Rabby Silver esq.

Dear Sir:

For various reasons, the firm I worked for went into bankruptcy, and there is about one-half year's compensation still due me from them.

I was not able to take care of the last installment, which amounts to $10.00, and assure you that it is my intention to pay this amount. If I did not intend to take care of my account, I wouldn't have paid it up with the the exception of a small balance of $10.00, but would have ceased payments at an earlier date.

This is to advise you that payment of $10.00 will be made Wednesday, January 11th, 1922.

Thanking you for your patience in this matter, and assuring you that I appreciate all you have done, I remain,

Very truly yours,

Dear Rabbi:-

My wife has lost her mother, and I would like to know if it is possible for you to mention her name in the Kadish Prayer, although she was not a member of the temple. However, as I am a member, I hope you will be able to do this next Sunday.

Her name is Hannah Klein.

Thanking you for your attention to this favor,
I am,

Respectfully yours,

My dear Rabbi Silver,

In lieu of a desk I am leaning on my Bible, which was not packed for this use at all. I truly regret that I am missing your class this morning and the rest of the meetings this year. It would be my pleasant to be one of the members next season if you continue to meet.

I apologize for this moving train which makes me write so unsteadily. My regards to you. Sincerely yours

Rabbi A. H. Silver
The Temple

Dear Rabbi Silver:-

May I call your attention to an article that appeared in this issue of the Atlantic Monthly by Rabbi Joel Blau of New York City. "The Modern Pharisee" concerns the solution of Jewish problems and deserves the keen criticism of a conscientious article, clear and carefully executed both in matter and form. Rarely has a discussion on this subject aroused my interest

more and I am certain that it well deserves your careful scrutiny. The fact that Ruth Blair conflicts with many of your ideas on the same subject will be of interest to you, I am sure.

Sincerely yours,

S. M. Parsell.

THE CLEVELAND NEWS

CLEVELAND'S BEST NEWSPAPER

9th January 1922

My dear Rabbi Silver:--

In reading Job a day or two ago, I noticed with fresh enthusiasm that pungent commentary on life, "....and ye dig a pit for your friend", Vl:27. Some day, perhaps within a fortnight or three weeks, will you not dictate a Saturday Evening Sermon on "Friendship"? People take on new "friends" without stopping to reckon the cost of friendship, of the demands made by them and the lack of capacity in most of us to have more than two or three real friends, I know you are rushed all the time but whatever you say will reach a large congregation. Will you do this?

Trusting that the year is opening well for those you love best for naturally that means your own happiness, and with thanksgiving that we have such as yourself and Dean White in Cleveland believe me to be,

Sincerely yours

Dear Rabbi,

How can you define the indefinable ? What is there that impels one in the face of gross neglect to continue to make obeisances where all your genuflections and homage are disregarded ? Answer " I dont know ".

Just read your sermon on " The tired business man ". The same thoughts have filtered thru my mind repeatedly but if that is paying myself too high a compliment I will say a modicum of them at least. You are in a class by yourself when it comes to superlative expression. But I see daily what you have so truthfully portrayed in this sermon.

I am enclosing some more of the " outpourings of a troubled spirit " and will look for an early and comprehensive review of them and my booklet .

Wishing you every success and trusting that on your next trip to Wheeling you will not forget " The OLD FOLKS at home ".

Very Sincerely Yours,

Leo Wolf

My dear Rabbi:

I am still under the spell of your eloquent plea for disarmament and peace.
It was wonderful.

Humanity need not despair, while there are men with your enthusiasm and your ability fighting its battles.

The Key to Paradise.

Oh! that I had a thousand tongues
To praise and plead the cause of peace,
The strength and might to right all wrongs,
To make all strife and bloodshed cease!

How beautiful this world would be,
If men were only wise enough
To enter Eden with the key,
That opens every portal: Love!

Progress may be retarded, but it cannot be halted.

The enclosed lines were inspired by your lecture. I, therefore,
send them to you.

With the heartiest wishes
for your happiness, I am

Sincerely Yours

Rabbi A. H. Silver,

January 12th.

Dear Brother,

I have mailed to you a book of views on Glacier National Park.

