Dear Sir

Enclosed you will please find a suggestion of mine, which I would ask you to kindly print in one of the columns of your valuable paper if you think same worthy.

If your decision is in its favor, then
I would ask you to please rectify my spelling as I am a man in the fifties, foreign born semi orthodox and no scholar

Yours Respectfully

A Suggestion

[1930]

Since the majority of the young American Jewry read the Hagadah mostly in the English language and since a great many of them are sceptical about the ancient Jewish traditions and its miraculous events, wouldn't be advantageous to the modern young generation and to the entire Jewish Community of United States as well that if Rabbi Abba H. Silver will cordially permit his marvelous and masterfull lecture of the persecuted Jews at the Spanish Inquisition delivered at the Temple on February 9th last, to be annexed to the old acknowledged Hagadah so that Israel at a whole shall be well acquainted with the fatal History and Israel shall know that it was an act of Providence the with the gold and Silver pillaged from the exiled Jews which was used in financing the expedition of the discovery of America, that Israel would be provided with a new country wherein he would enjoy full freedom, social equality and prosperity, a sacred and pre-mediated deed by God for which Israel can rejoice and be thankful?

"The first book of its kind-----"

GROWING UP, the book described in the enclosed circular is valuable to everyone who has children or who comes in contact with them.

It does perfectly a very difficult thing, a thing which every parent is called on to do. It is like nothing else that has ever been written.

If you have children of your own, or if you wish to make a gift to a friend who has children, this is a book you should see. It is low in price, only $1.75, but this is no measure of its importance, or of the service it can do you.

We have enclosed an order card for your convenience. It requires no stamp. It will bring you a copy of GROWING UP, by Karl de Schweinitz postage paid.

If, after you have read it, you find that it is not what you have been looking for, if it is not the way you have always wanted to tell your own children this story of birth and life, return the book to us and your money will be refunded.

Very truly yours,

W56m

Hon. SAMUEL LEVY, Chairman

February 6 1930

Rabbi A. Hillel Silver
The Temple
Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Permit me to address you a few lines on behalf of the Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary, known as the Yeshiva College.

The Yeshiva College built by New York orthodox Jews at great cost and effort, has been recognized by many leading educators as an experiment deserving the support of every thinking Jew and merits the assistance of all those that are interested in higher Jewish learning.

I was happy to learn that you, dear Rabbi, have manifested an interest in the Yeshiva in former years, and I appeal to you to help the institution in its present emergency.

As a leader in Israel, you are aware of the fact that the main problem for an institution is not the erection of its buildings, not the raising of funds for its structures. It is the problem of maintenance which is hard to solve and I beg of you to help us in that problem, so that the institution can be kept in its proper position and accomplish the good that everyone of us expects it to do.

I have requested Rabbi F. Ciechanowitz, a rabbi of scholarship and erudition, who is leaving for Cleveland, in order to interest our brethren in our institution, to visit you and I am sure that you will extend to him all courtesies and render all the assistance possible.

With many thanks in advance

Sincerely yours,

My dear Dr. Silver:

The other day at a meeting of our Crippled Children Committee, we went over the list of those who have not as yet sent in their pledge or cash gift for 1930 to the Crippled Children Fund. We know you are interested, but each of the Committee took the names of those friends whose memories they were willing to 'jog'.

I am enclosing a pledge card, expressing the hope of the Committee that you will at least see your way to send the same contribution you did last year.

It is needless to take your time to say how very valuable to the next generation the work Rotary is now doing will be.

In order to save time on this check-up, I am asking you to return your pledge in the enclosed envelope.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Abba:

Did you read Rabbi Louis Newman's "Call for Peace and Unity," in the Jewish Daily Bulletin of Thursday, January 30th? Ye Gode, do you know another man in America who takes himself so seriously? And what a Chochem he is! After he leaves Lipsky, he tells the world that Lipsky is irreconcilable; that Lipsky left him in a profoundly depressed condition, etc.

