These include: Avraham Harman, Israel's Ambassador to the United States; Leon Uris, author of the year's best-selling novel, "Exodus." ## Baron Hirsch To Observe Jewish Book Month

Jewish Book Month will be observed by the Baron Hirsch Congregation at its Friday Evening Religious Forum, December 4th, at 8 p.m.

Rabbi Isadore Goodman will review "This Is My God," by Herman Wouk, currently holding a prominent position on "best-seller" lists. Mr. Wouk, a Pulitzer prize winner, expressed his personal faith and religious attitudes in his latest book. In presenting his modern approach to the traditions of orthodoxy, the author writes with clarity, drive, and ironic humor, linking Torah and Talmud to the problems and dilemmas of his own time.

A social period in the Congregation Auditorium will follow the Forum, and refreshments will be served. At this time there will also be an opportunity for open discussion of the book and Rabbi Goodman's evaluation of it.

Shelly Rosengarten, son of Mr. Jerome Rosengarten and Mrs. Louis Levitch, whose Bar Mitzvah will be observed in the Synagogue on Saturday morning, December 5th, will also take part in the Friday Evening Religious Forum.

Jack A. Belz, General Chairman, the dinner will serve to climax the 1959 Israel Bond Campaign. Indications are that this year's dinner and Bond Campaign will be the finest ever conducted in the city of Memphis since the inception of Bonds in 1951.

Mr. Belz, in calling upon the community to attend this tribute dinner, stated, "we are indeed fortunate in having with us so distinguished a person as Dr. Silver. Dr. Silver has remained in the forefront as a spokesman for American Jewry and for the people of Israel. Dr. Silver's recognition of the varied and many problems that con-

"The Bell Tavern," Famous Landmark Restored In Claridge Hotel

Last month a famous historical spot was restored when the Claridge Hotel opened the new "Bell Tavern." It is reminiscent of the city's colorful past. Open only a few short weeks, this new and different type restaurant is being widely acclaimed by Memphians and visitors alike, according to Scott J. Stewart, Managing Director of the Hotel.

The Bell Tavern is a replica of the famous Old Bell Tavern originally built in 1819 and became famous, numbering among its patrons such persons as Andrew Jackson, Sam Houston, father of the republic of Texas and Davy Crockett.

It was the original Bell Tavern that General Andrew Jackson, James Winchester, first mayor of Memphis and Judge John Overton, great grand father of ex-mayor Watkins Overton laid out the first plans for the city of Memphis.

Gen. Lafayette was another noted visitor in this famous place.

The name came from a fifty pound bell hanging in front of the building which had as a foundation cedar logs. The hand hewn rafters with the open fireplace where good solid frontier type cuisine and charcoal broiled steaks and chops were prepared in view of the guests, was duplicated.

"Although the tavern was a lively drag'em out bar in old times and we want to create as much as the original atmosphere, the Bell Tavern will be a first class food establishment," Stewart said.

Sally Meagher, buxom daughter of the owner, Paddy Meagher, was quite famous in her own right in social circles and all public events during that era.

Hy Beski Scores 618 In B. B. Bowling

The bowling pins were being scattered all over the alley in the Sunday morning B'nai B'rith bowling league as 3 men topped the 600 mark.

Hy Beski led the parade with games of 228 and 220 to bring this total up to 618 for Ben Levitch Market. Backed up with scores of 175-500 by Ben Levitch and 180-516 by Abe Katz, his team swamped H. Dlugach & Co. who had Sam Angel battling with his score of 209-526.

The battle of strikes was enacted by Sam Fortas Furniture Co. led by Lolly Kashdan, who ascended the heights with his 267-605, they set a new scoring for the league and possibly the city of Memphis with a middle game total of 1012 for 4 men. Oscar Burson turned in 212-535 and Milton Baruchman finished with 203-532. Max Applebaum battled for Mogen David Wines against this formidable bowling with an outstanding 608 backed with games of 214 and 203.

Allen Tag arose from this lethargy to lead the scores for Whiteway Pharmacy with 215-516 and Milton Paillett topped the counts for Her-

Dump Arab-Grown Oranges Under False "Israel Produce" Label

LONDON (WNS) Disclosure that many fruit dealers in Britain were selling oranges from the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip under "Israeli produce" labels was made here this week when representatives of the Israel Citrus Marketing Board filed a vigorous protest against the practice with British authorities and major fruit wholesalers.

The protest was especially directed to the port authorities for permitting unloading of a cargo that misrepresented the origin of the product. The Israel Citrus Marketing Board is weighing a legal move to halt the dumping of Arab-grown oranges under spurious labels.

Attend The Israel Bond Dinner

Memphians will have the rare privilege of hearing one of American Jewry's greatest leaders when Dr. Abba Hillel Silver addresses the Israel Bond Dinner at Baron Hirsch on Dec. 9th. Dr. Silver will be guest of honor and deliver the keynote address. The dinner commemorating Israel's eleventh year of independence will usher in a new era of economic consolidation. He is a past president of the Zionist Organization of America and former chairman of the American Section of the Jewish Agency for Palestine. As chairman of the Zionist Emergency Council he was in the forefront of every major American Zionist effort in the United Nations which played such a vital part in the founding of Israel.

A past president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, Dr. Silver holds honorary degrees from Western Reserve University and the Hebrew Union College. He has been spiritual leader of The Temple, in Cleveland for the past forty years.

The dinner will be the climax of the 1959 Fall Campaign for Israel Bonds. The sponsoring committee of over fifty prominent Memphians, headed by Jack A. Belz, has done a tremendous job. 75 per cent of this year's quota has already been sold. We hope that Mr. Belz will be able to announce at the dinner that our goal of $250,000 has been surpassed.

Attend the dinner if you have already bought bonds. Attend the dinner if you plan to buy bonds. But attend the dinner . . . even if you are not a bond buyer. The purchase of a bond is not a pre-requisite for attendance. Only a nominal charge is made for the dinner itself.

Let's fill the Baron Hirsch with a capacity audience. Let us pay tribute to one of our greatest leaders. We promise you that it will be a memorable evening.

Reservations are pouring into the Bond Office every day. The committee suggests that anyone desiring to make a reservation do so immediately by calling JA 5-5384. A telephone committee will work night and day to take care of last minute reservations.

"Jake" Iskiwitz

J. B. Iskiwitz, affectionately known as "Jake," died suddenly Saturday morning. It was a shock to the community of Memphis . . . it was a greater shock to those of us who had the privilege of working intimately with him for the past quarter of a century.

He was a philanthropist in the true meaning of the word. His generosity to every worthy cause was known by all. He gave regardless of race, color or creed.

Jake served the Baron Hirsch Congregation, the B'nai B'rith the Israel Bond Organization, the Farband, the United Jewish Appeal, the Jewish National Fund, and the Histadruth.

A life member of the Zionist Organization of America, he served the Memphis District with zeal and devotion for more than a quarter of a century.

One of his greatest loves was Israel. He had planned to take his dear wife there in the spring to visit the state that he helped create. It was to be the realization of his dream. However, fate decreed otherwise.

The Memphis Zionist District, in recognition of his dedicated work on behalf of Zionism, will plant 1,000 trees in his memory. We believe no greater tribute could be paid to Jake than to be perpetually remembered in the "Freedom Forest" near Jerusalem.

We know that his host of friends will want to join the Zionists in this worthwhile endeavor. Contributions in any denomination will be accepted and will be acknowledged thru the columns of this paper. Checks should be made payable to the Jewish National Fund and mailed to P. O. Box 1812.

FOODS to Remember

by LEAN LEONARD

Now is the time to "express yourself" in the realm of culinary art by baking some of the yeast dough goodies your family and friends will enjoy when they drop in for tea and talk some afternoon. Remember that it is a simple matter to mix up a bowl of yeast dough, let it rise at room temperature, then pound, roll and shape it in various forms suited to your needs and artistic ability.

Below are a few suggestions you'll want to follow out when you get the "urge" to bake one of these cold December days.

The Basic Quick-Action Dough lends itself to anything from a Fruit-filled Ring to little Fruit Filled Tarts.

Basic Quick-Action Yeast Dough

- 2/3 cup scalded milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 6 to 8 tablespoons melted shortening or oil.
- Combine by stirring and let cool to lukewarm while mixing together.
- 2/3 cup lukewarm water
- 3 tablespoons sugar

3 packages yeast (or cakes compressed yeast)

Let the yeast mixture, which has been activated by the sugar, stand about 5 minutes before combining with the lukewarm milk mixture stirring well. Use a fairly large mixing bowl for this. Beat and add 3 eggs, and about 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, stirring and beating the mixture till smooth, then add gradually another 3 cups of all-purpose flour until the dough forms a ball.

