My dear Rabbi Silver:

My daughter Margaret, who is now a student at Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio, writes that with two of her classmates she would like to attend Yom Kippur Services at your Temple.

Would it be possible for her to do so? If an arrangement to this effect can be made, I shall more than appreciate your kindness.

Trusting that the New Year may open auspiciously for you and your dear ones, and with kindest regards from house to house, always

Dear Sir,

We heard with great pleasure, from our member of Provisional Committee, Mr ROSENTHAL, that you were interested in our problems for Jewish Self-Defence and that you were ready to help us in our work.

As you have been informed by Mr ROSENTHAL, we have just begun our work, and we have not done much of it.

Last Events of PALESTINE proved, once more, of the large value of the self-defence in Jewish life. Unfortunately as we were just beginning our work, we did not have any funds and we were quite unable to help our defenders.

It is evident that such events of that kind may happen again with same rapidity in any part of the world, where there are a lot of Jewish people and it is necessary to foresee them and prevent them.

Mr ROSENTHAL told us your opinion and some of the means you preconised.

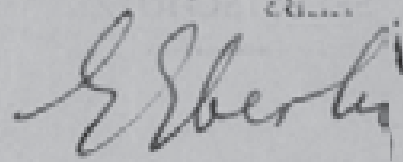

We should be very pleased if you could help us and if you would accept to be at the head of the affairs, as we think it would be very useful to organise a committee of Self-Defence in North America.

Please, let us know your opinion about these problems and also about our organization?

Hoping to hear from you soon,

We remain, Dear Sir, yours truly.

P.S. Will you be kind enough and send letters or funds to

Dear Silver:-

On day last week I had occasion to write to Alfred Benesch and in my letter I embodied a message to you which you undoubtedly have read. Nevertheless, I want to say to you again how profoundly Mrs. Billikopf and I appreciate your beautiful letter of sympathy.

I already told you on at least two or three occasions when we were at the Baur-au-Lac what Mr. Marshall thought of you, and I was so happy when Mr. Warburg informed me that he intended asking you to serve as Chairman of some enormously important committee. At this moment I forget the nature of the Committee's activities, but doubtless you have already heard from Mr. Warburg.

I am sending copy of your letter to each of my brothers-in-law.

With best wishes for a Happy New Year to you and your dear ones. As ever,

Yours,

October 7, 1929

My dear Abba:-

I have your letter of September 10th and 30th, also Rebalow's letter to you which I am returning herewith. I had intended to reply to your letter of the 10th, for I had a number of matters to communicate to you, but having returned from my vacation the early part of September, I was very busy catching up with my work. I excuse my silence.

Now as to the brazen lies of "Who's Who" on a number of occasions I read in the "Letters to the Editor" column in The Day and Jewish Morning Journal letters from Hebraists, Hebrew teachers and the Histadrut Hamorim denouncing bitterly the editor of the Hadoar and refusing to work cooperate in any undertaking in which he has a hand. After reading the first part of that letter of the 10th, full of lies and innuendos, stooping to anything as low as besmirching people in order to free himself from the trap in which he has been caught, I can understand why people are

(2) so bitter against him. I can fully appreciate now why no one who knows him (outside of his own "Kleisel" and his ~~associates~~ who are earning a livelihood thru him) has any kind word to say about him. I deem it below my dignity to answer this Ananias. But I believe it a W.B. to show such a fellow up.

First as to the contradictions in his letter.

He writes that I asked him to write an article and that he told me that since he did not know much about the Club he would get some one to write ~~for~~ it. Well, if this is the gospel truth, why didn't such an article appear in the Hadoer? 17's

He can't very well be that he refused to have the article printed because of my letter to you, for you know when my letter to you was written and when you received it. Neither can he blame it on the remarks in "The Day" ~~of~~ about his refusal to write, for the article in The Day appeared a week after the reunion while I spoke to him seven, eight weeks before the reunion.