Wouldn't Newman make a great impartial chairman in such a simple industry as the clothing industry?

As ever,

Yours,

Rabbi A. H. Silver.

A Chinese-Hebrew Scholar.

THE Chinese were never known in the past to have craved for a knowledge of Hebrew. Cases are rare where Chinese students have displayed any desire to master the language, in order to find the real key to the Holy Scriptures.

And yet we have come across a fine type of a Chinese idealist who insisted upon studying Hebrew and the Jewish religion. Such a one is Mr. Li Jui, a native of Tientsin, who is today a scholar and pious, a man without guile and a perfect gentleman. He believes in a Supreme Being and worships Him in accordance with his own inner light. His firm faith in God as a God of Love, Justice and Mercy is one of the cardinal principles of his doctrines. One dare not approach Li without instantly hearing him quoting some appropriate Biblical passages denoting his faith in God Almighty. None dare grumble in Li's presence for not having been able to achieve the aim of his ambition. Instantly, Mr. Li would flare at him pointing out to the motto in Hebrew letters which is framed and hung in a prominent place in his office, Im Adonai lo Yibney bayith shaw amloo bonaw bo.

Li has no faith in works translated from Hebrew. He believes in the original. He started his Hebrew studies ten years ago, by utilizing all the available English-Hebrew books, such as grammar, reading lessons, analytical work, dictionary, etc. "My object in doing so," said Mr. Li to us, "is to study the Bible in the original tongue and my wish is that God will raise a number of Chinese-Hebrew scholars to have the Bible re-translated into Chinese in a more effective and understandable style than is the case today." Mr. Li has ordered a number of Hebrew dictionaries and grammars and possesses a fine library of Jewish books. He made close acquaintances with the Jews of Hankow and Shanghai. The first to befriend him was Mr. I. A. Levis who is now spending a vacation with his daughter Ruth in Jerusalem. Mr. Li paid more attention to Jewish rites and ceremonies during his visit to Shanghai some eighteen months ago, and attended Synagogue services as well, which he followed with enthusiasm owing to his knowledge of Hebrew. He also had the privilege of being invited to a dinner party in a Suekah during the Tabernacle holidays at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. J. Abraham. There he was able to gain an insight as to what a real Jewish home could be, especially when it is conducted along Jewish traditional lines, the shulhan hallowed with benedictions, the ceremony of kiddush and zimmoon and hymns chanted by young and old, all these have added much charm to the impressiveness of the occasion. And Mr. Li felt that he must make more conquests. He felt that Hebrew and Hebrew alone could give him the key to enter the Jewish paradise. At the suggestion of Mr. Levis he engaged Mr. I. Ring from Shanghai, to give him daily lessons in Hebrew grammar and reading. Mr. Li studies the Bible every day for several hours under the direction of Mr. Ring and regards it as his duty to meditate upon its teachings. His slogan is, and he quotes it frequently whenever he is visited by friends, Ubforatho yehgey yomam walaylah. In addition to the Bible, Mr. Li is studying modern Hebrew, reads the Hebrew weekly Haozam (the official organ of the World Zionist Organization) and Sefer Hagadah by Bialik, but not the Talmud for which Mr. Li has found "no time to study yet," to quote his own words.—Israel's Messenger, Shanghai.

The market here and in China had a slightly softer aspect and only a scattered amount of consumer interest reported. The trend of prices has been downward this week and it still is an openly debated question as to whether or not the bottom has been reached.

I am looking forward with pleasure to my visit to Evansville. I shall be coming in from Chicago where I have an address scheduled on the day previous. I shall notify you the hour of my arrival.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I have again been appointed a member of the committee of editors which will select the recipient of the Gottheil Medal, which, as you know, is awarded annually by the Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity to the American who has done the most for Jewry during the past year.

This year I am asking seven rabbis, of which you are one, to assist me in making the choice.

I should very much like a few words from you stating why you have chosen your particular American, as I contemplate publishing the answers received in The Jewish Review and Observer after the award is made.

