My dear Rabbi Silver:-

I thank you very much indeed for your kind reply to my letter, although the contents of it have been a great deception to me.

I cannot forget the enthusiastic way in which you told me repeatedly in Jerusalem that whenever I came to America, your city under your leadership would make it its duty to greet the Palestinian I am with utmost friendliness. I do still believe that a day may be found to make it possible for me to be in your city and I may even expressly trust that this city will not be the loser, for I have a message of hope to tell to its Jews.

However, as you say that you will be in New York very soon I shall put the Cleveland affair for the moment aside and will expect your visit with much pleasure and anticipation.

Please remember me to Mrs. Silver and believe me

Yours very sincerely,

My dear Dr. Enelow:-

Thank you very much for calling to my attention the financial needs of Dr. B. Lewin.

I met Dr. Lewin a few years ago and I am under the impression, though I am not at all sure, that we raised some money for him at that time. I should like to help him further but it is becoming increasingly difficult to call upon friends in this city to assist individual Jewish scholars.

Within the week I received your appeal for Dr. Lewin's work, another appeal of Prof. Chaim Tochernowitz for his Talmud publication and still another appeal carrying your signature for Rabbi M. Kasher's Torah Shelema. I have also received a request from the people publishing the German-Jewish Encyclopedia, to assist them. Don't you think it would be wiser to merge all of these appeals in one and that some agency like the C. C. A. R. should establish a fund for such purposes?

Many of these appeals are truly worthy, but you no doubt know that there are only a few people in each community who can be interested in the cause of Jewish scholarship and that you cannot go back to the same people more than once or twice during the year.

My dear Mr. Hunterberg:

I have read your articles with great interest as they have appeared in the Christian Work and the American Israelite, dealing with a better understanding of the historical Jesus and the events which surrounded his last days on earth.

Your treatment of the crucifixion story with the valuable historical data there brought together to correct the long misunderstanding as to the guilt of the Jewish nation is to my mind particularly well done. I can most heartily recommend your message to ministers of the Christian Churches for presentation to Congregations and Forums and Men's Clubs. Your scholarly resources and effective presentation enable you to make a valuable contribution.

I have long felt that one of the most valuable lights that a Christian can gain is from the understanding and appreciation of the few of those stretches of history which we have in common.

Quick! tell me what to do! Every time I write to you, I feel as though I'm in a horrible predicament. I never know what to call you! Somehow, it's dreadfully stiff and formal to say to you "Dear Rabbi Silver;" "Dear Doctor" is, if possible, worse; "Dear Friend" sounds as though I'm trying to console you; to call you by your first name would immediately reveal the illusion.... Truly, it's almost beyond me. Quite, quite in private I've sometimes called you "Eugene" because you remind me of one of Mr. A. A. Milne's imaginings. Did you ever hear of his wee son, Christopher Robin? Any way, this Paddy wrote a poem for his little child, and everytime I see it I think "There's my friend Silver!" Don't you think I have some reason to? :

"The King of Rere ^{his}

(Who was Emperor too)

Had a sort of a rhyme

Which was useful to know,

If he felt very shy

When a stranger came by,

Or they asked him the time

When his watch didn't go;

Or supposing he fell

(By mistake) down a well,

Or he tumbled when skating

And sat on his hat,

Or perhaps wasn't told,

Till his porridge was cold,

That his breakfast was waiting—

Or something like that;

Or, whenever the Emperor

Got into a temper, or

Felt himself sulky or sad,

He would murmur and murmur,

Until he felt firmer,

This curious rhyme which he had—

..... but there! Why quote for you? If you're curious to know the magical, "curious rhyme," say "Now We Are Six" — I'm sure you'd love it.

You'd never think this was supposed to be a business letter, would you? Truly, it is! — Or was — or what. have you. — Well, please,

3. wants information. If it is convenient for you, (I'm now acting on behalf of the "Education Committee";) it would be greatly appreciated if you would address the "Overlook" (a recently formed Zionist branch up here) on the afternoon of the twenty-seventh. They'd be immensely flattered, be sure to them. And then, soon enough so that we can "advertise" you properly, you might send us your subject.
Yes! thank you. - I'm handling the affair through - or rather, on behalf of, the Education Committee, so you can drop me an informal line when you have time. I first include this bit of subject-matter. Don't make us keep them waiting too long, will you?

