Dear Sir:

Some time ago you wrote to us stating that you were returning the books "Zohar" and "Shibbei Baal Shem Tov". At the same time you deducted the amount for these books from the check you sent us.

We have not as yet received these books and would like to know if you have decided to keep the books, in which case we shall add same to your account, or if you are returning them.

Dear Dr. Silver,

There is a young man in your city,
Godfrey Colaço-Osorio, a son of one of our members,
for whom I should like to ask you friendly interest.
He is with the Glidden Varnish Company, preparing himself to enter his father's business here. His address is 2019 Brown Road, Lakewood, Cleveland.
He is, I think, something like 20 or 21 years of age.

He has been in Cleveland for some months, and as a matter of fact I meant to write to you a long time ago but the matter escaped me. If you can help to make him feel more at home, his parents and I would be extremely grateful to you.

When are you coming this way? It would be a pleasure to renew acquaintance and to continue the talk we began three years ago.

With cordial greetings,
Yours sincerely,

You will recall that you sold me the volumes of the Bildure Ha-Ittim except volumes 1 and 2. I have just procured these volumes from Germany. I am accordingly sending you the two volumes to be bound (in one) and one of the volumes which are already bound, to serve as model.

I am also returning to you volume 1 which you purchased for me and for which I now have a duplicate.

Tanner was: "10/ 4/21... Then Dr. Bernstein asked me what had happened. So I told him that he insulted me, thinking, I suppose, that I am a Trotskyite, not knowing that if I have not much influence, sometimes a word of mine counts. "Still" said Dr. Bernstein, "Ribalov has only use for people when he can get money out of them."

It is a shame that such actions and such shameful unwarranted remarks should be made by a man in the payroll of the Jewish organizations. And this is the type of a man that is called upon to deliver the closing address at a Jewish convention. Forgetting about personal insults, I believe the Herzl Club did not merit such treatment from the editor of an organ subsidized by the Z. O. G. I would give this for it wish to get it off my chest. I feel better now.

When are you leaving for Europe, Day? and steamer? Would like to see you before you leave and bid you bon voyage. Drop me a line. Leon Blank called me up. He also wants to know when you are sailing. Regards to Virginia. Love notes to be remembered. As ever yours Sol.

Dear Mr. Silver:-

I am returning under separate cover Dr. Kohler's book on The Origins of Synagogue and Church, and wish to express my appreciation for its perusal. Certain chapters I enjoyed reading twice, while some were a bit technical for me. On the whole I am deeply grateful for the opportunity of reading the book relating to the period of Jewish history of which I was heretofore wholly ignorant.

At the same time permit me to thank you for the book of Dr. Waldstein on Modern Palestine. I have not yet been able to read the book, but am sure that you would not have given the same to me unless you knew I would enjoy it.

I received a nice letter from Mr. A. S. Rodgers, President of The White Sewing Machine Company, to whom, you will recall, I sent a copy of the "Survey Graphic". He is very much interested in the subject of unemployment, and has loaned me a pamphlet on a big movement which Forbes has inaugurated, a very wonderful Executive Committee having been arranged to take up the plan for the co-ordination of industry, and Manny Strause is taking quite a part in this. When I have finished, I will lend it to you and then return it to Mr. Rodgers.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Illness has kept me from answering your letter of June 18, sooner to tell you how much I appreciated it.

While I'm feeling considerably better, it will be another two weeks or so before I am able to go about. I should like very much to read "Outwitting Your Nerves," as suggested by yourself and am wondering if it would be asking too much to have it sent to me, or some of the other books you have in mind.

While convalescing, reading would absorb considerable of my time, and gives me an opportunity to do more reading than otherwise.

If my request is more than you can handle conveniently, please do not hesitate to advise me as I do not wish to inconvenience you.

Anything you do, Rabbi Silver, I assure you is appreciated, and I thank you again for your thoughtfulness in writing me as you did.

Sincerely yours,

Legal Opinion OHIO TAX FREE Three-Fold Marketability

A sound investment should be readily saleable. National distribution of NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES creates a resale market for the shares themselves. A market is maintained at all times by syndicate managers and dealers. Furthermore, the holder of one unit, $\frac{1}{4}$ unit or $\frac{1}{8}$ unit may exchange his shares for the deposited securities, and holders of any number of shares may convert same into cash through the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee, at all times.

Unusual marketability is only one of the strong features of NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES.

Rabbi Sever's
correspondence

July 30th, 1923.

