PRESIDENTS OF LIBERIA AND HAITI VISIT HOWARD UNIVERSITY

His Excellency President Barclay of Liberia Visits Howard University—Edwin Barclay, president of the Republic of Liberia, paid a brief visit to the University on May twenty-sixth. President Barclay was accompanied by President-elect William V. S. Tubman, military and naval aides and several members of his cabinet. He was greeted at the University by President Mordecai W. Johnson, deans, and administrative officers, representatives of the State Department, and other high ranking government officials and secret service operatives.

President Barclay and President-elect Tubman made brief speeches to the University representatives assembled in the Browsing Room of Founders Library. After President Barclay and President-elect Tubman had signed the University guest book the party adjourned to the Staff Lounge on the second floor of Founders Library where they were served light refreshments. The presidential party was then taken for an inspection trip about the University.

His Excellency President Lescot of Haiti Visits Howard University—President Elie Lescot of the Republic of Haiti was a guest at luncheon at the University on October fifteenth, following which he addressed students, faculty and friends in the Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel.

Guests at the luncheon were President Lescot and his party, President Johnson, deans and administrative officers of Howard University, the Honorable Andre Liautaud, Haitian Ambassador, Mr. Nelson Rockefeller, Co-Ordinator of Inter-American Affairs, high ranking government officials including representatives from the State Department; Army and Navy officers and secret service operatives.

One of the outstanding features of President Lescot's visit to the University was his review of a guard of honor from the A.S.T.P. Unit at Howard University which is commanded by Colonel Henry J. Boettcher, U. S. Army. The Haitian National Anthem and the American National Anthem were played by the Engineer Replacement Training Center Band from Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

President Lescot made brief addresses to the deans and administrative officers and visiting guests in the Browsing Room in Founders Library and at the luncheon in Frazier Hall.

SPEECH MADE BY PRESIDENT ELIE LESCOT
of the Republic of Haiti

on the occasion of his visit to Howard University on October 15, 1943

Mr. President, members of the faculty and my dear friends, to find myself today once more in your midst gives me an especial pleasure which I do not feel necessary to emphasize, for I am convinced that you have no doubt at all of the feelings of friendship and sympathy which I cherish for all those who in your remarkable Howard University are providing a healthy and strong youth with the light of an authentic science. I feel myself in your presence so much in the house of a friend. I have so strongly the feeling of being among my own people that I have no hesitation in confessing to you that even without the invitation to participate in these remarkable functions in your presence I had promised myself to come and bring to you the new assurance of the unchanging friendship that the Chief Executive of the Haitian State has for you. That same friendship which he bore in his heart when he represented his country in Washington as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary.

As the Chief Executive of a black republic, the only one in the American continent, it is pleasing to me to find myself among members of the same race, who have given such honor to our race, and who are in the United States of America the brilliant representatives of culture about which the least that one can say is that it is not inferior to any other. At this moment when I speak to you it is not without pride that I recall the learned investigations in which certain eminent professors of your University were engaged at the time of my trip in 1942 with the view of contributing to the means of gaining victory over the advocates of the doctrine which asserts that we belong to an inferior race. The ignoble attack of December 7, 1941, found you all standing for the defense of the great nation to which you belong. Just as in 1917 your generous blood is being shed for the defense of the democratic ideals which may permit us to achieve the destiny promised to us.

Your scientists and your soldiers are bringing their remarkable vitality to the defense of the great democracies. They are supporting them with all their strength while we Haitians in spite of our desire which up to now has not been realized to send our sons to the battle field employ our strength to produce the strategical materials which are so much needed by the United Nations. More than ever we should put shoulder to shoulder and close ranks in order to occupy in the world of tomorrow the just place to which we have right.