It's dreadfully late, and you'd be horrified to know the amount of work I still have to do, so I guess I'll have to stop. I may see you in Cleveland at the end of the month —

Helen.

Dear Rabbi Silver,

I am a member of your confirmation class of 1922, and I am now a Junior at Cornell University.
I am writing a report for our class in Primitive Culture. Each member of the class is reporting on a different ancient tribe from the anthropological point of view, and I have chosen the ancient tribes of Israel up to the time of the Christian Era as my special ancient civilization. I am dealing with the Hebrews of Bible times especially in regard to the ancient Hebrew family and home life of that time from the anthropological point of view. I would appreciate any suggestions or help on your part in helping me attack

In what ways did the ancient Hebrews influence the world, from the anthropological point of view, in their family and home life i.e. including any ^{or all} of the above named phases?

Perhaps your sermon of Dec. 18, 1927 on the Home may have pertained to this question. A friend of mine who heard the lecture said that you quoted extracts from the Bible in regard to the honor in a Jewish family and the tolerant attitude of the ancient Jews toward strangers.

Any help you can give me in regard to the significance of the family life of the ancient tribes of Israel from the anthropological point of view will be appreciated.

One of your confermants,
Jason Rich

P.S. I would also appreciate any news of the Temple activities, because there is no Jewish synagogue either reform or orthodox in Ithaca in spite of some six hundred Jewish students and over three hundred Jewish inhabitants in Ithaca. Although I sing in the choir of Cornell's non-sectarian Chapel every Sunday morning, I miss the opportunity of attending a Jewish Temple. Being unable to attend a Jewish place of worship, I can at least keep in touch with the Temple's activities, and I would appreciate any Temple news from time to time, this problem. What contributions from the standpoint of anthropology have the ancient tribes of Israel contributed to the world in regard to Family and Home life, and of what importance are these contributions from the anthropological point of view? Family and Home life includes such various phases as: -

Jason Rich

I The organization of the family in reference to: -

1. Type of organization (Patriarchal etc)
2. Religious organization
3. Inheritance of property
4. Form of organization (i.e. monogamous & polygynous)

II Marriage Laws and Customs in regard to: -

1. Respect for marriage
2. Prohibited marriages
3. Laws of marriage and divorce
4. Duties and rights of husband and wife.
5. Legal age and legal formalities of marriage.

III Divorce in regard to: -

1. Rights of the husband
2. Privileges of the wife
3. Status of divorced women
4. Control of divorce by courts
5. Custody and support of children of divorced parents

IV Jewish Home life and training in regard to: -

1. Economics of the household
2. Home life as a training school for the young.

Let me thank you for your kind letter and for your consideration in the matter of Miss Goodman. I do not know whether or not she is to return to Cleveland, but in any event I do appreciate your kindness.

I want to ask you a very frank question: Have I, in years past in some manner of which I have no present knowledge, offended you? If I have, since my conscience is clean, I imagine it must have been inadvertently, in which case I am more than ready to express my extreme regret. I say all this because it is hard otherwise to understand how it is possible, under the conditions of my long illness, that in writing me you express not a word of personal interest or ~~even~~ gratification in my restoration to health; to say nothing of your ignoring the reference in my letter to the fact that we are to be once again near neighbors when I am settled in Chicago. Somehow the experience of this illness has made a very real difference in my feeling and outlook about things and I suppose it is this, above all, that prompts me to speak to you thus frankly, to express regret at your indifference and the earnest hope that, whatever lies back of it, you and I may some day meet again as friends.

Hoping that the New Year may be a happy one for you and yours,

Sincerely yours,

LJK...A

Louis J. Kopald

In the spirit of the above, I don't hesitate to ask you kindly to have your Secretary send me a copy of the Dedication program of your new Temple. Thanks.

