July 5th, 1928.

Senator Theodore E. Burton,
Park Hotel,
Magnetic Springs, Ohio.

My dear Senator Burton:-

The Temple Men's Club, an organization of all the men of our Temple, is planning to open its 1928-1929 season of activities with an important political symposium on Wednesday evening, October 3d.

It is proposed to have one outstanding representative of the Republican party and one of the Democratic party address this gathering which will bring together perhaps a thousand representative men of our community.

The Committee has expressed a unanimous desire to have you present the program and policies of the Republican party in this campaign. I know of no one more representative or more thoroughly qualified to do it than yourself. Our fellowship will look forward with great eagerness to your coming and will extend to you a most hearty welcome. May we not be favored with an acceptance of our invitation?

With kindest regards, permit me
to remain

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Rabbi Silver:

Accept my thanks for the invitation contained in your letter of yesterday to be present at a political symposium on Wednesday evening, October 3d. That is quite a while ahead, but I will make every effort to be with you and think I can be present. You may call this an acceptance of the invitation. It would only be some unusual contingency that would prevent my being with you.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

NEW ADDRESS

Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver,
The Temple,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I have down on my list of engagements one at the Temple on Oct. 3rd. I have not heard from you for some considerable time and do not know whether arrangements have been made or not. If not, I should of course desire to make other engagements.

I take it you do not take active part in the advocacy of candidates, though of course I should most highly prize your support in my contest for the Senatorship. All indications are exceedingly favorable and I am confident as to the results but am anxious for a majority of such size as will be emphatic.

With my kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

Theodore E. Burton

Senator Theodore E. Burton,
281 Hollenden Hotel,
Cleveland, Ohio.

My dear Senator Burton:-

Permit me to acknowledge receipt of your kind letter of Sept. 22d. We have of course, definitely booked you for The Temple Men's Club on Wednesday evening, October 3d. This promises to be an outstanding event and I know that you will enjoy the meeting.

Please be assured my dear Senator, of my enthusiastic support of your candidacy for the United States Senatorship. I know of no one more qualified to represent this great state in the Senate and no one who would bring greater ability, experience and devotion to the office. I am however, refraining from taking active part in the public advocacy of any candidate. My friends, however, well know my decision in regards to your candidacy.

With kindest regards and looking forward with great pleasure to our meeting again on October 3d, permit me to remain

Very sincerely yours,

AHS/IR
P.S.

It might interest you to know that the speaker in the Symposium for the Democratic platform will be Mr. Newton D. Baker.

JUSTICE SAMUEL KALISCH
738 BROAD STREET

SUPREME COURT OF NEW JERSEY
CHAMBERS

September 26, 1928

Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver,
Cleveland, Ohio.

My dear Dr. Silver:

Pursuant to the promise made you when I was in Cleveland last Spring, I am sending under separate cover a manuscript which I found among my father's papers entitled: "Gesänge zur der am Ende December 5611 A.M. stattfindenden Einweihung der neuen Synagoge" Tiffereth Israel" zu Cleveland, Ohio. Verfasst von Isidor Kalisch Rabbiner und Prediger.

You expressed a desire, if I remember rightly, to possess the same for the purpose of placing it in the archives of the synagogue. The reason I did not send it to you ere this is due to the fact that it was in the possession of Dr. Joshua Bloch, and he only returned it to me a few days before I left for Europe, and owing to a press of judicial work I was constrained to postpone sending the Mss. until now.

I am sure you will be pleased to learn that upon my return home I found a very laudatory article, in "Die Wahrheit", published in Vienna, from the pen of Professor Krauss of that city, concerning the merit of "Studies in Ancient and Modern Judaism," and also a letter from Dr. Magnes of the Hebrew University to the same effect.

I trust you are in the best of health and with kind regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Samuel Kalisch.

*P. S. Instead of sending the Mss under separate cover
I am enclosing it herein S. K.*

Sept. 28th, 1928.

Justice Samuel Kalisch,
738 Broad St.,
Newark, N. J.

My dear Justice:-

I wish to thank you very much for your great kindness in sending to the Temple the dedicatory hymn which your distinguished father composed on the occasion of the dedication of the new House of Worship of Tifereth Israel. I am having the manuscript bound and otherwise treated so that it will be well preserved and I shall exhibit it in the Temple library. I need not tell you that the officers of the Temple join me in extending to you our thanks.

I am happy to learn of the fine reviews which your book has received. I have read it with a great deal of pleasure and profit.

With kindest regards, permit me
to remain

My dear Mr. Rubinstein:-

Last year you graciously accepted the invitation which was extended to you through me by The Temple Women's Association to participate in a Sunday Afternoon Musicales. But some time thereafter you found it impossible to be present on the day set because of a conflict in your program.

The Association is again planning this year a similar Musicales for Sunday, February 3d, 1929 at 4:30 p. m. We are inviting again Mr. Salzinger, who was with us last year and Mr. de Ribaupierre.

We would be deeply appreciative if you would favor us this year with your presence and with the rendition of one or two selections.

