IS HITLER REALLY DEAD?

"The Evil That Men Do Lives After Them."

Whether Hitler is really dead or not is still a subject for much speculation -- is still an unsolved riddle. No authoritative statement has been issued confirming his death. So doubts persist. And in the absence of established fact, as is often the case, rumors arise. From time to time one hears reports which have led to this or to that country, that he is in hiding, or that he is biding his time to make a return even as Napoleon made his dramatic return from the Isle of Elbe. I suppose that such rumors would persist even if the fact of Hitler's death were liquidated because of the circumstances under which he is supposed to have perished -- the fallen ruins of the Chancellery and capital and more particularly the wishful thinking of many of his followers who have come to look upon him as a super-man. These facts and these wishes would naturally bring into existence the survival myth. Time and again in the history of the world such survival myths gained currency. And conceivably the Nazi underground would like to keep alive such a myth.

From a practical point of view, it is of very little moment at this time whether Hitler is alive or not. His potential for evil at the moment is nil. The armies of the Reich have been completely shattered. The German potential for war at the moment does not exist. Their generals who made the war are awaiting sentence. Some of them have taken the easy way out and have committed suicide. It is of little practical concern at the moment whether Hitler himself is dead or alive.

But it is of deep concern whether Hitlerism is alive or dead. That is a very serious question for if it is yet alive, the war is not yet won and may yet be lost. If this immoral and war breeding way of life called Hitlerism, which Hitler represents in our generation which almost destroyed our world -- if that is still alive in the world, it may yet grow terrible powerful. It may yet again bring disaster upon mankind. Our saviors were very wise when they emphasized the thought at all times that what is essential for the moral progress of mankind is not that its sinners should perish but that sin should disappear -- "not until sinners vanish from the earth everywhere, but let evil vanish from the earth."

There are very distinct evidences that Hitlerism is far from being chained, some very distinct indications that people are forgetting -- people would like to forget the evil of Hitlerism -- in the sense of wishing to ignore him. The people are becoming indifferent to it. There are indications that the poison of Hitlerism is still spreading in some countries, in some sections of the population in our own country.

Less than five months after V-E Day -- five months, not five years -- it becomes necessary for the Chief of the Armies of the United Nations in Europe, General Dwight Eisenhower to remove from command over Bavaria, from the American zone of Occupation, General George S. Patton Jr. because the latter does not see the necessity, did not see, or refused to see the necessity for de-Nazifying Bavaria, for removing from office notorious Nazi leaders, for purging Bavaria of the evils of Nazism.

The story of the Nazis is now fully told. General Patton must know it as well as anyone else. Their brutality and their bestiality and their conspiracy against the world -- that has been fully authenticated. The Nazi concentration camps have been opened to ~~these~~ eyes of the world and their hearts have been photographed and screened -- all the shocking horrors and depravity. At this very moment Josef Kramer commander of one of the concentration camps and 44 of his accomplices are on trial. The full story of their sadism is being told. The plans of the Nazis for dominating the world, what they intended to do for one people is based on document.... And yet an important American commander is not at all impressed by all that. He is convinced that the difference between the Nazis and anti-Nazis is only such a difference which exists between the Republican and Democratic Parties in the United States. Those are his words. He does not see why notorious Nazis should not be kept in office.

If Germany is not to be completely de-nazified -- what have we fought this war for? What hope is there ever for a democratic Germany or for a peaceful Europe?

Patton isn't the only one, among the high placed military figures, among sections of our people. Many Americans are forgetting what they are fighting for. We are told that our soldiers in Germany are fraternizing with the Nazis, as a result of which they have come to hate not the Nazis, but the ~~x~~ victims of the Nazis, those whom the Nazis sought to victimize. They are being indoctrinated with Nazi propaganda, hatred of the Soviet and hatred of the Jew. They are coming to think that the German folk are all fine people and that all the atrocity stories about them are just so much propaganda.

Some Americans, some thoughtful Americans have begun to wonder what will ~~be~~ happen when the soldiers return to our shores. What is it they will bring back with them -- a passion for Democracy? or a passion for Fascism?

At Potsdam the three great powers agreed that Germany's war potential should be destroyed, that Germany should be rendered incapable of ever waging war. The only way to insure that is to remove all heavy industry from Germany and to destroy its ~~ix~~ international cartels. Some American industrialists who are top men today in the control of Germany, with the aid of some of our military, have acted quite otherwise. They are eager to do business with Germany. And of what concerns are philosophies and ideologies to reborn Nazism when business and profit are involved. And so no machinery, no machine tools have as yet been removed from the American zone of occupation and it is quite conceivable that German monopolies are being nursed back to life with the aid of American industrialists and militarists.