③ Then He says I suggested names.
If he really had promised ~~to~~ that an article will appear why would I suggest names! I would have been too tickled to have that off my hands. Max can tell you that we could not get anyone of the boys to write the article even for the Jewish Tribune. It was only after much coaxing by Max and the other members of the Committee that I consented to write the article, much against my wishes. When I went to see him the first time I had not to introduce myself, and the Club. I told him what the Club had ~~to~~ accomplished, and mentioned your ~~name~~ Chapiro, Friedland and Kurnasov or products of the Club. After he told me that he has no one to write such an article, which meant a blank refusal, (at that time I did not know but ~~after~~ now I know the reason) it was only then that I suggested that he invite you or Friedland to write the article, and it was then that he made the statements, which he is now sorry that he made, never suspecting that this time he will not get away with it.

⑥ my wish, and when I had no cause for grievance against him, for I never before came in contact with him, never met him, nor had any dealings with him. So Avramias Ribalow sticks upon an original idea: "Pictures and publicity."

Well, you have already heard from Max at the dinner that if I got some publicity as chairman it was in spite of the fact that I tried to shun it. For Max Coleman and I worked closely on this affair and Max knew everything.

Now I will have to go into details of the publicity work for the reunion. If I tried to give any publicity it was to the boys who achieved success in the field of Jewish endeavor, trying to keep myself in the background, for the very reason that I did not want any kugel boy to say that I am trying to push myself to the front.

When I came to see Dr. Bernstein of Dos Yiddische Folk to write an article about the club, he told me that if I will submit such an article he will gladly print it. Of course the work fell on my shoulders. I wrote an article and gave it to Dr. Bernstein. He asked me if I wanted ① my name on it. I told him emphatically: "No! Have one of your staff edit it and put his name on it. And so he did. My article in Los Angeles Folk appeared with a few slight changes signed by "A. Waldman". That is one evidence of publicity seeking!

~~There~~ here is another. I went to see Dr. Margoshes about an article in the English section of The Day. He told me to submit him an article by one of the boys. I sent him Jessie's article which appeared in The Jewish Tribune five years ago. (By the way, here is evidence again how easy it was to get articles written by Herzl boys. That I had to reject Rebalow's suggestion to have an outsider write the article and insist that it must be written by you or Friedland. What an assinine statement!). In mailing the article to Margoshes I enclosed a letter and signed my name, quite naturally as chairman of the Anniversary Committee, so that the letter would carry weight. A day later I received a reply from Dr. Margoshes thanking me for the article and asking me for my photo. I mailed him instead

⑦ the group picture taken in 1906 at the Zionist picnic. Here is more evidence of publicity seeking. ~~My~~ Max wanted to send my article for publication in the New Palestine. I refused to give it to him for I did not think it ethical to give it to two publications (It was mailed to the Jewish Tribune first). After much exhortation on the part of Max and Coburn I consented to give Max a copy of my article for the New Palestine on the only condition that my name should not appear as author. Another evidence of publicity seeking! As to the publication of my article in the Jewish Tribune I had nothing to do with it. Max communicated with the editor, mailed in the article and handled the entire matter.

As to pictures. I did try to have, wherever possible, the first of all the group picture of the picnic for I considered it of interest to readers, and even of some historic importance, and then I tried to have the photographs of the three founders of the club. If I was not always successful it was not my fault. Could you imagine anything more ridiculous than that I would ⑧ ask Ribalow, whom I never knew before, at a time when he was surrounded by a group of his ^{own} 231, that I should ask him to put my picture in. Why if ~~I am~~ only a lunatic would act thusly!