After we parted, at the University of Penna.
Club luncheon, on Wednesday, it occurred to me that my lecture on Glacier Park might be of use to you at your most busy period. When you are hard pressed with engagements out of the city it is often a problem to obtain someone or something to fill in, in your absence in your social or educational activities, and that this lecture might be of real service to you.

Of course I have an ulterior motive. I am very anxious to have you speak in my pulpit.
Sunday evening Jan 29th or Feb 5th. We have a popular Sunday evening service, and a large audience. I am sure your message on the prophets would be a great inspiration.

Or you may choose your own subject. Your address at the Young Men's Club I consider a masterpiece.
Young people find such fine spiritual suggestion as that. Hoping you will favor us and praying our Heavenly Father to greatly bless you in mind and body and refresh you in soul for the great work you are doing, I am,

Yours Friend

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I am anxious to leave my position as dean of the Baltimore Hebrew College, and I venture to ask you if you would put me under obligation by communicating with your friend whom I have not had the pleasure to meet personally, Dr. Stephen Wise, regarding a teaching vacancy he may have in his projected Seminary. You may write to him that I am the author of "The Problem of Space in Jewish Medieval Philosophy" published by the Columbia University Press, and other scientific articles. My Hebrew literary work may also be mentioned.

I shall feel deeply beholden for any effort you may make in my behalf.
Yours cordially,

My dear Mr. Bloch,

In celebration of Chanukah this year, we had rather a unique entertainment for our children. I am enclosing herewith a program. The entertainment was in the nature of a series of living pictures introduced by nursery rhymes describing them. These rhymes were written by Mrs. Julius Fryer, for a number of years President of the Cleveland Council of Jewish Women.. I believe they are unique and quite clever. They contain much of the Biblical phrase and Biblical idiom. I am sending you a copy of these rhymes. If you think they are worth while publishing, I think Mrs. Fryer would be glad to polish them up a bit and to include instructions for the posing of the pictures.

Kindly let me hear from you at your convenience.

Dear Rabbi Silver,

Having been honored by hearing you for the first time at the Chamber of Commerce meeting this afternoon, my mind began wandering whether you possibly are one of the Silvers whose home I used to visit quite often about fourteen years ago.

At that time your folks lived on 5th Ave. near 1/8 or 1/9th Sts.

And to be sure your older brother's name is Max with whom I used to go out quite a lot, and your sister's names are Bessie & Pearl the younger sister's name I can't recall nor the first names of your beloved parents.

My name is Max Liberman, a tall slender black haired fellow.

If you are a member of the Noble Silver family, it is my great wish that you give me a few minutes of your valuable time by answering me how your folks are and where they reside at the present time.

The last time I visited the Silvers was in July of 1913.

I go to New York every year and would very much love to see them all.

Unless I am greatly mistaken, you sure do look like the Abe Silver whose greatest ambition was to preach to the world the love of man towards themselves and God.

And I believe there isn't anyone who could do this wonderful work more simpler than you did.

I wanted to speak to you in

Rabbi Silver whom I recall knowing so many years back being congratulated for making a wonderful impression on the Commercial and

Rabbi H. Silber

My dear Rabbi: g.

Since last I tried to reach you over the telephone: in both instances I was told you were out of the city. - I had heard the women in your choir were variable and changed teachers frequently. They are living up to their reputation. We did good work at our rehearsals and no director, no! not any one, even your presence^{and} in the house of God can prevent (if so inclined) women from squabbling and therefore be unprepared and unfit to respond or do anything else when the cue is given. It seems persons asked to sing in a church choir.

should have sufficient religious spirit not to talk, but sure not to engage in a controversy as happened last week.
Do you not think it a poor plan to put in the hands of one person the power to engage or dismiss employees of a congregation at their own discretion without consulting others?

The dismissed pre-emptorily. I trust the new director will inspire the members of the Volunteer Choir to attend regularly, promptly and give to them a spirit of reverence.

The remarks of your Chairman as to improvement, good ideas and so forth go counter to action.

Thanks for time consumed in reading
this note.

LETTER TO STOCKHOLDERS.