Dr. Henry Englander,
Hebrew Union College,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

My dear Dr. Englander:-

The two young men, about whom you wrote to me, Mr. Abraham Kramer and Mr. Eugene I. Rutzan, have both called on me and I want to give you the result of my interview. I hesitate to pass any dogmatic judgment about either of these boys. I was not acquainted with either of them before they came to see me and you can well realize that a short interview cannot possibly be a basis for any sound judgment. What I am prepared to give you is only my own hasty and immediate reactions.

Very frankly, I was more impressed with Mr. Kramer than with the other young man, that is to say, I was impressed by Mr. Kramer's evident earnestness and sincerity as well as what appeared to me to be a fine steadfastness of purpose. If these qualities can be considered the ingredients of spirituality, then this boy is undoubtedly spiritual. He has a rather attractive physical appearance. He is frank and direct in both manner and speech, but at the same time is modest and unassuming. It is true that he has been in this country only a short time and does have an accent, yet it is readily apparent that he is so conscious of this handicap that he will work very hard to remove it. His manner of speech is pleasant and I feel confident that a few year's work will give him the necessary fluency and preciseness of enunciation. He has a fair Hebrew background and in general is a serious, studious type of person. I found him quite likable.

About the other boy, Mr. Rutzan, I really do not know what to say. He does possess appearance and personality. He is bright and clever and as you can easily guess, he is more subtle and evasive in his manner of answering questions and giving information. He left no very definite impression upon me one way or the other. He will undoubtedly make a very intelligent type of student, but whether he will develop in other qualities or personality is problematic.

Both of these boys understand quite thoroughly that they are spending their first year at the College on trial and they might both be worth observing for the period of a year.

I do hope that this information will be of some slight value to you. Do not hesitate to call upon me again.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I am as ever

Sincerely,

Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver,
The Temple,
Cleveland.

My Dear Rabbi Silver;

I am writing you a very personal letter that is just for you, and I want you to respect my confidence please, because it is going to contain some very interesting and important information.

In the first place, Rabbi, you are a very dear friend to whom I have always felt I could come to for counsel and help, at any time. Our religions has never been a barrier to me, rather a unique tie that I have always enjoyed whenever I have met you, or whenever your name has been discussed.

As you know I am in New York, your splendid letter has helped me in many ways already, my contacts have been very favorable and prospects are good here for me; my work is highly and very favorably spoken of, and altogether the lines have fallen to me in pleasant places, for which I can assure you I am thankful.

You might have guessed, of course, that there has been a certain attitude on my part to a certain lady of the Temple Choir that could not be construed into anything else but love, and a very true and deep love at that, and this is the subject of my letter.

Let me take you back to September 1934.

I was a member of the choir of the Church of the Covenant, and in the fall of that year a young lady joined the choir as one of the choristers, where I was Tenor Soloist, and, it must have a peculiar trick of fate that made me take a very distinct and warm liking to this lady, even though I had only met her on that Friday evening, but once.

Our tastes for music being similar, we discussed that evening, during a little lull in the rehearsal, the condition of music and radio in Cleveland. She said she had heard me with a great deal of pleasure on the radio quite frequently, and if she could only get her tones like I got mine, she thought it would be one of her cherished ambitions.

I, being new in Cleveland, was naturally on the look out for new students, and so I asked her if she would let me try her voice some time soon, to which request she consented, and we made an appointment for her to come down to my studio and bring a song, and I would hear her, and tell her just what was wrong with her voice, and just what I thought I could do with it.

She came down to my studio, I heard her sing, and advised her that she was not using her voice correctly, and if she wished to get ahead in the musical circles of Cleveland she would have to get busy, practice a lot, long and assiduously, get a different way of using her voice and throat muscles; in short make up her mind to study and work and I felt sure she would get ahead.

She said she could not afford to study as her means were very limited, being married and having a very young baby, and only a very limited allowance for the very necessary things of life, and, after ascertaining my charges for lessons which were five dollars per lesson, she was more convinced, she said, that it was entirely out of the question, but, I assured her that if she was serious I could promise her, I felt, enough good contacts with musicians I had already met and worked for professionally, that would make it possible by the engagements that I knew I could secure for her, to more than pay for all her lessons.

She said she would discuss it with her husband, and, if he was willing that she should take lessons with me, she would phone me next day, which she did, and we made arrangements there and then for her to commence her studies under my supervision. She came down for her first lesson, and I was so convinced, after having given her a little of my method in the short time that she was in my studio, that she could make good, that I told her to work very hard, and I would do my best for her.

