Dear Miss Levine:

The office of the American Public Welfare Association has forwarded your letter of inquiry about the type of dress in order for the Sunday evening opening session of the regional conference, when Dr. Silver is to be the speaker. I think perhaps the easiest way to clarify the matter is to indicate the session is not formal in any respect. I would expect the men to be in ordinary business suits and the women to wear perhaps a bit more than the workaday suit or dress, but still informal dress. If this doesn't answer the point in question, however, please feel free to let me know.

We are all pleased that Dr. Silver was able to accept Judge Robison's invitation, issued on behalf of the committee planning the Conference. Copies of the preliminary program were mailed out yesterday to those listed on the program.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

As Host Superintendent and as a fellow Clevelander, I invite you to give the principal address at the luncheon meeting of the Insurance Commissioners of this region (Zone II) on May 10, 1956, at the Carter Hotel in Cleveland. Approximately 300 to 500 people are expected to attend who will represent the personnel of the state insurance departments and influential members of the insurance industry.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale has agreed to be our speaker at our dinner meeting on May 9.

The National Association of Insurance Commissioners is composed of the insurance supervisory officials of the 48 states, Canada, etc. It is a voluntary organization that convenes semi-annually to discuss regulatory problems common to all of us. The topics for discussion are submitted by the states for zone consideration and from there to the national level.

The national association is divided into six zones, usually made up of eight states each. In Zone II we have Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

I do hope you can accept. It will mean much to me if you do.

Very truly yours,

August Pryatel

Dear Rabbi Silver:

The program committee of our Men's Club has frequently desired to have you address us but has hesitated to inquire because we felt your commitments kept you too busy to include our group.

However, we are planning a stag, the opening affair of our fiscal year on September 25, 1956 to be held in our Saltzman Hall at 8:30 P.M., and would indeed be proud to have you as our guest speaker. The topic could be your choice, however, the Suez crisis is both timely and of tremendous interest to all of us.

We normally attract about 150 men but would expect many more with you as the speaker. This affair is the one meeting intended to sign up and to interest new members in our club. It would be an honor to have your acceptance, however, if not perhaps you can recommend an interesting speaker that can do this subject justice.

With your permission I will phone your secretary Wednesday, August 22nd, for an answer to the above.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

On Monday evening, October 8, the American-Chinese of Greater Cleveland are having their first big banquet outside of their own restricted program of activities. They are making this a community wide event. To this they have invited, and he has accepted, the Chinese Ambassador to the United States.

It is expected that something approximating 800 to 1000 people will be present. Because of the fact it is the first time the American-Chinese have undertaken a project of these proportions we hope it will be an outstanding success.

For some unaccountable reason they have asked me to be their honorary chairman and the toastmaster for the banquet. I am wondering if it would be possible for you on this unusual occasion either to open the meeting with an invocation or close it with benediction. The American-Chinese have a deep reverence for you -- something I learned, with pleasure, in my deliberations with them on this project. We all know how busy you are, and the pressing volume of your commitments. However, if it were at all possible we would appreciate it very much, indeed.

As always,

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Last Spring after your visit to Israel you spoke to the Alathians concerning Israel, its opportunities and its problems. I found your remarks so informative and helpful that I covet for my fellow Baptist ministers the opportunity of hearing you and asking you questions.

As president of the Baptist ministers and their wives of Greater Cleveland, I should like to invite you to speak to us informally on this subject on either Monday, November 5, or Monday, February 4.

Some thirty-five Baptist clergymen are in this group, representing almost as many churches. We assemble for dinner at 6:30 in one of the homes or in one of the churches, and would hope that you and Mrs. Silver might join us for dinner. In any case, we hope we can have the high privilege of hearing your illuminating discussion of Israel.

I trust that I may receive your favorable reply at your earliest convenience. Thank you.

Yours sincerely,

The date for the formal dedication of the new Chapel and Assembly Hall, recently completed here at the Center, has been set for Sunday, November 18, at 3 P.M.

It is our plan to make this ceremony an outstanding event, one that will be appropriate to our long established relationship with the Greater Cleveland public. For this purpose we are inviting a group of some twenty citizens to be on the platform. Speaking generally, this group would be representative of the many phases of our community life: religion, government, business, industry, education and welfare.

We would be most highly honored and grateful if you would accept this invitation to be one of this group. The program will not be of long duration.

Inasmuch as it is necessary to complete our arrangements within the next few days, we are going to take the liberty of calling you by telephone in a day or so to receive your answer.

Should you require further information, please call.

Trusting you will find it possible to accept, I am

Dear Rabbi Silver:

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, please accept my heartfelt thanks and appreciation for honoring us as the guest speaker at the 50th Anniversary Celebration of the Home held on October 28th. Your participation was, of course, the highlight of our program and added to the success of the occasion. Your gracious words in interpreting the history and the purpose of the Home was warmly received by all of the guests.

It was an added personal gratification to me to have you present at the time of the presentation of the citation and oil portrait. I was indeed happy and grateful to have you share this memorable occasion with me.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Cleveland Council of Parent-Teacher Associations is holding its Annual Spring Luncheon on Thursday, April 25, 1957 at 12:00 noon in the Rainbow Room of the Carter Hotel.

After hearing you speak on numerous occasions, it is our pleasure to extend to you an invitation to be our speaker on this date.

The audience will number approximately four hundred (400) and will be composed largely of Cleveland Public School principals and the Presidents of local public school Parent-Teacher units. The time allotted for the speech is forty-five or fifty minutes. Our budget allows fifty dollars ($50.00) honorarium for the speaker for this occasion.

If you find that this date is free and that you will be able to grant us this wonderful favor, will you please contact me at your convenience. Also, we would appreciate some suggested topics for your talk so that we might choose when our executive board meets. We would, of course, like something thoughtful - yet with a touch of your usual fine humor.

Respectfully,

Dear Rabbi Silver:

On June 23 at 6:30 p.m. in the Union Club, The Cleveland Press will entertain at dinner the members of the Religious Newswriters Association — representing most of the large papers of America — as the opening event of this significant convention.

It would be a great personal pleasure for all of us in general and myself in particular to have you as the speaker for that occasion. You would be perfectly free to choose any topic that you might think would be of interest to such a group of outstanding newspaper people.

The organization includes about the top-flight writers of religion on such leading newspapers in the United States as The New York Times, The Chicago Tribune, The Washington Star, The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, The Kansas City Star and so on.

I am aware that your calendar is always filled, but The Press would be deeply appreciative if you could find time to address this rather unusual group of newspapermen and women.

With best personal wishes and the hope you will be able to accept the invitation of The Press

Sincerely

RELIGIOUS NEWSWRITERS WARNED OF
INTOLERANCE DANGER

RELEASE: Monday,
June 24, 1957
or later

By Religious News Service

CLEVELAND, O. (RNS) -- A warning that racial and religious intolerance will disrupt America's unity in "dangerous times" and call into question her "credentials" for world leadership was sounded here by Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, spiritual leader of The Temple in Cleveland.

In an address to the ninth annual meeting of the Religious News-writers Association he labelled bigotry and intolerance "the caries which cause decay and spread infection."

"Prejudice, intolerance, race and group hatreds are tragic walls which men build around themselves," he said, "and our age has unfortunately witnessed the erection of many such forbidding walls. Whenever there is unhappiness, discontent or unrest among men, racial and religious bigots swarm out of their dark holes, sweep over the land and sow the dragon seed of suspicion and hate. Sometimes even good and respectable citizens build walls around themselves which are effective blocks to mutual understanding and goodwill."

