Annual Meeting

OF

NORTHEASTERN OHIO TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

FRIDAY
OCTOBER 24, 1941
CLEVELAND, OHIO

... GREETINGS ...

It is my privilege to bring teachers of Northeastern Ohio the greetings of our association now assembled for a 72nd annual convention.

We come together at a critical time; a time when many democracies of the world are in chains and others, including our own, are in danger; a time when American people are called to defend the freedoms so arduously won and so zealously guarded during the life of our nation.

Education must labor in a vital role if we would see the ultimate triumph and preservation of the democratic ideal. Armies and navies are called to defend our heritage, but only education can perpetuate that heritage in peace or in war.

Our schools must give a fuller understanding and a deeper appreciation of democracy to the youth of today, so they, in turn, will give their full measure of loyalty to guard that democracy tomorrow.

This is the challenge we must accept as we deliberate upon our convention theme: "Education's Role in the Defense of Democracy."

*Dale R. Rice, President
Northeastern Ohio Teachers Association*

Theme of the Convention:
