Dear Dan,

Please accept this expression of deepest sympathy on the loss of your father. I am certain that you know that your heavy burden is shared by the Jewish community of the world.

May his memory be for blessing and for strength for you and your family in all the days and years that lie ahead.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dan:

Let me take this means of expressing to you my heartfelt sympathy on the passing of your beloved father. I know how little words mean at a time such as this, but I want you to know that I share your sense of loss.

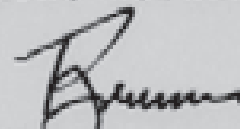

Your father was certainly the greatest Jewish figure of our time. The tremendous role he played in the establishment of the state of Israel, his monumental contributions to Jewish scholarship, and his life-long leadership in the cause of social justice and humanitarianism have earned for him an unforgettable place in Jewish history.

I am sure that your knowledge of the unparalleled achievements of your father's life and of the reverence and admiration in which he was held by millions of his fellow Jews, as well as your recollection of the many wonderful years of love and happiness that you shared with him in your family circle, will in time bring you and your mother and Raphael a full measure of consolation.

It was good seeing you in Chicago last month and I do hope our paths will cross again soon.

In the meantime, Nancy joins me in sending you and yours our warmest good wishes.

Most cordially,

Bernard Martin
Rabbi

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Rabbi Daniel J. Silver,
The Temple,
University Circle at Silver Park,
Cleveland 6, Ohio.

My dear Daniel:

Along with uncounted thousands across the land I felt a deep sense of shock when I learned of the death of your father. In the years in which I have been in Cleveland I have come to hold him and his family in the highest regard and appreciation.

I valued him not only for his magnificent social and religious leadership, but for the tremendous frame of reference he gave to the concept of moral obligations. He had a walking familiarity with the Covenant and he called all men to fulfill that Covenant in their own lives.

By curious coincidence I was reading in your book "In Time of Harvest" on the day your father died. In retrospect I thought of the profound sacrament of his life and how it had elevated the quality of ideals to which we all must give our loyalty and our strength.

There is one other thought which I must express to you. To the world at large Rabbi Silver's monument will be found in the astonishing scope of his achievements. For you, your mother and Raphael, there will be precious, personalized memories of closest significance.

May I say that I am sorry indeed that this particular area of his life and yours could not have had a longer tenure. He was so powerful, so vigorous that it seemed he could have lived for many more years. I pray that you and your family will be comforted by the richness and quality of the time which you have enjoyed with him. My sympathy comes to you in the loss of a father who was also, by unique dispensation, the spiritual kin of the world at large. May God comfort you in your loss and quicken in your own life your special obligation to extend his area of service.

My dear Mrs. Silver,

I want to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt condolences and personal sense of sorrow during this hour of bereavement. I had the extreme good fortune to teach at The Temple during my undergraduate years in Cleveland and to come to know Rabbi Silver. Indeed, it was through the generous use to which he put his discretionary fund that my first year at Hebrew Union College was made possible. I had the pleasure of renewing acquaintances with him this past summer in Philadelphia and shall cherish the moments we spent talking together.

My family joins me in heartfelt prayer that God send you His comfort in this hour of bereavement. May the balm of sweet memory and His solicitude strengthen you in your sorrow and assuage your grief. I and this congregation rejoice in the blessings which his life brought to Judaism and all mankind.

Sincerely,

Dear Virginia,

The world has lost an irreplaceable man and a great leader, this is what I have heard many people say and what I feel with the sudden passing of your illustrious and beloved husband.

His death was so sudden and without warning that it is hard to believe he is not going to occupy his pulpit.

I did so enjoy attending services when visiting in Cleveland and thousands as well as I will miss him.

Always will I remember the evening we had dinner at the home of Bud and Doris, and the light conversation about the Rabbi's favorite food, and the enjoyable night and program of the Men's Club affair.

To you and your family I send my heartfelt sympathy, and I know you will all be strong enough to carry on, for the honor and prestige will always be yours.

It was good to be together with you, Marian and Doris for that delicious and enjoyable luncheon, and hope on my next visit you will be my guests.

Last Saturday I arrived here in Pasadena in the sun and warmth of southern California.

I found my home in perfect condition and many dear friends to welcome me.

Last night at the Temple Rabbi Galpert's subject for his sermon was Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver , and he spoke of his work in the Zionist's cause, his influence in establishing the State of Israel and of many of his books.

I hope you will overlook my efforts on the typewriter but it will be easier to read than my writing.

Remember me to your family and to you my love and best wishes.

Very Fondly,

Dear Mrs Silver - I am moved to write to you on the occasion of your great bereavement. I have not seen you since you were Virginia Markheimer, some 45 years ago in Baltimore, when you were pleased to listen to some of the talks
I gave. You may well have forgotten my name and existence, but I remember you very distinctly, as a striking person in your own right and because of your beloved sister Pauline Lazarus. Such things remain in the memory, though life once lived seems like a dream. Please accept my warmest thoughts and sympathy in your present sorrow. You have a great memory and two sons to console
you. Ever faithfully yours

Dear Jeremy,

We grieve with you in the passing of your beloved father. We know you and your dear mother will receive letters of sympathy and esteem from all parts of the world, but none can exceed our brief note in expressing the admiration and honor in which we held your distinguished father.