A detailed report, covering the year 1921, will be presented at the stockholders meeting to be held on February 14th, 1922, but at this time we just want, in a brief way, to outline to you the general business depression of the last year, which was caused by the oil market dropping from $3.50 per barrel down to $1.00, a drop which was unprecedented in the history of the oil business, and was unexpected. Of course, with this decline in the crude oil market, gasoline also went down from 20¢ to 6¢ and 7¢ per gallon and even at that price we were compelled to store for several months, at additional expense, as we were unable to dispose of it at any price, and the situation did not get better until July and August, when the market got easier.

This decline in the market cut the company's income down to where it could just about take care of its operating costs, and even this could not have been done except through the policy of the officers of this Company to cut the cost of operation to a minimum, which was done. To enable the Corporation to take care of some of its outstanding obligations and to assist in the paying of its expenses, it was necessary for the officers and directors to join hands and assist, not only in a moral, but also in a financial way, which we wish to inform you was done faithfully, and their acts and their assistance enabled this Company to pull through this depressing year, and conserve the assets intact for the benefit of the stockholders. Their policies and the manner of their assistance will be outlined, in detail, in our Annual Report.

Now regarding the future. It looks somewhat brighter as oil has increased to $2.00 per barrel during the month of November. Gasoline has also increased somewhat in price, which gives us a little margin of profit to depend on, but this profit is being consumed, at the present time by taking care of some of the obligations which had to be incurred during the depressing time, and in view of the fact that our production declined during that time, as we had shut down all development work, we were compelled to start drilling new wells, which we are very glad to report, have been, more or less, successful, and we have added to our production by this drilling and have also discovered new wells on new properties, which has increased the assets of the Corporation very materially, and will also give us the opportunity to increase our production in the near future by drilling additional wells.

In addition to the drilling campaign, we have purchased some properties at Eldorado, Arkansas, through the assistance of the Directors which has increased our income materially, and which will continue to do so; but which income at the present time, is being consumed in the drilling and paying for these properties. But this gives us an outlook for the future that is very promising, and we expect to be able, unless something unforeseen happens, to give you a very flattering report covering the first four months of 1922 development and operations.

Full statement of assets and liabilities will be mailed to you immediately after the annual meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

Notice to Preferred Stockholders.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors, held at New York City on January 14th, 1922, a resolution was adopted, passing the payment of the dividend on the preferred stock for the period from July 1st, 1921 to December 31st, 1921 on account of the necessity of the Corporation to conserve its resources. This was rendered necessary by reason of the drop in the price of oil and gasoline for the greater portion of the year 1921 and the increased expenses of labor and material.

Esteemed Sir:

I enclose you an article appearing in todays N.Y.Times., for your examination. As a layman I wish to state that I was shocked by the rascality of this so called rabbi who speaks more like a priest or missionary. I earnestly call upon you in the name of Judaism, one whose words carry great weight to nullify this traitors principles. It is a disgrace that a man of such Christian ideas should be permitted to speak from Temple Emanuel. A word or two on this subject this evening by you would not be inopportune.

Hebrews Plan Means to Meet Anti-Semitism

2,000 Delegates Gather at Religious Rallies in New York City.

Speakers Urge Members of Race to Unite, Fight for Rights.

New York, Jan. 11. — Methods for meeting anti-Semitism were the prevailing themes at religious rallies in Manhattan and Brooklyn tonight, which marked the opening of the golden jubilee convention of the Union of American Hebrew congregations. More than 2,000 delegates from all parts of the country are in the city for three concurrent conventions.

At Carnegie hall, the principal speaker, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, Ohio, said:

Must Safeguard Race.

"Judaism, because of its insistence upon national as well as personal righteousness, is perhaps the only religion that has a program of political salvation for the western world. We have much to give the world. We have not yet uttered our last immortal phrase. We must, therefore, for the sake of the world, safeguard the soul of our race.

"And this will be our answer to anti-Semitism," he continued. "We shall not make prejudice the central motive of our life. We shall not permit ourselves to develop a persecution complex and thus lead ingrown lives. The world needs us most when it hates us most.

"America must become the refuge for Jewish scholarship," he declaimed, pleading for more education. "Without learning and study, Judaism cannot survive and Jewry must perish."