My dear Dr. Silver,

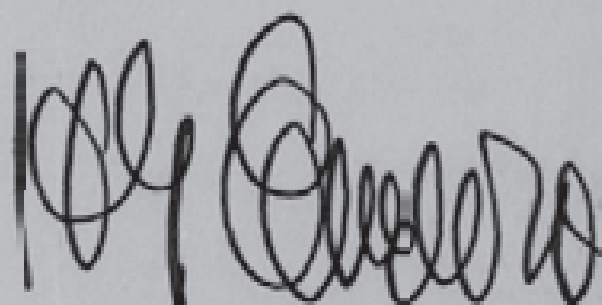

Thank you very much for your kind letter of January 4th. All you say is correct; but what is one to do? Of course, it's hard to raise money for such a work as Dr. Levin's. But we must keep on trying, as it really is likely to contain important contributions to Jewish history. I am glad to say that the Executive Committee of the C. C. A. H. has authorized a subvention of $500.00. In addition to that I was able to send $300.00 from another source, and I wrote four or five letters to men who I thought might be able to find some money for this purpose. You were one of the victims, and I hope you will feel proud of having been included in so small a circle.

I quite agree with you that it would be a wonderful thing if the C. C. A. H. could become the agency for the assistance of this type of Jewish scholarship, and I hope it can be done. As it is, the Conference is doing quite a lot along this line. We have made several grants recently. But, of course, it would take a lot of money to do this kind of work on a large scale.

By the way, we are counting on you for the Friday evening address at the next meeting of the Conference.

With kindest regards, I am yours cordially,

The Rev. Dr. Abba H. Silver,

My dear Mr. Taylor:-

Your idea of presenting in concise form, accompanied with illustrations, the true story of the Bible, is an excellent one. I enjoyed reading the few specimens which you showed me.

The attempt to present in a popular form the story of the Bible in the light of modern historical research and biblical criticism is most praiseworthy.

I trust that the same spirit of impersonal and objective research which characterizes the early chapters, which you have shown me, will pervade all your future chapters on both the old and the new Testament.

My dear Mr. Gusman:-

I do hope that you will be able to follow through the suggestion of last evening, that of interesting a small group of our Temple friends in purchasing one of Mr. Raskin's fine paintings and presenting it to the Temple.

We would be accomplishing three worthy services. In the first place, we would be assisting a most deserving Jewish artist, whose work is being universally praised. In the second place, the Temple would be adorned by a lovely painting, and in the third place, it would be the beginning of a movement to build up in the Temple a collection of fine Jewish paintings, done by Jewish artists.

Mr. Raskin will be here until next Wednesday and I should like to have the thing consummated a day or two earlier, so that we may announce the fact prior to Mr. Raskin's departure.

With kindest regards and thanking you for your cooperation, which I have always enjoyed, permit me to remain

My dear Mrs. Heller:-

I wonder whether I am intruding upon you in these, your very busy days.

Some time ago you were interested,
you told me, in donating a painting to the Temple.
The particular painting, we found to be too large for our parlor.

At the present time we are holding an exhibit of some forty beautiful paintings done by the eminent Jewish artist Raskin. I wonder whether you would not be interested in coming down to the Temple parlor some day or evening to look at these paintings. Mr. Lewenthal viewed them last evening.

I think it would be a beautiful way to celebrate the forthcoming joyous event in your household, by presenting to the Temple, one of the works of Mr. Raskin.

The exhibit closes next Tuesday.

Cleveland, O H I O .

Rev. Sir,

I thank you for your book MESSIANIC SPECULATION IN ISRAEL and I am sending you today in exchange a copy of the RISE AND DECLINE ETC OF THE ROMAN RELIGION.

Herewith I am enclosing a very short list of books that I think will interest you. The First two items are 100% Jewish, and no Jewish Library should be without them. Moreover they are not by any means abstruse or recondite and it is a pleasure and not a task to read them. Items 3, 6, and 8, are, or rather purport to be, scientific studies written specifically for the scholar and student. 4 and 5, should interest preachers and ethical teachers.