On two occasions my photo did appear. Here is the story:
I came to see Brodsky ^{stands} an article in The Young Judean. I am on very friendly terms with him. Every year I raise a few hundred dollars amongst friends in my community for Young Judea. He offered to ^{publish} a special Herzl Club number of the Young Judean. Our committee turned the offer down for we felt we had not the time for it. I suggested Brodsky was more than glad to have such an article. I suggested the group's photo to ~~be~~ be printed in connection with that article, also the pictures of the organizers and Emanuel Meusmann who was always a leader in Young Judea work. He told me that he could use about ten pictures of the leading Herzlites, and that he wants my photo.
Case number two. After I had ⑧ arranged with Margoshes for an article in the English section of The Day, I approached Mordecai Langlo, who knows me well from the old Kugel Club days and also from my present Jewish and Jewish activities in my community. He ~~would~~ told me he would write an article and asked me for some photo of leading Kugelites (his articles on Friday are always accompanied by photos). I suggested the three organizers and then he said: "give me also your photo." Taken by surprise I said I don't know whether I belong there. He then asked me what office I held in the Club and upon learning that I was chairman of the Anniversary Committee he told me: I want your photo without fail. Being very friendly with him, I told him about ~~the~~ the refusal of the editor of the Hebrew weekly to write or mention anything about the 25th anniversary of the first Jewish Zionist Hebrew speaking Club in America. Of course I mentioned nothing of his insulting remarks - He then told me that he would make mention of it in his article, for he thought such action a disgrace.

I am writing you all this his rage, his madness.

The reason why a Rebel can be & somebody on the 28.11.18 243 is because people are afraid to start up with such a 21.12 and be dragged in the mire. Thanks Heaven, I do not have to fear him, I do not need favors from him, and I can ⑪ afford to show him up in his true colors.

I would have never written you the first letter were it not for the remarks passed by Dr. Bernstein that that C.O. has no use for anybody whom he can not smelt. I then began to ~~renew~~ surmise why he passed beaming remarks on you and Friedland.

You know well my feelings towards you and you can well realize my feeling when he passed such slurs on the friend most close and dear to me. Of course he did not expect these remarks would ever reach your ears. Now that I read his contemptible lies I feel that for once at least this C.O. is getting his deserts. He will be more careful with his tongue in the future.

I am enclosing herewith a marked copy of my Congregation's bulletin. ~~containing~~ upon my suggestion the Rabbi inserted your article ~~also~~ that appeared in The Jewish Tribune. I hope you will find no fault with me.

At the final meeting of the Arrangement Committee I submitted a financial

P.S. I began this letter on the 14th. ~~It was not~~ and completed it on the 10th - in - La. - Chaplain - ⑫ report of the reunion. There was a surplus of $28.70 and the committee voted to donate said amount to Young Judea.

I am sending you a copy of an article by B. Shewen about the Club.

I have received your two books for which I thank you most heartily. I read them and enjoyed them. This is the second set I received from you. The first I received immediately after your return to Cleveland from the reunion. I did not acknowledge receipt then for at the time I received your books I also received a letter from your secretary in answer to my special delivery letter to you, advising me that you had left for Zurich. Why I did not ~~acknowledge receipt of your books~~ write you upon your return I explained at the outset.

Now there is but things left for me to do with the extra set. either return it to you or present it to the library of my community center where it will be read and enjoyed by some. I shall comply with your wishes.

A warm and kindest regards to Virginia and you, in which Anna joins me. As ever yours Doc.

Dear Sir:

It is a simple matter apparently if a man has said or written something which does not please to take pen in hand, and tell that man in no uncertain terms that what he has said or written was displeasing. It seems harder to tell that man that what he has done is very pleasing. "The good is oft interred with their bones."

It is for the purpose of telling you that the little article in the Jewish Criterion entitled "The Only Basis for Good-will Between Jew and Non-Jew" is one of the finest things I ever have read. I think I never have read anything quite so much to the point.

The magazine came to my hand accidentally, and for me it was a very happy accident.

Dear Rabbi:

We have missed you at Rotary and while I know you were in Europe the early part of the summer yet I was hoping that we would have your presence with us after your return.

Attendance is one of the big factors in Rotary and I feel that a man does not get all he is entitled to out of Rotary unless he attends pretty regularly. Some of us are busier than others and I know the demands on you are very heavy. Nevertheless, I am sure that you would find a welcome in the meetings which would repay any effort you would make to attend.

As Chairman of the Attendance Committee the names of the non-attenders come to my attention and it then becomes the duty of the Attendance Committee to submit these names to the Board of Directors. As you know, a certain attendance is really one of the requirements of the Club. Our committee does not like to submit any names to the Board until we have had expression from the men in question and accordingly I would be very glad to hear from you.