During the war it was said time and again that the United Nations would have to stay in Germany for a long period of time for re-education of the youth of Germany to see that Germany never again becomes Prussianized to a degree that it was in the last few generations. The talk today is that the American armies will withdraw from Germany within a few months.

What was the storm signal of the coming attack upon the free world. What was the storm signal announcing the coming of the Second World War, which the world chose to ignore ten, fifteen years ago? What was Hitler's chief weapon in his amazing progress in Europe? Anti-Semitism! How did he succeed and with what did he succeed in poisoning the minds of the people in Europe? With Anti-Semitism! When reaction begins its death march in the world, what is inscribed upon its proud banner? Why the hatred of the Jew. The war against Nazism and Fascism is over. Nazism and Fascism have been crushed in the battle. But anti-Semitism has not been crushed. Anti-Semitism is still rampant in Europe, in the very countries which had been under the heel of the Nazis, which had been liberated by democratic parties.

It is quoted that there are no more than 90,000 Jews left out of 3,000,000 before the war. The Polish people suffered terribly at the hands of Nazi invaders. The Polish people knew how the Nazis used Anti-Semitism during the years between the two world wars to disrupt the unity of Poland and prepare it for heavy conquest at the hands of the people. Yet five months after the war won, years of incidents of pogroms, in spite of the fact that Polish Government has invited them back, Polish Jews who find themselves today in German concentration camps refuse to go back to Poland, because they know how poisoned they are with anti-Semitism.

Czechoslovakia, a very fine, free liberal country, whose government was and is among the most democratic liberal governments in Europe -- yet every day you read that Jews in Slovakia, repatriated Jews are being attacked and thrown out of towns by members of the Fascist Hleinka Guards..

Holland -- in that wonderful little country which has been a refuge for the spirit of man for generations -- there was actually no anti-Semitism before the war. Dutch officials expressed concern over the increasing trend toward anti-Semitism in Holland which is attributed to German propaganda solely. For the first time in that country's history the people have become race conscious. People who before the war were friendly with Jews, now turn against them. It is noticeable everywhere. Our officials had meetings in many cases were able to convince them that only Nazis think that way."

And in France where the hatred of the German is so intense, the hatred of anti-Semitism is not at all lessened. In many instances French people will not permit the restoration of property to their original Jewish owners. There is rioting and demonstration against the return to the Jews of what is rightfully theirs.

No Hitlerism is not dead. Hitler may be dead. "But the evil that men do lives after them." Hitler isn't dead. This war did not put an end to anti-Semitism in Europe, or the survivors, the Jewish survivors of Europe would not be clamoring to get away from the continent at all costs.

Recently there was presented to the President of the United States a report on the condition of the displaced persons in Europe -- by Dean Earl Harrison. He was authorized by the President to make an objective and scientific study of the actual displaced persons in Europe. That report has since been made public. That report tells of the miserable conditions which still exist in the concentration camps of Germany. That report tells of the desperate hope of many of these displaced persons to get away. And that report recommends that it be made immediately possible for at least 100,000 of them to get away from the concentration camps of Europe to migrate to Palestine. The report continues: "The main solution, in many ways the only real solution of the problem lies in the quick evacuation of all non-repatriable Jews in Germany and Austria, who wish it to Palestine."

In the last few days, I personally received cables from Europe. Here is one sent by the President of Jewish Gemeinde of Berlin: "Jews now in Berlin comprise remnant Polish and German Jewry, plead opportunity enter Palestine. Our families murdered, life seems futile. Eretz Yisrael only hope. Please rescue us." They wish to be rescued.

This is from Major Judah David, Jewish Chaplain who is serving with General Eisenhower on the problem of Jewish displaced persons. He cabled me three days ago: "After a survey of Jewish displaced persons in the camps of the American zone in Europe, I find only an overwhelming desire to go to Palestine. Conservative estimate 80 percent these remnants of European Jewry living only for the day when Palestine's doors will be opened."

A cable from Captain Joseph Landau: "Have just spent Simchas Torah with three hundred children some recently concentration camps remainder orphaned Nazi bestiality I find well behaved children who must be saved. They asked for home Palestine. Please help them."

This from an American social worker among the displaced persons in Germany: "Jews here desperate. Horrible conditions. All good material for Palestine. Anxious to go there. Do your utmost save them. Otherwise they will perish."

This does not look as though Hitlerism were dead in Europe or that this great victory of the United Nations has brought a sense of peace and security to our unfortunate brothers over there. When this report of Dean Harrison was presented to the President of the United States, Mr. Truman was deeply moved by it and dispatched forthwith two letters, one to General Eisenhower ordering him to see that the conditions in the concentration camps be immediately improved, which I understand, has since been, to a large degree, attended to. The other was a letter which he sent to Prime Minister Attlee requesting him to make immediately available 100,000 certificates so that the Jews from these concentration camps -- 65,000 of whom are still in the American zone of occupation -- be enabled immediately to go to Palestine. In fact I am told when he read the report he said: "100,000? Why not 200,000?"