I shall be glad to know if any of these ~~or these~~ books interest you, and to know too if you would like me to continue sending lists and catalogues.

Very sincerely yours,

A Heilperin

My dear Rabbi Kopald:-

I am afraid that you have been too sensitive. I am mindful of no occasion when you offended me and I bear no ill-will toward you.

I am an extremely over-worked and hard-driven man and very frequently these facts evidence themselves in my correspondence. I would not for the world have you think that I harbor any ill-feelings toward you or that I do not share in common with your host of good friends the joy in their knowledge of your recovery and your restoration to the active ministry.

Under separate cover I am sending you a copy of the Dedication program of our new Temple.

Dear Doctor Silver:

I have heard a great many fine things concerning you from my young daughter who spent six or eight months in Cleveland. She, with friends, attended your beautiful temple time and again, attracted by your powerful personality and able preaching.

She would write home - "Mother if ever you get the chance to hear Rabbi Silver, don't miss it!"

And then when you finally came to our city recently, I was unable to attend because of illness.
I regretted that deeply.

But the object of my letter is this—to tell you how very, very much I have appreciated a short article which my daughter mailed me the other day from Rochester, Minnesota. She has clipped it from some magazine. It reads:

The Sermon of the Mount Spiritual Renewal

Rabbi Abba Silver, D. D.

He gives an excerpt from your book
"Messianic Speculations in Israel".

MRS. CHARLES ELON YOUNG

The paragraph that claimed my attention particularly and which impressed me as strikingly beautiful begins "The spiritual renewal that we need is not a new excitement, but a new exultation;" and closes, "It is possible for a man to remain young and free in the midst of crumbling age, and make his last heart beat a song of Spring."

I found that paragraph so inspiring I took it to my study club and read it to my women friends. One and all were deeply impressed and wished they had copies of it, so I typed it off for them all and extra copies for other friends

I would enjoy passing it on to.

I shall make wall mottoes of

I trust your book is in the

Dear Dr Silver

I am at last on the point of sailing for America. My wife and I leave on the "Olympic" on the 25th. of this month, and shall be staying at the:-

Hotel Commodore, 42nd. Street Lexington Avenue, New York

I am just back from a successful tour with my University picture and a large collection of my other paintings in Switzerland and Poland. In Poland alone, more than 30,000 visited my exhibitions, where the big picture made a tremendous impression on the people, rousing them to great enthusiasm. I hope I shall be as successful in America at the exhibitions I intend holding, first in New York and then in other large cities. I shall have with me a selection from my portraits of famous Jews and hereby remind you of your promise to sit for me; I hope that if you are in New York you will find time to do so.

I am also looking forward to the moral support that I feel sure you will give to my exhibitions, I enclose a Key to give you some idea of the University picture

My dear Rabbi:-

For the past year I have talked to many people of our faith as to the teaching of Hebrew in the Sunday Schools. In not one of these discussions have I heard a sound argument for it. None, I have found that many parents as myself are opposed to the teaching of Hebrew.

Perhaps my opposition comes from ignorance. I stand ready to be enlightened.

It is my belief that the time apportioned in the Sunday Schools to Hebrew can be better applied to the teaching and ^{practical} application of religion.

There is a spending of much time and effort to bring about more toleration and good will between the various religious faiths in this country. But isn't it true that the time to make a lasting impression is when our minds are being moulded, in our childhood and youth.

Can not a way be found to not alone teach Judaism to our children but have them apply the principles in their daily lives.

My dear Rabbi Silver:-

I am writing this to introduce to you Mr. P. Margolin, a man who deserves the highest consideration from our Jewish people.

Mr. Margolin has devoted his life and fortune to the interests of Jewish Literature. He brought into existence the well-known Hebrew periodical Hazman, and more recently has produced a thoroughly revised edition of the famous Mandelkern's Concordance - a work of invaluable importance to Jewish Scholars. The Soviet Revolution in Russia has ruined him financially. His stock of books is mortgaged and he is unable, through unreasonable conditions that have been imposed upon him by the mortgagee, to place his books on the market at any but an impossible price. He is anxious to see his great work circulated among those in whose possession it should be. He has, in addition, other ideas which will prove of value to the Jewish Cause.