Rabbi Silver told the newswriters that in the sight of God "there are no blue bloods and no first families, no Brahmins and no untouchables -- only children of the dust who, in their brief careers on earth, may find a measure of happiness in life by helping one another in goodness and love."

Declaring that a moral revival was "long overdue," he said, "we must tidy up our moral lives. We must demand more of ourselves. We must raise our sights as to the meaning and obligations of our lives as free citizens in a menaced world."

Rabbi Silver emphasized that freedom survives only in "spiritual discipline." America will not give leadership to the world, he said, if her people are "hollow" and "spiritually wasted" within.

He recalled that all the great democracies of the past which perished were first undermined from within by corruption and indifference, "by a moral laxity which prepared the way for the vicious and unpatriotic elements to step in and take over, who then drained and weakened these democracies to the point where their fall became inevitable."

Today's "deteriorated and dangerous" international situation will not be improved by military strength alone, the rabbi continued. "We must learn to rely more on statesmanship and moral leadership and less on force."

Ways must and can be found, he said, for East-West coexistence. While ideologies cannot be adjusted by compromise, Rabbi Silver said, political problems of coexistence can be.

He noted that in the 16th and 17th centuries it was universally held that Catholicism and Protestantism could not live together in the same world. "The stakes were enormous -- far greater than those at stake in the East-West struggle today," Rabbi Silver said, "for not only were the fortunes of this world involved, but also those of the next world."

THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1957

"The ideologies could not be reconciled -- and so the struggle passed from the realm of ideas and propaganda to the battlefield . . . The wars of religion lasted for a hundred years and destroyed towns, cities and whole provinces, until the inevitable truth dawned upon men that a way had to be found for Catholicism and Protestantism -- and other religious minority sects -- to live together in the same world without sacrificing their particular loyalties and dogmas."

Out of the religious toleration which was finally achieved, Rabbi Silver said, there flowed also political liberties to the peoples of Western Europe.

"Our age, too," he said, "will have to find a formula of toleration which will enable the many evolving and fluid forms of capitalism and socialism to work out their destinies in the one world in which we live. They may be irreconcilable in theory; they need not be in practice."

Rabbi Silver added that the ultimate defense of democracy in the world lies neither in superior armor nor in the atomic or hydrogen bomb but in raising the standard of living "of the masses of the earth whose misery and wrongs are receptive soil for all kinds of doctrines of violent revolution and for all types of economic deceptions."

"When we shall come to these underprivileged peoples bringing them gifts not of bombs and bayonets, but of bread and health and education and freedom," he declared, "they will become our natural allies, and our alliance will be cemented in good will and in hope."

This is the kind of leadership to which the world will respond, he told the newsmen, "leadership which does not wait on the occasion but makes it, which is prepared to take calculated risks for peace, which is eager for negotiation and conference to settle all issues which endanger the peace of the world."

Urging Americans to look to their own political, economic and spiritual defenses at home, he said:

"We must remain free at home, and solvent and civically uncorrupted. If our own free institutions and the moral character of our own people are undermined at home, the last great hope of mankind for a new birth of freedom will have perished."

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I am writing on behalf of President Philip J. Hickey and the Executive Committee of the American Association of School Administrators to invite you to speak at the Sunday morning devotional services at our Eastern regional convention in Cleveland next March. Your address would take place at 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, March 30, 1958.

The American Association of School Administrators is composed of nearly eleven thousand members and includes county, city, and state superintendents of schools, deans of schools of education, university presidents, and other individuals who occupy administrative positions in schools and colleges throughout the country. Our last Eastern regional convention attracted some eight thousand people, and our membership has grown considerably since that time.

Following our usual custom, we plan to open this service with an invocation and close with a benediction, delivered by invited clergymen from the Cleveland area. Of course you will be at liberty to choose your own theme. May I say that we always try to make these devotional services as inspirational and impressive as possible, with a message that has deep-seated values and far-reaching implications. We are confident that you can do just that.

The Association will be glad to provide an appropriate honorarium.

We sincerely hope it will be possible for you to be with us.

In accordance to your suggestion to Rabbi now being developed by the Cleveland Zionist Council for the celebration of Balfour Day, with the request that you forward it to Dr. Silver.

As Rabbi Herman told you, the Council will

Should he accept, we would further impose on him by asking him to write the preface in the Commemorative Journal that will be published in connection with the event, and to select the passages from his address would consider most appropriate, for inclusion in the Journal.

We trust that Dr. Silver is in good health

Dear Rabbi Silver:

The Planning Committee for our Fifth Annual Pedagogic Conference, scheduled to be held on Sunday, February 9, at the Fairmount Temple, has asked me to invite you to participate in the Conference program and to address a seminar on "Judaism and other Religions."

It is planned to make our forthcoming Conference as useful a learning experience as possible for our teachers. We are therefore taking the liberty of inviting the outstanding rabbis of our community to participate in seminars on various Jewish concepts. Rabbi Porath has already consented to conduct a seminar on "Bible Interpretation." In addition, Dr. Abraham J. Heschel will also present his ideas on religious education.

✓ It is planned to hold the seminars from 2 to 3 P.M., following the teachers' luncheon, which we would be happy to have you attend. Each seminar session is to consist of a half-hour presentation by the speaker, followed by a half hour of questions and discussion.

We should be greatly honored if you could take part in our forthcoming Conference. I think it will be a source of inspiration to our teachers to learn from their rabbis and to see them participating in their deliberations.

We shall appreciate hearing from you whether you are able to accept this invitation.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

The Cleveland Chapter of the Japanese American Citizens League is serving as host for the annual Midwest J.A.C.L. Convention which will be held in Cleveland during the Memorial Day weekend, May 30 through June 1.

The Convention will be attended by representatives from eight Midwest chapters located in Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Louis, and Twin Cities. We are also anticipating the attendance of our National officers as well as our Washington Legislative Representative, Mike Masaoka. I sincerely hope that you have had occasion to come in contact with our organization. While small in number, the J.A.C.L. has sponsored an active legislative and cultural program as the sole national representative group of all Americans of Japanese ancestry.

In this convention we hope to re-evaluate and re-assess our organizational goals in the light of current day developments as expressed by our convention theme, "Ready for Countdown!". We are very appreciative of your leadership in attempting to maintain moral and ethical values in this new era of space travel and technology. For this reason we are extremely eager to have you address our convention as the principal Banquet speaker. We would be available for further discussion about our group and Convention if you feel it would be an aid in considering our request. Further details are as follows:

Place: Statler Hotel
Date: Saturday night, May 31, 1958
Time: 7:00 to 9:00 PM
Approximately 150 to 200 people will participate in the Convention.

If I can supply you with further information please contact me at TUxedo 6-1946. I am sure that you fully appreciate the practical problems involved in Convention planning so that you will not be offended at our request for some indication of your availability at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely yours,

Gene Takahashi

DEAR RABBI SILVER:

IT WOULD GIVE US GREAT PLEASURE TO HAVE YOU AND MRS. SILVER AS OUR GUESTS ON FRIDAY, MARCH 28TH, AT OUR PATRON LUNCHEON AT THE WADE PARK MANOR HOTEL.