Turn out on a lightly floured kneading board or cloth and use both hands for kneading and punching down till it is compact and elastic. Grease the inside of a bowl, place the ball of dough inside, brush top lightly with melted shortening or oil. Cover with a doubled kitchen towel and let stand at room temperature till doubled in bulk, approximately 1 hour. When ready to bake, divide the dough and form as directed below.

Fruit-Filled Tea Ring

Divide the risen ball of dough into two equal halves. Use for 2 Rings or 1 Ring and 12 to 14 Cinnamon Twists, or Tarts.

Roll out dough into an oblong, 1/4 inch thick, about 12 x 14 inches. Combine and spread evenly over dough the following:

- 1/3 cup chopped seeded raisins
- 1/2 cup dark brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind
- 1 tablespoon orange or lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon fine bread or cracker crumbs or finely crushed dry cereal flakes

Remember

Fine Coffee For Fine Living

1 tablespoon melted shortening or oil drizzled over all

Roll up from long end, jelly-roll fashion, and form into a ring on a lightly greased baking pan or cookie sheet. Now pinch together the ends to seal the ring and then use a scissors to cut the top dough or ring into 1-inch slices from outer rim to about an inch from center. Turn each cut a bit sideways to let the filling show on top, pointing away from center.

Cover with doubled towel and let rise till double in bulk. Brush top with milk or diluted egg yolk, or a thin mixture of confectioners sugar and milk. Bake in a pre-heated oven 30 minutes at 350 deg. F. or till nicely browned on bottom. Or, bake after brushing top with fruit juice then frost when cold and garnish with slivered almonds, bits of red or green maraschino cherries, or pecan halves in pairs on each cut.

Fruit Filled Tarts

Divide the other section of this dough into 12 equal balls. With the bottom of a water glass or teacup, make a well or depression in center of each, leaving a rim as thin as desired. Fill each with some of the same filling as for Tea Ring, or any other dried fruit mixture you wish as soon as the Tarts have risen to double in bulk, about 20 minutes as for the Ring. Sprinkle tops with chopped nuts or shredded coconut. Bake at 375 deg. F. about 25 minutes.

Variations of filling may be made with combinations of cooked dried prunes and apricots, sweetened to taste and flavored with lemon juice and a little grated rind. Chopped nuts mixed with an equal amount of fine crumbs or crushed dry cereal prevents mushiness. If desired, top each Tart when cold with a gob of sourcream just before serving. Or a spoonful of whipped cream.

Culinary Cut No. 1: Make an attractive fruit salad dessert by arranging in pinwheel fashion 3 sections of grapefruit, 3 slices canned peaches and 3 half inch strips of avocado. Centers may be a spoonful of whole cranberry sauce or a whole pitted date. Pass salad dressing made by adding confectioners sugar and sourcream to your favorite mayonnaise.

Culinary Cut No. 2: Bake a filled Hamburger Ring for a change. Fill center with canned corn niblets to which has been added some chopped green pepper and a tablespoonful of finely crushed crumbs of crackers of Challah crusts. Top with fried onion rings if desired. Stewed canned tomato is a welcome accompaniment.

Plain Talk

By Alfred Segal

OF BEING BURIED TOGETHER

Oh, no, goodness me, no! I myself, member of a Reform temple, wouldn't mind at all going into a grave right next to the resting place of the most Orthodox Jew in town . . . maybe, the head rabbi.

In our town, as in most other communities, Orthodox and Reform go to their final sleep separately. There are three or four Reform graveyards, and many Orthodox ones. At death our Orthodox divide themselves, also. The Orthodox cemeteries are all separate, too, in accordance with the national origin of the Orthodoxy in which these departed Jews were brought up . . . Russische schul, Polische schul, etc.

Well, I dreamt about the way we keep up our religious separations in death as in life, but before I report on this dream I must tell you how I came to it. I had just read that the chief rabbinate of Great Britain (Orthodox) had given orders on the proper way of Jews to sleep in death.

In Melbourne, Australia, the Jews had come to the idea of establishing a cemetery in which all Jews would sleep together . . . Orthodox, Reform, Conservative. But Great Britain's chief rabbinate had said No to that, yet with a bit of compromise. They said that only if a high brick wall is erected between dead Reform Jews and dead Orthodox ones, could they all be allowed to sleep in the same graveyard.

It was that press report which caused me to dream of being dead at last. And what do you know? I this Reformer was dreaming that I had been buried in an Orthodox graveyard in our town and who do you guess lay there in the grave next to my own. He was the one who had been chief Orthodox rabbi . . . fine gentleman, as I know him.

I myself, Reformer, didn't feel at all out of place in the Orthodox graveyard, felt comfortable. But I wondered what the good Orthodox rabbi might be thinking of me the Reformer being bedded right next to him.

So I said to him, "Dear rabbi, here we are at last together . . . here in our graves, anyway . . . one beside the other. Here we rest at peace together . . . You of the Orthodox, I of Reform . . . like brothers at peace before God. Really, sir, what was all that argument about, all those differences that kept us Reformers and Orthodox apart when we resided on top of the earth. Here you and I are like one."

"Here in our graves we're all the same Jews together . . . all children of the One God . . . humbly in our graves; though up there on the earth's surface there seemed so much to divide Orthodox and Reform, like a high wall between us."

"Yes, dear rabbi, I the Reformer sleep all mixed up with the most Orthodox, but who knows the difference? I myself feel content here. Here we know each other as brothers . . . children of the One God though we worshipped at altars that seemed separated.

"Don't you think, good rabbi, this is a happy ending of foolish differences . . . not the least of a wall between us any longer. Observe, please, all our souls Up There joyous together before the smiling Father. He doesn't seem to be aware of the least difference between us happy children of His."

"Look! Reform rabbis stand before Him side by side with the most Orthodox . . . all together as of one family before God. He doesn't see any distinction between them, it seems . . . all sons of His, who tried hard to serve Him in their own ways on the earth."

"I, resting there, sort of wink, you might say, at my neighbor, this good Orthodox rabbi . . . I say to him: You know what? I think this noble cemetery where we . . . Reformer and Orthodox . . . are allowed to sleep together . . . really serves as a better school of Judaism than some of our seminaries where there's too much emphasis on differences between some kinds of Jews and other . . . Orthodox and Reform, for example. Here the walls are down, here we're good Jewish neighbors before God.

"I the Reformer greet you, my dear Orthodox rabbi, as Jewish brother of mine . . . both of us children of the Father. It's so pleasant to be in this grave and happily to come to such understanding of brotherhood."

At this I awaken from my dream and become aware again of how different it all is here on top of the earth. Here's the chief rabbinate of Great Britain wanting a high wall set up between Reform and Orthodox Jews in the Melbourne graveyard . . . and all those other hostilities between different Jews.

I hand my dream to the guidance of the chief rabbinate of Great Britain; and if the good rabbi to whom I spoke . . . as if we were both in our graves, shoulder to shoulder . . . has an answer to all I said to him, I shall welcome it to this column.

Ben Gurion Says Israel Is Prepared To Discuss Refugee Problem

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Israel is prepared to discuss the Palestine refugee problem "directly" with the Arabs or "through any intermediary body," Premier David Ben Gurion assured a nine-man Canadian parliamentary delegation he received at his office.

The nine-man delegation was accompanied by Miss Margaret Meagher, Canadian Ambassador to Israel.

Mr. Ben Gurion told the delegation that he believed the problem could be solved if the Arabs desired a solution. He said Israel's contribution to the solution would be two-fold — payment for Arab lands in Israel and Israeli experience in the settlement and rehabilitation of refugees. At the same time he noted that this could be accomplished only on the understanding that the Arab refugees would be resettled in such countries as Syria and Iraq, where there is ample land and water supplies.

U. S. Is Doing All It Can To Ease Middle East Tensions, Herter Says

WASHINGTON, D. C. (WNS) Secretary of State Christian Herter, at his press conference this week, said the United States was doing all it could to normalize tensions in the Middle East.

Declaring that the U. S. was enjoying improved relations with both the United Arab Republic and Iraq, Mr. Herter said that, in the Arab-Israel situation, the United States was always making what it thought constructive moves.

In another development, disclosure by a group of U. S. Senators of corruption in Arab refugee camps in Lebanon, Mr. Herter disclosed that he had received a communication to that effect by Senators Albert Gore of Tennessee and Gale W. McGee of Wyoming. The Secretary of State said the question dealt chiefly with ration cards for Arab refugees and that it was a matter for the United Nations. He said it appeared that ration quotas had been "improperly applied" in distributing aid to the Arab refugees, that the matter had been raised in the U. N., where it was taken under "serious consideration."