It is sad, indeed, that an idealist of his calibre and character should be compelled in his advanced age, to seek help for his personal needs. The New York Board of Jewish Ministers sincerely commends him to your generous consideration. Philadelphia has helped him somewhat and we in New York are going to do what we can for him. Won't you please do the same? I know you will.

My Dear Rabbi:

Knowing your anxiety for fairness and righteousness, I take the liberty of calling to your attention an incident which I know will prove of interest to you.

While attending services in your Temple Sunday, I heard an announcement read to the effect that your Men's Club will have a Banquet at The Tavern.

I am a member of your Congregation and also a member of your Men's Club and have readily responded to the many appeals of your institution.

You are fully familiar with my business establishment. You know of its beauty and of its central location. You know the reputation of my food and the manner in which it is served.

Rabbi, do you believe that it is fair that The Tavern should receive the benefit of the business of the Congregation?

Do you not think that members of the Congregation are justified in seeking the patronage of the Congregation when it can compete in every respect with firms who are not represented by membership on your roster?

I trust that you will appreciate the spirit of this letter and will favor me with an expression at your convenience.

My dear Mr. Klein:-

Permit me to thank you for your kind letter of January 18th. I am referring the matter to the Chairman of the Friday noon luncheons and I am sure that you will hear from him.

Of course the Temple proper has nothing to do with the selection which the Men's Club makes. Offhand I would say that probably the reason for their selection of the Tavern is because the Tavern was able to place at their disposal the exclusive use of a large room for some seventy-five or a hundred people and they probably assumed that you had no such exclusive accommodations to give them. However you will probably hear directly from the Chairman of the Men's Club noon day meetings.

With kindest regards, and thanking you for bringing the matter to my attention, permit me to remain

My dear George:-

I am enclosing herewith a letter which I received from Mr. Klein of the Klein's Hanna Restaurant. It is self explanatory.

Perhaps it would be well for you to call him up and tell him that the reason the Men's Club did not select his place was due to the fact that it did not think that Klein's Restaurant could set aside an exclusive room for the Men's Club.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

If you had an opportunity to read "The Pallid Giant", I wonder if you would care to send me an expression of your opinion of its merit? I should be deeply grateful for the courtesy.

With appreciation,

Sincerely,

Rabbi Hillel Silver,

The Temple,

Acclaimed By Men of Affairs

Mr. Noyes is hailed as a prophet, and honored among his own people — leaders in modern thought and action.

... by a famous artist, Charles Dana Gibson, who praised The Pallid Giant thus:

"While it is a cleverly told tale of gripping adventure and mystery, The Pallid Giant is a definite and useful contribution to the cause of world peace. It will carry weight in that it is as true an expression of public opinion as was ever written."

... by a man who at once is a leading educator and a student of international affairs, the President of Williams College, H. A. Garfield:

"Into it I dipped and that was the end of work for me during two evenings . . . a thrilling and interesting book and the underlying motif is admirable."

... by a journalist of distinction, Herbert Bayard Swope, Executive Editor, The New York World:

"Written by one of the country's outstanding business men—thoughtful with that sense of real romance that is characteristic of Big Business—The Pallid Giant is bound to startle those who are looking for an imaginative, fast-moving tale. The social significance of this story is wide and deep. When one remembers that many of its most gripping parts were actual and personal experiences of the author, the book takes on added values."

... by a writer on modern world affairs, an authority on the very subject of The Pallid Giant, Garet Garrett:

"I opened your book to look at it and read it right through without stopping."

Sponsors of World-Peace Welcome THE PALLID GIANT

To those whose experience in and knowledge of world affairs enable them to see into the future, The Pallid Giant comes as an oracle of truth. A story as romantic as romance can be, a novel as thrilling as the combination of a magic pen and personally-experienced adventures can produce, The Pallid Giant is even more a document of immense social significance. And, as such, it is being accepted as the case-book of those who are in a position to realize that the outlawing of war is as important an issue as any that faces the world today.

