TO THE SENIORS.

A great debt of gratitude and commendation is due to the senior members of this organization. By their untiring energies and ceaseless endeavors they have kept the society from a state of indolence and immobility and have infused within it currents of vitality and vigor. They have earned the full recognition and heartiest thanks of their junior colleagues.

Our people in its incesant struggle to emancipate itself needs such resolute, earnest, resourceful men to be its warriors and standard-bearers.

Let us hope that on their entering the arena of manhood they will continue with redoubled strength and zeal the struggle which they have so gloriously begun in their youth. Let us hope that they will help wield, with augmented vigor, the mighty sword destined to shatter the shackles of our people. Let the hope of our nation be forever the