Dear Rabbi:

Many years ago I made a firm resolution never to solicit funds except as part of a public campaign for a communal cause. I am forced to depart from this custom to appeal to my friends in behalf of a very worthy family, who cannot appeal to nor receive charity from charity organizations. A comparatively small sum will relieve their present distress.

May I count on you for a donation?

I understand from Minna Margolis that you know of my return to the States. I need not tell you how disappointed I was - and for that matter, still am. I am hoping against hope that within a year, I shall again be able to get back to Eretz Yisroel, and that at that time, I shall be able to remain permanently. Now that circumstances forced me back to New York, I really regret that I went to the Congress, for, otherwise, I should still be in Palestine now.

From my letter-head and card, you will see that "I am in business". There was no sense getting tied up with the Zionist Office, and so, I decided on this enterprise.

If and when you get to New York, and if I can be of any service to you, please just 'phone me.

Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Rabbi:-

The beginning of this my final year at College finds me in so happy and confident a frame of mind that I could not help but try to convey to you in writing something of the gratitude I feel toward you for the help and encouragement you have given me during these years, and for the faith which I know you have had in me. I shall try to repay it by proving worthy of it.

Thus far my bi-Weekly experience at Lima has proved highly stimulating and enjoyable, and I feel sure that it will continue to do so. Have also begun to prepare ~~my~~^{my} sermon for the College chapel on Nov. 30, and have started work on my thesis. You may be interested in knowing its subject: A systematic presentation of the ideas in Falaquera's Sepher Hammevakesh.

Things here at school are just about the same as ever. Dr. Bottenweiser is still expounding prophecy with unabated vigor. Er. Golub is giving a course in Jewish education which promises to be very helpful. Hoping this letter finds you as well as Mrs. Silver and Daniel in the best of health. With kindest regards to Mrs. Silver, I remain

Yours Sincerely,

Rabbi Abba H. Silver,

Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Mr. Silver:-

A friend of mine was invited by a Jewish friend to attend the meeting held Oct. 21st at Temple Israel at which time you gave an address on "The Fictions of Science and the Fictions of Religion in which you made reference to the philosophy of As If and also gave what you considered the three functions of religion in an age of science. This friend gave me a brief resume of your address. I looked in Harvard library but there is no English translation of philosophy of As If. This philosophy and your own personal belief regarding the functions of religion have made a strong appeal to me; it is the line of truth that I have been hungering to get for a long time.

I am a Congregational minister and a resident of Michigan until I came East to attend Harvard. I have heard of you before, and what I have heard makes me feel that you would be willing to aid me in getting truth I need and would have a brotherly interest.

If you know of an English translation of As If and will give me the address, it will be of great help to me. If you have your address printed, or included in any published writings of yours, and will let me know where I can get the same and the price of publication, I shall much appreciate your kindness.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Silver:-

The following is a copy of a letter to Will Shroder of which I am sending a copy to Fred Lazarus, Jr. and Irwin Loeser as well as to you.

"When I read in the Jewish Review last night the detailed announcement of the dedication of the buildings at Bellefaire which is to take place within a few days it occurred to me that while others might call attention of visitors to the physical aspects of the plant and the physical and mental well being of the inmates some one ought also call their attention to the measure of accomplishment achieved since 1923.

To my recollection you told me at a conference in Chicago, where we met several years ago, that you were put on the Board of the Jewish Orphan Home especially to guide them in modernizing their methods in Child Care and as result the Cincinnati Members of the Board presented a program to them in 1923, a copy of which I have in hand, and these recommendations to the best of my knowledge were accepted by the Orphan Home Board. Again to the best of my recollection you told me that you thought the J. O. H. was co-operating very well in changing its practices to accord with your recommendations, in reply to which I asked you to go into the institution and look at some of their case records which I felt would show to you that your impression of co-operation was somewhat erroneous; that the organization had changed its set up so far as intake was concerned but so far as dismissal the change was almost negligible. I do not know if you ever looked into these case records but if you did not I have in hand now a summary of the J. O. H. which was recently made by the Bureau of Social Research of New York which states that, "The average length of stay of 195 children discharged during the period of 1926 and 1928 was 6 7/10 years or nearly twice as long as any of the Jewish institutions in large communities." That this condition should exist 6 years after the recommendations made by you which include the following statement, "Our institution should not be used as a high grade boarding school for the children of the poor persons, but should be operated in all its departments as a substitute for the parent, with all that this implies, for such period only as the parent is unable to perform his own duties, assume his own responsibility and enjoy his own parenthood", is startling.