If you are to understand this problem to the fullest extent, it is necessary that you read The Pallid Giant.

From the Pages of THE PALLID GIANT

"If man unsheathes too far that flaming sword—
The power of life and death—
The pallid giant, Fear, will seize
And plunge its blade into man's breast."

"I fear not their desire to kill. Even they are not so wicked as to crave the death of millions. I fear their fear."

"Close your ears to all the counsels of a murderous fear, and cleanse your soul of selfishness which values low the lives of fellow-men."

"Arrogant intellect can create material power unlimited, but who can uncreate? And when the perils of his own creating shall have over-passed man's feeble will, what power can save the world?"

"... for he who hugs to himself the means to kill, teaches his heart
the fear of being killed."

If you are to realize just how imminent is a war, more devastating than any the world has known, you must be acquainted with the facts as set forth in this startling book. It is being read and written about, discussed and preached about, wherever there are those whose outlook discerns the real meaning of the trend of present-day diplomacy. Moreover, it is the type of book that is re-read by those who enjoy an arresting tale.

Read The Pallid Giant today. Read it for the fascinating story that it tells. Read this book of the hour, so that you will be up to the minute on the issue that is claiming the most careful thought of the deepest thinkers.

FLEMING H. REVELL
COMPANY, Publishers

158 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y.

It will thrill the nation to a new consciousness of the necessity of world-peace

WRITTEN by one of America's leading business minds, a man who, as Rhineland Commissioner after the War, gained a startling insight into European politics, The Pallid Giant spans, in imagination, a gap of a million years. A prophecy of what might happen to this complacent world we live in is found in the startling content of an age-old manuscript which records the inconceivable catastrophe that flamed forth when an ancient race—failing to outlaw war and stop the progress of war-invention—devastated the world and annihilated itself.

Those who are smugly unaware—or unmindful—of the booming of the distant guns will be galvanized into action when the fear of other men's fear blazes into their faces. This powerful and thought-provoking novel will show them a future as possible as it is horrible—and will make continued disregard of the greatest danger that has threatened mankind impossible.

a fascinating story.... and a book of real VALUE

BERNARD M. BARUCH says:

"I knew that you would write interestingly and with understanding on the great international issues of the day . . . an imaginative story of incident and adventure . . ."

My Dear Rabbi Silver. -

I formed one of your large Congregation this morning.
It is only just that I should let you know with what pleasure I listened to your splendid sermon, and entered into the devotional beauty of your service of worship. It is some time since I found a service quite so congenial to my mood.

From the point of view of a teacher of Homiletics, of philosophy and of public speaking I greatly Appreciated your sermon. But chiefly, I think, from the point of view of a preacher of a good many years experience.

I appreciated the generous feeling for the worth of other's conviction; The fine quality of religious feeling; and the understanding & sympathy of with which you caught the high notes in each. I found myself entirely in agreement and sympathy with your conclusions. It is as you suggest much more important that we improve the quality of the religious experience rather than that we reduce the quantity of its expressions. It is a great and inspiring thought that they ^{all} are but the "broken lights" of Him, who is "the Master Light of all our seeing".

Thanking you for the service you rendered me,
Cordially Yours,

David Bowington.

My dear Rabbi H. S. Silver

I was really sorry to leave Cleveland on Thursday morning without seeing You again and expressing to You again my appreciation of the things You have done for my exhibition.

The only thing I could do was to leave for Your Temple my colored drawing: "The Palm Tree over Jerusalem" as an expression of my feelings.

It will go well together with "Saffed". Together they will fully represent both sides of my work - the painting and the drawing - sides.

The exhibition in Detroit is on its third day.

I wish its results should equal those of Cleveland.

I told Mr. Klein that when we made our arrangements we did not know that he could accomodate private parties but, if he is equipped to do so, we will certainly give him an opportunity to cater to The Temple Men's Club next season. I told him that we had arranged with The Tavern for this season.