Immediately she had left my studio, I telephoned Mr Philip Spitalny at the Allen Theatre (where I was singing that week) that I had discovered a new Soprano that I thought he should hear, and also advised him to make an appointment for her that day if possible for a voice trial, which he did, and I had her go down to sing for him at the Allen Theatre. He called me later in the day and said her voice was thin and weak, but I said it would be much better soon as she was working hard with me, and was a very good student.

After a lot of bickering and persuasion he talked business with me and promised her a weeks engagement for which he would pay forty dollars, I argued with him however, and got fifty for her for a weeks engagement, and Leona Brown Woodcock started on her first and only paid engagement, in Cleveland, or elsewhere.

Naturally, I was hailed by her husband and her as the only teacher of any consequence in Cleveland, and she was very grateful for having met me, and so were her parents, and friends. Having had one weeks engagement I knew she could get more, it only meant working harder so that she could be always be ahead of her work, and ready when the call came for her to accept engagements that I knew were sure to come her way.

They came, I was called upon to work fast as the different work at the Theatres was difficult for her, a young student, and I had promised myself and her that we would not turn any jobs down, but get them put so far ahead that it would give me time to get her ready. She sang in turn at the Allen, The State, (two weeks) and then at The Stillman.

Money was now plentiful and, with two hundred dollars already earned, I felt I, at least had made good my promise to get her sufficient work to pay for all her lessons, and so she came more often to the studio, and worked, and worked.

At the Stillman Theatre on day, a Mr Gay Donaldson heard her sing and, as he was then the musical director of radio station, W.E.A.R. he asked her after one of the shows if she was interested in doing radio work, she said she would like to do the work, but she would first see me and get my opinion and advice on the matter before deciding. She asked me, and I advised her it would be a splendid thing for her at that particular time, being a new singer for publicity if for nothing else. Mr Donaldson, however, said he would have to hear her at the radio station make a test, and if suitable, he would form a Mixed Quartet.

Having told Mr Donaldson with whom she was studying, he came to see me and said he needed also a Contralto for a Quartet, which voice I said I could supply him with too, and I arranged that he should hear Miss Edith McArt. He did, and finally we formed what was to be the Evening Hour on W.E.A.R. which was a regular Sunday evening feature over that station for over a year.

Success was sure coming to our Soprano, and she was, at that time, very, very grateful to me for my interest and help to get her started, and I feel she was sincere in her appreciation.

I was working for a two-fold purpose for our Soprano, the first was, that I was madly in love with her, the second was that I was gaining prestige by reason of the fact that her success meant my success to a certain degree, if she made good and the people of Cleveland knew she was my pupil of mine, it would bring me other students.

When a change came in the management of W.E.A.R. there was chance for a new program director. Mr Carpenter, the incoming new manager, asked me if I knew where he could get a good accompanist that could arrange and direct station programs, I said I did, and spoke to the Soprano about the position. She said, she could not think of accepting such a post as she was not capable to handle it. I told her I thought she was, and so told Mr Carpenter who seemed interested and asked me to send her in to interview him.

I did so, but first told her what she should say to him, and it transpired that he asked her to come to a conference of himself and the publicity manager for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co, a

Mr King, the next day, I had time to coach the Soprano in her lines, between Sunday and Monday. The old program director was getting a monthly salary of one hundred and twenty five dollars, and I knew it, and thought that as Leona Brown Woodcock was a Soprano, an accompanist, and good business woman all in one, she should get considerably more, and for her to ask, two hundred dollars per month for her duties which I knew were getting heavier every day. She met the conference, told her story as I coached her, and was appointed at a salary of two hundred dollars per month.

With this appointment came more responsibilities, more prestige, more engagements, and more salary for her, until finally she was very comfortably situated, very independent, and very up-stage. Her Husband, Mr Woodcock, could not put up with this absence of his wife from the family tree, and upbraided her for it, although he had previously said it did not matter how much she was away from home as long as she was doing well for herself, her music, and adding considerably to the maintenance of the family budget.

He left her for a time, neglected to support her, she being very independent did not trouble to make him support her, and, things drifted until neither side could compromise and a divorce was the solution in January of 1927, with alimony of thirty dollars for the support of their child, she having custody.

All this time I worked for her success more and more, got her many concert and banquet dates, and fortune seemed to smile on her. The radio engagements that made up her work as a member of the staff of W.E.A.R. also proved very profitable for me, because she worked me in for lots of jobs in her capacity as program director and consequently, she and I sang a lot together, our names were coupled together, we worked together, rehearsed together, and the public talked; they linked us up quietly, the whispering gallery got in its work and we were in for trouble.