The Association will be pleased to pay the same fee which it did last year, knowing full well that it is only its limited treasury which makes this sum so modest.

My dear Bishop Rogers:-

My Temple Men's Club holds annually a Fellowship Dinner Meeting to which each member of the Club brings a non-Jewish friend and which is addressed by representative leaders of Protestantism, Catholicism and Judaism. These meetings have been very successful both as regards the number of people whom they attracted and the fine spirit of fellowship which they create.

In the past we have had the pleasure of having such men as Bishop Francis John McConnell of Pittsburgh, now of New York, Prof. A. Eustace Hayden of Chicago, Rev., Joel B. Hayden and others address this Fellowship Dinner.

The Temple Men's Club extends a cordial invitation to you to deliver the message of good-fellowship and inter-religious cooperation this year. The meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, March 6th, 1929 at 6:30 p. m. in Mahler Hall of The Temple. I trust that you will find it possible to accept our invitation.

Gentlemen:

Effective today Mr. T. N. Bates will have charge of Church Advertising, taking over the duties formerly performed by Mr. Geo. P. Bailey, who has been promoted to Office Manager.

Mr. Bates is very well versed in all forms of advertising and may be called on to cooperate in an understanding way with you on any problems related to advertising.

He will call in the very near future to make your personal acquaintance.

Cordially,

J. A. Van Buren,
Classified Advertising Manager.

Miss Flora Rohrheimer,
City.

My dear Miss Rohrheimer:-

Please announce the following:-

The first joint meeting under the auspices of December 12th in Mahler Hall.

The meeting will be open to all the members of The Temple Women's Association and their husbands and to all of the members of The Temple Men's Club and their wives.

An unusually attractive program is being planned for that evening. Mr. John Mason Brown of New York, world renowned traveler and student of affairs will deliver an illustrated lecture on Russia. Other interesting numbers are being planned for the program.

Please reserve the date.

Very truly yours,

Dear Madam:

I have just received the contract for Mr. John Mason Brown for December 12th, and your covering letter. There must be some misunderstanding, as Mr. Brown is not illustrating his talk on Russia. In looking over the exchange of wires before sending the contract, I cannot find that any mention was made of illustrations. Mr. Brown does illustrate several of his talks on the theatre, but not this one on Russia. It is a splendid interesting talk, designed to show why the modern Russian theatre is as it is.. One must know the political, social and cultural conditions to appreciate the radical and usual development of the theatre in Russia.

I recommend this talk of Mr. Brown's very highly, and am sure that you will enjoy it. It has much in it, and is delivered in a humorous and interesting manner.

Yours very truly,

ALL QUOTATIONS ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE IF NOT ACCEPTED WITHIN 30 DAYS. PARTIES ARE TO FURNISH STEREOPTICON OR MOVING PICTURE MACHINE AND OPERATOR AS REQUIRED FOR ILLUSTRATED LECTURES UNLESS OTHER ARRANGEMENTS ARE MADE.

Rabbi A. H. Silver,

Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Sir:

I have had your letter of November 17th in answer to mine of the 15th, and I certainly am sorry that I misunderstood you on the matter of the lecture for John Mason Brown. When you chose him after receiving my wire, I thought it was because you had been in touch with the Little Theatre in Cleveland, where Mr. Brown lectured on Russia with great success. I did not understand that you wanted an illustrated lecture on Russia. If I had, I would have advised you that Mr. Brown was not using illustrations for the Russian talk, although illustrations are available for all his other talks.

Since you so obviously want an illustrated lecture, there are two other speakers about whom I enclose circulars, and whom I would recommend to you. They are Harry Franck, whose fee would be $200.00, and Captain Salisbury, whose fee would be $300.00. Both of these are excellent speakers, the latter having motion pictures of the South Seas, which might prove more entertaining than Mr. Franck's lecture on better known parts of the world. If either of these suggestions interest you for December 12th, I should be glad to hear from you.

It will of course be necessary for you to furnish the motion picture and stereopticon equipment for each of these speakers, as of course they do not carry this with them.

If it were not necessary for you to have illustrations, I would still urge you to have Mr. Brown. His description of affairs in Russia is so vivid that you see things and the people there so clearly that pictures would be almost superfluous. He sketches the background of life in Moscow and Leningrad, and his mention of the theatre is but a very small part of what he has to say.

Regretting the misunderstanding, and hoping that one of my other suggestions may prove feasible, I am

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Smith

The Pond Bureau,

Gentlemen:-

Under date of Nov. 8th you sent us the following telegram:

"Beebe unavailable December twelfth Suggest E.A. Salisbury, three hundred dollars, Harry Franck, two hundred
John Mason Brown, excellent on Russia
Made great hit Little Theatre in October His fee two hundred dollars."

From your telegram we assumed that Mr. Brown speaks on Russia and not on the Russian Theatre. We assumed also that his lecture is illustrated. That was the type of lecture that we wanted for this particular meeting. So that on November 9th we wired you the following:

"Temple Women's Association will engage services of John Brown for illustrated lecture on Russia Wednesday, December twelfth. Honorarium two hundred dollars. Please wire confirmation."