There is the danger, however -- such is the temper of our world today -- that even this humanitarian appeal of the President of the United States to the Prime Minister of Great Britain which country holds the mandate over Palestine simply and solely ~~to create~~ created to facilitate Jewish immigration into Palestine -- might be turned down.

I had the privilege of speaking with President Truman a week ago yesterday at the White House. I expressed our gratitude to him for the forthright human request which he had made -- the first forthright act to ameliorate the plight of the Jews of Europe to emanate from the White House in many many a year. Because up to recently we have had to content ourselves with promises and kind words -- very little else from the Head of our government. I asked him whether he felt that his request for 100,000 certificates would be granted. He said that he was very hopeful. He understood clearly that even if granted, even if 100,000 were allowed to go the e, it is not the solution to the problem. He spoke of this as the first step. Because it is clear that ~~the~~ can not the Jews of Europe/go back to the old status which was theirs between the two world wars -- a defenseless minority -- with no constitutional guarantees, subject to the attacks to which the Jewish minorities were subjected to all through the generations. During the war, the British armies who found themselves completely beaten and had to flee from Dunkirk, were able to flee because they had a country to go back to. Having gone back to their base, they were able to find themselves and fight back to ultimate victory. The Jews of Europe, during the same war, also had to flee from Europe because of the Nazi threat of annihilation. They did not have a ~~the~~ country to return to. However, the country which they had prepared for years for just such an eventuality was shut against them by the British so that they could not escape from the continent of Europe. Six million of them had to stay there and be done to death in gas chambers -- six million of them perished. It is important for the Jews to bear this fact in mind. Rescue work and relief work are very important. But they are no solution of the Jewish problem. The Jewish problem is the problem of the national homelessness of the Jewish people which has brought time and again tragedy and suffering to them in medieval and modern times, in backward and modern countries -- it makes no difference. That problem of national homeless can be solved only through the establishment of a national home might do for the Jews / ^{what} England did for the British Armies in the war -- a place of refuge, a place where they will be able to go to as their right, which is the right of every person -- a home of their own. I believe that the President of the United States understands it fully, just as his predecessors understood it fully when they declared time and again that they favored a Jewish Commonwealth, just as the legislators in Congress declared themselves in favor of it and just as the American people understands and sympathizes. Unfortunately we have not yet been able to persuade Great Britain to fulfill its obligations to remove the obstacles in the way which it has placed of its realization. Today British ships are patrolling the waters off the shores of Palestine. Why? British ships, American ships should be used at this time to transport these tragically miserable unfortunate people from the concentration camps of Europe to Palestine instead of which British battleships are now patrolling the waters to see that no Jewish refugees illegally enter the country, shooting along the borders of Palestine at these refugees who are, according to British nomenclature, illegally entering Palestine. There is no illegal entry. There is no illegal entry. Every Jew goes there morally and legally because they have to go there. They are waiting by the tens of thousands and they are exploiting every means to get there.

I return to my major theme - is Hitlerism dead? Oh, no. He is not dead. The danger is still here. And the real danger is that we will lose our fear of it and we are relaxing. We are no longer on the alert. We are forgetting what it was in practise. The danger is that the pagan cult fires may again be renewed in the world. Anti-Semitism is still here. The distrust which the Nazis stimulated between the Western powers and the Soviet Union is still here. I believe it was responsible for the breakdown of the conference of Foreign Ministers. It was a serious breakdown. I believe that if this rift is permitted to continue and grow that the evil genius of Fascism will escape again from the bottle and will blacken again the world. The world today, my ~~fix~~ friends, is very delicately and dangerously poised. The German Empire has broken down.

That means the reorganization of the Continent of Europe. The Japanese Empire has fallen. That means the reorganization of Pacific world confidence. The atomic bomb came into the picture, which means the reorganization of the thinking of the whole world, of nearly every conceivable problem. Britain a lesser power in the world today. Russia has been accepted as one of the great powers of the world.

All these facts mean that there will be a reorganization a sharp re-organization fraught with suffering which will offer every opportunity for misunderstandings, for future demagogues. What is called for is the deepest wisdom and the greatest patience and the most courageous statesmanship on the part of the leaders of free peoples of the earth, for the highest realism which is the realism of the spiritual. It calls for the average man who loves freedom never to forget Hitlerism, never to cease to dread it, never to relax in its patience, never to tolerate any of its manifestations, for the war against the West is not yet over. The war upon Judaeo-Christian is by no means ended. The next ten twenty thirty years is when a new world will be fashioned. The new society. It is during these formative critical and dangerous times, that lovers of freedom must be on the alert not to tolerate any act and state which has in it any inference or the breath of the trademark of what we know to be Hitlerism.

the progressive parties, which are daily growing in power and influence, are implacably opposed to it. Nevertheless the French Government, which had intended, if the report is correct, to bring 12,000 Frenchmen to trial for their persecution of the Jews during the Nazi régime, dropped the proposal when they were advised that, in view of the prevalent antisemitism, the result would be a grave disturbance to the public peace. Whether the proposal was good or bad is not the point: I personally think it bad: but what is disturbing is the reason for its abandonment.