No occasion seems to me more appropriate to cite to you, ladies and gentlemen, a sentence from the message which I addressed to the population of my own country and to all those who are of our race. "Brothers of the same blood," I then said, "we defend together the same ideal, and we protest against the same indignities. Our watchword then is to die together or to save ourselves together. Our destiny is joined and can be realized with good fortune only in proportion as we shall have fully understood that we must without reservation aid the great democracies in the struggle for life or death which we are waging with the unchained forces of evil."

From this rostrum of Howard University I think that I should launch once more the appeal of 1942 to all the Negroes in the world—the Negroes of Africa, the Negroes of America, the Negroes of the West Indies. I believe that I should once more ask them in whatever latitude they may be, and under whatever skies they may be to arise. We must form a bloc and support the great democracies for the defense of our threatened liberties and for the defense of our right to live as men under God's blue sky. The device inscribed at the bottom of the arms of the Republic of Haiti "In Union there is strength" should be that of all those who like ourselves belong to a common race.

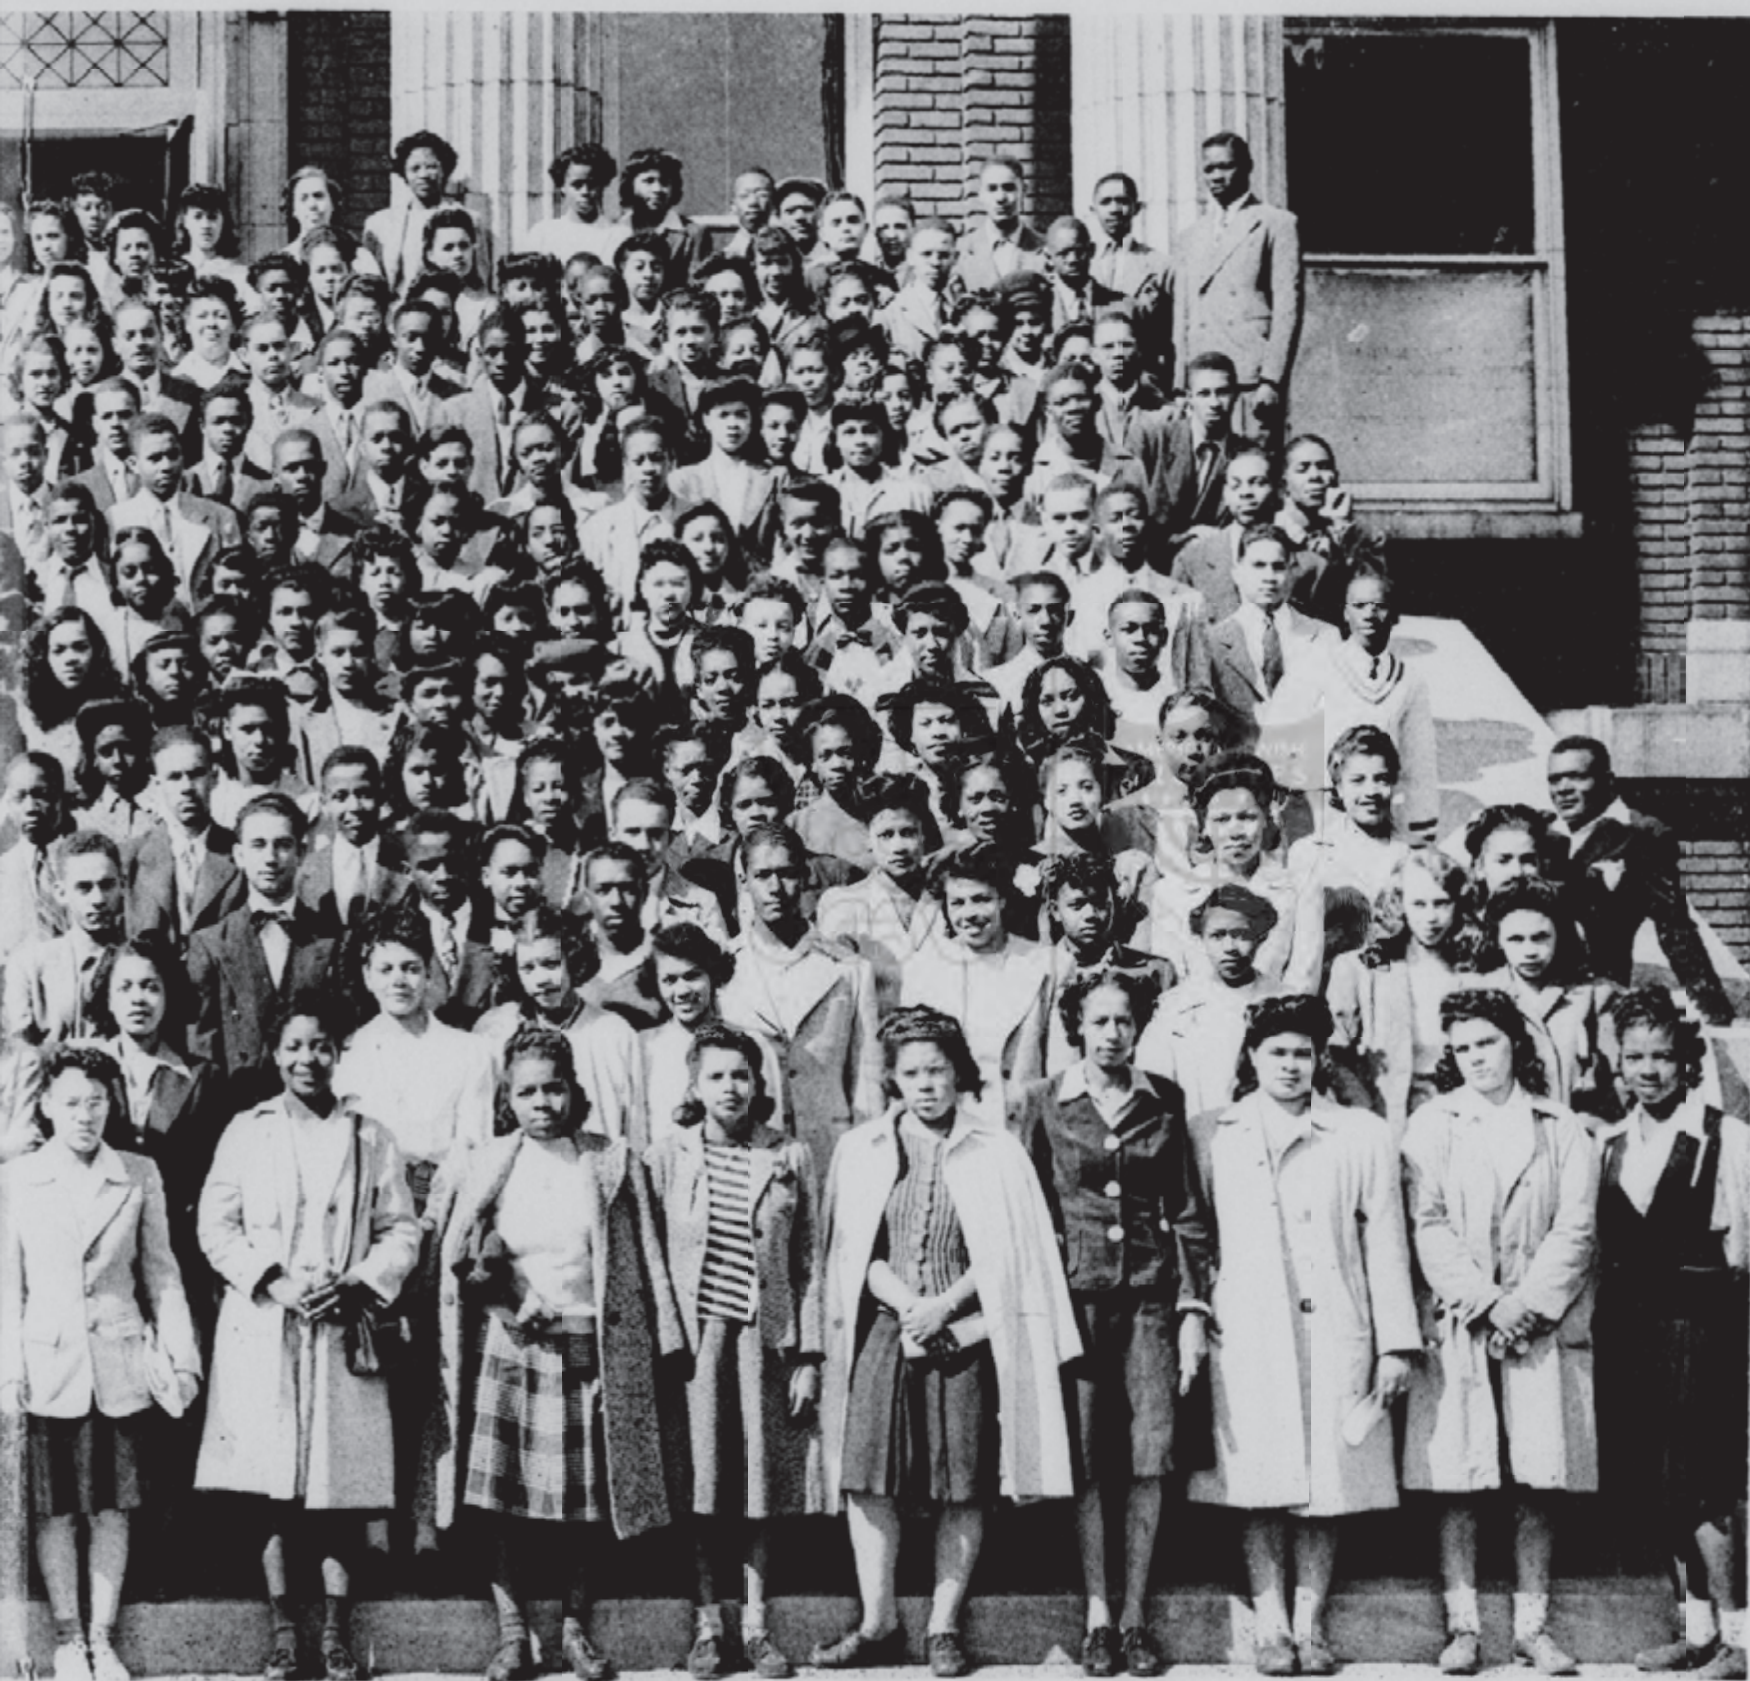

