The Soul of the Sea, poem, 1911.

The Soul of the Sea

1/-1

Dedicated to M. H.

I stood upon the rock-ribbed shore,
Beside the troubled sea ;

Low sighs and sobs the breezes bore
From out the deep to me.

I would to God I had not heard
Its deep and yearning dole ;

For now the song of sun-thrilled bird
In vain calls on my soul.