In the event that you are extremely busy, I shall be content with merely the name of your choice.

Trusting to receive an immediate reply.

Mr. A. H. Legonsky,
North Ridge East,
Ashtabula, Ohio.

Dear Sir:

I am directing this communication to you as President of the Tifereth Israel Congregation on behalf of Rabbi Harris Wolensky, who was directed to my office at the suggestion of Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, who felt as I do, that Rabbi Wolensky has been the victim of an unfortunate interpretation of your sense of justice.

I have carefully examined the agreement which he had with your congregation and am persuaded that were the matter to be discussed purely from the basis of a legal consideration we would be justified in insisting upon the balance of the compensation for the unexpired term. In order to avoid a chillul hashem in your community if legal measures were taken I would suggest that you call together the trustees of your congregation and several others and see if this unfortunate difficulty cannot be ironed out and amicably adjusted.

We are subject to sufficient criticism without inviting additional censure and condemnation by holding ourselves up to scorn and ridicule by internal dissension and strife. Conceding for a moment that the old man may not possess the energy, the alertness and the pedagogical skill which you may have had a right to anticipate for the good of your Sunday School, you were the ones who made the bargain and had the opportunity of determining that phase of his position before he was induced to come to your city and incur the expense of transportation, for which he was to be reimbursed by you, and which even to the present time he has not received.

I had occasion to be in your community several months ago and addressed B'nai B'rith lodge as a member of the General Committee, and I believe that at that time I had occasion to meet a number of your fellow Israelites.

Would appreciate your giving this matter immediate consideration, and feel hopeful that we ought to be able to work out our own problems without recourse to other distasteful procedure.

Very truly yours,

My dear Dr. Silver,

About three years ago, you may recall, you delivered an address to the Aresta (honorary society) of Seward High School in New York City. Last year you spoke at a Jewish Center on Eastern Parkway, B'klyn. On both occasions I was a rapt listener to your stirring address on behalf Jewish cultural and spiritual development. And I am convinced that the magic of your words in the cause of Judaism is once again needed in B'klyn.

Rabbi Abbo Hiller Silver

Dear Abbo:

It was very nice of you indeed to send Irving a check for Twenty Dollars. He certainly appreciates it, especially your letter. I wish you would write to him more often.

This is the second week already that Irving is at college, the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. I took him over there and selected a very nice room. I hope he likes it, as he only wanted to go to Dartmouth, but I could not see why he should waste a half a year. He finally agreed that I was right.

The other day I received word from John Hopkins University that he had passed the examinations, and could enter the school in September. I wanted him to go there on account of the medical school. I guess it does not pay to change now. Let him first get his college degree and then we will worry about the medical school. As you no doubt know, it is very difficult for a Jewish young man to enter a medical school. But I hope that with your assistance he will be fortunate enough to enter one.

If you are ever in Philadelphia, stop in to see Irving, and if you know of any Jewish families there, try to acquaint him with them, as I would like him to mingle with a nice circle of friends.

I am going to ask you something rather unusual, and if it is possible for you to do it, I assure you it will be a great OLB.

We have in Jersey City a Jewish Community Center (also known as the Y. M. H. A. and Y. W. H. A.). The building is a year old and cost over $700,000 to build. It is one of the finest buildings in the state of New Jersey, but there is not enough money to upkeep it. The building was about to go into the hands of Receivers, but we finally induced the creditors to give us an extension.

We sent out registered letters to the Jewish Community explaining the situation to them. The response was fairly good, but we do not know how long we can last. The outlook for the future regarding the financial situation is not very optimistic, and that is why I come to you for your assistance. We need a man of your caliber to inspire our Jewish Community, and bring them to the realization of the danger incurred in having such a fine structure fall into the hands of the Young Men's Christian Ass'n.

Next time you are in New York, I wish you would spare the time to come to Jersey for just about an hour. The mere fact of your coming (which will be greatly advertised) will turn out thousands of Jewish people to hear you. I do not have to tell you the extent of our gratitude, and want you to know, that if we were in a position to pay you, we would be more than pleased to do so, but despite the fact that we are badly in need of money, we will gladly pay your expenses in case you do decide to come, specially for this occasion.