JERUSALEM (WNS) — Dr. Blagovitchensky, of the Moscow Medical Institute, declared here while attending the international biological conference that twenty-five percent of his colleagues were Jews.

Dr. Goldmann Envisages New Wave Of Immigration To Israel

NEW YORK (WNS) — Conviction that "in the near future, those Jews both in North Africa and in Eastern Europe who want to leave for Israel will be allowed to do so since there is no solution for their problems in the countries in which they live today" was voiced here by Dr. Nahum Goldmann, chairman of the Jewish Agency for Israel and president of the World Zionist Organization.

Addressing a press conference at his office following his recent return from an extensive tour of Europe and Israel, Dr. Goldmann stressed that in order to prepare Israel for the new wave of immigration which will start within the next few years, the Jewish Agency and the Jewish communities which support its program must make every effort to alleviate the current backlog in Israel by liquidating the remaining transition settlements and by completing the economic rehabilitation of those immigrants who are not yet self-supporting.

Israel Visit

The main purpose of his recent visit to Israel, Dr. Goldmann asserted, was to discuss with his "colleagues on the Executive of the Jewish Agency in Jerusalem ways and means to increase the participation of the American Jewish community in matters related to the general upbuilding of Israel." He said "the Jewish Agency has for some time given a great deal of thought to this subject" and he denied press reports that he discussed the questions with the Government of Israel, adding that "this is a matter between the Jewish communities and the Jewish Agency and does not involve the Israel Government." He recalled that, under an agreement with the Israel Government, the Jewish Agency has sole responsibility for the transportation, initial absorption and agricultural settlement of Jewish refugees in Israel.

Dr. Goldmann said "there are two reasons why this rescue work and rehabilitation work cannot be performed by the Government of Israel. In the first place, it would be impossible to raise among Jewish communities throughout the world the millions of dollars needed to cover the costs of this program, if the funds were to go directly to the Israel Government or to an agency under its jurisdiction. Under such an arrangement, Jewish communities outside Israel would no longer feel the same sense of commitment to this work for which they themselves are today responsible through the Jewish Agency, and in the United States and other countries these contributions would no longer be tax exempt. Secondly, it would be unfair to burden the Government of Israel with the task of resettling and rehabilitating hundreds of thousands of Jews from every part of the world, a task which is clearly the responsibility of the Jewish people as a whole."

Changed Character of Zionism

Touching on the question of wider group affiliation with the World Zionist Organization, Dr. Goldmann predicted that new elements would be drawn to the movement for specific Zionist tasks. He said when the Zionist Action Committee approves a constitutional amendment under which a group wishing to join the world Zionist body may do so directly and not through territorial bodies, a wider door will have been opened to group affiliation. He noted that when the state was born, the political objectives of Zionism at once became solely vested in Israel. He illustrated the point by noting the abolition of the political department in the Jewish Agency and other changes.

To a question of rumored reports that the Soviet Union may relax its exit policy toward Jews in the newly acquired areas, such as Latvia, Bessarabia and other segments, Dr. Goldmann replied that he had no such knowledge but that he believed easing of the cold war could be conducive to such a development. He said it was evident that the Jews in the newly acquired Soviet territories were less integrated than those in other areas of the Soviet Union and that their problem might best be solved through permitting them exit. Apropos the American Jewish scene, Dr. Goldmann observed that Jewish life was suffering of too many organizations whose objectives and work overlap. He called the situation "organized chaos" which, he added, will end when there is a central organization.

Jewish Financier Named "Knight Of Charity"

DETROIT (WNS) Benjamin Levinson, Jewish financier, was among the three recipients of the "Knight of Charity" award given annually by the Friends of the Missionaries of St. Peter and Paul to a member of the three major faiths, Catholics, Protestant and Jewish, symbolizing their concept of "union in family life with person-to-person charity."

Presentation of the awards was made at a benefit dinner of the Founders of Maryglade College, a divinity school.

Half Of Lebanon's 5,000 Jews Reported Running "In Panic"

TEL AVIV (WNS) — Half of Lebanon's 5,000 Jews have left the country "in panic," according to press disclosures here based on a report said to have appeared in a recent issue of the Beirut newspaper "Kul Sheye."

The Beirut paper, citing Lebanese security sources for its report, said it was gratified that the Jewish section of Beirut had been half-emptied and that it would be even more pleased "if another half of Lebanese Jews will leave the country so as to get rid of those merchants, financiers and black marketers who deprive Arabs of their living." At the same time the Beirut organ warned the Jews that it would be "better" if they left "on their own at the earliest opportunity than wait until we shall ask them to leave when we might get in trouble with the United Nations."

In Israel, informed sources confirmed that a "number" of Lebanese Jews had relinquished their belongings and emigrated to other countries.

on his own behalf, he told the court that he had acted under orders. The defendant was Herbert Zimmerman, a West German attorney who became a prominent Bielefeld practitioner in 1953 after allegedly escaping from a French prison camp and living in the Soviet occupation zone.

Prior to the trial the prosecutor rounded up witnesses and affidavits from many parts of the world. The prosecution contended, but to no avail, that the defendant was guilty since the victims would not have been killed if Zimmerman had not ordered the executions just as the Soviet army was reaching the city.

Speaking For B'nai B'rith Youth

Rafael Is Initiated Into Lester Okeon AZA

Charles Rafael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Rafael, of 1011 N. Maury, was initiated into the Lester Okeon A.Z.A. on Sunday, November 15, at the Memphis Jewish Community Center. The total enrollment of the chapter is 19.

As the football season draws to a close, the gridmen of Okeon A.Z.A. have three losses and no wins. The basketball practice is every Monday evening at the Jewish Community Center.

Three folds of A.Z.A. have been carried out in the past few weeks. They are social, a hayride; community service, canned food drive; and religion, Friday evening services.

Fortas Captures First Football Crown In Five Years

The gridmen of Fortas A.Z.A. defeated Pi Tau Pi 19-0 to win its first football championship in five years. Kick-off time was 2:00 p.m., Nov. 29th at Overton Park.

Early in the first quarter, Ronnie Hoffman went around the end for their first tally. Stevie Lubin, on a quarterback sneak, ran three yards to make Fortas their second TD of the afternoon. The half ended with a score of 12 to 0. Late in the 4th quarter Stevie Lubin passed to Ronnie Hoffman for their final TD. Stewart Pahn ran the extra point to make it 19 to 0.

Pi Tau Pi threatened twice in the entire game but the blue and white gridmen held them for no game.

The starting line-up for the Fortas were ends, Rosenblum, Cooper, Lebovitz, Chafetz; guards, Phillips, Ostrov; Center, Notowich; Backfield, Lubin, Pahn, Hoffman, Cooper, and Burson.

The outstanding players of the day were Stevie Lubin and Ronnie Hoffman but they were supported by a great team effort of all the boys.

During the season Fortas defeated Peres 6 to 0, Washer 9 to 0, and Okeon 36 to 0. Eddie Wener was the coach.

Police Urged To Act Against Scribblers Of Anti-Semitic Slogans

PARIS (WNS) Concern over the mounting instances of anti-Jewish scribbling on walls and subway stations was voiced here this week by the Representative Council of the Jews of France in a request to the police for greater vigilance and action against the anti-Semitic elements.

The request for police action laid particular stress on the fact that the culprits were having an anti-Semitic picnic in the subway stations, whose walls have been the target of the worst kind of anti-Semitic filth.

Memphians Participate In BBYO Meeting

Two Memphians attended the annual meeting of the District Seven B'nai B'rith Youth Organization November 21 and 22 in Dallas, Texas. They were Jerry Diamond, District Seven AZA president; and George Shendelman, member-at-large of the committee.

Mr. Diamond asked for AZA and BBG representation on the Board of the District Seven Grand Lodge Executive Committee and the Women's District of B'nai B'rith.

He also asked the BBYO committee to aid them in achieving membership, in a non-voting capacity on lodge and Women's chapter Boards throughout District Seven.

Memphis is being considered a possible site for a BBYO office.

David Blumberg, newly elected National chairman of the B'nai B'rith Youth Commission, addressed the committee on "The Role Of The Social Agency In The Community."

Mr. Blumberg stated that secular agencies, such as BBYO continue to play an important role in modern Jewish life, even though the religious institutions are increasing their activities. He indicated that there would be a danger to Jewish life if the unique services of secular agencies were lost.

Bluff City won their basketball game against Young Judaea. Bluff City held a party Saturday night at the Center.