AS CHAIRMAN OF THE WOMEN'S DIVISION OF THE CLEVELAND COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL CENTER AT DENVER, I AM PROUD TO BE ACTIVE AND HELPFUL IN SO GREAT A HUMANE ENDEAVOR. MY COMMITTEE WORKERS ARE LIKewise INSTILLED WITH THE IMPORTANCE OF OUR ACTIVITIES. AS THE NUCLEUS OF A GROUP THAT WE HOPE WILL GROW GREAT IN NUMBER AND ACHIEVEMENT, WE ARE MOST DESIROUS OF INCULCATING INTO THE MINDS OF THE SEVERAL HUNDRED WOMEN WHO WILL ATTEND THIS LUNCHEON, THE URGENCY OF THEIR RESPONDING TO THIS EVER-EXPANDING SERVICE TO MANKIND.

TO SUCCEED IN THIS, IT IS OUR FEELING THAT OUR DAY'S AGENDA WHICH INCLUDES AN APPEALING MEAL, ONE BRIEF SPEECH, THE AWARDING OF THE DOOR PRIZE AND THE FASHION AND FUR STYLE SHOW WHICH WILL FOLLOW SHOULD PLEASE OUR PATRONS; BUT IT WAS OUR UNANIMOUS DECISION THAT IF YOU WOULD CONSENT TO LEAD US BY OFFERING THE INVOCATION, NOT ONLY WOULD YOUR EXPRESSION IN PRAYER BE GUIDING AND UPLIFTING, BUT YOUR VERY PRESENCE WOULD LEND STRENGTH TO OUR CAUSE.

MR. MAX FELDMAN, CLEVELAND COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRMAN, AND MR. CHARLES HACKER, OUR REGIONAL DIRECTOR, JOIN ME IN THE SINCERE HOPE THAT YOUR CALENDAR WILL PERMIT YOUR ATTENDING WITH MRS. SILVER. WE WOULD APPRECIATE YOUR REPLY BY TELEPHONE EITHER TO MY HOME, FAIRMOUNT 1-0518, OR TO OUR HEADQUARTERS OFFICE, CEDAR 1-2920. KIND PERSONAL REGARDS AND EVERY GOOD WISH.

Stricken with Cancer...

Broken financially...

Read this story of the FIRST CANCER PATIENT at A.M.C. ►

Jack Levinson - - victim of C A N C E R - - NOW WELL AND WORKING!

"You have Cancer." These were the words of the Doctor. They spelled long months of surgery, medical care and therapy. Cash savings went with sickening quickness. Blue Cross insurance cushioned the blow — in part. Help from his employer went as far as it could.

Then, far from well, the grim fact remained. He had no money for further medical care. He was broken, financially!

He came to A.M.C. . . . and in 298 days of continuing care and treatment, Jack Levinson was placed on the pathway back to self-sustaining health.

Today, he is well and working.

Your contributions to the J.C.R.S.-American Medical Center made this possible. There are others in need! Will you help them, too?

JACK LEVINSON

Dedicated to free cancer care

The facilities of this building are dedicated entirely to the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. These services are free to sick and needy persons, regardless of race, color or creed.

Well over 100 Cancer patients have already been served.

Ultra-modern X-ray equipment and complete surgical facilities combine with tender nursing skill in the fight against cancer in all its forms.

The services of some 60 specialists are available in the medical, surgical and radiological fields.

Cleveland 6, Ohio -- CEdar 1-2920

QUICKIE FACT SHEET

- Q. When and how did the American Medical Center start?
- A. In 1904 a small group of recovered T. B. patients determined to start a hospital to relieve destitute consumptives. With an original fund of $1.10 and a national appeal for nickles, dimes, quarters and half dollars, they founded what was eventually named the Jewish Consumptives Relief Society. The original 6 tents and a one-story frame building have grown to a group of 34 buildings on 148 acres.
- Q. What is its purpose?
- A. Originally established to cure economically helpless tubercular patients, it has now accepted the challenge of cancer. By admitting T. B. patients thought to be hopeless, the former JCRS became among the first to discover the means of controlling the disease. It is the hope of the American Medical Center that a like contribution to the control of cancer will be made. Its skilled staff of medical, surgical and radiological specialists is aided by a complete laboratory, technicians and research scientists.
- Q. How many patients has it received?
- A. Almost 3,500,000 days of free care, medical, surgical, social and religious have given back to society more than 10,000 useful lives formerly thought hopeless. More than 100 cancer patients have been treated since the inception of the cancer program in 1955.
- Q. How does a sick person qualify for admission?
- A. Admission requirements are simple. He must be sick and in need. No one can pay for care received here. Not a single penny has ever been charged to any patient. Admission is strictly on a first come, first served basis. There can be no favorites where the stakes are Life or Death.
- Q. Are there any other restrictions?
- A. The hospital is open to all, regardless of race, creed or color, or ability to pay. Neither tuberculosis nor cancer are respecters of religious faiths. Whether Gentile or Jew, the need for help is equally urgent.
- Q. As residents of another community, why are we called upon to aid an institution located in a different area?
- A. Because the American Medical Center is the true concept of the Brotherhood of Man in practical operation; because it is local in nature since a patient's point of residence is immaterial; because all men are brothers in the sight of God and those who give to help support this wonderful institution do believe in fact they are their Brother's Keeper and accept the moral responsibility which goes with that belief.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

We look forward to your participation on the programs of the Cleveland Regional Convention of the American Association of School Administrators, March 29-April 1, 1958.

As I said in an earlier letter, the newspapers will be especially interested in the discussions of this meeting. We can supply information to the press most effectively if we have manuscripts of addresses in advance of delivery.

If you have not already done so, I would appreciate your sending me in advance a copy of your manuscript -- if you will make a prepared speech -- or an outline of your remarks. You may refer to us, if you wish, any other requests you receive for copies of your manuscript.

Please mail the manuscript to me at the Statler Hotel, ✓

Dear Rabbi:

I had the pleasure of being present with you at the Board of Governors Meeting of the Hebrew University on April 25th in Jerusalem. I represented Alpha Omega Fraternity together with Dr. Harry Seldin of New York, in formalizing the contribution of our fraternity toward the new School of Dentistry in Israel.

I am writing you at this time to ask you if you will honor us by your presence at our Annual Convention to be held in Cleveland this year. Our fraternity has had on memorable occasions, outstanding personages to talk for a short period at our Memoriam Services which precede the opening of our Convention, -- this year on Monday December 29th.

Since we convene in Cleveland, after a lapse of 20 years, I had hoped that you would lend your presence and your dignity to this occasion, as so many of our fraters are members of temples throughout the U.S. and Canada. Your presence at this our 51st Convention and the influence of a talk from you would be an occasion which we would deeply appreciate and remember.

I sincerely hope that you will consider being with us on this occasion.

כִּי תִבְנֶה אֶל הָאָרֶץ וְנִטְעַנְתָּ (ויקרא י"ג, ט"ז)
AND WHEN YE SHALL COME INTO THE LAND AND YE SHALL PLANT (Leviticus 19:23)

RABBI ISRAEL PORATH THE MAN WE CHOOSE TO HONOR

An outstanding, world renown personality lives in our midst. He is a brilliant scholar, rabbi, lecturer and author who has received acclaim throughout this country as well as Europe and Israel. This gentle, shy, soft spoken man has served our Cleveland Community in every phase of Jewish life, as one of its most outstanding leaders for the past thirty years. He has counseled newlyweds, guided parents, educated the youth, visited the sick and comforted the bereaved—all with sympathy and profound understanding. Having been born in Jerusalem, as was his father, he was steeped in Jewish lore. These distilled qualities of a rare heritage he brought to our community and generously shared with all who came in contact with him.

'Though youthful and vigorous, in body and in spirit, he and his wife have recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary together with their seven children and seventeen grandchildren.

