free speech, as, of course, it was.

c) The controversy then got into the public press, where articles appeared about the controversy between these two Jewish factions.

d) The Council arranged to hold the meeting at some other place, and, of course, because of the publicity, they had a much bigger audience than they would otherwise have had.

It is hard for me to understand how Herb. Friedman and Ben Saltzstein could advocate denying this group the use of the building in view of the fact that the A. D. L. and other groups experienced in fighting subversive movements have agreed that when some objectionable group wants to hold a meeting, the thing to do is not to create any controversy about it; that by creating a controversy they play right into the hands of the group, in that it gives them the very publicity they are seeking, and inevitably results in a larger audience. That is exactly what happened here.

At the Council meeting they presented a dramatization of the 23rd World Zionist Congress held in Jerusalem about nine months ago. This dramatization was first put on in Washington some months ago by a group of juniors from the Chicago Chapter of the Council, all of whom are amateurs. I understand the Temple Board was told that this dramatization caricatured and made fun of some of the Zionists who spoke at this Congress, and was therefore objectionable. I believe that was one of the grounds of the Board's decision. All of this controversy aroused my curiosity, as well as that of a number of my friends, and for this reason we attended the Council meeting Wednesday night. There was nothing objectionable about the dramatization, except the substance of what was said. But they were only quoting from the speeches made by speakers at this Zionist Congress.

It was, of course, an effective way of getting over to the American audience the extreme positions of these Zionists. Although the Congress demanded that everyone support whatever position the State of Israel took, no matter how unreasonable it might be, and even though it was based on the premise that all Jews outside of Israel are living in exile (a position which the American delegates seemed to deny in their speeches), even the Americans voted for the program.

I think it is a matter of interest and education for American Jews to know that many Zionists take this extreme position. To me it is the best argument against this view of Zionism. I feel sure that even Herb. Friedman does not subscribe to that idea. The program demanded that Israel's position be accepted without criticism, which is absurd in view of the American position that we have the right to criticize the position of even our own Government. It does not conform to the idea that in America Jews are not living in exile.

There was nothing in this play that caricatured anybody. Although I disagree with the substance of what they said, no one could object properly to their method of presentation. Their meeting was a proper exercise of the right of freedom of speech, and it was a big mistake for our Board under the leadership of Rabbi Friedman and Ben Saltzstein to have denied the use of the building to the Council. I think it was Voltaire who said something to this effect: While I disagree wholeheartedly with what you say, I will die in the attempt to protect your right to say it. To me, that principle is consistent with American philosophy. I much regret that Herb. took the action which he did, for which he is being severely criticized, and I think properly so, by those members of the Council who also are Temple members. I don't think they are very numerous, but it was an unfortunate incident.

The other mistake Herb. made was at confirmation time. He so strongly objects to private receptions separate from the community reception, that it took a good deal of pressure to get the Temple to follow the practice of previous years in giving a list of confirmands in the Bulletin, to show which of them were having private receptions. I personally do not like receptions. When my three children were confirmed, I gave them an extra present to get their consent to forego any reception, community or private. But some people like receptions and like to have them private for personal reasons. For example, Herb. and Elise Kahn made quite a thing of Chuck's confirmation. Elise's mother, sisters and family came from La Porte, and Florence came from California. Obviously, under these conditions it would have been absurd not to have had a private reception at which their family could meet their friends under better circumstances. The same undoubtedly applies to other people. After considerable pressure the Temple bulletin did carry this information, but some members have the feeling that Herb. was quite stubborn in his opposition on this very personal matter, and, again, I think he was wrong in it.

Call water

The help I am appealing to you for is this: Will Herb. take without offense the suggestion that though we think he is a great man in many ways, he is not always right, and that he should consider with a little more tolerance the suggestions of other people, and possibly even seek advice on some of these matters involving public relations before taking a final step. I am sure there are many people here who would be glad to consult with him when any questions of public relations arise, in an effort to avoid mistakes of this kind, which, of course, are harmful both to him and to the community.

For one reason or another, mostly because we were out of town twice and busy in other ways, Edith and I have been unable to call at the Friedmans' house or have them over to our house. When Edith called Mrs. Friedman the other day, hoping we could go there Thursday night, we found that Herb. was at a convention. I have had the pleasure of working with Herbert on a couple of things and found him most cooperative and helpful. Of course, he knows from the continued large attendance at services that he has the support of a large portion of the Temple members. I understand he has expressed himself as being very happy here, particularly in the feeling that he is helping to fill a very serious spiritual void which existed in this community, in which respect I think he is right and is doing it in a wonderful way.

I am sure you will gather from this letter that my criticism of him is most friendly. I am anxious to be helpful to him in a constructive way. I would appreciate very much your frank comments as to these matters. If you think I should mind my own damn business, I will appreciate your saying so--and I may even follow your advice. I have been known to do so.

With best regards from Edith and myself, I am,

Sincerely yours,

La

P.S. While I am writing you, I want to ask you some further information. Everyone here knows Herb. is keenly interested in Israel, and I believe today most of the Reform Rabbis also strongly favor Israel. In their criticism of him about this, some of the unfriendly local people (some are Council members) go so far as to suggest that the next thing that will happen in our Temple is that we will display on the pulpit with the American flag, the flag of Israel, and pretty soon our children will sing the "Hatikva"--the Israel national anthem. I am wondering whether this ever happened with Herb. in your Temple at Denver.

My dear Sam:

Will you please give me the details of Rabbi Elmer Berger's occupying your Temple. What I would like to know is the date he was there, what portion of the Temple he spoke from, and generally what was said. I would appreciate this information, and with kindest personal regards to you and Marion.

Dear Ben:

In answer to your inquiry regarding the use of Temple Emanuel for a meeting of the American Council for Judaism, at which Elmer Berger spoke, I wish to submit to you the following facts:

On Monday, April 25, 1949, the Board of Trustees upheld the Ritual Committee who had approved the request of the American Council for Judaism to use the vestry rooms - also known as the assembly hall - for a meeting of their organization the evening of May 2, 1949. Rabbi Friedman objected to the use of the building for that purpose, but the Board felt that they had to uphold the committee.