This telegram clearly stated that this was to be an illustrated lecture on Russia. We are therefore greatly surprised to receive your letter telling us that not only is this lecture not on Russia, but that it is not illustrated. You will therefore cancel our engagement with Mr. Brown.

If you can suggest to us some other lecturer who will give us an illustrated travel address at the same price, we shall be very glad to consider him.

With kindest regards, permit me to remain

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Rabbi Feuer:

Mr. Sol. Levinson, who is a member of our Congregation, spoke for us last evening, and as he has done on four or five previous occasions, he acquitted himself exceedingly well. He is an able and forceful speaker, and needless to say, because he is the author of "The Outlawry of War" program, he knows his subject thoroughly. Our audience was deeply impressed and gratified with his presentation of the "Kellogg-Briand Treaty -- What Does It Mean?"

I doubt whether you will be able to secure Mr. Levinson, in view of the fact that he is repeatedly declining invitations to speak. You might, however, try. He can be reached at 134 South La Salle Street, Chicago.

My dear Max:-

I am enclosing herewith an announcement of Capt. Salisbury's motion picture and lecture. You will see from the description of the lecture and the glowing comments about it that we have a great treat in store for us.

We have made arrangements to have the meeting open with the kindling of the Chanukah lights and sinking of "The Rock Of Ages" by the audience. Cantor Kantor will then sing one or two appropriate Hebrew songs. The lecture and moving picture will last about an hour and a half.

I have asked The Pond Bureau to send us a thousand of the enclosed circular. We may wish to distribute them among our people. I have also requested twenty-five display cards and some photographs. Should you decide to mail any letters to your members announcing this meeting it might perhaps be well to wait until we get these circulars from The Pond Bureau.

I learn that Captain Salisbury's films are on 2000 foot reels. I am not sure whether your machine is equipped to take this size. If not, of course he would have to send the film to you earlier in the day so that it could be re-wound on 1000 foot reels.

I suggest that as he is now on tour that you address him at the Detroit-Leland Hotel, in Detroit, so that he may know what to do about the film, and arrange to arrive in Cleveland early enough to change the reels if your machine should require it.

I confess I had to look up "Who's Who" to get your full name. I am astounded also at your youth as I have heard of you for several years and it may be only in part a compliment for me to say that you look and speak far beyond the adolescence of thirty-five years. When you referred to me as "young man" I, sitting on the edge of sixty-three, thought you had at least some weight of years.

I am also glad to know that you were born in Lithuania. I imagine that most people think of Lithuania as a sort of outer barbarism, or the inferior race myth which you spoke about last Sunday.

At all events, I am enclosing copy of my readjustment plan as it was tendered to the Congressional Record by Senator Borah. It was originally published simultaneously in the Chicago Daily News and the New Republic. I apologize for thrusting upon you so much of business and financial mathematics but I trust you will not be too much bored.

I wonder what progress you are making in getting up the list of out of town students. I do not know whether I made myself perfectly clear over the telephone.

The Temple would like to have a complete list of the sons and daughters of its members who are attending out of town schools and colleges. These boys and girls need not necessarily be confirmants of the Temple - just so they are children of Temple members. We would like to have their names as well as the names of their parents and the schools which they are attending.

Mrs. Furth tells me that she gave you a list of such young people. By calling up a few of them you may receive some additional names from them. This holiday season is the best time to get up such a list.

My dear Effie:-

I am enclosing herewith a list of the names of the Temple boys and girls who are away at school. I am sure that this list is incomplete. Would you try to complete this list by calling up some of the parents whose children are away at school. They may know of others whose names you haven't as yet.

My dear Mr. Salzinger:-

I have tried for two days to get in touch with you but without success. I was told that you too had suffered from the "flu". I hope that you are now fully recovered.

I am anxious to get the full set-up for the musical afternoon at the Temple on February 3d. Someone told me that Mr. Eisenberg has been ill and may not be able to play. Is that true? If not, will you please write me whether you have definitely engaged him and I would appreciate also if you would send me a complete program of your own selections and those of Mr. Eisenberg and Mr. Eyle.

Mrs. Silver enjoyed meeting your charming daughter and hopes that we may have the pleasure of having you both at our home in the very near future.

With kindest regards, permit me

Can you get me a photograph of Mr. Eisenberg and also one of Mr. Eyle. We have yours at the Temple.

Dear Miss Rothenberg-

I cannot locate a single photograph at this moment. Am venturing to send you a half-tone cut which may be useful. If, however, you want pictures screened for newspaper use, this will not do. I rather fancy that the Cleveland papers have cuts of me in their files.

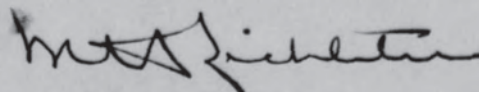

If the promised 'sitting' is carried through and I can get press prints in time, I will forward them.