A child prodigy at the age of five, already engaged in higher learning, he was promoted to a class in the difficult study of the Talmud. His scholarly aptitudes having been recognized, he was eagerly tutored by the greatest rabbis of Israel and was ordained by the famous Rabbi Berlin and Rabbi Cook. He had mastered Turkish, French and German and soon became the representative of Jerusalem's Jewish Community to Turkey. As a man of integrity with humane understanding, he was entrusted with the distribution of relief to the poor and the needy of Jerusalem. At the end of the First World War, he was offered a position as rabbi in Liverpool, England. This, he rejected and came to America. Here he completed a course in World Literature given by Columbia University and accepted a post as rabbi in Cleveland.

Today three decades later, Rabbi Israel Porath is the Dean of Cleveland's Orthodox rabbinate. As author of the OUTLINE OF THE TALMUD written in modern Hebrew, he has received letters of praise and acclaim from over 1500 scholars the world over. Six volumes of this work have already been published. The seventh is in manuscript form. These scholarly works have been used as texts and as reference manuals by students and rabbis everywhere.

Rabbi Porath's love for Torah and Jewish Education had long established him as a great teacher in our community. The Board of the Bureau of Jewish Education looks to him as to its staunchest pillars. His poetic and fluent command of Hebrew has served as an inspiration to all members of Cleveland's Histadruth Ivrit of which he is honorary president. Similar inspiring influences have been felt on every board and in all the many organizations to which he belongs. Indelible are the impressions he has made on his congregations and audiences wherever he spoke but especially memorable are the courses and institutes on the Bible which he conducted for Hadassah, Pioneer Women, Mizrahi and Council of Jewish Women.

The efforts of Rabbi Porath on behalf of the Jewish National Fund on whose executive board he has served for many years have been a way of expressing his deep and abiding love for the people and the land of Israel.

Therefore, the Women's Division of the Jewish National Fund Council takes great pride in honoring this beloved rabbi by launching a drive to plant 10,000 trees in a forest in Israel to be known as THE RABBI ISRAEL PORATH FOREST.

Dear Dr. Silver:

On behalf of the program committee of our Women's Society for World Service of Fairview Grace Church (E.U.B.) and upon recommendation of our minister, Rev. Richard Rodes, I would like to invite you to speak before our group on October 16, 1958 in the evening on the subject "The Middle East and You" or any other title you may have in mind. This topic is of interest to us because Countries of the Middle East is the mission study theme for the year 1958-59 as set up by the National Council of United Churchwomen, which is a representative group of all Protestant denominations.

Because you have been influential in establishing the State of Israel and because you are undoubtedly one of the best informed persons in the Cleveland area on Middle Eastern affairs, we feel that there is no one better qualified to help us understand the situation in that part of the world. We are keenly interested in learning just what the points of conflict are, and as you see it, the cause of the turmoil. We would also like you to point out why we as American citizens should be concerned - that is, what it all has to do with us.

We are planning to make this our Men's Guest Night and, if you would be gracious enough to accept our invitation, would open the meeting to the community of Fairview Park, thereby insuring a group of about one hundred (a conservative estimate).

Operating on a limited budget as we do, we could not begin to reimburse you adequately, but would appreciate your mentioning an amount for our consideration.

Our further program plans depend upon your answer, so I will be eagerly awaiting your reply. May I add in all sincerity that we would be very honored to have you as our guest.

Thank you for your letter of May 13th. I recall with pleasure the meeting in Jerusalem which we attended and I was happy to witness the transmission of ~~your~~ very generous contribution of Alpha Omega Fraternity to the new School of Dentistry in Israel.

Thank you so much for your invitation to address your convention in Cleveland on December 29th. I am glad to accept it - but only tentatively.

December is a long way off and under normal conditions I hesitate to make commitments that far ahead. I may be out of the country at that time. We are having a program at the Library on June 25 and wonder if you can help us.

On ~~that~~ evening of that date the Hebrew Cultural Garden Association is to present to the Cleveland Public Library a large bronze plaque of Maimonides, the medieval Jewish philosopher.

A brief program and reception is planned, to be sponsored jointly by the Hebrew Cultural Garden Association and the Cleveland Public Library. It is planned to have two 15-minute talks.

We would be most pleased if you could give such a talk about Maimonides, speaking from the religious and philosophical viewpoints.

Dr. Haskell Schweid has consented to give the other talk, to be on Maimonides as a physician.

The program is scheduled for 7:45 P.M. on Wednesday, June 25, and should be over around 9:00 P.M.

An additional feature will be a presentation of a shophar to the Cleveland Public Library by the Ministry of Religion of the State of Israel.

We hope very much that you can participate in this program. In the event you cannot, do you suppose you could get your son Rabbi Daniel Jeremy Silver to do it? Your many years of service in Cleveland, however, make you the logical spokesman if you can possibly do it. With many thanks for your help.

Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver,
The Temple,
E. 105th Street & Ansel Road,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I am turning to you today with the following request which I hope you will be willing to grant.

From July 13th to July 16th the Annual Convention of Alpha Zeta Omega, pharmaceutical fraternity, takes place in Cleveland. This fraternity has a fund which is called the Roy Scott Memorial Fund which has been established in memory of a Cleveland member of the fraternity. It is through this fund that the fraternity has pledged, and practically raised, $100,000. for the Hebrew University's School of Pharmacy and some additional funds will be turned over to us during this luncheon.

Dr. Joshua Kohlberg, an Israeli member of the University's Board of Governors and President of Israel's Pharmaceutical Association, will be at the luncheon as he is in charge of our Pharmacy Campaign. I shall attend the luncheon as well. However, the leaders of the fraternity have expressed the hope that it might be possible for you to be present at this luncheon which, in this case, would become the central function of the Convention.

Normally I would not dare to turn to you with such a request, especially as we might have to turn to you for much more important functions during the coming fall and winter. However, as the Convention and the luncheon are being held in Cleveland I thought you might give this request favorable consideration.

Many thanks for your very kind attention to this matter and as always, my very best wishes and regards.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick R. Lachman
Executive Vice President.

Permit me to thank you for your thoughtfulness in sending me a copy of the AASA which contained the Address which I delivered in Cleveland on "The New Reverence for Man's Mind and Spirit".

I regret that not enough care was taken in proof reading the Address. There are quite a number of mistakes which make some of the sentences quite unintelligible.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Upon returning from an extended trip, I find your letter of July 3. I regret exceedingly to learn that your speech at our Cleveland convention is not accurately recorded in our printed Official Report.

Our editor worked direct from the stenotypist's transcript. Apparently it would have been the part of wisdom to submit the transcript to you before putting it in form for the printer. Please accept our apologies.

Your speech has brought many favorable comments. We are indebted to you for your inspiring contribution to our convention program.

Dear Dr. Silver:

Our good friend, Bernard Bamberger, will be coming to Cleveland on May 11th to be the guest speaker at the annual Fairmount Temple Ministers' Institute on Judaism. We would feel greatly honored if you would consent to make the introductory statement and present Bernie to the assembled clergymen. This would be especially appropriate since he is speaking on the field to which you have made so distinguished a contribution, namely, the Messiah ~~ideas~~ in Jewish tradition.

I earnestly hope that you will consent to join us on the morning of May 11th, and I send my warm greetings to you and the family.

AN INVITATION TO SEE

ART OF THE SEAWAY NATIONS

Cleveland began a 10-week-long celebration of the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway on April 20, 1959.