The President of Haiti feels himself happy and proud to have been the recipient of your sympathy. He thanks you for this new manifestation of friendship which you have just given by receiving me among you. It is in the name of all the Haitian people that he addresses to you his thanks, for he knows that your affection goes beyond his person to include all the people of Haiti.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIP FUND REPORT

On January 1, 1940, Howard University began a nationwide field program for the discovery and acquisition of high school graduates of exceptional ability. Since that date, the University has established contacts with more than 5,000 high school seniors and graduates representing 210 high schools located in 116 cities in 26 states and the Howard University National Competitive Scholarship Examination has been given to approximately 4,000 students representing 150 high schools located in 26 states. The University has been greatly aided in this field program by the graduates and friends of the institution. Several hundred scholarships have been awarded to the students discovered through the operation of the field program. However, it has been increasingly evident that the fund which the University has for scholarship aid is wholly inadequate for the University to reap the full benefit of its field program. Numerous studies at the University show that a very high percentage of students who enroll at Howard are compelled to withdraw temporarily or permanently for reasons which are primarily financial. Many of the high school graduates who have been awarded scholarships by the University have been unable to accept them because they were without any funds to supplement the University scholarships. Therefore, larger scholarships must be given. A growing number of gifted and exceptional high school graduates have been discovered through the medium of the field program whose need is so great that they are denied the advantages of college training. This alarming and highly unsatisfactory condition has so disturbed the University that in November of 1942 the work of the field program was enlarged to include a quiet drive among the graduates and friends of the University for scholarship funds to meet the needs of these highly talented but impoverished high school graduates. The plan for doing this is quite simple; each graduate and friend of the University is being asked to subscribe a sum of money to be paid over a period of five years for the purpose of creating at Howard University a scholarship fund for gifted but needy high school graduates. During the past year, this drive has met with a most enthusiastic and generous response. To date, 403 graduates and friends have subscribed $18,316.61 to this fund and have paid in cash $9,826.14.