I assure you again, that by your coming it will positively save our beautiful building which resulted from the untiring efforts of the Jewish people in Jersey City.

Please Abbo, give me a favorable answer as soon as possible.

My dear Rabbi Silver:

I beg leave to write to you on behalf of the American Beth Jacob Committee for the protection of Jewish womanhood in Europe. The Beth Jacob Committee appeals to every shade of Jewish religious opinion in the country.

Beth Jacob is a most vital movement for the ennoblement and regeneration of Jewish life in Eastern Europe. It has grown out of the consciousness of the catastrophic situation in which Jewish women have found themselves in those lands as the result of the war and its aftermath. Beth Jacob is endeavoring to meet the situation by providing moral, religious and professional training.

The American Committee for Beth Jacob is heading a nation-wide movement to assist East European Jewish womanhood in its struggles against the white slave traffic and against the formidable array of many kinds of harmful influences. Beth Jacob is doing preventive and constructive work, having more than 22,000 girls under its control.

We want to build up a national membership of women, for it is to women primarily that Beth Jacob should appeal. An annual membership of $5.00, drawn from women all over this country, should enable us to continue and extend the work of Beth Jacob.

In addition to that, we face at present an emergency situation. Last year's contributions, for both here and abroad, resulted in a sufficiently large sum to complete the beautiful dormitory described in the circular enclosed. $30,000. is now needed to equip it so that at least the trainees and the teachers may enjoy the unheard of luxury of clean beds in warm rooms.

Will you not devote one Shabbos to this great cause? Beth Jacob is the one ray of hope for Jewry of the next generation and I can imagine nothing more vital. I earnestly request your co-operation in connection with our Emergency Fund and the enrollment of the members of your Sisterhood as members of Beth Jacob.

Of the 39 schools established 1928/1929 a number are in their own houses. -

1928 (December) a Beth Jacob Girls' High School was established at Poniewasch (Lithuania) in a beautiful new building, provided with all sanitary and pedagogic facilities.

To The Girls' High School in Warsaw a teachers' training course for graduates has been added. Thus a number of qualified leaders and teachers were gained for the Beth Jacob Schools.

Very great progress: The Industrial Arts' School at Lemberg has been considerably developed, a new Industrial Art School was opened at Warsaw.

The same school at Krakow is to be re-established in the new building.

Eight new Kindergartens were added to the B.J. School system during 1928/9.

II

HEALTH OF PUPILS

a- Jacob Michael, the Berlin philanthropist, donated apparatus for ultra-violet-rays (Hochensonnebestrahlung), which are used at various schools under guidance of school physicians and trained nurses. These are the more essential since cold winter and prolonged undernourishment have sadly affected the health of some of the pupils.

b- Sick children (and teachers) have, as the needs arose, been brought to, and cared for, in health resorts (Tatra Mountains, Rabka, Jordanow, Zakopane, etc.)

III

COURSES FOR WORKING WOMEN

Evening courses for professional women and Working Women have been established. These are frequented by ever growing numbers.

IV

PROFESSIONAL GUIDANCE

In all cities, in which Beth Jacob Schools exist, Executive Committees have been organized for these schools, which advise girls individually, after graduation, as to profession, work, general life plans.-

THE CENTRAL INSTITUTE

The Central Institute at Krakow, in process of construction, almost completed, is a very fine building.

It will house Girls Teachers' Training College, dormitory for 100 students, Training and Testing School, The offices of the Inspectors, The Library and the Executive Office.

The house is situated in beautiful, healthy district on the banks of the Vistula. There is a roof garden, which will be most welcome to the children on hot days.

$30,000. were spent for the building.

$30,000. are necessary for solid, complete equipment.

VI

SUMMER CONTINUATION CLASSES

These serve the physical (health, re-invigoration) as well as pedagogical development of the Trainees. Held in the glorious mountain resorts of the Tatra, they have the following development:

Year	Place	Number of girls
1925	Bobow	48
1926	Jordanow	98
1927	Jordanow	76
1928	Rabka	124
1929	Rabka	240

Rabka is an ideal health resort in the Carpathians. The courses started May 1st, and lasted until September 30th.

Of the 240 girls, some come from Palestine, Slovakia, Hungary, Austria. Majority from Poland.

They were housed in 5 airy hotels.

EXAMINATIONS

From July 20th-25th, in presence of Central Committee, under direction of Dr. L. Deutschlander, examinations of this year's graduates took place. 32 received diplomas. These were immediately engaged for 25 new schools to be opened in fall.

The President of Poland visited the Rabka schools. The Government continues to be very sympathetic, and-constructively helpful.

Beth Jacob, a blessing for European Jewry, saves our maidenhood from moral and religious dangers, from political radicalism.

VIII

WHAT THE POLISH GOVERNMENT THINKS OF BETH JACOB SCHOOLS -- From a letter sent by Count J. Siechanowski, Minister of Poland, to Rabbi Leo Jung, Chairman of the American Beth Jacob Committee:

"I take real pleasure in telling you that the Polish Government follows with great and sympathetic interest the development of these schools, which in its opinion are destined to play an important part in the educational system of the Jewish population in Poland.

I take this opportunity to assure you once more of the pleasure I had in meeting you."

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Perhaps you will recall that among other things, I am the correspondent for the J. T. A. here. I note that you are scheduled to speak at the Jewish Community Center next Tuesday evening, the 25th. I should be very glad to have from you an advance release of either the full text or excerpts from your speech, so that I may send a despatch on it. I should like to have the release by the end of this week, if possible.

I expect to be a member of the audience Tuesday night and hope I shall have the pleasure of a little "schmoos" with you personally before you make your departure. In particular I am anxious, in my private capacity as a fellow Zionist, to discuss the present situation. I noticed your statement in the "Day." Perhaps you would also like to know what is going on in Avukah.

If you are arriving in Washington early enough, I should be delighted if you could have lunch or dinner with me.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Dear Abba:-

No, I didn't know there was a new arrival in your family. Had I known it, you would have immediately received word from Ruth and me extending best wishes to you, the Mother and your son. Please accept our belated congratulations and expressions of affection.

My mind is in a mess with reference to the whole Zionist situation. As though there were not enough external difficulties, there is so much internal dissension. Every one is trying to get into the front picture. What a picnic for your friend, Bernard Richards, now that my Father-in-law passed away. Every day he comes out with a new pronouncement.

I wrote Julian Morgenstern that his correspondence with Richards will have taught him a valuable lesson, in that in the future he will be careful with whom he corresponds.

I still recall Richards unwarranted attack on you when you made a speech at Carnegie under the auspices of the Union Hebrew Congregations. The self appointed custodian of Jewish morals and the Jewish conscience considered it his duty to reprimand you because Well, it does not matter, - anything for the sake of notoriety.

And, then, comes your friend De Haas. He, too, has to break on the front page daily. I wish that Brandeis' Boswell would use a little more moderation. Incidentally, don't you get sick of his frequent references to the Brandeisian this, that or the other. I should think that the Justice would put a stop to that sort of adulation.

Speaking of the Boswell - and, by the way, I like him - I heard him discuss the Palestinian situation with Rihan¹ before the Foreign Policy Association. Although I was ninety miles away, I could feel the vast amount of sympathy that went out to Rihan¹. De Haas was evasive, didn't meet a lot of questions fairly and squarely and he certainly succeeded in making a lot of friends for the Arabs.

I expect to be in Washington to attend the Conference. You and I must have an hour's walk - to chat about a good many things of mutual interest.

I know that your David will bring you as much joy and happiness as our David has brought us during the past three and a half years.