B.B.Y.O. Council Meets

The B'nai B'rith Youth Council met at the Center November 23. A committee is to be formed with one girl from each BBG Chapter to work as hostesses for the regional convention. Memphis BBYO will present a play at convention, to be given at one of the parties. Dates reserved for parties planned for the coming months are: January 16, the Brenner banquet and February 6, Bluff City Beau party. Also planned is a New Year's party to be given by all four A.Z.A.'s.

$500 Million Investments In Israel Predicted

Private American investment in Israel's industrial, agricultural and commercial venture now totaling $200 million is expected to reach $500 million within the next five years, according to Colonel John Furman. He made this prediction at a luncheon of the American-Israel Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Inc., given in honor of the 10th anniversary of ICOA-Israel Corporation of America at the Hotel Commodore Tuesday, November 24.

ICOA, a subsidiary of Palestine Economic Corporation, New York, is one of the leading trading firms on the U. S.-Israel scene, active in importing, exporting, financing, shipping, marketing and related activities. The company represents leading U. S. manufacturers in Israel and has been instrumental in developing two-day trade between the U. S. and Israel.

Discussing the investment and trade picture in Israel, Col. Furman, who is Executive Vice-President of PEC in charge of Israel operations, said that during the past ten years U. S. investments in Israel averaged about $20 million a year. "During the past few years the pace of private investment increased noticeably, and with this trend continuing, the expected annual rate should exceed $50 million over the next five years," he said. Colonel Furman also expressed optimism for the development of Israel's exports which this year will reach close to IL300 million—an increase of 25% over the total for 1958.

The luncheon was attended by many prominent members of New York's business community representing industry, trade, banking, communications, transportation and other commercial enterprises.

More Than 1,000...

Besides Mr. Berinstein, UJA officers who will address the gathering are Edward M. M. Warburg, Honorary Chairman of the UJA and Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman, UJA Executive Vice-Chairman. All were members of the 1959 Overseas Study Mission, and will present eye-witness accounts to the delegates on their visit to Israel.

The Study Mission, which has been conducted by the UJA for the past six years, provides leaders of the American Jewish community with an opportunity to make direct observations and gain first-hand knowledge of the situation of Jewish men, women and children overseas, and of the unmet needs in Israel arising from the immigration in recent years of tens of thousands of Jewish men, women and children.

Based on the material in these reports, delegates will set the 1960 campaign goals and objectives. It is anticipated that their reactions to the reports will help to determine the future of 600,000 Jewish men, women and children in Israel, Europe, North Africa and Moslem nations.

The delegates, who have been participating in the 1959 UJA Fall Cash Drive to convert pledges made to this year's UJA campaign into cash contributions, will bring in totals from their respective communities. Melvin Dubinsky, young St. Louis businessman, has been serving as Chairman of the Cash Drive. He heads a committee of 54 community leaders from all parts of the United States. The full amount raised in the Fall Cash Drive will be announced at the Conference.

The United Jewish Appeal finances the work of the United Israel Appeal; the Joint Distribution Committee, which cares for the aged, ill and handicapped immigrants in Israel as well as Jewish men, women and children in 24 other countries outside of Israel, and the New York Association for New Americans, which helps in the adjustment of Jewish immigrants in this country.

At the final Sunday afternoon session of the Conference on December 13th, new officers of the United Jewish Appeal for a one-year term will be elected.

World of Hard Facts For This Quiz Whiz

Some Americans seem to have gone on a sentimental binge over the fate of young Charles Van Doren, who finally had to confess that the money he won on a t.v. quiz show was won dishonestly.

They seem to feel that Van Doren is a fine young man who made a little mistake and is now paying for it big, that he has been tossed to the wolves by the very persons who got him into the mess, and that it is a great shame that he has lost not only his big-paying job on t.v. but his smaller-paying job as a college professor.

How silly and sentimental can we get?

The investigations into fixed quiz shows didn't "ruin" Van Doren. That good-looking, well-educated son of a fine family willingly sold his honor and his good name for a pot of money.

As long as the world didn't know of his guilt he lived high, basking in the glory of being an intellectual giant as long as he could.

Have we so far forgotten the

Newcomers Club Plans Christmas Luncheon

Affair to Be Tomorrow in the Hotel Peabody Skyway

Newcomers Club will hold its annual Christmas luncheon—reflecting the warmth and gaiety of the holiday season—at 11:45 a.m. tomorrow in the Peabody Skyway. Mrs. Floyd Porter will preside.

Deep red poinsettias, flanked by tall red tapers in hand-molded candleholders, will decorate the tables. A red tulle Christmas tree trimmed with golden balls will be laden with gifts for the Memphis Girls Club.

The program will feature Christmas carols sung in French by a group from Alliance Francaise Club. Mrs. Ken Howard will accompany the group.

The program will also include a brief talk by Mrs. Ila Huff, which will be followed by a talk by Mrs. A. Horace Kelly, who will explain the purpose of the Girls Club and its activities.

During the luncheon the 1960 officers will be announced. Afterward bridge and Canasta will be played.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Jess Langwill, Mrs. Max L. Valentine and Mrs. Georgia Wilkinson.

Newcomers of Memphis are invited to attend the luncheon. Those attending for the first time may make reservations by calling Mrs. Marjorie Dabney at MU 2-2300.

Centering the tea table, overlaid with a silver cloth, will be an antique mirror plateau reflecting tall white tapers in a crystal candelabrum and twin arrangements of red carnations and holly done by Mrs. W. D. Casey Jr.

Alternating at tea service will be Mrs. Russell Perry and Mrs. Winston Bowling.

There will be a fire in the family room fireplace, and above the oil painting of antique guns will be garlanded with holly.

Have we stopped drawing the line between right and wrong clearly enough to see that Van Doren lost nothing he really possessed when the truth finally came to light? What he lost was the dream world he had been living—a place where you can get something for nothing, where it doesn't matter if you compromise with the truth, where you can sell your good name and at the same time hold onto it.

That is the world that crashed for Van Doren — a world that doesn't exist except in wishful thinking.

Van Doren still has the real world to live in and, it's hoped, has achieved the maturity to live in it wisely.

In the real world you can count only on what you honestly earn. You are only what you are. You protect yourself against public shame by being honest with yourself and with others.

So why should we pity Van Doren because he has had to return to the world most of us are glad to live in? It's not a bad world, not bad at all.

Mrs. Ethel Irby and Miss Kate Harris will decorate the luncheon table, and Mrs. J. Edgar Young and Mrs. Carl Heyer a special table where a silver Christmas tree will be surrounded by gifts to be given members and guests. Mrs. W. B. Smith is in charge of the

Those Best-Loved Yule Traditions Repeated

New Ideas Featured, Too, in Tour Of 'Merry Christmas' Homes

By MARY RAYMOND, Press-Scimitar Society Editor
Little Garden Club said "Merry Christmas" to Memphis in the most beautiful yule season way—decking homes of three members with holly and pine, adding gleaming gold, shimmering silver, offering stunning new ideas for Christmas decorations and repeating again the best-loved traditions that have been part of Christmases thru the years.

The homes were those of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Bondurant, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Murrah, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Barlow Treadwell.

"I would like to visit these homes again on Christmas Day," said one making the tour.

"As far as I am concerned Christmas has already come," remarked another admiring visitor.

Little Garden Club's Merry Christmas Houses revealed the long weeks and months of planning for the annual event, infinite patience and artistic second to none.

Leaders—Mrs. Guy Joyner, the president; Mrs. J. Spencer Speed, general chairman; Mrs. Carrington Jones, co-chairman, and the chairman of the various houses and their committees may well be proud of their contribution in beauty.

"Just a sanctuary," Mrs. Percy Anderson exclaimed as she and Mrs. Napoleon Grosvenor and Mrs. Paul Calame entered the Bondurant home, where the foyer reflected the peace and serenity and quiet beauty of a shrine. Here, an Italian Madonna plaque was circled with cedar and berries, and Grecian figures were accented with arrangements of holiday greenery. A tiered flower stand was filled with greenery and white poinsettias.

While poinsettias decorated the mantel in the living room and at the sides was a charming Christmas tree—a green fir laced with white satin ribbon and glowing with golden birds and gold balls.

The sun room of this home featured figurines of Dickens' characters, along with books by Dickens, one open at a colorful page in the loved "Christmas Carol."

Mrs. Van Court Pritchett was telling an admiring guest that the quaint Royal Dordill figurines had been selected in Europe by Mrs. Adele Orgill and were owned by Mrs. Andrew Holmes.