'Fight for Your Rights.'

"The Jew who takes insults and discriminations lying down, deserves both," said Rabbi Leon Harrison of St. Louis, Mo., the principal speaker at the Brooklyn meeting. "Fight for your rights, as every race and creed has fought and must fight. And to fight effectively for justice, for complete democratic rights in this democratic land, you must organize and unite."

The three conventions, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods and the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods, will continue for four days.

Rabbi Silver:-

Dear Sir:-

Knowing that you are greatly occupied most of the time, I take this means of consulting you.

During the terrible hardship of the War, I happened to hear of this family, in Poland and how destitute they had become, although originally they were of moderate means. One can see by the enclosed writing, that these people were cultured, refined and proud. Even now, after much privation, the children still are kept at school, the parents sacrificing everything.

It has been my privilege to help these people, not so much financially (as I have no great means) but morally. I have written to them often during these last years and can testify how worthy they are. They are most grateful for any little kindness shown.

I should like to ask your assistance, Rabbi Silver, to help this young man (as you will see from the letter) to accomplish his greatest desire. He seems just the right sort of person needed in Palestine, and with a little aid he could accomplish a great deal. May I hope for your influence to set the proper machinery going? I do not know, what organizations I can appeal to, but feel confident you will advise me.

I am sending you their correspondence, which is more eloquent than anything I can say. They greatly enlarge my actual help to them, but that is probably because they are so destitute of friends. These people were total strangers to me, but their terrible suffering has made me their ally for all time.

Your interestⁱⁿ this matter will mean so much to me. Thanking you I remain

Respectfully

Anna Harris.

Seminar?

Dear Rabbi Silver:-

I am writing these few lines to report my progress in my work in particular and my behavior in general. Of course, this is the season of woe or rather of final examinations. I have already had two at college, Mishneh in which I made 98 and Liturgy, 97. If you want to know what became of the other two points in Mishneh, ask "Doctor" Freehof. Mishneh is my favorite subject and I didn't make a single mistake in the exam, but "Doc" told me that he didn't want to disturb my equilibrium by giving me a 100. I expect to have no trouble with any of my exams. Aramaic is supposed to be a bugbear, but so far, I haven't found it the least bit difficult.

Ben Frankel told me that he had written you a letter of invitation to address the Literary Society, and I surely hope that you will see your way clear to accept it. The one criticism I have always had of the Lit is that that they don't have Rabbis come to us and give us a real, inspiring talk based upon real experience in the Rabbinate. As you know, we get very little inspiration, spiritually, from the Rabbis of Cincinnati, and we certainly don't get it from the students who preach in chapel.

Next Wednesday evening, Nahum Sokolow is coming to Cincinnati, and this reminds me that there is a great deal of criticism extant against Dr. Morgenstern because he is on the welcoming committee. It may be of interest to know that over two-thirds of the student body have bought tickets for the mass meeting, which fact caused Miss Rose Kohler to remark last week that the college is going to the dogs.

While I am telling jokes, I must tell you of a very clever pun Dr. Neumark pulled recently. Some of the boys dug out a hidden treasure from the archives of the library (Okoo library as it is now called) in the form of a pony to פוני יתד. Dr. Neumark discovered that they were using this and called them a bunch of stable-boys.

Before I close this letter, I wonder if I could trouble you, Rabbi, to send me some of the published copies of your sermons of this and last year. I would like to use them and there are some other boys who would like to read them.

I think I will refrain from causing you to strain your eyes with my poor writing and I hope that you will get a chance to drop me a letter, if only of a few lines length, with kindest personal regards, Sincerely yours,

From. [Fever]

Dear Sir:

I wish to call your attention to the fact that we are rapidly nearing the Passover Holiday and I know you will wish to make preparations to enable you to observe it according to your traditional habit and the Jewish requirements.

I suggest to you, that you make your preparations at once. I supply according to the rules and regulations of the U. S. Government, the Sacramental Wines, essential in the observance of the Passover and all year around for Sacramental use.