Dear Sir:

I have gone over with some care the material that I should use in talking about "Whither Business?" and have reluctantly reached the conclusion that to you an acceptable job would require more additional time and work than I can now devote to it.

My suggestion is that you try for an entirely different sort of presentation of the subject and ask Charlie Adams to talk about it. He would surely do a fine job, and I think your people would be enthusiastic about it. I am sorry I cannot do it.

My dear Dr. Hatton:-

On Wednesday evening, April 3d my Temple Men's Club will hold a Symposium on "Whither Mankind?"

Dr. George W. Crile will speak on "Whither Science?" Prof. Henry Miller Busch, of Western Reserve University on "Whither Society?" Allard Smith, President of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce on "Whither Business?"

We are anxious to have some one who can speak with authority to present the subject "Whither Politics?" The Committee has unanimously voted to extend an invitation to you to deliver this address in the Symposium. Each address should last no more than thirty minutes.

Our aim in this Symposium is to point out the newer trends which have set in in the great departments of human life, what we may expect in the proximate future and how we may prepare for the changes which are to take place. The Temple will be most happy to take care of your traveling expenses plus the modest honorarium of $50.

I trust that you will be able to come to us. We are very eager to see you again and I am sure that the Cleveland Community is eager to receive a message from you again. We expect from seven to eight hundred people at this meeting. Will you please wire your reply?

Dear Sir:

This letter is to advise you that at its meeting last night the Board of the Alumni Association adopted the recommendation of the Activities Committee with regard to its program of activities for next year, with the exception that the annual meeting is to be held in May instead of October or November, and that the three dollar due is to cover all the activities, except the dinner instead of the dance.

With regard to the second proposal as to the age limit, the Board under the constitution has no authority to take final action, but the Board did recommend to the annual meeting, which will be held on May 12th, the adoption of the proposal to limit membership in the Association to those of eighteen years and over. The provision not to be retroactive, but to apply only to succeeding classes.

My dear Rabbi Feuer:-

I shall be more than pleased to accept your kind invitation to the Temple Luncheon, assuming, of course, that it comes at a time when I will be at home. My mother has informed me that the day tentatively picked is between Christmas and the New Year; if so, I will surely be in Cleveland.

Needless to say, I would be happy to make any remarks that either you or Rabbi Silver think will prove of interest. But it so happens that you have suggested a topic upon which I possess almost no information. Two years in Law School have been devoted entirely to a legal, as distinct from a Jewish life, and the result has been to leave me entirely out of touch with college affairs. Under those circumstances, you can readily see that one of the present undergraduates would be far better equipped to handle your subject. I might add, though, that if you considered a topic such as the so-called anti-Semitic prejudice at Harvard, or our recent educational developments appropriate for the occasion, I would be very glad to offer you my services.

SALMON O. LEVINSON, FATHER OF THE OUTLAWRY
OF WAR TO SPEAK AT THE TEMPLE.

Mr. Salmon O. Levinson, distinguished member of the Chicago Bar who is credited with having inspired the Brian-Kellogg Treaty will occupy the pulpit of The Temple, East 105th Street and Ansel Road Sunday morning, at 10:30 a. m. Rabbi Silver has postponed his own address scheduled for that morning in order that the community may have an opportunity to receive a message from Mr. Levinson at this critical time when the Peace Pact is up for ratification in the Senate.

Mr. Levinson has been prominently mentioned for the 1929 Nobel Prize for his great contribution to the cause of peace. His idea, the Outlawry of War has triumphed and is about to become part of the international law of mankind.

A recent editorial tribute to Mr. Levinson by an outstanding newspaper in his own city states:

"It is not in any sense an exaggeration to say that had it not been for the forcefulness and persistence with which he advocated his idea, both in this country and in Europe, the multilateral treaty renouncing war would not, today, be on the road to certain ratification.

An interesting thing about the Levinson campaign to get this idea before the world is the fact that it has been largely a one-man campaign. Most men, when they get an idea that they think of importance to their fellows, either write a book about it or form a propaganda organization. Mr. Levinson has done neither. Others have written books about the Levinson idea, and organizations already existing have helped in a small way to promote it; but Salmon O. Levinson has been his own book and his own organization. He has spent his own time and his own money for the last ten years and more in reaching the ears and the understandings of key men. He has raised no funds, invited no subscriptions, enrolled no members, subsidized no agencies and launched no magazines. But he has been in the capitals of Europe. He has talked with statesmen and publicists. He has commuted between Chicago and Washington. We venture to say there are few, if any parallels in history to this remarkable development of one man's idea through one man's effort."

Your Committee desires to submit the following resolutions for the approval of the Board:-

Interpreting and Applying Science to Daily Life and Happiness

A New Series of Brilliant, Enlightening Discussions

Albert Edward Wiggam

Author of "The Fruit of the Family Tree" "The New Decalogue of Science" and "The Next Age of Man" --- Distinguished Author and Publicist

LONG before he became famous as a writer Albert Edward Wiggam was noted as one of the most eloquent and graceful orators of America. His aim is not to explain the wonders of science but rather to interpret and apply science to daily life and happiness.