Highlighting the affair are nationality weeks featuring many of the nations whose bonds of commerce, industry, and culture will be more closely linked with Cleveland because of the Seaway.

How best could The East Ohio Gas Company, asked its president, R. W. Ramsdell, participate in honoring these nations?

The answer was to exhibit the art of Seaway nations in East Ohio's community room in Cleveland's newest skyscraper. Here, in a setting of modernity, could be blended the art of yesterday which lives today and which will live tomorrow.

It was a project which The Cleveland Museum of Art was happy to make possible, for the Art Museum believes in bringing art to the people of Cleveland.

Each week the exhibits on display are to be changed to honor a different Seaway nation. On the following pages are descriptions of the art exhibits to be seen in the Community Room of The East Ohio Gas Company, East Ninth and Superior.

You are cordially invited to visit East Ohio's Community Room to see these and other exhibits which will be on display during the Seaway celebration.

POPE INNOCENT X

This portrait of Pope Innocent X expresses much of the grandiose, extravagant, and luxurious spirit of the papal commissions in the mid-seventeenth century, the height of the Baroque period in art. Innocent X, formerly Gian Battista Pamfili, reigned from 1644 to 1655. The Pamfili were just one of several papal families who were the most zealous patrons of art of the era. They played the part of royal princes and they were responsible for the construction of magnificent churches and chapels with their rich appointments of paintings, altars, and tomb monuments. They built vast complexes of palaces, villas and gardens. And they also had their portraits painted on canvas and rendered in large impressive sculptural busts such as the one on exhibition. One of the most renowned paintings of all time is Velazquez' portrait of this same Pope, Innocent X, which is now in the Galleria Doria-Pamfili in Rome.

The Cleveland Museum's bronze bust lies in the tradition of the official portraiture of such Baroque sculpture as Bernini (1598-1680) and Algardi (1602-1654). Much of the richness of surface, the sweep, and the sense of monumentality found in their work is seen here. Here also we may see a realistic depiction of the lines and expression of the face. Offsetting this is the richly chased ornament of the border of the cope and the full swell of the cope itself. This bronze was probably made in the Vatican foundry in Rome.

A ROMAN PORTRAIT BUST

Roman portraiture, throughout its long and varied career, from the days of the Republic in the first century B.C. until the time of Constantine in the fourth century A.D., has furnished us with numerous sculptures of excellent quality. The portrait bust of a woman, now on exhibit, is a fine example of the style prevalent at the time of Nero (54-68 A.D.), at the very end of the Augustan Age.

At the beginning of the Augustan Age, during the reign of Augustus (31 B.C.-A.D. 14), when Rome had become a cosmopolitan center, Roman portrait artists were highly influenced by Greek sculpture. A new concept of the individual had evolved under the Empire, a concept which required a style more noble, more monumental, than the realistic and highly individualistic style which had prevailed under the Republic. This classicist style continued throughout the Augustan Age, and we can see lingering traces of it in the portrait bust, which was carved at the end of that period. The features are generalized, and rendered by simple, abstract, almost geometric forms.

The portrait bust of a woman is characteristic of a style of Roman portraiture at the apex of the classicizing Augustan Age, and presages the developments of the latter part of the first and the second centuries, where a return to the native tradition of realistic, individualistic portraiture is made.

MIRACLE II

Jacques Lipchitz in his later work, such as this fine bronze executed in 1947, shows a pre-occupation with multiple imagery combined with emphatic sculptural forms. Here there is a direct allusion to the Torah, or Pentateuch, and the Chanukah Lamp, the eight-branched lamp used for the Festival of Dedication, which was instituted in 165 B.C. by Judah Maccabeus in celebration of the rededication of the Temple, three years after it had been defiled by Antiochus Epiphanes.

The sculptural effect depends largely on the repetition of a series of upward turning arcs on each side of a central axis. The resulting flame-like quality expresses a joyousness which alludes both to the celebration of Chanukah and the feelings of hope and expectation of the Jewish people at the end of World War II.

THE DRILLER

Max Kalish in an effort to discover, as an American sculptor, something that touched him deeply and also had universal appeal, devoted a great part of his creative life to the laborer as subject matter. Of the many labor subjects that he did, such as "Man Power," "Stoker," and "Glass Blower," "The Driller" which was done in the thirties, is one of his best works. Kalish felt that by his sympathetic treatment of American workers, he was speaking out on their behalf, and making a wider public aware of the important force behind our highly industrial society.

As a sculptor, his concern was more for the sentiment and idea suggested by his subject matter than for the formal elements of sculpture itself. Considerable emphasis is placed on facial expression, muscular development, and posture, with the result that great realism is achieved.

Max Kalish's productive life and wide national acceptance made him one of Cleveland's best known sculptors.

NARCISSUS

Maurice Lambert's metal figure bearing the provocative title of "Narcissus," taken from the Greek myth, rises, seemingly half formed, from the leaves or petals at the base. It is represented in terms of soft rounded undefined forms, conveying a feeling of embryonic development of form at the brink of self-realization, the nascent self. This type of sculpture is interesting not only for its design of smooth curves, but also for its subtle psychological implications.

HELMET HEAD

This small work by the well-known contemporary sculptor, Henry Moore, has the monumental quality of some of his large-scale sculpture. It was made in 1952, possibly as a study for a larger work. This bronze presents an intriguing contrast of enveloped space with rounded planes. The texture of the surface is varied by means of lines and accents. The Helmet Head also expresses a foreboding, ominous quality, due in part to the ambiguity between helmet and head, shoulders and enveloping cloak, an effect heightened by the extreme contrast between the deep shadows of the interior space and the highlights on the surface.

In many of Moore's earlier works, the human form is suggested by cutting into, even entirely through, the solid bulk of the material. This piece is almost a reversal of that process—here he encloses and models space by means of plastic forms. In both cases, space is as important an element as the solid material in creating the illusion of human form.

LITTLE BROTHER AND SISTER

This charming work by Auguste Rodin was given to The Cleveland Museum of Art in 1917 by Mr. Salmon P. Halle, who directly negotiated for it with the great French sculptor himself. It is important as one of Rodin's last efforts before his death in 1917. The handling of the material, a clear white, almost translucent marble, reflects the subtle delicacy of texture and modulation which Rodin captures in so many of his larger works. The size of the block from which it was cut can be realized from the large base that still remains. The sculpture itself expresses a delicacy of sentiment and suavity which is truly French and yet also an unmistakably personal quality of Auguste Rodin, found in many of his works in marble.

YOUNG SAINT JOHN AND THE LAMB

This small bronze sculpture of eighteenth-century France shows a winsome figure of the infant St. John the Baptist together with his symbols of the lamb and the rough wooden cross. The sculptor has depicted the familiar saint, however, not as a stern ascetic or preacher in the usual rough garment of animal skin but in a way very similar to the Baroque depiction of the Christ Child as a charmingly playful infant. This work can easily be compared to the "Little Brother and Sister" for it contains the same refinement and sentiment along with a certain suave delicacy which can be seen in the Rodin work done many years later.

BRONZE PLAQUES BY MEUNIER

Constantin Meunier was a Belgian artist of the late nineteenth century who was artistically alive to the problems of his time. As a painter, sculptor, graphic artist and teacher, he had considerable influence upon the artists of his day.

The three bronze plaques exhibited are studies he did for a huge Labor Monument in Belgium. His interest in coal miners, foundry workers and farmers reminds us of one of his more famous contemporaries—Van Gogh. The comparison could be drawn at least as far as to point out that both men were influenced by the powerful and simplified figure drawing of the French artist Millet, whose paintings expressed a sincere concern for the problems of the common man.