Further proof that this condition continues to exist is also very clearly demonstrated by the continued reference in J. O. H. publications of very recent date to its "graduates".

There is no need for me to give any further proof to you, who is familiar with modern Child Care, that my own assertion that the J. O. H. had adopted a program for modernized Child Care practice but had adapted itself chiefly in the matter of intake.

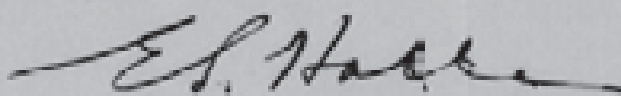

You may wonder how I happen to have in my possession the summary of the survey recently made and mentioned above. At a meeting of the budget committee of the Cleveland Jewish Federation Messrs. Benesch, Furth and Gross representing the J. O. H. while presenting their plea for funds for the ensuing year handed the committee of their own volition the summary, an act which surprised me greatly when I read it.

There is another aspect of the new institution which I would like to call to your personal attention. Until recently there was a large outdoor sign board a short distance from the institution which read "Heights Cultural Center" and if you will take the trouble to look around you will find that the University School is the nearest school to the institution and that Laurel School and Hathaway Brown School are also within easy walking distance and that Carroll University expects to build right almost adjacent to the grounds. The location is also at the corner of two super-boulevards right in line with the finest home development of Cleveland suburbs. It seems quite unfortunate that the J. O. H. was so taken up with this location that it not only paid what appears to be a high price for its property but also had to employ the services of Newton D. Baker to get rid of zoning restrictions which would have precluded building in its present location.

I am not giving you this information with the idea of any controversy and the only reply which I care to have you make is an acknowledgement of the receipt of this letter.

With kindest personal regards, I am,

Yours as ever,

Enclosed you will find a copy of the Cincinnati delegation recommendations and also of the summary of the survey recently made by the Bureau of Jewish Social Research.

Dear Dr. Silver:

It is gratifying to know that Robert has merited your congratulations and those of our friends, and Mrs. Garson and myself are deeply appreciative of your kind letter of commendation. We parents are always hopeful for the success of our children that they may win the regard of those we respect and honor. The fulfillment of this hope is ample compensation for our mentorship.

We have sent your letter to Bob, as we know it will be an inspiration for further effort. His future may thereby in some degree bring added respect for our people.

Again, many thanks for your note and kind regards from Mrs. Garson and myself.

Sincerely,

to:

Rabbi A H Silver

Dear Rabbi Silver:

As you are known to be a friend to commonwealth college, I feel confident that in writing you on behalf of the institution, I am addressing a person whose sincere interest in the work being done by it is so strong that he will want to do a real service for Commonwealth.

The college is about to launch a campaign for funds with which to complete the capital equipment necessary to the continuation of the unique experiment in self-maintaining workers' education that it has been conducting for the past seven years.

With a view to explaining the nature and needs of the college to as many persons and groups as possible, Dr William Edward Zeuch, founder and educational director, will travel North and East this winter, and will spend one week in Cleveland.

You doubtless know of many progressively-minded individuals and organizations in your city who would be interested to hear the story of Commonwealth College from Dr Zeuch. Won't you please write down their names and addresses and send the list to me?

I am at present working on Dr Zeuch's itinerary and would like very much to include several names from your list. If you will forward the list at your earliest convenience, I will be enabled to make the necessary arrangements for appointments.

Gratefully yours,

Irving Weissman
Secretary to Dr Zeuch