He enjoys the unique distinction of having had two best non-fiction sellers running at the same time for more than two years, "The New Decalogue of Science" and "The Fruit of the Family Tree." His last book "The Next Age of Man" is rousing nation-wide interest — a prophecy of man's earthly future when science takes control of human evolution. His new book, to be published this fall, "Making Science Human," is a discussion of science and happiness. Some of the chapters, already published in magazine form have brought Mr. Wiggam letters by the thousand from every English-speaking country on the globe.

Mr. Wiggam now has two books under way, "Brains and Where They Come From," and "The Optimisms of Science."

The first copies of the New Decalogue of Science are now selling among collectors at $25.00 a copy. In a recent review of his latest book, "The Next Age of Man" the Boston Transcript commented: "Mr. Wiggam would not be Mr. Wiggam if he did not leave the sun shining in our faces."

HE is a member of the editorial staff of the American Magazine, and a contributor to many other magazines, such as Century, Good Housekeeping, Pictorial Review, Cosmopolitan, World's Work, Collier's Weekly, etc.

His syndicated Sunday feature newspaper articles reach an audience of ten millions.

He is a native of Indiana, is 56 years of age and now lives in New York. He is a member of the famous New York Dutch Treat Club, the Authors' League, the Players' Club and many scientific societies.

EXPLORATIONS

1904—Private Expedition to Iceland.

1905—Archaeological Expedition to Iceland under auspices of Peabody Museum of Harvard University.

1906-7—Ethnological Expedition to Eskimos of Mackenzie River Delta (18 months), financed by Harvard University and Toronto University jointly.

1908-12—Expedition under auspices of American Museum of Natural History, New York, and Government of Canada (53 months).

Explored Arctic Alaska and Arctic Canada. Placed on the map a previously unexplored river as large as the Hudson, spent a year with Eskimos who had never seen a white man and who were living in the Stone Age.

1913-18—Commander Canadian Arctic Expedition.

In Spring of 1914 Stefansson, and his two companions, traveled 600 miles over unexplored Arctic pack, going north from Martin Point, Alaska. On this journey Stefansson proved that polar travel over sea ice could be made, depending on hunting instead of provisions carried along. This accomplishment revolutionized Arctic travel and destroyed the old theory of a lifeless polar sea.

1915—Discovered Brock and Borden Islands.

1916—Explored islands already discovered and discovered new lands north of Prince Patrick Island.

1917—Ran line of soundings 100 miles northwest of Cape Isachsen, showing the Polar Sea to be shallow in this region.

Stefansson has explored over 100,000 square miles of Arctic territory and has traveled over 20,000 miles by sled and dog team, living for more than half that time and distance exclusively by his rifle.

1918—Party of five traveled 200 miles north from Alaska, camped there on a floe five miles in diameter and drifted with it 450 miles, living by hunting while they carried on their scientific studies of the ocean. They were absent from shore eight months.

1923—Financed and sent out an expedition to the strategic Wrangel Island, off the coast of Siberia.

1924—Traveled in the interior of Australia to make a comparative study of the Tropics and the Arctic.

VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON is an outstanding figure in the lecture world to-day. He combines as do few others a record of achievement in polar exploration which has made him world-famous, with all the powers of a great public speaker.

He is direct and simple in stating his facts. A lad of ten can be as interested in the adventure and romance as an older mind in the ideas that he brings forward. His nonchalant telling of how he exploded most of the accepted theories of Arctic travel by using his sense of logic brings out many sharp contrasts of common sense and absurdity.

His wit is keen; ripples of laughter sweep through his audience as they wonder why they have until that very moment accepted without question a lot of pseudo-science that was originally invented for the ancient Greeks. After laughing at themselves awhile, they go home with an entirely new conception of the North, and therefore a new conception, too, of the world as a whole.

"In my opinion he might well be booked as a humorist."—Ellis Parker Butler.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson was born in Manitoba. His parents pioneered both in Canada and the Dakotas. He attended the University of North Dakota and graduated from the University of Iowa. A year in the Harvard Divinity School and two years as a fellow in anthropology at the Harvard Graduate School ended his academic career.

Stefansson sees a future empire in the Arctic, and he puts all his energy into revealing and interpreting the Arctic and into showing the bearing of its potentialities on the future of our race.

He has the force, poise and determination necessary to carry through any undertaking that is humanly possible. No one who knows him, or who has heard him lecture and has read his books of the Far North, can doubt the vision of the man or his sincerity. He is one of those rare persons who understate facts and minimize things accomplished—which is one of the secrets of his charm as a writer and his impressiveness as a lecturer.

Gold Medals have been bestowed on Mr. Stefansson by:

American Geographical Society, New York.

Chicago Geographic Society.

Explorers Club of New York.

Geographical Society of Philadelphia.

National Geographic Society, Washington.

Paris Geographical Society.