The effects of movement, struggle and power in these plaques are established, artistically, by use of strong diagonals, triangular groupings, and dramatic shadows created by the high relief of the figures. The powerful convincing effect of the series as a whole is established by the control and reserve of the artist. The figures are monumental in form, the composition lucid and simplified.

ROBED MONKEY

A JAPANESE WOODEN MONKEY

According to an old legend, the monkeys decorating the stable of the sacred horse at Nikko, dressed in Shinto priest's garments, come to life again each New Year's Eve. This story may have been derived partly from the famous Chinese romance about Songoku, the Wondrous King of Monkeys, who was also made the Master of the Heavenly Stable by the Jade Emperor, the Taoist Supreme Deity, with the hope that this would pacify the notorious rebel of the heavens. Disgusted by this not so complimentary title, our monkey hero raised a hell again in heaven. He styled himself as the "Great Sage, Equal to Heaven," and with his extraordinary magical power, put the hordes of heavenly army to flight. He crowned his achievement this time by stealing the Peach of Immortality, which he consumed. He was subdued finally only by the immeasurably gentle power of the Buddha, to whom he pledged his eternal service.

In traditional Eastern thought, animals no less than man are part of the same universal order, in whose embrace all participate in the undifferentiated, perpetual "process of being." From time immemorial, the Eastern artists have been delighted to express their joy and intimate understanding of the oneness of all realms of existence.

In this sixteenth-century wooden sculpture of the Japanese Momoyama Period, the artist not only took pleasure in recreating his mental image of the legendary monkey, which is rich in subtleties of sensuous delight and a certain abstract quality of decorativeness characteristic of his period, but he also bestowed upon our thoughtful animal a natural dignity and innate humor, and strongly reminded us that under the seeming melancholy of the monkey's expression and the seeming formality of his garment, remains always the Great Rebel in heaven, the Eastern counterpart of Prometheus—precursor of humanity.

A BRONZE ALVAR

This is an image in bronze of one of the twelve saints called Alvars, possibly Periyalvar, who lived in South India in the ninth century, and devoted himself to the great Hindu deities Vishnu and Krishna. He brought flowers to Krishna's temple at Shrivilliputtur, every day. The hymns he wrote, still recited on all occasions of worship, express an ecstatic and tender devotion characteristic of all the Alvars, who were ardently dedicated to the service of God in a direct and personal, rather than an official, ritualistic way. This is shown in the image by the reverent position of the hands, a gesture of salutation and supplication.

Such images stood in the large temple of the Great God, or were placed in small temples of their own, situated on hill tops, on the banks of rivers, or in gardens. This one was cast from a wax model in the eleventh century when the powerful Chola dynasty ruled South India.

A GLASS BOWL BY DALI

Spanish artists have played a leading role in contemporary art. Pablo Picasso, Juan Gris, Joan Miro and Salvador Dali are names well known to the general public. Dali, the designer of this bowl, played an important part in the Surrealist movement for several years and he has always had a flair for the dramatic—in life and in art.

The design for this bowl exhibits the Surrealists' interest in irrational images from the subconscious, the world of dreams. Several of Dali's familiar symbols, such as the crutch and the sail, are used here. His tendency to work primarily in terms of line, rather than atmospheric light and shade or color, makes it relatively easy for the glass engraver to apply his design to the bowl.

HEAD OF A PRINCESS

Among the tribal arts of Africa are the magnificent bronze sculptures created in the ancient kingdom of Benin, which existed in the territory of Modern Nigeria from the twelfth to the nineteenth centuries. This particular culture, although mute in written record, speaks plainly of its past skills and glory through examples of cunningly cast bronzes such as the "Head of a Princess." It is completely stylized, as is most African art, a portrait head realized in a crisp, clear and highly decorative style. The beaded headdress and coral necklace contrast effectively with the smooth fully rounded cheeks. The intricate play of curves in lips, eyes and necklace are accented by the strong straight upright line of the braid. It is both a subtle and sophisticated work in a style which has markedly influenced and inspired modern art in Europe and America.

ADAGIO

Georg Kolbe's bronze figure "Adagio" (1923) is a work of this important German sculptor's middle years. It stands at a point in his long career where the suffocating effects of a rigid academic training, the influence of the tortured humanism of Rodin, and the elegant manner of the Paris school, have all been put behind him. The careful balance of shapes and volumes, the gentle rhythms in the whole piece and its supporting parts, coupled with a suggested withdrawn and aesthetic mood, characterized all of his work of this period. These elements were almost infinitely varied and refined in the remarkably long creative years that followed. He seldom did groups of figures, but limited his basically lyrical expression to single figures.

The span of his productive life covered some artistically dangerous years. And the evidence of such influences as romanticism, nineteenth-century realism, cubism, and expressionism make their appearance almost in that order. But a considered look at the final accomplishment leaves one satisfied that Kolbe was one of the twentieth century's significant sculptors.

STONE METATE AND ROLLER

This massive sculptured stone metate was used by the Indians of Pre-Columbian Central America for grinding all-important maize into the flour meal from which the staples of their diet were made. The metate itself is more than a mere utensil, it is also a handsome example of the Pre-Columbian peoples' predilections in design and sculpture. It is a solid blocky piece standing on three short legs in the form of a highly stylized beast, powerfully executed in a grotesque style. Probably the serpent head motif which occurs here had some magical significance in relation to maize, since a number of their three-legged metates have been found with the same type of fantastic head. This useful piece of sculpture found in Honduras illustrates the uniquely powerful and highly complex designs of the natives, and it shows, in the roller shaped to fit the grinding surface, their efficient practicality in making useful objects of stone.

MASK

This Wooden Head and Face Mask is Mexican and probably comes from the tropical village of Paintla not far from Taxco. It was used in a pagan animal dance which is now part of the Lenten celebrations associated with the blessing of the animals. It is difficult to date art objects of this kind because of their strong regional character and, usually, unique use.

It is carved from a single block of wood. The inside is roughly done but much care has been taken with the outside. The seal or dog-like appearance of the face and head with the ribbing around the mouth and the one blank eye indicate a deliberate procedure.

The use of this type of mask in primitive magical rites is well known and its comic-horrible appearance holds a curious fascination for most of us.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Our organization is planning to hold a Yom Ha'Atzmaut celebration the evening of May 13th. This will be the second such celebration which we have sponsored. The first was held last year at Tomlinson Hall of Case Institute of Technology. It was jointly sponsored by Hillel Foundation of Western Reserve University and was open to the public. The program included a dramatic presentation in song and dance by the students and a speech by Spencer Irwin of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

We would be deeply honored if you would consent to be our guest speaker for this year's celebration. A reply within the week would be appreciated so that we may continue with our planning.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Mr. Morton L. Mandel, of our Board of Directors, has informed me of your acceptance to render the invocation at our coming Future Unlimited Banquet on Monday, May 25, 1959.

This news is most gratifying to me, as I know it will be to our Board. I realize how crowded your schedule is, and I want you to know how appreciative we are of your acceptance!

I am looking forward to meeting you at the reception for our Guest speaker, Mr. William T. Okie, President, J. M. MATHES, INC., a New York Advertising Firm, and First Vice President of Junior Achievement, Inc. The Chairman of our Board, Mr. H. P. Ladds, who is President of National Screw and Manufacturing Company, will be sending all Head Table guests an invitation for the aforementioned reception.