Mrs. W. T. Michie and Dorothy Barry (Mrs. Warren) stood admiring a wreath of brown oak leaves tied with green ribbon and clustered with white mistletoe berries.

The dining room table was beautiful in ivory and gold and formal box. A stunning arrangement of Talisman roses and French bronze candelabra decorated the English hunt board.

Mrs. Edward Woodson and Mrs. James D. Robinson were chairmen.

An immense Christmas wreath of holly with wide red ribbons floating in the wind hung high above the balcony framed by the lofty white columns at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murrah like a gay welcome.

The lovely voice of Corinne Murrah Wilson (Mrs. Paul), daughter of the Murrahs, was filling the home with melody—"I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" as some of the guests were entering. She and a group of other singers sang Christmas Carols during the afternoon.

The feeling of the yuletide was pervading the spacious rooms. The wide walnut stairways was looped with green garlands. A large green Christmas tree decked with silver and gold ornaments and red and green Christmas balls told the story—here was a tree that had a place in the homes and hearts of other days, and is still a tradition for many. Near the tree was a fascinating grouping of little doll trunks and wardrobes and beautiful doll clothes which had belonged to Mrs. Murrah, the former Corinne Falls, and her sister, Mary (Mrs. Pervis Milnor) when they were children. Dresses trimmed with beautiful lace, silken coats and bonnets—Mrs. Robin Mason held out a be-ruffled doll's bonnet. "This was made in Paris, France, for one of their dolls," she said.

The dining room table was arranged for a formal dinner, sumptuously set with silver, and centered by carnations shading from light to deeper pink. Pink candles glowed in silver holders and pink bon bon trees added a French accent.

Arrangements of greenery and glowing candles in brass holders had been chosen for the library which holds the rare collection of the late Bishop William F. Murrah's books. Mrs. Mary Jones Ramsey and Mrs. Groom Leftwich were chairmen for this home.

Unforgettable was the picture of a shimmering Christmas tree with its skirt from the top where a Christmas angel was poised to the bottom) decked with pink ornaments and tiny imported Christmas candles that winked on and off. This dominated the reception room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barlow Treadwell. Golden shells, Dresden flowers, spruce and pine made a holiday picture at the mantel, where pink and gold candles glowed. The stairway was looped with laurel, and a console table near was centered by pink carnations and holly. In the sun parlor a Madonna was clustered with pink carnations and camellias.

Mrs. Richard Bodine, who decorated the tree stood by it.

The dining room table, set with rare china and crystal, was decorated with delicate pink carnations and anemones. In the center was a stunning tiered piece with crystal prisms, each tier circled with clusters of gold fruit and flowers.

This decoration was made by Mrs. Hugh Brinkley, who also made the wide-open pink camellias on a crystal plate at each of the four corners of the table—camellias fashioned of pale green and pale pink mints which she had brought home from New York and which she shaped into flower petals with her fingers.

Also in the handiwork of the artistic "Little Gardeners" were the gold plaques designed with classic designs, framed by peacock feathers, work of Mrs. Elsie Gee.

Many guests made a tour of the kitchen which had the Christmas look, also. Candles glowed thru the holds in an old-fashioned tin grater, with tiny Christmas flowers at its base. On the table wide muffled funnels had been filled with flowers, held on cone-shaped funnels, with pink candles marching across the top.

In all of the homes there were Christmas ideas in abundance.

From many towns in the Mid-South came those who have made the tour before and those who came for the first time to see what can be done, using familiar holiday materials in both old and new ways to make a home hospitable and beautiful for the yule season. From Clarkdale, came Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bobo and Mrs. Ralph Balzer, who stopped to greet Mrs. Tim Treadwell, who had handled the publicity for the event.

Working in the background in a vitally important role was Mrs. Harbert Anthony, who was overall finance chairman for the tour.

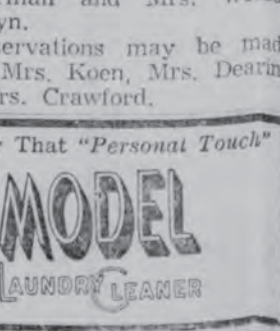

No one had more fun than young Julian Phillips who stood near the cage of live crickets at the Bondurant home, telling guests the legend that when a cricket chirps it brings luck!

Glimpsed here and there: Mrs. Carroll Russell in a gay red dress, Mrs. Herbert Darnell, a wide red scarf tied in a style that blue hat that matched her coat, Mrs. James E. McGee and Mrs. Frances Chamberlin (two artists who were together), Mrs. Max Holden, "touring" the Christmas Houses with her daughter, Anne (Mrs. Fred Heppel), Mrs. Hugh Sprunt (with her little daughter), Mrs. J. G. Gordon, in vivid green, Mrs. J. W. Ramsay and her daughter, Ellen (Mrs. Ken Clark), both in Christmas red attire, Mrs. Horace Houston, Mrs. Frank Jackson, to mention a few.

Santa Claus place cards. In charge of the games of bridge and Canasta which will follow luncheon are Mrs. George School, Mrs. J. N. Fox, Mrs. Lackey and Mrs. Julia Arnold. In charge of Samba games are Mrs. W. B. Fowler, Mrs. Ben Edwards, Mrs. Helen Wood, Mrs. Louise Avert, Mrs. Clara Liefman and Mrs. Weston DeKlyn.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Koen, Mrs. Dearing or Mrs. Crawford.

Had to Learn Accent: Now Losing It

Pretty 'Daisy Mae' Visiting Memphis

By THOMAS N. PAPPAS
Press-Scimitar Staff Writer
It was a very interesting compliment.

And from a very pretty girl. She sat there in the Hotel Gayoso coffee shop and said it like this:

"A Southern accent is sort of, well, like an English accent—except you slow down when you say it."

She was Leslie Parrish, who plays the part of Daisy Mae in "Li'l Abner," which opens Dec. 23 at the Malco.

She was in Memphis to make some personal appearances in connection with the musical based on the Broadway play and she was commenting on the fact that she's having some difficulty getting rid of the accent she picked up for "Li'l Abner."

Not So Easy

That accent, she said, has some Southern and mountain overtones. It is not, she said, something you just toss over your shoulder once you learn it. It takes some getting rid of.

Not that it isn't a delightful thing to have. But, if you're in show business.

The visit is Leslie's second to Memphis. She was in Memphis several years ago with two other young starlets promoting a film called "The Opposite Sex."

Odd thing about that trip, she wasn't even in the picture. In fact, of the three girls promoting the film, only one was in the movie. And all that that young woman had in the film was a brief glimpse of a leg.

This time, Leslie Parrish is not only in the film but she's one of the stars.

12 Pictures

It's her second crack at stardom. She made 12 pictures previously under the name of Marjorie Hellen, before winning one of the most coveted roles of recent years, that of Daisy Mae.

Leslie started out to be a concert pianist, worked as a waitress for a while to pay for her lessons, got sidetracked into modeling, was NBC's Color Girl for some time, was discovered for the movies thru a newspaper article and picture in the New York Times.

She has a husband, Ric Marlow, singer and actor, whom she hopes to see for three wonderful days in Cleveland.

Know what she says about Memphis' own Stella Stevens, who plays the part of Appassionata von Climax in "Li'l Abner"? One word: "Wonderful."

Men's Club Formed

Formation of a men's club composed of fathers of students at Lausanne School for Girls was the outgrowth of the first Fathers' Night held by the school Thursday night and attended by about 600 people.

John L. McRee, 181 Mendenhall, was appointed organizing committee chairman. Serving with him are Philip McCall, J. C. Paine, Arthur T. Ousley and Ernest Felts.

More Tolerance In U.S. Now, Says Senator

Mansfield's Views On Religious Issue

By United Press International
WASHINGTON.—Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield said today he did not think the birth control controversy would hurt the presidential chances of Sen. John F. Kennedy (Dem., Mass.) "or anyone else."

Mansfield, a Roman Catholic like Kennedy, said he thought the country was "more broad-minded, more understanding and more tolerant" than in 1928 when the religious issue worked against Alfred E. Smith.

Two others commented on President Eisenhower's stand against the U. S. government providing birth control information to other countries.

Cass Canfield, chairman of the Harper Brothers publishing firm and president of the American Planned Parenthood Association, said:

"I frankly found the President's announcement alarming... you cannot separate, in my opinion, population control from, say, malaria control. We help in malaria control. By that, one million lives are saved each year in India."

Robert C. Cook, editor of the Population Reference Bureau, Inc., said Eisenhower should set up a realistic technical aid program available to nations seeking birth control advice.