In 1927, immediately after the divorce, I asked her to marry me, she consented, I gave her an engagement ring, and we were to be married as soon as we could. She loved me, I loved her. We were very happy and for a time I think God smiled on our happiness.

But... In June 1927, another change in ownership of the station cost Leona Brown Woodcock her position, which meant of course the end of my privileges at the station, and I found myself to be gradually losing ground, in radio, concerts, students, etc. I felt the thing very keenly, but, as I had been so popular in the past it would be only good sportmanship to give the other fellow a chance and not grumble. We saw our chances of being married for a while, out of the question, and although we were both very much in love, we could not live on that alone, and so waited for a brighter side when we both would again be earning good money.

The deadly germ of gossip had done its work however on me, and I found that I could not get positions where I had heretofore had been engaged, because I had been linked up with a married lady, and, although my intentions were of the best, and I was going to marry the lady, I had lost our former place in the musical station of Cleveland.

In October of last year, the lady was sent for from W.T.A.M. again, to sing on their programs, she went down, was engaged, and I never received one call, was ignored, lost out, and found myself with one or two faithful pupils who believed in me, and The Temple position as my sole means of livelihood, while she enjoyed and is still enjoying an average of seven programs per week, ($75.00) and the Temple position in addition.

Remember, I was responsible for her Church contacts, as well as all other contacts, engagements, and all other means of her livelihood from September 1934.

Now. Here is where my story turns from light opera, to tragic drama, with all the sordid details.

Since January 1939, the object of my affection has, through some unknown reason to me as yet officially, gradually ignored me, lost all interest in me, never seen me unless at the Temple, only on very rare occasions, denied all success she has attained has being due to any effort on my part; broken appointments with me, belittled me in the company of other musicians, refused to help me in any of my engagements or rehearsal for same, and treated me as if I was a victim of leprosy in its most virulent form.

She gives no reason for her attitude, only to say that I should get out of Cleveland and go to New York, although I know for a fact that she has other attractions, other men friends, and perhaps another love.

Now Rabbi Silver, through her I am practically down and out, I have sacrificed everything for her, fought for her, spent all my money on her, given her all my love, (I never loved before I met her) my time, my affections have all been hers, for FIVE YEARS. I regret to tell you, she has lied to me, doublecrossed me, shunned me. To write FINIS on this story. I left Cleveland absolutely at her behest June 24; and although she has known in her own heart that she no longer cared for or loved me, she accepted gifts from me as late as June 22, 23, 24; aggregating in money values covering these three days alone, nearly $40.00.

It was therefore very plain to me that, when I was no longer able to bestow gifts, had no standing in the musical world, (although she was the cause of my losing out) I was no longer interesting to her, and, not having the moral courage to dismiss me last January with the real explanation, she let me drag on, and on, and on, knowing that as she had plotted for me to leave town soon, there would be no point in incurring my wrath and risking a scene.

That is not all. I did leave town, came here. She insisted that as it was necessary for me to make good in New York before she could think of being married to me, and promised to come when I had made good, and we would be married.

I overlooked all her neglect from January up to, quite recently, knowing that no doubt she was saving all her money, and that perhaps after all I had misjudged her, and that she would surprise me, and come as she had planned. I arrived here June 26, got busy, got a Church position at $1000. per year in a very prominent church, before I had been here a week; have a very good synagogue position lined up for the fall; have been doing substitution church and synagogue work since July 7, and my future prospects were never better. I wrote telling her all this; phoned her, wired her, on many occasions, she promised me she would come even as late as two weeks ago when I had made good (this was on the phone) also she sent me two night letters vowing eternal love and signing herself with "All love and Kisses, yours ever" Leona. When she knew in her heart she was deceiving me, lying to me, evading me, double-crossing me, and did not intend to see me ever again.

The last act was written last Monday July 29, when I received the first and only letter that I have ever received from her since coming here, BREAKING OUR ENGAGEMENT, giving as a reason my terrible disposition, and her fear of another martial failure.

So ends my hopes, ambitions, my dreams of a true love, my desire to work for a home, a wife, children, and all the blessed things that go to make for the consummation of an ideal. I am broken hearted, my senses are dulled, my dreams are as vapor, my spirit is crushed, and I am left to think of the woman who has lightly flouted a sacred promise, because the desire to get praise, money, clothes, gifts, has dulled or killed her once intense desire, for marriage with the mate of her own choice.