Enclosed you will find copies of newspaper reports regarding the meeting of the American Council for Judaiam held in the Temple assembly hall. These were taken from the files in the offices of the respective newspapers.

I recall, with much shame, the opening remark of the chairman of the meeting. "I don't see our young Rabbis here; they are more interested in Israeli culture than American culture."

The American Council for Judaism has not met in the Temple since.

I had intended to spend a couple of days in Milwaukee during the first part of July, but I will have to forego that pleasure because of a recent illness. I expect to be all right in a few days.

Marion joins me in warmest regards to you and your nice wife.

Sincerely,

Mr. Benjamin F. Saltzstein 625 North Milwaukee Street Milwaukee 2, Wisconsin

Dear Leo:

Please pardon me for not writing sooner as I have been confined to bed with a severe virus attack. I'm back at work today and will try to answer your interesting letter.

Marion and I deeply appreciate your letter and the obvious sincerity that has prompted you to take time out from your busy schedule to write to us about Herbert. Anything that affects him or his family is of the greatest importance and concern to us.

I shall try to answer your letter seriatim but may add some remarks and observations that may or may not be pertinent.

Herbert's experience in Milwaukee with regard to his spiritual leadership will no doubt surpass the successful ministry he enjoyed in Denver. We have only 17,000 Jews here as against twice the number in Milwaukee, thereby providing him with a larger area in which to work.

I can understand why you are so genuinely interested in the Tample situation and more particularly Herbert. He is a man of high personal integrity, who lives as he expects others to live. He will never ask anyone to do anything that he would not gladly do himself. He is one of the very few men I have known who will not prestitute his thinking regardless of personal consequences.

In my 25 years of experience in this work, I have not and known many rabbis intimately, but not one has measured up to the high purpose to which Herbert has dedicated his life. At the same time, he has a deep humility and simple sincerity that only good people can edjoy. He is without guile; often saying things that may seem blunt to others. Above all, he has a passion for justice.

I say those things without hesitation because these attributes have been obvious to me as well as others near and dear to him. They were told to me before he assumed his duties here by his parents, his pewered professor, Dr. Slonimsky, and his great and good friend, Dr. Stephen S. Wise.

Marion's father was deeply impressed with this young man of 24 and they became the closest of friends. As a result, Herbert, while enroute to his overseas assignment, flew to Denver to officiate at his funeral - significant because he knew Dad did not want a culogy and none was given. He came because he wanted to recite the prayers and to ride in the hearse with him to the cemetery. This was the friendship that existed between Dad, at 81, and his rabbi - a young man of 27 years. They were faithful friends who did not always see eye to eye an all matters. In fact, I found in Dad's papers several notations to the effect that Herbert was like a son and that he was converting Dad to his way of thinking.

I recount these incidents because we are discussing an unusual man with a fine nature. He has some minor imperfections that humans usually have, but his are fewer and less important than the average.

In our personal relationships we have differed on many insues. As a result, he would sometimes temper his actions or accept moleheartedly advice he considered to be sound. Then again, he would decide to use his own judgment and I must say the results justified his decision.

It was not easy for a man of 24 to start out in a community that was content to go along as it had for many years - without change and oblivious to the progress of other larger temples and the national trend.

When he came to us, we proudly raised $65,000 for Allied and UJA Fund. When he laft (he was the spark, co-chairman and speaker year after year) we raised $1,200,000. This year we dropped below that figure, and this was tough going.

Yes, Herbert takes his duties seriously, by giving the best he has at all times thereby accomplishing his goals.

At the farewall banquet it was significant that several men of stature said identical things about him. The former governor, now United States Federal District Judge, the Mayor and Dean Paul Roberts of the Episcopal Church said, "Here is a man who does not know what the words 'fear and failure' mean."

I certainly agree with you that he makes mistakes. In the two instances you mention, I do not consider them mistakes. However, when he makes a mistake I assure you he will not repeat it if he can be shown he is wrong. He can and will take constructive criticism in the best of spirits.

His action regarding the American Council, no doubt, is predicated on his experience with this organization's activities in Denver; his invaledge of the negative attitude of the Council; its hampering tactics during the heartbrocking period following the war when efforts were made to sottle the remants of European Jews some place on this earth and its other peculiar practices.

Two weeks after Herbert left for service, the Council held its first open meeting at a local hotel. I shall never forget how upset I was at the undemocratic procedure. During the question period, one of our local Josich leaders, an outstanding lawyer, now a district judge, rose to ask Elmer Berger the source of his facts and information. There were shouts of "sit down," "hire a hall." He was told by the chairman to rent the same room maxt night and hold his own meeting. Only certain people were permitted to ask questions. The meeting was advortised as "open."

There were other incidents. Herbert, over the objection of others, permitted Rabbi Morris Lasaron, one of the founders of the A.C.J., to occupy his pulpit. We all thought he was very generous.

We had another experience, the reverse of yours, regarding the use of the Tample for Council meetings, The Council did use the Tample's hall for some of their meetings while Herbert was in service. As a result, the members felt that the Tample had endorsed the Council. Its president became president of the Tample. Others were elected to the Tample Board.

Shortly after Herbert's return to Denver from service in the army overseas, the Council applied for and was given permission to meet in the Temple. The Rabbi objected but the Board said it must back up the Ritual Councittee. The meeting was poorly attended and as I think back Berger was the main attraction.

The chairman of the meeting introduced Berger with these remarks, "I don't see our young Rabbis here; they are more interested in Israeli culture than American culture." Several of the few who were there indicated their displeasure by walking out. The Council has not met in the Tample since.

Therefore, I do not feel, as you do, that Herbert made a mistake in protesting to the Board the action of the committee who gave permission to the Council to use the Tample's facilities.

I feel, like many others, an organization - not educational - not philanthropic - not fraternal, can rent one of many public halls to hold its meetings. I am sure the Rabbi would not raise a finger to prevent them from meeting anywhere else as often as they want.

Then again, there is the matter of endorsement to which I referred as well as one of professional pride. I know of very few temples of any consequence where the Council may hold its meetings.