Royal Geographical Society, London.

On January 21, 1921, Stefansson received for his explorations and writings a Vote of Thanks from the Canadian Government, moved by the Prime Minister. He is an Honorary Fellow of the American Museum of Natural History, the New York Academy of Sciences, and many other scientific organizations. His degrees are A.B. Iowa, A.M. Harvard, and LL.D. Michigan and Iowa.

"Stefansson will stand for all time as the Great Interpreter of the North."—Dr. Isaiah Bowman, Director, American Geographical Society.

SUMMARY OF THE LECTURES

Abolishing the Arctic

This lecture is designed to remove many misconceptions about the Arctic. It shows that the North Pole has none of the qualities it was formerly supposed to have; that no place in the Arctic has six months daylight and six months darkness; that the thermometer reaches 90° and 100° in the shade in many places within the arctic circle; that you find flowers and bumblebees on the north coasts of the most northerly lands in the world. And so on, abolishing myth and giving a fascinating picture of the true Arctic and the people who live there. This is the lecture Mr. Stefansson always gives to an audience he has never addressed before; it is also his first lecture when he gives a course of two, three or more.

The Friendly Arctic

This is the logical second chapter in the story of the North as Mr. Stefansson tells it. It explains how he and his comrades were able to live in the Arctic by hunting on lands where not even Eskimos had ever been and on sea ice hundreds of miles from any land, doing this for anything from three months to nineteen months at a time, an aggregate of seven out of the eleven years covered by his three Arctic expeditions. It explains why previous explorers had failed to find food and why they had reported complete absence of game animals where he found plenty; it shows how he secured these animals and made use of them for food, clothing, and even for fuel. This method enabled him to advance where others had turned back, so that he discovered new lands which previous explorers had failed to find, and explored and sounded vast areas of frozen ocean which all who previously tried had failed to penetrate. It is one of the world's great adventure stories.

The Northward Course of Empire

This lecture considers historically how we came to be obsessed with the strange ideas about the Far North which are only now gradually dying out. It shows how these ideas have come down to us from the Greeks and traces the various influences which have caused the gradual breakdown of the Greek theory of a lifeless Arctic. It shows the uninterrupted spread of civilization northward from its cradle in the tropics, and shows why that northward trend will not stop until the Arctic is opened up and developed. It then shows the lines along which that development may proceed, dwelling particularly on the coming transpolar commerce by air, which he first not only foretold, but outlined fully in his books and more briefly in the "National Geographic Magazine" and "World's Work," between 1919 and 1922.

Stepping Back into Stone Age Society

It cannot have happened often in the history of the world that the first white man to visit any tribe of Stone Age people was one who spoke their language. When Stefansson discovered those of the Copper Eskimos who live on Dolphin and Union Straits, they had never seen a European, either so far as they knew or so far as we know; they had never seen a match lighted or heard a rifle fired, and did not even recognize their visitor as anything but an Eskimo from a distant tribe. Their weapons and implements were of stone or native copper, their pots were of stone, their platters of wood and their buckets of leather. In mind as well as in material furnishings they were at the level of our own Stone Age ancestors of five or ten thousand years ago. Stefansson stayed with them a year, entered into their daily lives and learned to understand them. His story of their customs, religion and intimate day-to-day living is fascinating in itself, and doubly so when you realize that we have in it a key to the secret of what our own forefathers were like at the time of the last Ice Age, several thousand years before history began.

The Blond Eskimos

This lecture deals with the mystery and the controversy about the peculiar group of Copper Eskimos (so called because they had only copper weapons till within the last ten years) who are known to have had no contact with Europeans in historic time but some of whom nevertheless have blue or gray eyes and other European-like traits, where full-blood Eskimos have brown eyes and look like Chinese. Stefansson covers fully all the theories advanced to explain this "blondness," and gives a clear picture of these remarkable people.

The Greenland Republic and the Discovery of North America in A. D. 1000

This lecture deals with the discovery and colonization of Greenland around 986, and the discovery soon thereafter of the American mainland by the Greenlanders. It tells of the founding in Greenland of the first republic in the western hemisphere—a republic which lasted for more than twice as long as the United States has as yet been a republic. It tells of the daring and adventurous lives of the Greenlanders, with their many voyages to North America, and partially solves, as a result of Mr. Stefansson's own studies, the mystery which till now has cloaked the ultimate fate of the colony.