I love her still, I shall always love her, I shall never marry unless it be Leona Brown Woodcock, for we have been all that it is possible to be to each other for many years and some force unknown to me has either influenced her against me, or, something else that I know not of.

Just before I left Temple, on our last service, she said that altho' she had signed the contract, she did not intend coming back to the Temple in the fall to sing among a lot of students, and teach them what she had paid to learn. Of course she will deny this, but, as sure as God is my judge she told me this, and I wrote Levy and Beemer, as I think they should know in good time, to avoid being held up on the Soprano side. She seems to have sacrificed all things including her sacred promises and vows on the altar of greed and vanity.

I want to save her from herself, there is mighty good in her I think, she has to be brought low though in order that this may happen, for she is sitting on top of the world now, she has forgotten the person responsible for her rise from poverty to affluence, has sacrificed her own better self to the God mammon, is digging a pit for her own self to fall into, has not reckoned with nature, has no regard for sacred promises, or as I say, anything else.

I have shed more tears this week than I thought possible, her letter stunned me; instead of the truth, which I have begged her to tell me, instead of a square deal I asked of her, she has left me to find out for myself, and, when I told her I would be in Cleveland very soon for an explanation, she found herself backed into a corner, with the only alternative of breaking her promise to marry me, as the best way out of an uncomfortable situation.

I have lived a clean life, I have never had a date with another woman since I first met her, I have played the game, I have watched over her in sickness, spent my money on her, and only wanted in return truthfulness, honesty, fairdealings, and to shelter her from now on with a big love, and to get her to see the finer things of life and live up to her vows and promises.

Being a man, Rabbi Silver, I ask you to read this fairly and impartially, I have recieved a very rude shock, I might be lucky that I am not married to her, perhaps she wishes a younger man, but this I do know, I pray God she will not cause another man the suffering, the heart aches, the remorse, the utter despair, the agonising thoughts that I have suffered since January 1929, and more recently this last week.

She has a winning way with her, is clever, and the trouble was, I trusted her implicitly, when she was deceiving me all the time. I am not asking you to intercede on my behalf. The break has come, the heart is a wonderful thing. I thank you, dear Sir, for your indulgence. I could tell you lots more about the matter, there is a lot more to tell, two people cannot love like we loved and not have a lot to tell. My future now is all turned round, I do not wish New York any longer, there is nothing to work for here, - without her- -, the woman who promised that even if we had to start all new again she would do so, with me, because she loved me. It is all a bitter experience, and I am afraid she is going to do the same thing all over, with the other man. God Forbid.

Please accept my thanks, forgive my letter to you, I felt you should know these things, and I feel better after having unburdened my heart to you in this way.

Yours very sincerely,

Albert Downing

You may think this letter foolish, but I am so despondent, and I know you understand me, and so had to write you in order to relieve my pent up feelings.

אדוני היקר והנכבד טאד!

עוד "בצלאל" סגור! עוד הוא סתם לעזרה שתבוא.
הוא סתם לידידיו, לאלה שיקרה עבודתו בארץ-ישראל, לסי שלבו
כואב על כבוד עם ישראל, הדואגים לתרבותו, שהם לא יחזו ליפול
לסוסד כ"בצלאל" אשר עבד 24 שנים, שיסגר לעולם.

אתה, אדוני, ראית את "בצלאל", אתה יודע מה עשה,
עושה ויש בכתו לעשות בשביל ארץ-ישראל, שנכנסת להיות חברה הוע-והבטחת לעזור בכל כחך. למה אתה רואה ושותק?!

בשם השם, עשה דבר-מה. אתה איש בעל השפעה ודברייך
נשמעים, הרם את קולך וקרא להצלת "בצלאל" בעוד מועד. אם תחרישו
עתה, "בצלאל" עם כל יגיעותי שהקדשתי בסך 24 שנים 'אנדרו, כי'
הסורים שהתפתחותם דרשה זמן בה רב, 'זכרתי לנפוש. ורכוש הסוויאו, והספריה אם לא יקבלו אותם בעד החובות בודאי תרצה הסטסלה לקחתם
ברשותה, ואנחנו נאבד אברהם גדולה לעולם, וכדי בזיון וקצף.

סתם אנכי לחשוביך, אם אין לך יכולת לעשות דבר מה
ססס, לפחות כתוב וענה, גזרתי הדבר להרניש שהחזל קודם בסדבר.