Enclosed are a few pieces of literature which might help you better understand Junior Achievement, and a brief description of the Banquet. If there are any further questions you might have, please feel free to call Mr. Robert E. Porter, our Executive Director, at SW 5-1800.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I don't believe any Junior Achievement function, either in Cleveland or in the nation, was opened and closed with more inspiring messages than those you brought to us Monday night.

We, in Junior Achievement, realize only too well that we can give only a part of the training required by our youth to face the life ahead of them and your spiritual messages certainly did the job most beautifully.

We are deeply indebted to you and hope that we may hear your words more often.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

The 75th Division Veteran's Association will conduct its thirteenth annual national reunion in Cleveland at the Hotel Pick - Carter August 14, 15 and 16th. As is the custom, an appropriate memorial service will be held on Saturday afternoon, August 15 in the hotel ball room. The memorial service address is usually presented each year by a clergyman representing the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant religions, alternately. This year, we again require the services of a Jewish rabbi, and most cordially invite you to address our more than 400 veterans and their wives.

The 75th Infantry Division fought in Europe during World War II and was particularly distinguished for its service in the Battle of the Bulge, the Battle for Colmar, the crossing of the Rhine and the Ruhr pocket. The Division is commonly referred to as the "Bulge Buster" Division.

✓ We will be most deeply honored to have you address our group, Rabbi Silver, and sincerely hope that you will find it possible to fit our invitation into your busy schedule. The address need not be longer than fifteen or twenty minutes. If you cannot be with us, we will appreciate your recommendation as to an alternate among your rabbinical colleagues who may offer an appropriate message to our delegates.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Mr. Kraus told us of your generous offer to let us use the Luntz Auditorium at The Temple for our evening meeting on Saturday, October 31st. As you know, this one-day conference is held in collaboration with the Mental Development Center of Western Reserve University.

On Saturday evening, October 31st, we plan to have the participants in the evening program for dinner at six o'clock, at the Wade Park Manor. We hope that you and Mrs. Silver will be our guests for dinner and also plan to go on to the meeting with us. We feel it would be most appropriate if you would offer the Invocation at the beginning of the meeting. I hope that you will not think we are imposing on you to ask you to take on this responsibility. I enclose a copy of the program-invitation for the day and evening sessions so that you will know what is available if you have either the time or inclination to attend the conference.

We are most grateful for the philanthropic feeling which prompts you to offer the Auditorium for our use. I know that you agree with our belief that the parents of retarded children need all the spiritual and professional support which can be made available to them, since they face a life-time problem.

Sincerely yours,

PURPOSES OF INSTITUTE

A. To acquaint you as physicians, teachers, social workers, and psychologists with some of the recent advances in knowledge about one form of mental retardation, mongolism. The mentally retarded child and his family need the expert help of the doctor, psychologist, teacher, and family counsellor.

Dear Dr. Silver:

Early in April, 1961, the fifth biennial convention of the National League for Nursing will take place in Cleveland.

This organization of nurses, allied professional people, and lay persons interested in patient care, have chosen as their 1961 theme "Interaction - Key to Nursing Progress". We think you may be interested in seeing the enclosed brochure which illustrates the League's concept of cooperation among workers in the field of health.

On Monday, April 10th, our first business meeting will be held in the Arena of the Cleveland Public Auditorium starting at two o'clock in the afternoon. We would be honored to have you open this session with a prayer, and hope very much that you may be able to accept this invitation.

We shall look forward to an early reply from you.

Sincerely yours,

Helen Scott

Dear Dr. Silver:

As you may know, your temple has graciously offered to serve as the host congregation for this year's Pedagogic Conference, which is scheduled to take place on Sunday, February 19th. The Conference theme is "The Ethics of Judaism."

Five years ago we had the privilege of convening our Conference at The Temple and at that time you were kind enough to extend greetings to the assembled teachers. Your remarks on Jewish education and the teacher shortage were later quoted extensively in the materials issued by the American Association for Jewish Education on this problem.

We would be most honored if you could again find it possible to extend greetings at this year's luncheon. We know that your participation in this educational event will serve as an inspiration to the teachers of the community. We sincerely hope that your schedule will permit this.

Cordially yours,

Dear Rabbi and Mrs. Silver:

Will you be our guest at dinner the evening of Wednesday, April 19, in the Lincoln Room of the Wade Park Manor? Cocktails will be at six o'clock with dinner at six-thirty. The program following dinner will take no longer than one hour.

Since you are so closely identified with at least one of the institutions located within the University Circle area, we are anxious for you and the board members of all participating institutions to learn first hand of the work and plans of the University Circle Development Foundation.

Now that we are in the formative stage of a fund raising campaign, you are sure to be queried by your friends and associates for an explanation of the work of the Foundation and how the money contributed to the campaign will be spent. We have given much thought to the most effective way to share this information with you and others close to the Circle. It is our belief this can best be done to your satisfaction at an information dinner for board members (and the husband or wife as the case may be) of the thirty institutions.

Those close to the Foundation will review accomplishments of the past three years and present plans for the future. Of special interest will be the many physical changes scheduled to take place during the next five years; changes that will benefit every institution. We will have a glimpse of the future with the unveiling of a dramatic rendering of University Circle as it will look in 1975.

There is nothing like University Circle anywhere in the United States and we believe you will want to be well informed, not only for your own satisfaction, but to be better equipped to answer the questions that are bound to be asked of you. We know you will want to attend the dinner, so let us know your intentions by promptly returning the enclosed Reservation Card.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

The National Tire Dealers & Retreaders Association has asked me to invite you to deliver the Invocation at the opening session of the National Convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio at 9:30 A. M. on Monday, September 25, 1961.

The Association is composed of independent tire dealers and retreaders in the United States. The Convention this year should draw about 5,000 men and women to Cleveland in September.

The opening session will have in attendance tire dealers and their wives, equipment suppliers, and representatives of the press. If a Faith in America Business Award is to be made by the Association, it will be so done at this opening session. This award was given to President Eisenhower two years ago in Washington.

I am Chairman of the Young Executives Group of the National Association as well as serving on their Convention Committee. I have recommended you personally, Rabbi, to the other members of the Committee, and I would appreciate very much if you would accept their invitation.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Mr. Sidney Lewine asked that I send you information regarding Mr. S. W. Flesheim's services to Mount Sinai Hospital.

Mr. Flesheim was elected to the hospital's Board of Trustees in 1949. In 1951, he was elected vice president of the Board. In 1952, he was named chairman of the Building Committee, and in 1953, Chairman of the Mount Sinai Hospital Planning Commission. He chaired both bodies until 1959 when he was elected president of the Board of Trustees.

In the above capacities, Mr. Flesheim has been intimately associated with the program now known as the Mount Sinai Hospital Development Program, which has modernized our facilities and has raised our capacity from something under 300 beds to what will soon be 533 beds and 100 bassinets. Mr. Flesheim has held positions of leadership from the very earliest stage of the planning of this program, through the period of construction, right up to the opening of new facilities and their utilization for patient care.

I will be happy to provide additional information if it is required.

There will be a place reserved for you at the head table. It is our practice to seat only those participating in the program at the head table; however, I am certain that Mrs. Silver will be able to sit close by with friends.

We have scheduled 15 minutes for your tribute to Mr. Flesheim. We will have a framed certificate, the wording of which is enclosed, for you to present to him on behalf of the hospital's Board. Dear Rabbi Silver:

I am writing to you about a program we have developed, to unify into a special group those outstanding Americans who have been cited over the past 32 years by the National Conference for their service to the cause of brotherhood. You, of course, are one of this distinguished group.