Have you heard of the Council holding its meetings in Eabbi Bernstein's Temple in Rochester? Rabbi Silver's Temple in Gleveland? Rabbi Brickner's Temple in Cleveland? Rabbi Morton Bernan's Temple in Chicago? Rabbi Louis Hemman's Temple in New York? Rabbi Magnin's Temple in Los Angeles? Rabbi Freehof's Temple in Pittsburg?

I as sure you will agree with me that these well-known Rabbis and their colleagues believe in democratic processes.

Another question of pride - less than 25 of the Reform Rabble have their names identified with the Council. Why? How would you feel if you were in Herbert's place and your colleagues asked, "How come the Council meets in your Temple?" I recall another incident during Herbert's service overseas. Following one of Berger's appearances, Habbi Berkowitz of Portland, a commander in the navy came to Denver under the auspices of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, to address the Temple membership. He couldn't contain himself and severely criticized the local Council's activities and he, too, was called "Un-American."

I must add that Herbert never asked for use of the Temple for meetings of the 20A. It never not in the Temple during his ministry. This also applies to political organizations.

Herbert must have realized that his opposition to holding the Council meeting in the Temple would result in an unusually large turnout. The next meeting will probably be as small as ever.

I do not think the question of democracy - or, as you put it " "American Philosophy" is involved in this particular instance. Herbert would fight to the last if the Council or any other organization were demied the use of a public meeting place.

You understand, Lev, that no one can take a position on an issue without causing some feeling. After all, Herbert is a leader and not a "me-too man." You wouldn't want him to be otherwise.

You mention a few unfriendly people who say that Herbert will soon require the children to calute the flag of Israel, etc. This sounds to me like a statement made out of desperation or frustration. It seems a little ridiculous to answer. I can say that we never had an Israeli flag in the Temple and the children were not baught to sing the Hatikva." Mhat is more, the flag and the anthem were never brought up for discussion by our Board at any time.

I might add that Herbert and I were surprised when we attended the banquet of the last U.A.H.C. convention in Cleveland to see Rabbi Jonah Wise, chairman and son of Isaac M. Wise, turn to the Israeli flag on the platform and salute it with great reverence and to have his salute to the Israeli flag carried over the radio.

About 25 years ago the parents of confirmands agreed to discontinue home receptions following Confirmation Services. Each year since, the parents get together, several weeks before Confirmation to plan the Temple reception. In the intervening years, to my knowledge, there has not been a private confirmation reception given on the day of the Services. The good results justify the Temple reception.

In the first place, it is almost impossible for mutual friends to get to all the home receptions and it is certainly impossible for the Rabbis and Officers of the Temple. However, there is one reason that overshadows all others. I refer to the fact that the Temple reception places the confirmands, their families and friends on an equal footing regardless of economic or social status.

Each year there are several children in the class who cannot, for financial reasons, have a reception of their own. You can imagine how they would feel after going through the religious and meaningful correspond of Confirmation, to find out that they cannot participate in the same things that their more fortunate classautes enjoy following Confirmation Services. For this reason, many children prior to the first Temple reception, use to drop out because they felt ill-at-case. In the old days, when parents of modest means held a reception, there were wery few guests. Since Temple Confirmation receptions have been in vogue, there has been a good feeling of genuine fellowship and spirituality in the coremony and the Temple social affairs connected with Confirmation.

We are conditioned to the holding of only one joint reception and anything else would seen strange. From your letter, I gather you do not approve of private receptions. I feel that no one should be deliberately hurt, much less a youngster of 16 and for this reason I approve of the Temple reception as a just and thoughtful means to include everyone in the happiness of the day.

I suppose Herbert had these things in mind when he objected to including notations of home receptions in the Tample Rulletin. There is nothing to prevent Herbert Eahn and his family or any others from having a reception the next evening and inviting their friends to attend. They should issue their personal invitations and the Tample should be dissociated from it in any way. On the other hand, I have seen in several other Tample bulleting notations similar to these in your bulletin. This, however, does not make it right.

I am not sure that I have answered your letter satisfactorily. It would have been difficult for no to simply any yes or no to your questions without qualifying my answers.

By all means you should arrange to have a frank talk with Herbert. He will appreciate the opportunity to discuss these matters with you. He may not agree with you and the reverse may also be a result. I feel it is better to lay one's cards on the table regardless of consequences.

Marion joins me in love to you and the family.

Sincerely.

JEWISH CHIEF RAPS ISRAEL AS "INNER CHEPTO"

"Confusing Judaism and Zionism" declared Elmer Berger last night at Temple Emanuel, "is exchanging the physical ghotto of the present."

Dr. Berger, national executive director of the American Council for Judaism, spoke at a meeting sponsored by the council's Denver chapter.

The council, Dr. Berger said, stands for one basic principle - that Judaism is a religion and that its American fellowers are Americans "not a mythical nationalistic group conveniently labeled Jaws."

At the moment its fight is against Zionist organizations which Dr. Berger charged despite their small membership presume to speak for the whole body of "Jews!" in America.

The council was against the formation of an Israeli state especially for and by Jews.

Now that Israel has come into being, they hope it will become a liberal, democratic state rather than the theoretic mation they fear it is becoming - but they emphasize that they have no more interest in its welfare than they have in, say, Italy or Poland. ZIONIST MOVE WANING, SAYS JEWISH LEADER

Denver, Post May 3, 1949 (Tuesday)

An end to thegrowth of the Zionist movement was predicted Tuesday by Dr. Elmer Berger nat onal executive director of the American Cpuncil for Judzism.

Dr. Berger is a spokesman for a group of Jews who stand in opposition to what they call the peligious nationalism of Zionism. They maintain that Judaism is a religiou only, and that nationality of Jews in that of the countries in which they reside.

The appeal for Zionism, Dr. Berger declared has been o on an emotional basis, with special emphasis on the terrible plight of displaced persons." He predicted that a full understanding of the movement freed of such emotional considerations would limit it.

Dr. Berger said his group accepts Israel into the family of nations, but "it is just as foreign to us as to any other Americans." He outlined the policy of the council on the new nation as follows:

"Members axthex of the council accept no rights in and no responsibility to the state of Israel not accepted by other Americans of any other faith."