As ever,

My dear Rabbi:

As you undoubtedly know, my brother Milton has been ill since March, 1925 and his condition has taken many turns. Of late it seems to center on the writing of letters, most of them dealing with religious problems. He has sort of centered you out as the only man who can help solve his troubles. He has addressed to you many letters which we have not thought necessary to bother you with, but in order to give you an idea of the trend of his thought, I am enclosing herewith a letter received today addressed to you, dealing almost entirely with his religious obsessions.

I visited with Milton a few weeks ago and found him physically and in fine shape, looking well and seemed quite happy with his surroundings. He is located at a very fine sanitarium and is receiving the best care possible. It just occurred to me that a letter from you addressed to Milton care of Dr. MacDonald's House, Central Valley, New York, advising him that it would be just as well to stop this sort of writing and centering his thoughts on church, giving more thought to getting well and his own religion and that the other problems would eventually solve themselves. I know that you are better qualified to know just what to write him and I assure you dear Rabbi, that I would greatly appreciate your effort in that direction, and a letter from you might quiet him on this problem which seems to now disturb him so much.

Thanking you in advance with kind personal regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Rabbi A.H. Silver,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Sir:

Considering the synagogue a not exactly proper and fit place to start a theological argument or the refutation of the Deistic Dogma, I refrained last Wednesday evening, Feb. 19, from asserting verbally what I am now to express in writing, namely:

The God Concept is the mental invention of man, a formula, a hypothesis, unprovable and, therefore, untenable, unless it be by those, who, being too weak to stand on their own spiritual legs, are badly in need of some fictitious heavenly father as support. If you will maintain, as all theologians do, that the very existence of the universe with its entire phenomenology is proof positive of the reality of an all-powerful, beneficent Creator, I shall come back at you with your own argument and logic; you said: "Science and human reason can tell us about practical things only, but are unable to disclose to us essences and real truths"; now, if human thought and science are futile, as far as obtaining results is concerned, when employed in discovering and establishing essence and truth in general, how much more impotent are they in accomplishing the impossible, to prove the Essence of Essences, the Truth of Truths-God. This is the dictate of logic, from which there is no escape.

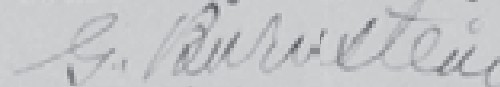

Incidentally, let me disclose to you something that is overlooked by most people having the religious outlook upon the world and that is, that when one controverts the assertion of the existence of a Supreme Being, he does not deny His Existence, of which he, like everybody else, knows not, but he controverts the assertion only about His Existence. There may be a negative statement implied in this denial, it is not rank atheism, however, but healthy agnosticism.

There were other contradictions in your talk, due, of course, not to your faulty reasoning, but to the inherent unreasonableness of the entire thesis, which is of necessity built in a vacuum. However, I am not going to discuss the entire address and shall ^{rather} on just one more point-your confident and assuring assertion

no answer
Filed 4-16-30

that the solution of social problems and evils necessitates the religious belief and the deistic outlook upon life. I wish to take issue with this statement, showing that an utterly godless view of the matter is not only more tenable, but more reasonable as well. You sail, the individual sees the ^{world} through his own being, and only by observing himself, his own emotions, thoughts and reactions does he come to know things as well beings external to himself and find their character and nature and judge of their behaviour and needs. Well then, regarding human relations, this being, that cannot know others unless it ^{through} itself, cannot but conclude that the needs of every human being is similar to his, therefore, conflicting with and antagonistic to his, which must lead to struggle and the victory of the strongest. But the human race has multiplied enormously and the war for existence became too precarious to be relied on as a means to survival, in fact, there lurks the danger of mutual destruction, so that the only possible way of avoiding this undesirable outcome is the cooperation of man with man. Not brotherly love, not love of neighbor (so many of the neighbors are so unlovely and unlovable! I really think there is no other way of dealing with a Chicago gangster, for instance, than the gallows or the electric chair: no use being sentimental - you cannot reform such, you must exterminate them, seeing to it, of course, that in the future none of such antisocial products be created, and with better social conditions, they will surely become an impossibility), but self-love and self-interest is the solution of all social evils and troubles. The ego, in its own interests and for its own salvation, must become less egoistic, in fact obliterate itself in its greater part, fusing itself with the whole of humanity, and I fail to see where God, even He were discoverable, comes in here.