It Isn't Government's Job, Says Dahlberg

By United Press International
ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, the head of the National Council of Churches, said yesterday he does not believe the government should be involved in a program of providing birth control information to underdeveloped nations.

"It would be my judgment that such information should be handled by private agencies and foundations rather than by our government," Dahlberg said.

Dr. Dahlberg said he has been an advocate "of planned parenthood and birth control for many years past" and believes that "every state and every country should have access to birth control information."

He also said he believes: "A Roman Catholic president of the U. S. should follow the dictates of his own conscience in making a decision to veto a birth control bill and the question should not be determined for him by the Catholic church."

Episcopal Bishop Hits Test of Religion

By Associated Press
MILWAUKEE.—A candidate's religion should not be a test of his qualifications for President of the United States, the presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church said today.

Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger said: "I don't think the discipline of the church would be contrary to the best interests of government. We have Roman Catholics who are governors of states and mayors of cities."

"I have never heard of any difficulty because of their Catholic faith."

Dr. Lichtenberger said the United States should provide birth control information to other nations if asked for it.

Doctor Plans to Testify To Defend Himself In Murder Trial

United Press International
LOS ANGELES.—Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, socialist West Covina physician, plans to take the witness stand in his own defense when he and his red-haired sweetheart, Carol Tregoff, go on trial tomorrow for the murder of Finch's wife.

The two are charged with murdering Mrs. Barbara Finch, 33, in the driveway of her $80,000 home last July 18.

Attorney Grant B. Cooper said he planned to ask for a change of venue on grounds the handsome surgeon would not get a fair trial in Los Angeles County.

Miss Tregoff, a 22-year-old divorcee and former receptionist for Dr. Finch in his medical center, will be defended by Donald R. Bringgold and Rexford D. Eagan, Bringgold said.

The defense team, who have been billing, would act "in an advisory capacity" during the trial.

The attorneys declined to say whether Miss Tregoff, a curvaceous ex-model, would be permitted to take the stand at the trial.

Mrs. Finch, mother of two, was shot to death. The doctor and his wife were in the midst of divorce proceedings, and the state charges he wanted to do away with her to marry Miss Tregoff.

PUT A STOP TO "CONSTIPATION MISERY!"

Millions of people have found it is quite unnecessary to suffer cramps, headache, digestive upset and other miserable results of taking a laxative. At the same time they get prompt, more dependable results than from other laxatives.

They use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the pure vegetable "prescription" containing the ingredient "of greatest value" for relieving intestinal over-tension present in most constipation. Another ingredient promotes flow of intestinal lubricant to soften dry, hardened wastes. No gripping. No stomach distress because it works in bowel lower down.

Proved 58% more effective than other laxatives in hospital test. Ask for Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at any drug store.

R.R. Hobos Have Disappeared

IC Official Tells Why

Railroad hoboes have taken the place of the redskin as the nation's vanishing American. "I haven't seen one in years," said Ernest H. Hallmann, personnel director for IC railroad.

Hallmann is in town to speak at Memphis Public Affairs Forum tonight.

Reasons for the disappearance of the free riders are several-fold, he said.

"Many hoboes have been placed on relief by the politicians," he said. "Others, willing to work, are having no trouble finding jobs nowadays."

He said the hoboes' disappearance is an economic barometer, although there are some other reasons:

1. Increased speed of modern trains. Hoboes, while agile enough to hop on a 25-mile-per-hour train, can't jump on the 100 mph jobs.

2. More efficient special agents who shoo the hoboes off the trains.

3. Longer hauls by trains with fewer stops.

Hallmann, as personnel director, had this to say about opportunities for youth in the railroad business:

"If a young fellow is willing to go to work and apply himself, and not be concerned about getting his hands dirty or watching the clock, I think he has a better chance making it today than the youngsters of my day."

"I think kids today are smarter and our industry needs intelligent, courageous youngsters."

Are the railroads a man's job?

"We have always had a great number of female employees, particularly office workers. During manpower shortages, such as in the wars, we even tried women as firemen and conductors on suburban lines out of Chicago. But that didn't work well. However, one of our top lawyers in Chicago is a woman, and there's plenty of room in the industry for women who want to get in."

What about the future of passenger train service?

"Accommodation trains with frequent stops are on the way out, like the stage coach. We think there will always be a need for the right kind of passenger business. We've taken off unprofitable lines. We still have on our good trains and are making a little contribution to the overall net."

Wading Pool Rally Set for Tonight

Residents of the area around Ketchum Road park site, Ketchum and Long, will hold a rally from 5 to 6 tonight at the site to plan their formal protest to the City Commission at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow against the city's plan to build a wading pool instead of a full size swimming pool at the park. Mrs. Abe Adams is chairman of the protest group.

Plea From Rail Union Official

'Give True Facts To the Public'

By LILLIAN FOSCOE
Press-Scimitar Staff Writer

The public needs to know the "true facts of the railroad situation, not just the propaganda being issued by the railroads," Melvin A. Ross, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (AFL-CIO), said in Memphis today.

Here to debate the vital issues in the negotiations between the railroad companies and railroad unions, at the Memphis Public Affairs Forum tonight, Ross was busy with Memphis railroad men today planning audience participation questions.

Not everywhere does the union side get a fair and unbiased hearing in the press as Memphis offers, Ross said. He welcomed the opportunity offered by a forum meeting such as tonight to get the union's facts before the public, he said.

Ross said trains are more difficult to handle now because they are longer.

"Our men aren't sitting around; they are working every minute. Contrary to what the railroads would have you believe, railroad employees have one of the highest productivity rates of any business."

What's Wrong?

"In our estimation 'what's wrong with the railroads' may be their own predicament," he said, adding, "If the railroads spent the money they have spent on propaganda, especially about featherbedding, on improving service, conceivably business might improve considerably."

Ross said the railroads are just deliberately confusing the issues.

"In Birmingham just the other day, I was able to correct one man who had the idea, spread by the railroads, that a train with six or seven engines would have a fireman for each engine," he said.

"Would you like to ride in a plane without a co-pilot?" he asked suddenly, drawing a parallel between the engineer and fireman team to that of pilot and co-pilot on a plane.

Fireman's Value

"A fireman is more valuable today than ever before because of the intricate electrical equipment."

Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New Way Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Tonight's Forum Topic: The Railroad Dispute

Management and Union Spokesmen Will Debate at Southwestern

By JAMES H. WHITE, Press-Scimitar Staff Writer
About 50 years ago Rock Island railroaders were complaining about their corn-cob-filled caboose mattresses.

Unmoved by their protestations, one salty old trainmaster retorted: "What do you want—featherbeds?"

With that remark a new term was coined—referring to the practice of spreading out work to make jobs or a soft deal for somebody.

Since Nov. 1, the Association of American Railroads, representing major carriers of the nation, and union representatives of the nation's 800,000 railroad workers have been negotiating for renewed contracts.

And the term "featherbedding" is a sore spot among negotiators on both sides.

Forum Topic

Tonight, Memphians will hear the pros and cons of the railroad disputes from a railroad executive and a railroad union representative at the Memphis Public Affairs Forum.

Speaking for the railroads will be Ernest H. Hallmann, director of personnel for Illinois Central Railroad. Opposing him will be Melvin A. Ross, national vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (AFL-CIO).

Program begins at 8 p.m. It will be at the Adult Education Center, Burrow Library basement at Southwestern. Admission is free.

The Forum president, Dr. W. J. Von Lackum, said that Hardie Auditorium will be ment, and requirements are higher."

Ross said trains are more difficult to handle now because they are longer.

"Our men aren't sitting around; they are working every minute. Contrary to what the railroads would have you believe, railroad employees have one of the highest productivity rates of any business."

the debate will be permitted.

The major railroad carriers are seeking changes in work rules which they say cost them $500 million loss annually thru featherbedding.

The Brotherhoods counter by seeking job benefits not now part of their contract, such as night differential pay, severance pay on dismissal, expense payments while on out-of-town assignments, premium pay for Saturday and Sunday work, etc.

To the featherbedding charge, union men answer by charging that top railroad management men are the most flagrant featherbedders of all.

The issues aren't expected to be settled at Southwestern tonight, but neither is anyone attending likely to be bored.

Youth Held In Safe Robbery

Jerry Wayne Patterson, 18, night by Lts. W. M. McGee and J. O. Purdy, after three sailors participated in taking a 900-pound safe from Rich's Pharmacy, 1689 S. Lauderdale, Oct. 15, to Blue Lake in Arkansas, where it was broken open and robbed of about $800, Detective Chief Charles Young said.

The safe was dumped into Blue Lake, but later was recovered.