His hope and the hope of other Jews participating in the same program is that there can be a genuine integration among Jews and Christians, recognizing but emphasizing the community of interests ad Americans.

The "separatism" which they say is exemplified by the Zionist movement the council condemns.

Dr. Berger was in Denver to speak before thelocal council in Temple Emmanuel Monday night.

Dear Sam:

Thanks very much for your detailed letter of June 26th. I am sorry to hear that you had been ill, but I am glad to know you have recovered and are back at the office again. These virus attacks can be very annoying, as I know.

I appreciate a lot your comments about Herb. Friedman, and I am sure they help me to understand and get to know him better, which I am very anxious to do. I had a date to play golf with him today, but he had to call it off because of a funeral coming up in the meantime, but before the summer is over I am sure I will have at least one game with him. He tells me he is not a good golfer, and I am not either, but we can have a good time. I am sure he is entitled to some relief from his round of serious work.

I can well understand his and your objections to the Council. In fact, I resigned from that organization myself because I did not like the tone of their literature. I agree disague with your conclusion that they are not an educational organization. They, of course, claim to be, although I agree with you that their method of educating is unfortunate, to say the least.

It is interesting to me to learn that less than 2% of Reform Rabbis are identified with the Council, and that it is not permitted to meet in some of the other Temple buildings which you named. I have never felt, however, that permitting an organization to meet in our community house means that we endorse all of the things they stand for and do. For example, we have permitted some branches of the Zionist organization to meet in the Temple. Although I doubt very much that I for one would be willing to endorse all the political actions the Zionists take. For example, as I stated in my previous letter, the World Zionist Congress passed a resolution demanding that its members accept without question any political action taken by Israel. To me, this is terribly wrong. I have the impression from a recent article in the Public Press that at a Zionist meeting recently held in New York at which Rabbi Miller was elected President, a resolution was adopted to the effect that Zionists have no proper part in the politics of Israel. This, of course, is proper. On the other hand, contrary to this resolution, as I understand it, another resolution was adopted urging the general Zionist organization to support one or another party in Israel, which one I have forgotten. To me, that resolution is inconsistent with the first one. If we are not to participate in Israel politics, why the hell should be urge a member organization to support or pell any particular Israel party? That kind of reasoning is beyond me.

I am glad to learn that there has never been any discussion in the Temple about the Israel Flag or anthem. As I see it, these political symbols have no part in our religious service and cannot be compared with the display of the American Flag at the pulpit, since there can be no question of the loyalty of all American Jews to our own country.

When the opportunity presents itself, I intend to discuss these matters frankly with Herbert, as you suggest.

Our son Jim is home on an extended furlough. He is scheduled to leave on July 13th for California, from where he is to be sent to Korea. Naturally, we don't feel too good about this, but there is nothing anyone can do about it.

Edith keeps herself very busy with her normal activities, in addition to which I am trying to get her to be a little more active along golfing lines. When she was a girl she was a bum golfer, not as good as her mother or sister Clarine. As a result she more or less gave up the game. About three years ago, at my continued urging, she began to play a little bit again and took a few lessons. For a beginner she really does pretty well, although not as well as she would like, with the result that contrary to her nature she has a terrific inferiority complex about golf and she is having a hard time overcoming it. She goes out to play or take lessons only when I more or less drive her to it, but when she does go out and gets a decent shot here and there she gets a big kick out of it. She is out this morning taking a lesson.

After Jimmie leaves we plan to go out late in the afternoon and play nine holes together. This is about the limit of the amount of golf I play these days anyhow. atthe low if four v low t

dictore May 14, 1952 signed may 16

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rose 3328 East 13th Avenue Denver, Colorado

Dear Sam and Marion:

This is a quiet Tuesday evening, a refreshing pause in the midst of what has been a very hectic period up to now. I've taken home my dictating machine and am relaxing on the couch, while I pour out to you somewhat of an account of what has transpired here since the big coronation week-end. I have owed you this letter for some time and it has been on my conscience to write it, but the simple explanation is that I have had thirteen funerals since you were here. Sam will really relish this. He will recall how I used to gripe and grumble whenever he told me that some codger had been unkind enough to die. He used to approach me so timidly, sort of begging me to take a funeral. I lock back now at those halcyon days, when we never had more than one or two a month. For a while here, I was really glassy-eyed. I had four in one week, with two on Friday. Imagine starting the week-end with two funerals under the belt! At any rate, this is partially the reason for my not having had a long full evening to write this kind of letter.

For about two weeks now I had my eye on tonight, and sure enough we have reached it intact. I have resisted all blandishments, both social and professional, in order to have the evening free. I drove out to Waukesha this morning to lecture for the Chautauqua Society at Carroll College, a small Presbyterian school. The reception was excellent and I came home this afternoon in a good mood. The Confirmation class rehearsal went fairly well; a little job of personal counselling I am doing with one of the sixteen year old girls also proceeded satisfactorily; and tonight I am home in a scene of lovely domestic bliss. Elaine is sitting across the room reading the New York Times of two months ago (it takes her awhile to catch up with her current reading material, as you will recall) - and I am sitting here trying to speak as softly as possible, in order not to disturb Her Majesty.

I have made a long list of items I want to cover and hope that you have the stamina to read a long letter. Maybe you'd better save it for next Sunday morning and read it over your breakfast steak. I would give anything to be sitting up there in your little eagle's nest on 13th Avenue, eating that steak with you, and ripping certain people up and down the back. Instead I will just imagine you, propping this missive up against your beautifully polished silverware and spending the day doing nothing more important. First of all, as far as attendance at Services is concerned, it has held up remarkably well. Last Friday night was the smallest crowd to date, and we had about six hundred fifty people, in spite of what my wife says. I can't begin to describe to you how enthusiastic people are in their comments about the Services. Everything I seem to do meets with their approval. They say they have never been so stimulated by the reading of the Torah. They seem to think that the sermons are good. They even make kind comments about the manner in which I read the Ritual. I always keep in mind Sam's comments about not losing one's balance and not believing everything that people say, but I can't help reporting that the reactions all seem to be extremely enthusiastic.