I have a reserve of the best domestic wines from California, as well as what has been imported from Palestine, France, Italy, Spain, Portugal and Rhine Valley. However as imports have been suspended, the foreign reserve is but a small one in this country, and I would advise you to place your order at once if you wish to make certain of obtaining the same.

It is essential by all means that you do this, as otherwise you may not be able to observe the Passover in the manner required by our traditions.

Mr. E.M. Baker,

Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Mr. Baker :

Replying to yours of Jan 27th inst. I wish to state that I subscribed $100.00 to the Community Fund through my son. The card evidentially has been mislaid.

At that time I objected to community charity by religious or sectarian denomination. I still protest and insist that my charity, small as it may be, is done entirely on a humanitarian basis and not as a Jew although my Jewish parentage has never been denied.

It is indeed a pity and distinct injustice to our younger generation that our leaders can not see the wisdom of avoiding religious classification in general and especially in charitable activities.

Very truly

Dear Mrs. Harris:-

The very generous and thoughtful contribution of $100.00 made by your late dear mother to Rabbi Silver for use of his poor - was by him in turn transmitted to this Association which is the Chief Agency for dispensing relief to the poor among our people in this City.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held last night, this gift was gratefully accepted and it becomes my pleasant duty to extend to you in the name of this Board our very sincere thanks.

In view of the general industrial depression and consequent unemployment of many of our people this goodly amount will do much toward helping those of our unfortunate poor in need of assistance.

In addition to our appreciation of this kind act may we also extend to you our sincere sympathy in your recent bereavement.

On beginning to work at the list on Mysticism which you requested, we find such excellent bibliographies in print that you will undoubtedly be able to do considerable work from those.

You will find at Desk 4 a five-page bibliography by Rufus M. Jones, and the various sub-divisions of the article on Mysticism in the Encyclopedia of Religion and Ethics, vol. IX, have bibliographies appended. The Cambridge History of Modern Literature, Vol. IX, has also a bibliography of thirteen pages on the subject.

Any list which we could prepare for you would be merely a selection from the titles listed in these three places.

Feb 20, 1922.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

As an outcome of the conversations I have had with you and others who have expressed an interest in the Wayfarers' Travel Agency, we have evolved a scheme of which you may desire to hear. I am therefore taking the liberty of enclosing a copy of our latest bulletin, together with other literature concerning the agency. You will notice two outstanding principles which we are trying to adopt in dealing with travel; first, we are trying to humanize the travel business, to put it on a more personal and individual basis, and secondly, we are trying to give more detailed and technical advice to those intending to go abroad.

We are particularly anxious that this agency shall not be considered as too exclusive, for, though frankly intended to appeal to those of modest rather than luxurious tastes, we shall, nevertheless, be glad to serve all those who wish to take a holiday in Europe, even though they may not want any of the specialized services which we offer, but who may want to save money and time.

You will notice that we are prepared to deal with the mechanical arrangements of travel and have made such excellent arrangements through Brown Brothers & Co. that we can handle all foreign exchange, letters of credit, and similar financial matters. We are also able to book passages on ocean steamers. If you know of any persons planning to go abroad this year, we should be very glad to have you call their attention to our Agency, and to speak a good word for us to them.

I am putting the work of developing and arranging for American clients, in the hands of James A. Norton who will represent us in the United States.

I leave the country with many regrets and hope to return some time to renew my many pleasant acquaintances here. I am exceedingly grateful for the very kind way in which you have received me.

Very truly yours,

Geoffrey Franklin

CAMP KAWAGA

for

BOYS

DR. B. C. EHRENREICH,
Director

MINOCQUA, WISCONSIN
February 20th, 1922.

Rabbi A. H. Silver,
The Temple,
55th and Central Aves.
Cleveland, O.

Dear Rabbi Silver:-

As per your suggestion I am herewith enclosing to you two leaflets of my camp, the one descriptive and the other pictorial. I am sure that you will find them both interesting.

I hope that you will find it possible to have your secretary mail to me a list of the names of the parents of boys in your congregation who can afford to send them to camp, so that I may mail to them similar leaflets and if there are any parents to whom I could write telling them that you suggested that I write them, I shall much appreciate this favor. You see, I am not trying to make a big business success of my camp venture, I am using this as the means of my livelihood whereby I can live and thus be able to devote the rest of the year to the religious work that I outlined to you on last Wednesday afternoon when I had the pleasure of an hour or more with you.