The Standardization of Error

Ten years ago a reporter for the New Orleans "Times-Picayune" said he had gone to a lecture by Irvin Cobb expecting to laugh and to one by Stefansson expecting to learn, and that he had been disappointed by neither lecture but that he had laughed more during Stefansson's talk than Cobb's. About that same time Ellis Parker Butler, the famous humorist, author of "Pigs is Pigs," said, after hearing Stefansson speak at the City Club, New York, that while "Mr. Stefansson's are the most interesting travel lectures I have ever heard . . . he brings out so many sharp contrasts of common sense and absurdity that, in my opinion, he might well be booked as a humorist." It is the qualities which Butler and the "Times-Picayune" noticed which have made Stefansson's travel and scientific lectures a steadily increasing success for the ten years since these opinions were written. Now he has decided to enter the field of straight humor. He had tried the subject out first in a book called "The Standardization of Error." The book is already a success. William McAndrews, Superintendent of Schools, Chicago, said about it in the "Educational Review" that: "Mark Twain never did anything better." Professor Edward M. East, of Harvard, the famous author of "Mankind at the Cross-Roads," wrote about it in the "Saturday Review of Literature" that: "If any other scrivener has packed as much humor and as much common sense between eighty-three pages, I have yet to see the product." The lecture called by the same title as this book resembles it in manner but differs in subject matter.

"The Standardization of Error" is the only lecture that is not illustrated; but any of the lectures can be given effectively without illustrations. Mr. Stefansson ordinarily speaks for 50 to 70 minutes, and then shows pictures from 20 to 40 minutes; but when he shows no slides the talk is made correspondingly longer.

Stefansson also offers for Lecture Foundations, Colleges, etc., a Series of from 3 to 12 Lectures on the history of geographic discovery from 500 B. C. to the current year. Write for information.

WHAT LEADING ORGANIZATIONS SAY OF STEFANSSON'S LECTURES

Tufts College, Mass.

Everyone is enthusiastic over Stefansson as a lecturer. His facts, comments, delightful humor, personal experiences and fine English made this one of the most enjoyable lectures the students have heard. He has won the student body and faculty here.—DR. LEE S. MCCOLLESTER, Dean of the Crane Theological School.

Roger Babson Institute, Boston, Mass.

Let me tell you how pleased we were with Mr. Stefansson's lecture on Sunday afternoon. It was a masterpiece. The ushers state that hardly anyone of the two or three hundred who were standing left during the two-hour talk. I consider his address one of the very best combinations of educational and entertainment value of which I know.—ROGER W. BABSON.

Agricultural College, Fargo, N. D.

I think I have heard to-night the best lecture that it shall ever be my pleasure to listen to. I cannot imagine how this lecture could have been improved upon in any particular.—M. O. WESTLEY, Hannaford, N. D.

League for Political Education, New York

Stefansson's three lectures before the League for Political Education in the Town Hall on Friday evenings in January and February made a deep impression. The audience at the first lecture was very large and at the two others increased to the capacity of the hall.—ROBERT ERSKINE ELY, Director.

University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah

I hope it is a satisfaction to you to know that many of us believe that Stefansson is rendering the people a genuine service in giving such talks as I heard him give in Utah. I wish we had more material of the kind to set before our hungry American public.—DR. JOHN A. WIDTSOE, President.

The Boston City Club, Boston, Mass.

I want to express in behalf of the members of the City Club their deep appreciation of Mr. Stefansson's magnificent lecture Thursday night. It was one of the most interesting, instructive and original talks we have ever had. We shall always remember it.—LLOYD B. HAYES, Civic Secretary.

Export Managers Club, New York

Stefansson's address was one of the most interesting that we ever heard, and I have been delighted with the numerous references made to it by friends with whom I have talked during the last ten days.—E. B. FILSINGER.

Associated Industries of Massachusetts, Boston.

Dr. Stefansson made a splendid contribution to the success of our annual dinner program. It seemed to be the general consensus of opinion that his auditors would have been glad to have remained until midnight had he chosen to go on with his theme. . . . He whetted their appetites for more knowledge of the Arctic, and he brushed away the whole gamut of superstitions that most of us have thoroughly believed in. He really gave us an entirely different aspect of the Far North than we had previously held.—O. L. STONE, General Manager.

Glens Falls, New York

Every day I realize more what a success Stefansson's lecture was. It certainly set the whole town talking. It is quite amusing to sit in the trolley and hear perfect strangers say such things as this: "Are you going to the Arctic this Summer?" and the answer: "No—the mosquitoes are too thick!" And on all sides people are saying it was the most instructive and interesting evening they ever spent.—MRS. S. CARTER HALL.

Nebraska State Teachers College, Wayne, Nebr.

Stefansson's lecture here February 9th was enjoyed more than any other lecture I have ever witnessed in my four years at the Wayne State Teachers College.—WILLIAM E. JOHNSON.

Women's University Club, New York City

The Club was thoroughly interested and delighted. Knowing them as I do as an audience, I want to say that I have never seen them so absorbed continuously . . . they responded to the conviction of Stefansson's immensely significant facts, so tellingly presented, and will not forget them.—ISABEL F. CONANT.

Newark Museum, Newark, N. J.

We all enjoyed Mr. Stefansson tremendously, and he held his audience so that you could hear a pin drop.

Men's Club, Pelham, N. Y.

Stefansson was a great success. I have heard nothing but praise and commendation on all sides, and we look forward to having him with us again.