Of course, the whole thing is quite a production. The altar is full of people. They always have two Trustees sitting on the pulpit, who open and close the doors for taking out the Torah and at the time of the Adoration. In addition there are two other people who are selected to say the blessings before and after the reading of the Torah. That makes four men, in addition to myself, the woman who lights the candles, and the member of the Congregation who has been singing the Kiddush. In other words, seven of us walk out on the pulpit and fill all the ivory benches. It sort of looks like the august Roman Senate coming into session. At first, I objected to all this folderol, but I now begin to see its value. It sort of weights the pulpit with an impressive array of people. We have had one or two baby naming ceremonies on Friday night, and these have met with a generally favorable response. All in all, the Service lasts about an hour and fifteen minutes and for most of these past Friday nights to date, we have been undergoing the ordeal of a reception with coffee and cake, downstairs. This has really been difficult, because we have shaken innumerable thousands of hands. We have reached the end of that, now, and won't have to face it again until the fall.

The Saturday morning service stinks. The kids in the Confirmation Class attend, plus about forty to fifty adults. Compared with the night before it seems awfully empty and hollow.

A couple of weeks after I got here, I complained that the inside of the Ark was as dull as an old shoe. We have installed very brilliant lights in the ceiling of the Ark and they now throw a beautiful glitter on the silver Torah ornaments. I also complained about the fact that the Torahs were not properly decorated, and we have now embarked on an ambitious project to find $1250 with which to buy new breast plates and crowns. When I was in New York a couple of weeks ago, I made contact with an artist by the name of Ilya Schor. He did the wood cuts for books published during the past year by Abraham Heschel. Take a look at those wood cuts, which are found both in "The Sabbath" and "The Earth is the Lord's". We have both those books in the library and if you take a look at the wood cuts you will see an artist of unusual ability. He is extremely expensive, but the things he does are absolutely unique. He makes one of a kind. He is charging me $250.00 apiece for breast plates and $750.00 for a crown. I already have the money for the breast plates and $750.00 for a a family which wants to donate the crown. So when that process is done, and when I get new Torah mantles (for which I also have $250.00 from another family). the interior of the Ark will really be quite glorious. It does make a tremendous difference. You recall that I have always felt that the Ark should be the major center of attention and the natural focus in the room. It should be as splendid as it can possibly be made, and I am happy to report that when this project is completed, I think the Ark and the Torahs will be second to none. There is still one thing left to do, and that is to put some kind of electric motor on those heavy bronze doors. A guy can get a killah just trying to open those doors. That's what we use the two Trustees for, and I don't mind if they are expendable in the process (the Trustees, not the doors).

My study is now practically completed. I have a beautiful modern studio couch, with some good modern lamps, a couple of nice club chairs, and various other items. The picture which you gave me hangs exquisitely on one wall, all by itself. You recall that room is rather small, but it has turned out quite satisfactorily. I feel happy and comfortable in it, particularly with its own private john. If you don't think I am living in the lap of luxury, I simply want you to know that in the john, I now have a built in little book-case. There I keep my reading matter, a blanket and some pillows in order to take a little Shabbas nap on Tuesday afternoons, and various other comfortcreating items. Just leave it to me, and I'll figure out someday how to put a shower in there too.

Elaine has interrupted my important recital by shrieking aloud (she is reading last week's issue of the Jewish News) "My God, Robert Morris is chairman of the School Survey Committee". She added the succulent comment that she is glad she's not there under such circumstances. Now let's get back to important things.

After watching the Religious School in operation for a few weeks, I made the recommendation that the entire School be switched upside down from its present functioning, and that the older kids come on Saturday and the younger kids come on Sunday, as we had in Denver. I expected howls of protest, and actually there were not too many. discussed the matter with the staff of the Sunday School, then called a general meeting of all the parents to ask their approval for the change. I had the usual problems with some of the people who made the usual objections. Milwaukee is no different from Denver, and there are people here who spout the same line. They didn't want their kids to come on Saturday, because that was the only day they could play with their Christian neighbors. They didn't want their kids to come on Saturday, because they didn't want them to be different from the others. They didn't want their kids to come on Saturday because they would prefer to have religious services on Sunday anyway, and what's all this stuff about the Shabbas? It was an interesting meeting, and one in which I think I held my own. You know the kind of meeting I mean where there are a couple of hundred people in the hall and they all fling questions at me, and I am shifting and weaving back and forth on my toes, trying to answer everybody, without being offensive or arbitrary. Luckily, I got off a couple of good cracks, and the meeting went overwhelmingly in favor of our proposal. Next week I am going to discuss the matter with the kids themselves, and expect to win their support in the same manner.

Actually, of course, this is quite a revolutionary change. I hardly gave them a chance to recover from it, when I hit them again with the business of the Cantor. As you recall, they had voted to have a Cantor, but I discovered that some of the people on the Board were wishing fondly that we wouldn't quite get around to hiring one in such a hurry, and then perhaps at the Annual Meeting the matter would be reversed and the Congregation would issue a mandate for no Cantor. I had to scotch that one in a hurry, and so at the very first Board meeting which I attended (just a week ago, on the first Wednesday of May) I had the matter brought up and got a clear cut set of instructions to go ahead with the hiring of a man. That was the reason I flew to New York, and while there interviewed several of the graduates of the Hebrew Union School of Sacred Music. "ithin the past two weeks we have brought men out for auditions. Neither one of the boys we have had is particularly outstanding in any way, and we are plagued with the problem of what to do. We can either hire one of these two graduates at a salary of $6500.00 or take an older more experience man (who has been the Cantor at a Conservative synagogue in Newark, New Jersey for ten years) at $8500.00. These kids are fairly adequate, and I know all the arguments in favor of supporting the Hebrew Union School, but I'm attracted by the idea of getting a talented person with a trained voice and ten years of experience, at a figure only slightly more than the new graduates are asking. have a kind of reckless disdain about money, and Sam will recall the cavalier fashion in which I say that another couple of thousand isn't going to make or break the budget. I am meeting with the music committee Friday morning, and I think will prevail upon them to bring the older man out, before making any decision on the two we have already heard. If they bring this fellow, whose name is Cantor Edgar Mills, I am certain they will not be satisfied with the other two boys. Whichever way it turns, we will have a Cantor, and will engage him as of July 1st or August 1st, in order that he might begin to prepare for the Holidays in the fall. So that matter too is settled. Incidentally, I can't describe to you the additional warmth brought into the Service by the presence of this man on the pulpit. He wears a robe and an Atoro, so you have a second religious functionary up there. He doesn't chant with the stereotyped notion of the wailing moaning kind of music, but really sings with melody and style. It is a thrilling addition to the Service. I really think that in spite of the fact that Marion, for instance, has never heard a Cantor in a Service in a Reform Temple, that she would go for this.