Just a word more with regard to the matter that interests me most at present. In the last four weeks I have come in contact with a great many students, individually and collectively, and I must say that these men and women are yearning for some message from their religious teachers. The possibility of success in this work is tremendous that will redound to the everlasting good of the Jew. If we fail to provide them with the necessary religious and spiritual culture we shall be guilty of gross negligence and we shall lose forever one of the most effective instruments for our religious growth. I don't wish to bore you with a lengthy letter, but I should appreciate anything that you may do in my behalf so that I can continue this work. Perhaps it will be possible for you to obtain some sort of expression from those in the Synagog and School Extension movement. If they are unwilling to help in this work, I believe that I can do it alone, if my camp will each year give me the financial results necessary for my maintenance. Of course if I have to prosecute that work like any other business does, and I receive no backing from the Synagog and School Extension, I may myself not be able to carry on. I trust you will succeed in seeing to it that I can.

I am very happy to have met you and trust that we shall soon meet again. With fraternal and cordial greetings, I remain,

Cordially yours,

Address,

A Real Camp for Real Boys

SCENES of KAWAGA

A Summer Camp for Boys

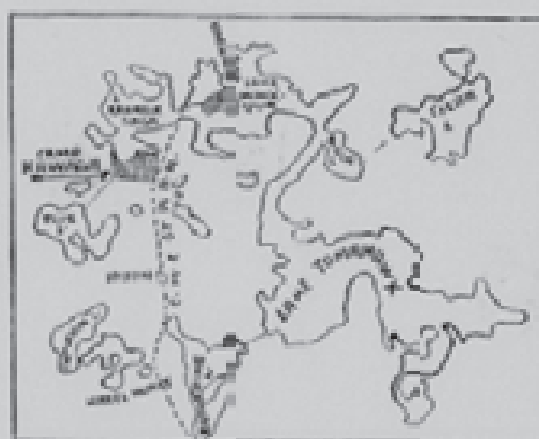

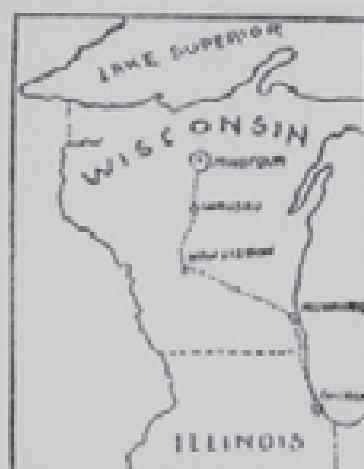

MINOCQUA, WISCONSIN

DR. B. C. EHRENREICH, Director

Any Boy, Your Boy in Particular, in Camp Kawaga

EVERY boy should live in the open, your boy particularly. He needs the benefits that come from sun, the wind, the forest and the lakes.

During the period of his free-time—the summer months—he ought to be associated with men who will direct his thoughts into proper channels. He should receive the training that will make it possible for him to meet the difficulties of life as they present themselves, accepting success with understanding, and failure without loss of courage.

Why You Should Send Your Boy to Camp Kawaga

Camp Kawaga offers these advantages, and in addition it offers others of equal importance, among them the following:

He mingles with boys from the South as well as from the North, from the East and the West. Fifteen states were represented last year, as in other years in Camp Kawaga. He learns to play and to play hard, and to apply himself with diligence to that which he has to do.

He learns to swim and to paddle a canoe as well as row a boat. We teach him to respect water, not to fear it.

A boy should use his energies and not waste them. During the summer months the boy in the city for the most part wastes his energies, while in Camp Kawaga under wise direction those energies are so directed that they are made to count as part of his training for life.

Boys want to excel in the manly things. Give your boy the possibility, if not in excelling, at least in being able to do the things that men of power and ability can do.

The Organization at Camp Kawaga

The Director of Camp Kawaga has always been associated with boys. During his college days he was with the first recreational playgrounds established in New York City and from that day on has been a leader of boys.