Young said Patterson confessed, saying he got about $75 after the money was split, but in City Court Patterson pleaded not guilty when he was held at the state. Bond was fixed at $2000.

Shelby Road Plan

The Shelby County Commission has revealed what it considers a 20-year plan for a system of limited access arteries leading into the circumferential expressway for Memphis.

A public hearing will be held this month and after that the commission hopes for full and speedy County board approval. The plan is being projected with expectation that first construction will begin next year and at each segment will be pegged to need priority.

Cost is to be borne by three current road fund sources—Federal, state and local.

The plan entails conversion of existing roadways and new construction of others. Because of the year spread, a total cost estimate this time is impossible, according to Commissioner RUDOLPH JONES, the plan's projectionist. No one who has viewed trends in highway construction costs is likely to take issue with him on that point. Commissioner JONES says he does not, at this time, envision spending more than a million dollars in any given year.

This is certain—if the circumferential expressway is to carry the traffic loads for which it is being built and is to otherwise justify the expenditure required, a system of access arteries such as the County Commission proposes is an inescapable must. Traffic from outlying areas must be provided with quick, convenient access to the expressway, thus providing faster, unrelayed flows into the downtown and other urban areas.

Not the least of the plan's virtues is its banning of left turns. No design for better movement of traffic which overlooks that necessity is likely to win enthusiastic public approval. The left turn is the worst and most frustrating barrier to smooth traffic flows which could possibly exist.

The county plan has this also to commend it—it is a departure from the long-prevalent "patch and mend" policy which has so retarded progress hereabouts. Too, it anticipates what will be a public demand once Memphis and Shelby County drivers become accustomed to expressway usage. They are not going to be satisfied if access arteries to thruways are built or maintained to outmoded, time-wasting designs.

Now that it has a plan, it will be up to the County Commission to push or translate into reality. We say that because there is not another area in the country richer in plans and studies than Memphis and Shelby County. In that respect the affluence is extraordinary. The trouble is that it is not a type of affluence which is taking us very far in the direction of progress.

What is needed here is a balancing of plans with action.

The Gift Problem

Reading dispatches from here and here along the route President EISENHOWER chose for his current trip indicates that problems of state are not the only ones. The lady who is health minister in Madhya Pradesh in India, RANI PADMAVATI DEVI, as announced she will give the President a couple of royal Bengal tiger cubs. In Andhra Pradesh State they have a bull of a rare Indian breed for Mr. EISENHOWER. Other tates also expect to give the President something, the list said to include a pair of lion cubs.

The President is bound to accept these tokens of respect and affection fore and see that they are delivered over here safe and sound. Presumably, of course, no one will set out if these animals are kept by Mr. EISENHOWER by the zoo in Washington. It does show, though, that official journeys involve more than just speaking, eating state dinners and making polite conversation.

One letter can make a great deal of difference, as witness the words "retired" and "rehired."

Subversion And Panama

A reminder by ALLEN DULLES, Central Intelligence Agency chief, that Russia's campaign of subversion is bearing fruit in the Americas should be kept in mind by those officials who believe that policy as it pertains to Panama should be reshaped.

Mr. DULLES told the 64th Congress of American industry that Latin American communists have been directed to emphasize "nationalism" as a means of destroying inter-American friendships. Recent Panamanian rioting was a manifestation of this effort.

There will be further efforts, no doubt, between now and May 20 when the Panamanian presidential election is held. Criticism of the United States and demands for more income from the canal and control over it will probably be a popular "line" with all candidates and Soviet agents will make the most of this free grist for their mill.

Responsible Washington sources are predicting that the United States will probably accede to Panama's demand that its flag be flown along with that of the United States in the Canal Zone but will not agree to other demands. It will refuse, Washington forecasters say, to give up control of courts, municipal government and police and other security agencies in the Zone. If it did relinquish such control it might as well give up control of the Canal itself.

There is no genuine international political parallel between the Suez Canal situation and that in Latin America. The Panama Canal is vital to the security of the entire free world—as much so as to that of the United States and to the Western Hemisphere. It must remain in capable as well as friendly hands and capability in the sense used here means ability and willingness to defend it and maintain it operational. The Republic of Panama does not have that capability and it would be the heaviest of all losers should there be any great change in the present control and operational structures.

The Panama Canal as presently administered is a roadblock to communism's strategical plan for world conquest and the free world's safety requires that the status quo be maintained.

Net Figures Better

A dispatch from the Washington Bureau of THE COMMERCIAL APPEAL yesterday morning dealt with population figures in a seven-state Mid-South area. It had to do with migration, immigration, births and deaths in the period from April 1, 1950, through July 1, 1955. The figures were not what we should like to see by any manner of means, but the net results were what counted.

Arkansas, for example, suffered a net migration loss of 422,000 civilians, but when all factors were evaluated the actual loss was only 175,000 civilians. Mississippi's net loss was only 24,000. Net gains were registered by other states as follows: Alabama 85,000, Kentucky 128,000, Louisiana 404,000, Missouri 234,000 and Tennessee 169,000.

The figures, taken from Census Bureau estimates, show that each and every state concerned needs to increase the opportunities for industrial employment.

He Recognizes A Right

Defense Secretary GATES has begun his tenure auspiciously. One of his first acts was to promise a stronger light of publicity in the armed forces.

He says he hopes to have fortnightly news conferences and plans to give the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force far more latitude in publicizing their services. In short, he wants to reverse that dangerous policy by which only the Defense Secretary was that department's sole spokesman.

What Secretary GATES is actually doing is recognizing the people's right to know what the agencies of their government are doing. For too long the Washington bureaucratic attitude that the Government's business is nobody's business has prevailed.

If Secretary GATES will carry through on his announced policy he will let a lot of light and fresh air into places from which both have long been absent and if he can extend the policy to the lower command and administrative echelons of the services he will have accomplished a near-miracle. The Pentagon isn't the only headquarters where change is needed.

Bad Driver Clamp

(From The New York Herald Tribune)
It seems elementary that the New York driver who commits a serious traffic offense in another state ought to have the dereliction entered against him at home. And the same procedure should apply in reverse.

Yet the curious situation exists where a driver licensed in this state has kept sufficiently within the law on New York highways not to have suffered suspension or revocation of his credentials, but his total record in all states obviously marks him as unsafe.

Now this plainly makes no sense. The conviction in Connecticut or New Jersey or anywhere is just as serious as though it had happened in New York. It should be charged against the driver by the reciprocal exchange of information. That such a loophole has existed since the beginning of the automobile is a reflection on New York and other states. It shows how inadequate the driver's license can be as the supposed guaranty of competence at the wheel, and suggests greater possibilities in highway safety through better regulation.

Certainly it is a forward step that Governor ROCKEFELLER will press in the coming Legislature for a law which removes the old deficiency. The bad driver is to be fully recognized as such.

The offense against safety is dangerous anywhere, and the mere incident of state boundaries shouldn't be allowed to give the culprit an extra opportunity to inflict death and damage.

Paul Flowers' GREENHOUSE

By coincidence come two reminders of drama in this fascinating big world, and they seem to have a link.

The mail brings a letter from Alice Abu-Sammra, the Christian Arab high school girl in whose home I visited in the old fortress of Acre last January, and simultaneously announcement of the Bonds for Israel dinner at Baron Hirsch Synagogue in Memphis Wednesday evening.

Alice, who writes well in English, and of course is familiar with both Arabic and Hebrew, asks to know more and more about these fabulous states, and I try to send pictures and things to her. She represents one of the treasured experiences I had in the Holy Land almost a year ago. Her mother and grandmother rolled out the red carpet for the American journalist, and Alice has kept me posted on events ever since.

Tomorrow evening I shall go from the Pine Hills Parent-Teacher Association to Baron Hirsch, and relive many of the moments, for at the P-TA I shall show my colored Israel slides and later at the Synagogue I shall hear one of Judaism's great men, Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, bring us all up to date on what happens in the new country now going into its 11th year of life.

From Alice I get word from the hearth and fireside of a tiny apartment in the ancient fort where Richard the Lionhearted went ashore; from Dr. Silver's lips I shall hear fresh tidings of the young and dynamic land where life began anew for almost two million persons. I shall be reminded of what those Israel bonds produce.

Max Berton, here for the Bonds for Israel campaign, fell into a researching mood the other day and came up with a parallel, how Memphis, once sorely stricken by yellow fever, rose from the dead to become a leader of Southern communities, even as much more recently a strip of land on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean experienced a rebirth and now takes its place as pioneer of a new way of life in the land where so many civilizations have come and gone.