My Dear Rabbi:

First of all, my apology for the typing as thusly my handwriting is more readable.

I am enclosing my excuse for not attending the Father-Son dinner, and regret to have to miss all the Temple activities, especially your wonderful sermons and lectures.

Have attended some services in the local Temples, but can not warm up to the Rabbis. There is a very nice Rabbi in Hollywood, (Isacson) who has as his, might I say clientele, the Movie industry, and it is surprising how attentive and earnest they are. They conduct services Friday eve. and Saturday, in a Methodist church, paying six dollars a week rental, have a Sunday school with a very good attendance, and expect to build their own Temple in the near future, with the financial aid of the big Movie barons. Which goes to show that Hollywood is not going to the damnation bow-wows as yet. "Rabbi" Trattner olev vesholem, has made a fizzle of his movie career, and has established a "Jewish science temple", getting a following from a certain, or rather uncertain, element of the younger generation which admires his LonJuanistic proclivities, which, I am told, have driven him from the rabbinate.

This about all from the Jewish Blue-book at present. Hope Mrs. Silver and yourself are enjoying the best of health, in spite of the inclement weather which you are inflicted with.

We have here the most delightful winter one can imagine sunshine and flowers and balmy air, added to good health, which, after all, is the greatest blessing.

Hope I have not tired you with my letter, I am
Sincerely yours

Mrs. Altschul joins me in the expression of my highest regards to Mrs. Silver and yourself.

Gift of Michaelangelo's "Moses" to the Temple

A beautiful replica of Michaelangelo's famous statue "Moses" has been presented to The Temple by Mathilda Stone Fishel in memory of her sister Sophie Stone Stotter.

The statue is of the finest Carrara marble, forty inches high supported by a fluted column of dark green Prato marble thirty-six inches high.

It is the work of the eminent Prof. O. Pucci of Florence, Italy. It required six months of assiduous work to complete the carving.

The original masterpiece of Michaelangelo was finished in the year 1512 and is now in the Church of San Pietro in Vincoli in Rome. It is one of the most famous works of the sculptor's art.

My dear Abba:

In your last letter to me you assured me that when you will be ^{in New York} you will come to address my community. I guess by this time you know when you expect to be in the East and I am therefore writing you to remember not to forget my community. As chairman of the educational committee of our Community Centre I am now arranging the program for this season (all Jan. 1928), and I would like to make the most extensive preparations and arrangements for your coming. If you happen to be in New York around the time we are having the U. P. A. campaign in our Community I may like to utilize your visit for the benefit of the U. P. A., as I happen to be the Chairman of the U. P. A. drive in my community.

Sam is Virginia. Anna is feeling fine and wishes to be remembered to you. By the way, I received a complimentary copy from Maxwell of his book "Justice and Judaism". Don't you send complimentary copies of your book to friends? I hope to hear from you by return mail. As ever yours, Sol.

Mr. Jacob Geoffrey
United Palestine Appeal
1124 E. 105th St.,
Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Mr. Geoffrey:

I regret very much that the situation in which the United Palestine Appeal finds itself at the present time is such that our Finance Committee feels that considerable economies will have to be made especially in view of the falling off in the income from many centers throughout the country. Furthermore it appears that the campaigns held thus far this year indicate that we are way behind the standard attained ~~this year~~ last year. This is particularly true of the city of Cleveland where the campaign this year has netted us over $40,000 less than the last campaign did. This situation looms up very seriously in view of the economic crisis in Palestine at the present time which demands greater sacrifices from us and curtailment of our expenditures here than ever before.

In view of all this, the Finance Committee has reluctantly come to the conclusion that the income from the Ohio region does not warrant the expenditures involved in maintaining a regional director and I regret to inform you therefore, that we shall be unable to utilize your services after the end of March. We are notifying you of this now in order to give you ample time to make arrangements for your future activities elsewhere. Please note, therefore, that your services will terminate on Friday, March 30th.

I need hardly tell you that it is a source of deep regret to us that I am obliged to write this letter to you.

Cordially and sincerely yours,