The initial success of Mr. Armour J. Blackburn, the Field Agent, in this program has encouraged the University to add an additional Field Agent to its staff in the person of Mr. W. W. Blocker, a graduate of the Howard University School of Religion. However, even with two field agents, it will be impossible to contact personally all who would like to help in this drive for scholarship funds. We, therefore, take this opportunity of asking that every Howardite and friend of the University subscribe to this fund and make a cash payment in the interest of the education of these gifted but needy students. DO NOT WAIT TO BE CONTACTED BY THE FIELD AGENTS BUT MAIL IN YOUR SUBSCRIPTION AND CHECK MADE OUT TO THE HOWARD UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIP FUND TO THE OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY AT ONCE. Please include the following information with your subscription: Name, Address, Amount Subscribed, Year of Graduation, Amount Paid, and the Way in Which the Balance Is to Be Paid.

It is the stated purpose of the University that only students who show exceptional promise and who are in need of financial assistance will be aided from this fund.

Included among the contributions to this fund are several significant gifts:

1. Mr. A. E. Lichtman, President of A. E. Lichtman Theatres, Inc., has established the Annual A. E. Lichtman Howard University Scholarship of $2,000 which will be awarded to an outstanding high school graduate and will cover the cost of his four year collegiate education at Howard University. This award will be made on the basis of national competition to the student who best qualifies in terms of scholarship, general and special abilities, economic need, and personality (not intellectual traits).
2. Dr. C. E. Sumner, a very successful physician and businessman of Norfolk, Virginia, has established an annual scholarship of $150.00 in honor of his wife, Mrs. Beatrice H. Sumner, to be awarded each year to an exceptional but needy freshman in the College of Pharmacy.
3. Dr. Charles H. Syphax, a highly successful physician of Detroit, Michigan, and son of Charles Sumner Syphax, professor of mathematics, emeritus of Howard University, has established a scholarship of $150.00 a year in the undergraduate colleges in honor of his brother Wendell Carter Syphax.
4. Dr. Norman L. Lee, an outstanding physician and businessman of Philadelphia, Pa., and his wife have established an annual scholarship loan fund of $800 to be repaid by the recipient to the University after graduation.
5. Dr. Howard McNeill, an eminent physician and civic leader of Pontiac, Michigan, proposes to establish a student loan fund in the College of Medicine in honor of his father, the late Thomas H. McNeill of Fayetteville, North Carolina.

In addition to the special scholarships, many graduates have made substantial contributions to the general fund now being created to salvage Negro talent which would otherwise be undeveloped.

Each of the following graduates has subscribed $500 to the fund to be paid at the rate of $100 a year:

Dr. W. C. Atkinson, Coatesville, Pa.

In addition to the above-named individuals 107 persons have subscribed or paid a hundred dollars or more and 269 other persons have made worthwhile contributions. Even now as this article is being written the fund continues to mount with daily subscriptions and gifts of new donors.

The University takes this opportunity of publicly thanking those who have already contributed to this fund and to express the hope that every graduate and friend of the University who has not contributed will immediately do so. Your gift to this fund will help educate our talented boys and girls who otherwise will be denied an education.

From time to time a detailed report of contributions will be made in the Howard News Bulletin. The report which follows covers a period from November 9, 1942, to October 31, 1943.