Dr. Ehrenreich was Rabbi of the Reform Congregation of Montgomery, Ala., for fifteen years. He resigned his position, in spite of many importunities to remain. At the same time that the Director is a teacher of religion he is also well acquainted with the woods, having spent all of his vacations in them and is consequently acquainted with the highways, byways and trails of the woods. He is also an athlete and is familiar with every form of sport in which boys delight.

In conducting the work during the camping period, the director selects men to assist him who are able to carry out his ideas of camping activities.

Boys sent to Camp Kawaga while in the care of their counsellors have the personal supervision of the director and his wife, who is the mother of the camp boys.

Location and Description of Camp Kawaga

Camp Kawaga is in the heart of the Great North Woods. It is but a short distance from Minocqua, Wisconsin, which is on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. The camp can be reached by private road leading from town to camp.

We own 137 acres of forest land, which are covered with pine and some hard-wood trees. Many of these are of virgin growth.

Camp Kawaga forms a point of land jutting into the lake, and has nearly a mile of shoreline on Lake Kawaguesaga, one of the prettiest lakes in the entire state.

Living Quarters and Equipment

We have built up a camp of which we are justly proud. There are thirty-one buildings devoted to the purposes of the camp. In building the camp the comfort of the boy was first consideration. While in the first years of camping we used tents, we have without regard to cost built shacks that are open on three sides and screened. These are 14x16 and house five boys.

The boys sleep on Simmons beds, which are provided with comfortable mattresses, for we believe that after a hard day's romping or hiking or boating, the boy should have a comfortable bed on which to rest.

Camp Kawaga is equipped with three tennis courts, one of which is concrete. We have a basket ball court and a field for the practice of football, besides a splendid baseball field. These are in close proximity to the lake.

The dock is large and is a very attractive feature of the camp. It is "T" shaped, sixty feet long and juts out into the water a distance of sixty-five feet. It is twelve feet wide over all.

We are building an additional dock in the lake where we shall have a fine diving tower, a spring-board and all other necessary appurtenances for fancy diving and swimming.

We own three gasoline launches, a dozen rowboats, and an ample number of canoes, sufficient boating facility for every boy who is entitled to the use of them. A boy who has not passed the camp swimming test is not permitted in rowboat or canoe unless accompanied by some responsible person.

The mess hall is a large building 50x36 feet, wide open on three sides and is thoroughly screened.

In the Reading Hall we have a library well stocked with books of interest to the boys.

Sanitation at Camp Kawaga

The sanitary conditions at Camp Kawaga are excellent. This you will be able to see for yourself if you examine the map, and note the sloping character of the grounds. The soil and subsoil are both sandy. Due to this fact, no matter how heavy the rain, a few hours after the downpour, the boys can be at play.

No lake water is used for either drinking or cooking. Our drinking water and the water used in the kitchen come from artesian wells.

The milk supplied to the boys in ample quantity comes from tuberculin-tested cows. The state of Wisconsin, largely a dairy state, is particularly careful in the rigidity of its laws in this respect.

Camp Activities: Daily Program

Every boy is expected to take part in the following sports and activities. Of course a boy's ability and physical strength are taken into consideration.

Every boy engages in boating, canoeing, swimming, baseball, basketball, volley ball, soccer, football, boxing and sports of various kinds; hikes, canoe trips of several days' duration, camp fires and amateur theatricals.

A Typical Day

In considering this you should remember that Day-light Saving prevails in camp throughout the camping period.

Reveille, 7:15	Dinner, 12:30
Setting-up Exercises and Dip, 7:15-7:30	Rest Period, 1:30-2:15
Breakfast, 7:30	Afternoon Games, 2:15-4:00
Shacks in order, Inspection, 8:10-9:00	Swimming for Juniors, 4:00-4:30
Callisthenics and Drill, 9:00-9:30	Swimming for Seniors, 4:30-5:00
Morning Games, 1:30-11:10	Supper, 6:00
Swimming for Juniors, 11:10-11:30	Evening Games, lectures and varied program, 7:00-9:00
Swimming for Seniors, 11:30-12:00	Taps, 9:00

Arrangements can be made for instruction in school branches, and we shall be very happy to make such arrangements.

The Care of the Boy

Every boy is examined daily as to his personal cleanliness. His bed and his grip are inspected. His living quarters must be kept scrupulously clean. We do not punish the untidy fellow but we reward the excelling one. There is consequently a keen rivalry to excel.

Seven boys are under one counsellor who acts as an older brother, advising, correcting and presiding over the little family.

A physician lives on the camp grounds through all the weeks that the boys are in camp.

Growth of Camp Kawaga

Camp Kawaga has grown in six years from fourteen to a camp of considerable size and is just large enough to be interesting. Our camp has grown through the personal recommendations of the campers and their parents.

The Underlying Principle of Camp Kawaga is Character-Building. Fun! Yes. But Always With The Thought In Mind Of Its Final Effect On The Boy

My dear Dr. Englander,

I understand that the Columbus pulpit is still vacant. I wonder whether you would be interested sufficiently to suggest the name of my brother Maxwell as a candidate for this vacancy.

Maxwell is eager to get into a larger city. He has done fine work in his present charge and I am quite sure he is qualified to take charge of a larger responsibility in a city like Columbus.

If you can see your way clear to recommend him I should be deeply appreciative.

My dear Mr. Kaufman,

I was deeply chagrined and mortified on learning this morning that I failed to keep the engagement made with you to officiate at your wedding ceremony. It was an unfortunate oversight for which I ask to be excused.

My Secretary as a rule reminds me on the day of such engagements, but the 23rd being a National Holiday, I did not receive such a reminder and the rush of work incidental to my return from a protracted visit East, drove the fact entirely from my mind.

I understand that Rabbi Golman officiated. I trust that you were not inconvenienced too much.

With kindest regards, and wishing you and Charlotte great happiness, I beg to remain

Dear Friend

I learned today the address of Sol Krohn
you will find here a postal card he wrote
I have written him he should not worry
Let me know what I can do for him.
I understand he lost all his money—
he was foolish to buy fake Liberty Bonds they showed him genuine and gave him the faked ones by trickery. and the police cannot find those people. he was discouraged, and asked the Legion to send him to National Military home
Marion Ind. that is where he is now

Regards to all

Remain.

M. J. Lewis.

Rabbi Silver of Cleveland will be at the Y. M. H. A.
Scranton Pa Monday night.

If you get this in time to go to see him at Scranton. he can help a whole lot with the Red Cross here in this city or the American Legion

P.S. I have a quantity of Mens Rubber Belts to sell. probably you know some Store
Keepers who will buy them at 25[¢] per doz.

My dear Abba:-

My brother informs me, that the American Consul, mailed his request to Wash. and now awaits instructions from State department. Now, if it were possible for your friend to find out whether same was received at the State dept, he may use his influence to have them able O. K. for ~~him~~ at my expense of course.

I really hate to put you to such inconvenience, but it's a delicate matter, as the British are very reluctant about extending his stay. Now I say, that anything you may do for me, will be greatly appreciated.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Your splendid sermon of yesterday morning contained so many points applicable to my own situation, that I am very anxious to obtain a copy of the sermon as soon as it is in print.

I will appreciate your taking care of this and having a copy mailed me at 400 Market Ave., S., Canton, Ohio, as soon as it is off the press.

Whatever the price is, I will, of course, be glad to send you the amount to cover it.

Sincerely,

P.S. As a former usher, I want to say a few words of appreciation of the work of the stocky, brown-haired fellow (I do not know his name) who is in the first aisle west of the center. His courteous, rapid way of handling people is certainly fine, and stands out in distinct contrast to the short, dark-haired man (I believe his name is Marx) in the same aisle.

Dear Abba:

I have your letter of the 22nd inst. in which you order several books and regret to say that at the present time all of them are out-of-print. I shall, however, send you as they are received. I am endeavoring to find whatever we have in stock on the subject in which you are interested. May I not call your attention to an article on Sabbatai Zevi and His Movement which appeared in the first volume of the Proceedings of the American Society. It is my impression that it is the only article of importance on the subject in the English language.

I shall have you in mind for anything on Jewish mysticism which comes to my attention. As ever