WILL IRWIN

WILL IRWIN

"The Ace of Correspondents"

Will Irwin is a product of the west, and his career has indeed been an interesting one. From a "cub" on the San Francisco Chronicle, he rose fast in journalistic ranks, became a star reporter in Frisco, then New York, and was finally made editor of McClure's. When war came on Irwin was one of the first correspondents in the field; in fact he was the first English-speaking prisoner of war, when back in 1914, he, with Irwin Cobb and John T. McCutcheon, were held by the German commanders for a time.

His memorable story of "Ypres" was read the world over, and because he told the truth about this epoch of the war, he was literally blacklisted by the English and French armies. In true American style, he went right to Lloyd George about the matter and the Premier wiped out the journalistic "blockade" with a stroke of his pen, and warmly complimented Irwin on his story.

Following the war Irwin was under fire in the Ruhr rebellion, and later visited Russia and many other countries of the world, studying social, political and industrial conditions. His splendid efforts as a war correspondent won for him the title "The Ace of Correspondents."

His new book, "The Next War," created a sensation and immediately became a "best seller." Dr. Frank Crane, in the Chicago Daily News, pronounced it "the greatest book of the century," and lamented the fact that it could not be placed in every church, school and home in the United States.

Subjects: "The Next War," "Tainted Truth."

*Noted Indiana Novelist

and Editorialist*

Self-Styled "Provincial American"

MEREDITH NICHOLSON proudly boasts that he is a "provincial American." His writings mirror this fact—just as they reveal that he is steeped in Hoosier traditions. Yet this popular American author expresses one thing even more clearly in his writings, and that is the Westward movement of the world. The romantic, indomitable spirit of the pioneer also finds expression and he discloses, not an individual consciousness but rather the consciousness of the people.

ACTIVE IN AFFAIRS OF STATE

Down in Indiana they will tell you that Meredith Nicholson revels in an atmosphere of politics as well as literature, and that he is a man of wide influence in civic life and affairs of state. In high political councils he is credited with the gift of prophecy, due to a life-long attention to public affairs. Everything that is of contemporaneous human interest affords him entertainment. At fifteen he left school in Indianapolis and educated himself by a variety of occupations, so that at twenty-one he had the equivalent of a college education. His literary ambition was stimulated through acquaintances with Lew Wallace, the author of "Ben Hur," with whom his father had served in the Civil War, through glimpses of Edward Eggleston, and the near presence of James Whitcomb Riley.

At sixteen he had written two volumes of verse. His essays have attracted wide attention and America knows his leading fiction volumes such as "Broken Barriers," "Lady Larkspur," "Port of Missing Men," "The House of a Thousand Candles" and "A Chevalier of the Cumberland," now running in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. He will discuss literary themes and current events. He is one of Indiana's ablest speakers.

For two years he was a feature writer in the London office of the Christian Science Monitor and a constant contributor to the New Statesman and the Westminster Gazette. In September, 1923, the Daily News sent him to Spain as special correspondent for the military coup d'etat. He lived there for one year and has since returned to make Spain his temporary home.

The Temple Women's Association takes pleasure in sending you $10.00 toward the fund which you are raising for the poor because it wishes to cooperate with you. It doubts however, the wisdom of the Federation of Women's Clubs to undertake this work. It believes that there are many other agencies in the community which are charged with the responsibility of doing this kind of community service.

With kindest regards,

SALMON O. LEVINSON, FATHER OF THE OUTLAWRY
OF WAR TO SPEAK AT THE TEMPLE.

Mr. Salmon O. Levinson, distinguished member of the Chicago Bar who is credited with having inspired the Brian-Kellogg Treaty will occupy the pulpit of The Temple, East 105th Street and Ansel Road Sunday morning, at 10:30 a. m. Rabbi Silver has postponed his own address scheduled for that morning in order that the community may have an opportunity to receive a message from Mr. Levinson at this critical time when the Peace Pact is up for ratification in the Senate.

Mr. Levinson has been prominently mentioned for the 1929 Nobel Prize for his great contribution to the cause of peace. His idea, the Outlawry of War has triumphed and is about to become part of the international law of mankind.

A recent editorial tribute to Mr. Levinson by an outstanding newspaper in his own city states:

"It is not in any sense an exaggeration to say that had it not been for the forcefulness and persistence with which he advocated his idea, both in this country and in Europe, the multilateral treaty renouncing war would not, today, be on the road to certain ratification.

An interesting thing about the Levinson campaign to get this idea before the world is the fact that it has been largely a one-man campaign. Most men, when they get an idea that they think of importance to their fellows, either write a book about it or form a propaganda organization. Mr. Levinson has done neither. Others have written books about the Levinson idea, and organizations already existing have helped in a small way to promote it; but Salmon O. Levinson has been his own book and his own organization. He has spent his own time and his own money for the last ten years and more in reaching the ears and the understandings of key men. He has raised no funds, invited no subscriptions, enrolled no members, subsidized no agencies and launched no magazines. But he has been in the capitals of Europe. He has talked with statesmen and publicists. He has commuted between Chicago and Washington. We venture to say there are few, if any parallels in history to this remarkable development of one man's idea through one man's effort."