Again, last year some 40,000 Frenchmen, to whom small Jewish businesses had been handed over during the German occupation, formed themselves into a "protective association" to oppose any order for the return of these businesses to their Jewish owners. Early in the New Year, after interventions by delegates of the Front National as well as by Socialist and Communist spokesmen in the Consultative Assembly, M. Adrien Tixier, Minister of the Interior, proposed to the Cabinet that this association, and another of similar type, should be dissolved: they were charged with claiming that the Vichy laws were regular and that the present laws could have no retroactive effect, and with having formed flying squads to protect their interests, if need be by force. That the associations were dissolved is a matter for satisfaction; but the very fact of their formation points to a problem that may become increasingly grave throughout Europe. And just as I am writing this on May 21st the following appears in the Daily Herald:

"Anti-Jewish 'shock groups' have been organised in Paris, prepared to use force if necessary to prevent the reinstatement of Jewish families in homes from which they had been evicted under the German occupation.

"This was revealed when police at the week-end swooped on two associations for the defence of tenants' rights.

"The police action followed riots alleged to have been incited by these two associations, called 'The revival of the French home' and 'The tenants of good faith,' against the reinstatement of Jews in their former Paris homes and the eviction of people who had replaced them as tenants in the interim.

"The Prefecture of Police states that every measure will be taken to prevent similar antisemitic demonstrations in the future."

But, however energetically the police may act, there can be no doubt that these demonstrations are having some success: a high official just returned from the continent reports that in France few Jews have yet been able to recover their flats and businesses, and that there have been cases of Jews securing a Court direction for the reoccupation of their flats but being unable to avail themselves of it owing to the threatening attitude of neighbours and the mob.

A similar phenomenon is to be observed throughout what was formerly Nazi-occupied or quisling Europe. The plea by Jews for the return of their property has so far met, almost everywhere, with little or no response. In country after country those in possession have organised themselves for the defence of their gains, arguing that the Jews should be indemnified by the public exchequer, but not at their expense. Many of the Governments in liberated territories have been chary of adopting drastic measures, fearing that these might result in antisemitic outbreaks which would upset the precarious balance of the régimes. Where legislative measures have nevertheless been enacted, they have often been rendered almost valueless either by the exemption of large groups or by the payment of indemnities in valueless currency or un-realisable debentures. In one of the overrun countries there had been, before the Nazi occupation, an orphanage for Jewish children. After the liberation it was requisitioned by the local authorities for administrative needs; and when the survivors of the Jewish community attempted to recover it for its former and now so urgent purpose, the request, or so it is reported, was refused.

That there has been a virulent growth of antisemitism throughout Europe, quite apart from this special hostility to which any attempt by Jews to recover their homes and property must give rise, cannot for a moment be questioned. For twelve years the whole continent has been submitted to a barrage of antisemitic propaganda. Many have resisted it, and have proved their immunity, even in Germany, by noble and dangerous acts of succour to their Jewish friends. But in our present stage of psychological and intellectual development the majority simply cannot fail to be influenced by a propaganda so cunning and so long sustained; and it would have been naïf to imagine that, merely because Nazism had been defeated, a very great deal of antisemitic feeling would not remain. Moreover, the Nazis used this propaganda for a special as well as for a general purpose: relying everywhere on Jew-baiting to deflect the hatred of the suppressed nations from themselves, they have sown a seed of racial discord which may bear bitter fruit for many generations to come. It is of tragic significance that even in Western countries men and women who refused to have anything to do with Jew-baiting during the Nazi régime are now succumbing. According to a report in the Manchester Guardian of April 23rd, with a San Francisco date-line:

"Dutch officials expressed concern to-day over the increasing trend towards antisemitism in Holland, which is attributed solely to German propaganda. Mr. A. A. Pelt, one of the Netherlands delegation, said that for the first time in the country's history the people have become race conscious.

"'People who before the war were friendly with Jews have now turned against them,' he said. 'It is noticeable everywhere. Our officials had meetings and in many cases were able to convince them that only Nazis think that way.'"

* * * * *

If there are disquieting features about the position even in the West, then in the East all is darkness and tragedy. Most of the Jewish survivors are in utter penury. The majority depend on