Talking about the budget, I had quite an interesting experience in that regard. The chairman of the Sunday School Committee came to me and said that he wanted to know what the Sunday School Budget would be for the coming year because he had been asked by the chairman of the Budget Committee to submit his estimate, in order that the total budget might be prepared. I sat down with Dr. Herman Weil, the chairman of the Department of Education of Wisconsin State College, who is also the head of my Sunday School, and we figured out that the school budget would be approximately $25,000.00 for next year, including Weil's salary. So I submitted that figure. The chairman of the School Committee presented it to the chairman of the Budget Committee, and nobody blinked an eye. Then the Music Committee came to me and asked me what the music would cost for the coming year and I worked the thing out and it comes to roughly $12,000.00. Again nobody blinked an eye. At this final hearing of the Budget Committee when I suggested that they include another $1,000.00, in order to take care of any possible extra music over the summer, they simply wrote the thing in without any more ado. I am slightly groggy by this time and almost can't believe my eyes. Then the chairman of the Budget Committee asks me if there are any small incidentals which have been overlooked in the course of attempting to establish the figures for the bigger items. I reply, quite naively, that there ought to be something there for the purchase of books and publications, and he responds with the query -"Will a couple of hundred dollars be enough?" When it came to the matter of attendance at conferences and conventions, he thought they ought to include an item of $1,000.00 and I had to beg him to cut it down because it was unrealistic. Finally they settled at $850.00, to attend both the CCAR and the UAHC meetings. Everytime I brought anything up, they simply wanted to know what the figure was and they put it down. Gradually I began to understand the reason for this affluence. They have just completed a large dues revision program, which I think Ben told you about, and they estimate that the income for 1952-53 will be somewhere in the vicinity of $130,000.00. They have to make the expense side of the ledger look fairly close to that in order to justify the raises. So they are attempting to pad every item, within some legitimate limits, in order to strike the thing off into some balance.

My wife is still reading the Jewish News and is platzing. She has just read the notice of the Sisterhood meeting for May, and is gagging over all the names. She hopes that Bess Miller has a wonderful term as President, and she is delighted to see that Mrs. Robert Eichberg is now the official public relations person who is announcing the great programs to the press. My wife thinks that the Jewish content of the program is amazingly high. She can't imagine anything more Jewish than Alex Murphree. I am trying to convince her that old Alex is a good newspaperman and a delightful raconteur. But apparently the little lady is still unimpressed. Again let's get back to serious business. And pretty soon I'm going to tear that damn sheet out of her hands, because it keeps providing her with a series of chuckles and snorts.

The Allied campaign in this town also stinks. There are approximately twice as many Jews here as there are in Denver, and they raise a total amount of money just about the same as we did in Denver last year. It's almost impossible to believe that the biggest single gift in town is $15,000.00. They just have never raised their sights and the general conservative atmosphere which prevails in this highly German and Polish town has even affected the usual liberality of the Jews. They are all tight as hell around here. I have been throwing some comments around in order to shock them into an awareness of the comparative status of their town, and they have been taking these remarks rather gracefully, as a matter of fact. The campaign here is not run with the same degree of professional know-how as exists in Denver. I wouldn't want you to repeat this comment or show it to anyone, but keep it strictly to yourself. The reason is that Elkan Voorsanger, the Executive Director of the Fund, is an ex-Rabbi and has tried to be a very good friend of mine. He has been helpful in many instances and really has thrown his complete support behind me within the Temple. But I can't help feeling that Nat Rosenberg runs a much better campaign, from the professional point of view. Also there is much better lay support than I find here. I addressed the big gifts meeting out at the country club a couple of weeks ago, and was shocked and disappointed at the so-called big gifts results. People around here were not shocked at all. They were disappointed that so few club members came out to a club function, but they weren't disturbed about the total number of dollars pledged. As a matter of fact, they thought it was pretty good. I thought it was horrible. So I have a lot of work to do in order to try, from every angle, to impress the leading people with the fact that their Allied campaign is about three years behind comparable cities in the country.

Talking about the club, it is called Brynwood Country Club, and really is in possession of an exquisitely modern club house and facilities. The other day we received a letter inviting us to use these facilities. It was a nice thing to do, and I am told that they have never done it before in this community. One of the reasons is that they have never had a Rabbi here before who played golf. It seems to be quite a novelty among these guys to be able to invite their Rabbi to play with them. So far we have refused invitations, simply because I simply haven't had time to get out. I have managed with some degree of regularity to take all or part or Thursday as my day off. Last Thursday I went out to play with Elaine on a public course, in order that she might get back in the swing of the game. The girls are all begging her to go to the club with them, and she didn't want to do so until she had gotten the feel of the clubs in her hand once more.

From the other end of the room, the squark box is reporting that she has never been so impressed by anything as by the Liebman - like quality of the sermon "Tomorrow will be better". The thinks it shows marked signs of genius.

The housing situation continues to occupy some portion of our attention every day. We look in the ads for things to buy. There is really nothing whatsoever comparable to what we had. We also continue to investigate the possibilities of finding a piece of ground and building. Land is very expensive here. It is much more expensive than comparable lots in Denver. In the nice residential section, you must buy a full acre, according to land restrictions, and this costs an average of $10,000.00. "e continue to scour around to find a lot large enough to accomodate our house, and so far have found nothing under $7500.00. So we have bought nothing as yet. We also have an estimate from an architect who looked at the plans and determined the number of square feet in the house, and came up with the figure of $44,000.00. Next Monday we are meeting with a big construction man in the Congregation who agreed to put the thing up strictly at cost. We are having a conference at his home, and he is bringing along his chief architect. That night should produce some sort of an estimate on a cost basis. If he says it will cost $35,000.00 to $38,000.00 to build the house, we might go ahead and do so if we can find an appropriate lot.