בברכה ציון ובכל הכבוד

Dear Member:

The contract for construction work on our new clubhouse has been let. Work will be undertaken at once. Orders have also been placed for draperies, furniture and some of the floor coverings.

Payments upon architect's estimates and other outlay will be falling due shortly.

We are depending upon the fund realized from sale of stock to members of the City Club to meet these payments.

According to the records, we have not, as yet, received your payment of $20 for your share of stock. The board of directors earnestly solicits your co-operation.

May we have your check by return mail?

Yours very truly,

W. H. Belding
Treasurer.

Dear Rabbi Silber —

I am sorry I cannot recall myself to you as I should like to enter the personal equation here, but, never expecting to get married, I never made it a point to know you personally. —

Your son, I am getting married September the second at the hour of five, and am thereby desecrating having you perform the ceremony.

Will you be in Cleveland by then (I understand you are out of the city) and if so, could you come to Butler - It would mean a great deal to me. Rabbi.

Will you please let me know soon so I can make other arrangements if you cannot be here.

I was associated with your Temple by proximity only having been at Mr. Pence's appointment for several years; never missed your lectures.

Truly yours -

busy, I will close with regards and best wishes to your wife and yourself and thanking you in advance for any thing you will be able to do for

Rabbi Silver,
Cleveland, Ohio,

My dear Rabbi Silver,

I would like very much to get my daughter, who is twenty two years old, a position as organist in a Temple, and am taking the liberty of asking you for assistance. She has had several offers to take such positions in churches but I am most desirous of having her locate in a Jewish Community and so am trusting you will help me in this respect.

She has graduated from the Warren Conservatory of Music, Warren Pennsylvania, in piano and organ, studying with Doctor Le Roy B. Campbell. She has been the accompanist in the vocal departments of two Conservatories of Music and has studied organ in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. For the past year, she has studied with Doctor J. Lawrence Erb, head of the Music Department of Connecticut College for Women.

I do not know the names of the various

Temple Congregations in Cleveland and so cannot apply for the position. I would greatly appreciate any information you can give me, any advice upon the situation and any aid you can render in my behalf.

Enclosed you will find stamped addressed envelope for your convenience.

Thanking you most kindly, I am

Sincerely yours,

My dear Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver:

A few days following the Clinic disaster I was in your office to consult you about how I can help myself to control my nerves as this was the first death in our family it just shocked me so I couldn't eat or sleep for weeks and weeks. You advised me to read Jackson's "Outwitting Our Nerves" and I want to thank you so much, thru the medium of this letter, for your kindness to me. This book you suggested has done me so much good, it has enlightened me to the extent of knowing that all normal people lose sleep and appetite due to sudden shock and that I am no exceptional case.

I am so very sorry to trouble you, but if possible do send me a list of the books you promised you will look up for me.

so that I can benefit by reading in a constructive way. I want to read the books you suggested would give me a philosophic viewpoint of life so that I would have a better understanding of the Universe and my thoughts at time of stress and tragedy would be more rose-colored instead of bleak and melancholic.

Thanking you again and again for your patience and for your kindness to me I beg to remain with kindest regards to Mrs. Silver and your son.

Yours cordially,
Mrs. Lillian Deambrow

TO ALL DELEGATES AND FRIENDS OF THIS ASSOCIATION:

This is to remind you that the Seventeenth Annual Convention of this Association will be held in Philadelphia, September 24th to 27th as indicated on this letterhead.

The program committee has planned a very elaborate and constructive program which is being definitely worked out by our Convention Chairman, Mr. Lloyd. Your Secretary recently visited Philadelphia and was truly amazed at the elaborate preparation being worked out for your reception and entertainment by Mr. Lloyd and his special committees. Permanent convention headquarters have already been established in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel and if even a fraction of the many things planned are carried to completion we can all rest assured of one of the best, if not the greatest convention in our Association history.

Pennsylvania and Philadelphia are eager to welcome you and to demonstrate their hospitality. The work of Mr. Lloyd and his committee certainly deserves appreciation and can be best shown by the attendance of a large number of delegates from your State or Province. Begin making your plans now and by all means fix the determination in your mind to let nothing prevent your attendance at this convention. The Association is growing in numbers, popularity and constructive effort with each passing year and it will be your individual loss as well as a handicap to the convention should you not be present to actively participate in this conference.

In order to expedite the work of the credentials committee, we are asking you, if you have not already done so, to immediately forward your check for $2.00 to cover your annual membership dues. Please address me for further information at the address given below.

Very truly yours,

B. C. Seiple