I shall hear Dr. Silver, and I shall be thinking about Alice, the Christian Arab high school girl, who, thanks to Israel's vision, has the opportunity for an education, and even has a choice in which language she will use to get that education.

One of the deepest impressions I got in Israel was the attitude of the Israeli toward other faiths. The government, and the people, seemed to have an extraordinary respect and reverence for all holy places and shrines, whether Jewish, Moslem or Christian. I marveled at the magnificent Young Men's Christian Association building in Jerusalem, in sight of a great mosque, and a stone's throw from the site of an ancient synagogue.

All this revived, by a letter from a Christian Arab girl in Acre, and the invitation to hear a modern prophet of Israel, while the President of the United States is being acclaimed by millions of still another culture and faith, in Pakistan.

Here is the opportunity for nearly everybody to get into the act to produce a great book of Tennessee folk songs.

George W. Boswell, professor of English at Austin Peay State College, Clarksville, is compiling a monumental collection of old favorites, and he needs help. He has implored Greenhouse to implore all readers to search their memories, trunks and attics for sheet music of the ancient and more recent ones, together with legends and facts about origins and history.

He mentions specifically the Robin Hood, Young Charlotte, Sir Patrick Spence, and Cotton-Eyed Joe numbers; he also wants "Twelve Months Dead," "Stagolee," "Pretty Saro," "The Lowlands Low," "Lady Margaret," and "The Devil's Nine Questions."

Any help for Brother Boswell? Time's a-wastin'.

Shrinkage: A normal child has about 270 bones in its body at birth, but by the time it has reached adulthood the number of bones has decreased to 206. It's because some separate bones fuse together. For instance seven of the bones are "lost" because five vertebrae fuse into the sacrum, and four fuse into coccyx of the spinal column.

The Zodiac restaurant, of Neiman-Marcus at Dallas recently featured these items on its menu: "Wrapped children," "Mother-in-law's eyes," "Old Clothes." It was during a South American promotion, and in South America "wrapped children" are plain banana fritters, "mother-in-law's eyes" are stuffed prunes and "old clothes" is the name of a sauce served on flank steak.

Eisenhower Symbol Of Hope

relieve the days of imperial greatness.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower undertook in the talks here to convince Segni and his colleagues that the United States regards Italy as a vital and important member of the North Atlantic alliance to be consulted on all major questions. The same emphasis is going into the conversations in Greece and Turkey. The objective is to overcome the feeling among the smaller NATO members that they are merely satellites in the train of the United States, Great Britain and France.

For Segni the President had a special motive in pouring on the warmth of his good will. The Italian prime minister came to Washington two days after Khrushchev had left and Eisenhower was suffering from a bad cold. He saw Segni for only one official luncheon and as the prime minister left the White House the President was taking off from the south lawn in his helicopter for a long rest in Southern California.

THE opposition press, and particularly the Communists, made much of what was represented as a deliberate slight. While he did not show it during his tour of America, the sensitive Segni squirmed under this attack. He had come over because his prestige needed a booster and the net result seemed to be to downgrade Italy and the Segni government with the contrast of the outpouring for Khrushchev all too glaring.

A principal reason for Segni's uncertainty is the division within the Christian Democratic Party between the conservatives, whom he represents, and the liberal faction headed by Amintore Fanfani. But at a party meeting in Florence recently a compromise was reached. Fanfani got seven places on the 23-member executive committee, and four Fanfani men are in the cabinet.

What is more important, the Segni government has moved to adopt a law against monopolies and a new law benefiting agriculture. Fanfani cannot in any event supplant Segni and the likelihood is for stability for the Segni coalition, which depends for its majority on the extreme neo-Fascist right, through another year.

YET, THIS political arrangement seems inevitably provisional. It wavers between a past that cannot be restored and a future that it cannot bring into being. The crust of caste, custom, tradition, privilege—men of great wealth pay little or no taxes—is too thick. Despite recent heavy losses, the Communist Party in a country that is overwhelmingly Catholic continues to be the largest outside Russia and China. The claimed membership is now under 2 million and the vote of the Communists and their allies, the Nenni Socialists, is 37 per cent of the total.

As almost everyone agrees, these are not real Communists but embittered men and women who see no other form of protest. Underlying all this is the wonderful vigor of the Italian people who in a moment of emotional enthusiasm can cheer themselves hoarse for 'Ike' as a symbol of hope for the future.

Congressional Quiz

Q.—Many witnesses have cited the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution to justify a refusal to answer questions put by a congressional committee. In so doing, they are using a constitutional right (a) to freedom of conscience; (b) to freedom of speech; (c) against self-incrimination?

A.—(c). Under the Fifth Amendment, a witness in a Federal criminal case may not be compelled to testify against himself. Courts have interpreted this right to apply to questions put by a congressional committee if the witness believes his answers might lay him open to Federal criminal prosecution.

Hungary's Case
Irk's Red Boss

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON.—It is now becoming clear why Premier Khrushchev was so inordinately touchy about the "captive nations" resolution which Congress passed on the eve of Vice President Nixon's trip to Russia earlier this year.

You will recall that Mr. K. talked about it on every occasion, as if he couldn't get it off his mind. Why was Mr. Khrushchev so sensitive over an expression of opinion by Congress which simply said that we did not accept Soviet domination of the nations of Eastern Europe as unalterable?

The answer is beginning to come out at the Hungarian Communist Party Congress in Budapest. It adds up to one conclusion: That the Kremlin has been genuinely worried about the stability of the Hungarian Communist regime which it was able to save three years ago only with Soviet troops and tanks.

WHAT EMERGES from the party congress in Budapest is this:

Thirty-six months after the Hungarian revolution, the Soviet forces still must occupy Hungary to keep its unpopular and unwanted regime in power. And the Hungarian Communist leader, Janos Kadar, with Mr. Khrushchev listening attentively, "assures" the Hungarian people that Russian troops would remain in Hungary as long as needed.

And why are they needed? Mr. Kadar could not bring himself to speak the truth. He blandly explained that they were needed to deal with threats from outside Hungary, but Mr. K. did not stoop to these little dishonesties. He said frankly that "external forces"—like those of Western "imperialists"—do not constitute any danger to the Communist camp because, he added, "our strength is greater than theirs."

If external forces, from which Mr. K. says there is no longer any danger, do not require Soviet occupation of Hungary, then it must be internal forces which require it. And that is frankly the fact. Soviet military intervention in Hungary continues unabated. It is so visible in every aspect of the nation's life today that Hungary can only be described as a Soviet military protectorate and, knowing how poorly he himself stands with the Hungarian people, Kadar made it clear it would remain so for the indefinite future.

ALL OF THIS is a pertinent backdrop to the United Nations debate on Hungary. Hungary is a proper and vital matter for the United Nations for three reasons: (1) For the sake of Hungary itself and the rights of the Hungarian people to be free and independent; (2) because the Soviet repression of Hungary is not an isolated incident, it is a pattern of communist policy. The forerunner was the Soviet suppression of the East German uprising in 1953. The pattern was followed again in the use of the Chinese Red army to drown the uprising of the people of Tibet; (3) only as we keep Hungary clearly in mind can we see what Mr. Khrushchev means when he says he favors "non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries."

The presence of Soviet troops in Hungary must be part of that "non-interference."

MR. KHRUSHCHEV is at his bluntest best in explaining to the Budapest congress that Moscow's armed intervention in 1956 was comparable to armed intervention by Czar Nicholas I to put down the Hungarian uprising in 1848 which was aimed at freeing Hungary from the feudal control of the Austrian emperor.

If the editors of Pravda will go back over their own pages they will find that the time was when the Soviet Communists heaped the 1848 intervention as a reactionary aggression against the Hungarian peoples' efforts to throw off the yoke of imperialism.

It seems to me that Mr. K's comparison is absolutely accurate, that he and Czar Nicholas I did exactly the same thing for the same purpose under the same circumstances.

But is this what the Kremlin means when he says it wants "non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries?" I guess it is.

Column Quotes

(From The Milwaukee Journal)

Seldom has any good been said about the American bureaucratic habit of making alphabet soup out of the names of government agencies.

But, at least to one who speaks English, our alphabet soup makes more sense than the German variety. The West German military has decided to abbreviate military titles as a means of cutting down communications costs. And it has come up with some beauties—such as Olap, Ostbtism, Pzfu and Pzpi.

These stand for, in order printed above, Oberfeldapotheker (medical corps man), Oberstabsbootsmann (chief petty officer), Panzerfunker (tank radio operator) and Panzerpionier (armored engineer). Still, maybe it's not so bad. Looking the thing over carefully, the alphabet soup is as easy to pronounce as the full titles for those who can't speak German.