I have been saving the best for last. This choice item has to do with the American Council for Judaism. They recently requested the use of the building for a meeting in June. The chairman of the House Committee gave them verbal permission, for which he had ample precedent, because they had been granted the use of the building previously two or three times over the past years. When I heard this, I blew my top. I demanded a meeting of the House Committee, and they reversed the ruling of the chairman. Do you recall what happened in Denver when we had an identical situation? Then I went one step further and asked for a special meeting of the whole Board which was held last night. It was a terrific session. They knew perfectly well what was at stake. I was supported by a vote of 15 to 5. It was absolutely overwhelming. The American Council for Judaism was denied the use of the building and that settled that for all time to come. I think it's terrific. I don't want to bore you with all the details of the story, but you can reconstruct them for yourselves. It would have been exactly similar to one of our Board meetings in Denver, except for the fact that instead of hearing person after person make mealy-mouthed excuses to rationalize granting the request, you heard person after person stand up in vigorous and strong tones denouncing the organization and everything they stood for. Furthermore, man after man got up and said that if this is what the Rabbi wanted, this is what he should have. It was really a thrill.

And so this leads me to the last few words of subjective personal impression. While there are many things about Denver which are infinitely superior to Milwaukee, and while there is no comparison in terms of our personal living standard, I am absolutely convinced that we made the right move. Ben Saltzstein has been magnificent. He supports me in everything I want. He gives me encouragement and sees eye to eye with me on all matters of Jewish life, both within the Temple, within the community at large, and nationally. In addition to giving me this precious moral support, he also gives me a year's membership in the local schwitz. Stretched out on two massage tables, he and I discuss the state of affairs of Judaism. By every standard important to me, this move turns out to have been unutterably correct. Your instinct in the matter was right, as always. I have never seen you to fail. You were able to project your mind into the future and to visualize how it would turn out. You were so right. While I keep saying to myself that all of this is probably only because we are now in the honeymoon period, still to be able to accomplish in such a short time all the gains for which I was willing to fight, represents great satisfaction. Perhaps a period of disillusionment will set in some day. I am not naive enough to assume that things will continue on this basis for ever. Yet the harvest is being reaped in full and abundant measure. As long as that continues, I will feel that my work is worth while. And even when the honeymoon ends, I will be able to coast on the momentum of what gains have been made for many years to come.

We miss you more than we can say. Hardly a day goes by when we don't mention you or Marion in some connection or other. There is something in the prayer book which talks about the pain of separation being hard to bear, and that is so very true. If you were only here to share in all this, or if there had only been something in Denver in which we could have shared, life would really have been full. But since it wasn't given to us to have things turn out that way, then we take the next best method and think about you and talk about you. Reading the article about the manner in which the annual meeting voted to purchase the ground for the new school building brought to mind the way in which you always operate to achieve your objectives. This new project should keep you busy and happy for some time to come. It will really be exciting to watch this thing grow under your hands. You should get a tremendous kick out of it.

I will be in Denver three weeks from Saturday. I will be able to spend until Monday, midnight. Don't let anyone know I am coming in Saturday night and we will spend the evening together. I plan to take a plane from here at 11:00 o'clock Saturday morning which will put me in Denver the middle of Saturday afternoon. We will then have all the rest of the day and the evening together. Confirmation is Sunday morning, and we also ought to be able to have some time together Sunday afternoon. But I'm really banking on Saturday for us to be alone. Sunday and Monday will get crowded, and that will be the end of that. From Denver I will go to the CCAR meeting in Buffalo, returning to Milwaukee by June 15th. Then we plan to be here from June 15th until approximately July 15th. Do you think it might be feasible for you to pay us a visit anytime during that month? The weather here is really quite lovely now and I don't think you ought to have any fear on that score. We could have a pleasant time together if you could see your way clear to making the trip. At any rate, we can talk about that when I come. If you have a chance to answer this letter between now and the next three weeks, we would like particularly to know how Joel is doing and how things are going at the Temple. Is there really a big peace movement? Is harmony being established? I heard in a letter from somebody that Lester Friedman is the one who made the big speech approving the purchase of the ground. I also heard that the Town Club is singing the praises of our boy to the skies. If true, perhaps all of this augurs well for the ushering in of a new period in the Temple life. This is the thing in which we are really interested and if you could make any salient comments, we would appreciate them.

My wife now feels that I have burdened you enough, and I feel more content that I've brought you up to date. Please have all our love, including nice moist kisses from Danny and Judy who still speak of you.

As ever,

Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman

Dear Member:

You will find herein a statement of the estimated receipts and disbursements for the coming fiscal year of our Congregation.

If you will examine such statement you will note that there has been a large increase in the expense of operation of our Congregation. This is, of course, what would normally be expected in times like these. Expenses of operation of every institution have increased tremendously and ours is no exception.

A mere reading of the statement will indicate to you just where the increases occur, but to point out a few, you will notice that our general operations, expenses of the office clerical help, religious school activities and music have radically increased. You will also notice that there is an increase of our contribution to the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, which is due not only to the increased cost of operation of the Union, but also to the fact that our Congregation has never taken its proper position with respect to its contribution. This has made it necessary from time to time to ask for voluntary assessments on the part of members. This, of course, will now be eliminated and there will be no more voluntary assessments. You can readily see that because of the increased cost of operations it has become necessary to increase the dues of the members in order to meet our obligations.

I feel that you fully realize the necessity for these increased costs and also realize that the Board of Trustees, your administrative body, is trying to do the best job it can in light of all the circumstances, and that you will cooperate to the end that we shall build a fine religious institution, of which Milwaukee Jewry can be justly proud.

Very truly yours,

President

June 19th, 1952.