Yours very sincerely,

G. Burnstein

My dear Rabbi Silver

I do not know that the information I am sending you is of any interest to you, yet I felt you might care to know that at a program given on Lincoln's birthday before the Civic Club of Binghamton, given by the Immigrant Education Division, I quoted from your lovely poem "America's Matting" beginning with "He called unto a thousand peoples and summoned the bravest among them..." I cannot tell you how many women — for it is a women's organization — spoke of the beauty of the lines and asked about the author. I promised several copies of the poem which I am having mimeographed for them.

May I add that I too am Jewish - that for the past eleven years have directed the work of Immigrant Education in this city.

The program went off so well on Lincoln's birthday that I was asked to present it again on Washington's birthday for the Daughters of the American Revolution, before which group I quoted your poem again. It is most appropriate for my work. It contains beautiful sentiments - beautifully expressed.

I hope we may some day have the pleasure of hearing you in person in this City.

With cordial greetings, I am,
Sincerely yours

Dear Dr. Silver,

We are sending you, under separate cover, a copy of "A History of the Jews" which we will publish on March 14. This, we believe, is the first modern Jewish history which deals with the sociological and environmental factors in the history of Jewry. Besides dealing with the purely historical and philosophical associations, Dr. Sachar, who is no doubt known to you, has treated such problems as industrialism, Darwinism and trade unions as affecting Jewish history. We feel sure that you will want to call this book to the attention of your Congregation. If you should care to send us your opinion of the book when you have read it, we should be very grateful.

Yours faithfully,
ALFRED A. KNOPF, Inc.

My dear Mr. Shaeffer:-

I need not tell you that I appreciated very much your thoughtfulness in sending me your note of February 21st.

Rabbi Israel Porath,

Cleveland, Ohio.

My dear Rabbi Porath:-

Please pardon the long delay in answering your kind letter of January 24th. The arrival of my new son, Raphael David, has occupied a good deal of my time and my correspondence has accordingly lagged.

I am returning herewith the letter of Dr. Mirkin. I am afraid that at present I can do no more for him. I have been very heavily taxed in recent months by numerous worthy causes and I am afraid that I have reached the limit.

I am delighted to know that you are working on a translation of Mesillat Yesharim. I have long been an admirer of Luzzatto and particularly of this book of his. I shall, of course, be delighted to read your manuscript.

With kindest regards, permit me to remain

Very sincerely yours,

and I just happened on it this morning.

I trust that Nelly is feeling well again.

My dear Mrs. Barnett:-

It would have given me great pleasure to attend a meeting of the old graduates of "62", and to add my tribute to the many which will be paid to the men who in our early years taught us and molded us.

I have always cherished the memories of my school days at "62". Two or three years ago I had the extreme pleasure of addressing the student body at the school assembly.

I gladly would have come to the meeting but I am scheduled to attend and to address the Conference of the Allied Jewish Campaign which is to be held in Washington on March 8th and 9th. Please convey my best wishes to the mentors and tormentors of my early youth, Dr. Roberts, Mark Hoffman, Elias Lieberman, etc.

With best wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Mr. Goldsmith:-

Permit me to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Feb. 25th addressed to Rabbi Silver.

Rabbi Silver will be pleased to officiate at your ceremony on May 7th at 2:00 o'clock providing he will be in the city. There is a possibility that he may be away on that day. In that case, Rabbi Feuer would perform the ceremony.

We are presuming that you wish the ceremony held here at the Temple. We would appreciate it very much if you will kindly advise us about how many you expect to have in attendance at the ceremony?

With kindest regards, permit me to remain

Very sincerely yours,

Secretary to Rabbi Silver