The attached outlines our newly formed "National Honor Corps of NCCJ" which will provide a means whereby you and your fellow honorees may gather together occasionally in friendship and fellowship and be kept more fully acquainted with NCCJ. Mrs. Robert Z. Greene, one of our most dedicated and enthusiastic lay leaders, originated this idea and I have asked her to serve as Chairman of the NCCJ Honor Corps.

I should like to cordially invite you to a special luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington on November 20 which will mark the first national "get-together" of past NCCJ honorees. We hope to make this fellowship a regular part of our Annual Meeting not only this year but in years to come. A tentative agenda of our Annual Meeting is enclosed. We would, of course, be honored by your presence at all of the open sessions of our meeting if your schedule permits.

Could you let me know as soon as possible as to whether we can expect you at our "NCCJ Honor Corps" Luncheon and at other sessions of our Annual Meeting?

My heartfelt thanks to you for your interest and support of the National Conference.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

This is a follow up on my telephone call of several days ago regarding the possibility of your speaking at the 1962 convention of the Speech Association of America in Cleveland, December, 1962. Although the exact dates of our sectional meetings have not been set, it would be December 26, 27, 28 or 29.

The Speech Association is a national association of teachers of speech and of persons who work with speech and communication in education, government and business. Within the larger organization are twenty one interest groups. For 1962-63, I am vice-chairman and program chairman for the interest group called Speech for Religious Workers. I work closely with Dr. Alfred Edyvean, Christian Theological Seminary, Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana, our interest group chairman, and Dr. Ernest Wrage, School of Speech, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, national vice-chairman and 1962 program coordinator.

Our interest group is authorized to plan two sectional meetings. Sometimes we relate our programs to the interest group on Rhetoric and Public Address.

At this distance we would like to consider the possibility of your giving part or all of one sectional meeting. If you are available and interested, what topic or subject would you suggest?

Since our final copy for the program must be submitted in April, I would appreciate your making your decision as soon as possible.

Dear Dr. Silver:

The American-Hellenic Community of Greater Cleveland is now celebrating its Fiftieth Anniversary. As part of the celebration, we have scheduled a number of ecclesiastical affairs that will make all of Northern Ohio conscious of this eventful milestone of the Greek people.

The most important affair we have scheduled is a Testimonial Banquet for our spiritual leader, His Eminence, Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, Archbishop Iakovos. All the proceeds of the affair will go to the Holy Cross Greek Orthodox Theological School at Brookline, Massachusetts. The banquet will be held Saturday, May 12th, at 7:00 pm in the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel.

The American-Hellenic Community of Greater Cleveland and His Eminence would be honored if you would attend this affair. We would, of course, like to have you as a speaker for this occasion. In order to make this affair a success we would appreciate a reply on or before May 1st.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I take great pleasure in inviting you to be our Keynote Speaker at the Opening of the Sixth International Convention of the International Council of Jewish Women which will be held in Cleveland from June 9-13, 1963. The Opening Session will take place on Sunday evening, June 9th at 8:00 P.M. at The Temple, and we would be highly honoured to have you accept our invitation.

The Chairman of our Convention is Mrs. Jerome Curtis of Cleveland. Sessions will be attended by representative Jewish women from all parts of the world. In order to acquaint you with our International organization, I am sending you, under separate cover, a copy of the Program of our last Convention which took place in Basel, Switzerland, and a Brochure describing the activities of our various Affiliates.

At a meeting which we held in your city last June, it was unanimously felt that having you as our Keynote Speaker would set the tone for an important gathering of this kind. We are looking forward to a favourable reply.

Dear Doctor Silver:

On Friday, February 1, 1963 the Episcopal Diocese of Ohio will have the honor of welcoming to Cleveland the Presiding Bishop of our Church, the Right Reverend Arthur Lichtenberger, D.D.

We plan to have a service of Evening Prayer in Trinity Cathedral at 5:30 that afternoon. This will be attended by delegates to our 146th Convention. During this service I shall make my Annual Episcopal Address dealing no doubt with housekeeping affairs of the Diocese.

At approximately 7:15 o'clock that evening we shall assemble at the Grand Ballroom of the Cleveland-Sheraton Hotel for dinner and to hear a major address by Bishop Lichtenberger. He will no doubt tell of his recent travels about the world and I am sure he will make a strong appeal to our Diocese to increase our support of the World Mission of the Church.

It would give us great pleasure if you might find it possible to be with us for both occasions but we are particularly anxious to have you attend the dinner itself and with Mrs. Silver for Mrs. Lichtenberger will accompany her husband.

We are anxious to show Cleveland at its best and one cannot think of this city without your good self at its heart.

If you can find it possible to be our guests on this happy occasion I shall be most grateful indeed.

Faithfully yours,

Dear Rabbi Silver:

The annual meeting of Goodwill Industries will be held Monday evening, May 20, at the Higbee Auditorium at 6 p.m.

This dinner meeting will be followed by a program depicting 60 years of progress in Cleveland, and a salute to the men and women who have contributed so much to our city and to Goodwill Industries.

An outstanding cast of actors has been selected for this revue. We feel the program will be unique in that 60 years of progress in Cleveland and in Goodwill will be condensed into a one hour show.

At the end of the program a number of prominent Clevelanders will be recognized for the part they have played in our community life.

Will you help us in this worthwhile project by attending the dinner and by receiving our recognition as an outstanding Clevelander?

You will receive a call from a representative of Goodwill to solicit your acceptance. If you have any questions, feel free to call me at any time.

Most sincerely,

It would be appreciated if you would signify something of the esteem of this community for Judge Silbert by a few brief remarks following the dinner.

The Honorable Sylvester C. Smith, Jr., President of the American Bar Association will be the principal speaker of the evening. Since the Committee desires to reserve ample time for his address and to guard against prolonging the program, we are asking all speakers to be brief in their remarks. Five minutes have been allotted for your tribute.

The Committee would appreciate receiving a copy of your remarks on or before April 18th in order that excerpts can be incorporated in the printed program.

The guests to be seated at the Speaker's table will assemble on the Parlor Floor in suite #98, Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel, at 6:15 P.M., May 9th.

Dear Mrs. Domb:

Right after Dr. Silver's death, Mrs. Brown phoned and asked me to send you a copy of the address which he delivered here at the Temple on June 9th, 1963. There was no copy in my files and as you can imagine, I had no time to look for it. It wasn't until today that I was able to go through Dr. Silver's desk (a sad task indeed), and there I found his original notes and manuscript, copy of which I am enclosing.

Feb. 23rd 1964

Dear Mrs. May.

I cannot emphasise sufficiently how much I appreciated the trouble you have taken to let me have a copy of the late Dr. Selver's address delivered by him at the pre-convention gathering last June.

I would have acknowledged its receipt and your kindness sooner but my only sister had died a day or two before your letter came and I was sitting theiva. True my sister was nearing her 80th birthday and she had been ill for many long months, but it is still a wrench - the breaking of links so finally even with an older generation takes time to heal.

I can understand how you felt having to go through desk and papers of one whose presence you must feel at every turn!

Did you come to any sessions of the Convention? Perhaps we met at Mrs. Brown's cocktail party? Because I have been at each Convention since the one held in London in 1954 I have met Mrs. Brown and other international personalities comparatively "often" even in between times, as at some time or other nearly everyone comes to or through London.

So please let me know if you come this way at any time.

With warm regards and every good wish,

Yours sincerely
Jessie Donahue.