Dear Herbert: RICAN JEWISH

Just a note to express my heartfelt thanks for being with me on the happy occasion of the dedication of our new Temple building. All agree that the service was besutiful and meaningful and the personal touch that you lent meant very much to Marjorie and me.

The Saturday night ball and the Sunday evening banquet were equally successful and now in the wake of an eventful week-end I am taking a few deep and necessary breaths of relief.

I was glad too that we had a chance to discuss Denver albeit briefly. It served to confirm an impression and helped set my thinking straight. I have a lurking suspicion, altogether intuitive that one day things may work out there.

Marjorie joins me in wishing you, Elaine and the children a healthful and happy summer.

As ever,

Dear Everybody:

This is a round robin letter to the Roses, Gottesfelds, Frankels, Jacobsons and Kays. It's the first chance I've had to write since getting back from Confirmation at Denver. We are now at Woodmont and I am dictating this letter from here. I brought my machine with me and am sitting like a baronial lord on the porch at Elaine's folks' house by the shore. I'm sending all the dictated stuff to Milwaukee and it is being mailed from there.

From Denver, after the Confirmation week-end, Elaine and I flew home. She disembarked at Milwaukee and I continued on the same plane to the Rabbinical Conference at Buffalo. It was sort of interesting, with the usual number of arguments and controversies. All of it amounts to an annual trade meeting, where guys talk about getting jobs, current rates of salary, rabbinical gossip and the general shmoos that goes on at a convention. One night a very complicated series of papers was being given on the anthropological approach to the Jewish community and it was just too hot for me to sit still. So I went out to the races and lost fourteen bucks on the trotters. My company was the esteemed rabbi from Baltimore and the esteemed reporter from the New York Times. The latter was in possession of all the scratch sheets, inside dope, hot tips, etc., which accounts for the fact that we lost only $14.00 apiece. Had he been less expert we would have been cleaned out.

From Buffalo I drove up to Hamilton, Ontario the Friday night of the Conference week, together with Rabbi Eisendrath, to participate in the dedication of Bernard Baskin's new Temple. It is a modern building, handsomely set off opposite the entrance to a park, and I think is a lot of building for the money. They spent approximately a quarter of a million on it. Bernard's father and mother were there and it was quite a show. Canadian Jews adopt some of the formality of the Empire, so there was an abundance of striped pants and high silk hats. There was even one bowler.

When I got back to Milwaukee, I plunged into a whole routine of administrative problems which I had never had time to solve previously. There was the question of adjusting personnel in the office, assigning office space, overhauling the whole mailing and mimeographing department, etc., etc., ad nauseam. One big matter we settled shortly was the hiring of a Cantor. The Music Committee went through its usual agonizing searching and reached its conclusion. We hired a young graduate with a degree from the Hebrew Union School of Sacred Music whose name is Sol Altschuller. He is 34, and fat and has a lovely tenor voice. He is extremely cooperative and the whole musical program of the Temple is going to get an enormous shot in the arm. He will enhance the celebration of the Holidays, tach music to the kids in the school, teach congregational singing and responses to the adults, teach the Bar Mitzvah kids, arrange special music festivals periodically during the year, help with simple programs for the Brotherhood and Sisterhood, etc. All this in addition to singing the regularly established services. I really think that we are going to have a stimulating experience through his presence. I heartily recommend to any congregation the addition of a Cantor to their staff. There are, of course, antediluvian congregations who somehow still think that a Cantor is a reversion to orthodoxy. What can be done to change the fossilized thinking of such congregations I don't presume to know. But the stone walls are all weakening. The Rabbi at Richmond, Virginia, Ariel Goldburg, told me that they are more delighted with their Cantor than they can possibly express. Ho hum - times do change in most places.

As far as Friday night services are concerned, the attendance dropped off to about 300 during the summer. I had four more services after returning from Buffalo before coming away on this vacation. One of those four Fridays it was 92 that day. These facts still seem to make no appreciable difference and we had our same 300 that Friday night. I'm frank to confess I no longer understand it. It's getting to be monotonous.

We got an opportunity to do a little traveling around the state to see some of the lake cottages which people own. Apparently there are two schools of thought. One group attempts to go far up into the north Wisconsin country several hundred miles from Milwaukee, in order to achieve a respectable distance from friends and relatives. Another group prefers the network of lakes which is to be found within 25 miles of Milwaukee. Among this latter category are professional people who buy private little lakes or private homes with 500 feet of lake front. It is a fascinating way to live because there is a lovely beauty in the sight of all the sailboats criss-crossing the lakes, the motor boats putting around, and the shaded lawns sloping down to the lake front. There is nothing like the mountains, of course, but it has its own kind of beauty.

We are going ahead with the plans to build the house at 740 Pontiac. I have secured the release of the plans from Dick Hornbien and have shown the plans and specifications to the contractor in the congregation who has agreed to build the house at cost. The cost figure, without any profit involved, is still considerably more than what we originally paid for the house several years ago. Such is the price of inflation. But at least Elaine will have what she likes and we will probably complete the negotiations before the summer is over, so that the house will be built during this coming fall and spring.

We have been here at Woodmont about a week now and we had some trouble getting the kids adjusted to the new environment. We had a certain amount of resistance with regard to sleeping, eating, and all other functions. I suppose they are paying us back in their own way, for our having run away from them last summer. This house is probably associated in their minds with a desertion on our part. They possibly suspect that we will be leaving them again. I hope that in a week or so when they see that we really intend to stay here, that they will settle down. We plan to remain until about the middle of August. I want to get back in order to begin preparations for the Holidays.

The old yen to travel is still boring from within, and I am already making plans to take a group of Milwaukee people to Israel and North Africa next winter, just before the spring campaign opens. I have tentatively selected the month of February and am beginning to work on the four or five fellows I would like to go along with me. Elaine says that I should quit this business of speculating and day dreaming, but that's part of the fun of life for me. So if it's at all humanly possible, yours truly will be taking another guided tour within six or seven months.

That's about all there is at the moment. You are now up to date in our peregrinations and activities. We would love to hear from you. The address in Woodmont is 40 Beach Avenue, Woodmont, Connecticut. If you can summon up the energy, we'd love to hear what's happening in Denver.

All the best,

Hert