We knew him in his H.U.C. days when even as a young man he manifested his powers of mind and soul. Even then he could greet distinguished visitors to our Chapel services in perfect modern Hebrew, which was unique because it was just beginning to take form then.

We consider him a genius such as the good Lord creates once in a century; a soul-moving preacher and prophet, an author of significant books and a mighty leader of all Israel. His memory everywhere is truly for blessing.

Please convey our respects to your dear mother and brother, sincerely,
Gertrude and Samuel Mayerberg.

Dear Daniel:

I know that you will be receiving literally thousands of letters of condolence on the passing of your beloved father and the man whom I will always consider to be the outstanding Rabbi of the twentieth century.

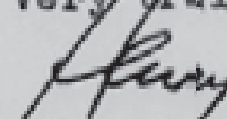

There are a number of privileges that have been mine through the understanding and grace of your father. It was when he was President of the Central Conference of American Rabbis I succeeded through his interest in getting a committee on Psychiatry and Religion of the Conference established.

On the occasion of the 50th Anniversary of our Temple, I had the privilege of presenting to your father a gold medal inscribed "with our affection for him" and I shall always cherish the confidence which he placed in me when he lifted me out of "the bush league" to pitch in the "major league" when he invited me to debate with Carl Meninger at your Temple some ten years ago.

I know that my personal experiences with your father are minor and do not loom large on the background of the tributes which the whole world has paid him. I send them nonetheless as illustrative ~~for~~ one more mitzvah in the thousands of mitzvahs performed by Abba Hillel Silver.

Will you please convey my most sincere condolences to your mother and your brother.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sam:

Norma and I were saddened to hear of your father's death. Much will be well and truly said in coming weeks about his assumed place in history, his lofty stature as a rabbi and Jewish statesman, his special niche in the hearts of all who love him and adored him as their splendid and able champion.

Surely, such accolades will be touching on matters that very much occupied him. But being fathers, you and I both know that nothing could have given him more unalloyed and penetrating spiritual joy than that he merited to have beside him a noble son who more than fulfills the promise of his noble antecedents.

You gave him - during his lifetime - nachas on a grand scale. May knowing that help console you.

Please convey our deepest sympathy to your mother and brother.

Dear Mrs. Silver,

I am writing on behalf of the President, Sir Barnett Janner and the other Honorary Officers of the Board of Deputies, the Members of the Board and its Staff, to express our deep sense of grief at the passing of your distinguished husband. All who came into contact with him were inspired by the sincerity and distinction of his thought.

Through the power of his pen he was able to move his readers, and by his magnificent oratory he aroused not only the emotions of his audiences but their warm response to his eloquence. His work in the Zionist cause and for all Jewish causes, as well as his public services for humanity, have won him universal esteem and affection.

It is our hope that knowledge of this high regard in which he was held will in some measure lighten the burden of sorrow which you and your family have been called upon to bear.

Yours sincerely,

Secretary.

Dear Daniel:

Together with thousands of others, I was shocked profoundly at the news of your Father's sudden death. Even though it came at a time of great national tragedy and suffering, it produced a deep effect of sadness upon me and the members of my Congregation.

Your Father's place in Jewish History is assured. The power of his presence, his magnificent eloquence and his single-minded pursuit of the welfare of the Jewish People made him one of the great leaders of Jewry's most turbulent time. Wherever people think of the State of Israel or of the place of American Reform Judaism in the scope of the 20th Century, they will recall with admiration the life and work of your great Father.

I hope the outpouring of sympathy for you helps you bear the burden of these difficult days.

Cordially yours,

Dear Mrs. Silver, Dan, and Rafael:

May I add my expression of sympathy to the thousands you have received from friends and admirers all over the world.

Those of us in the rabbinate who come from Cleveland always had a vision of the rabbinate which was epitomized by Rabbi Silver. He undoubtedly was more instrumental than any other single factor in inspiring so many men from Cleveland to enter the rabbinate. His passion for integrity, both intellectual and moral, his dedication to the cause of the Jewish people and to the State of Israel, were symbolic of the highest ideals of the Jew.

But he was more than a symbol to those of us who were privileged to "sit at his feet". He had an indelible impact on our character and our aspirations for personal fulfillment. In this sense, your loss is our loss, just as the blessings of his life were shared by all who came in contact with him.

ABRAHAM TULIN

THE saga of the emergence of Israel is inexorably intertwined with the fabric of Abraham Tulin's life. For more than a half-century, Abraham Tulin has labored with indefatigable zeal, with singleness of purpose, with brilliance and with foresight towards the attainment of one historic goal—the redemption and the upbuilding of the State of Israel.

Through all these tumultuous years of world and Jewish history, he has been a keen and wise counsellor, and, indeed, was called on to represent the organized Jewish community before intergovernmental bodies examining the Jewish people's claim to a homeland in Palestine.

Nearly a quarter-century ago, Abraham Tulin recognized the potential role of the Technion in the future Jewish State; in 1940, he became a founding member of the American Technion Society and since that time has devoted major portions of his time and energies to Israel as a whole, and to Technion in particular. He has remained steadfast in his belief that only through the fullest utilization of science and technology can Israel achieve security and viability.

Technion-Israel Institute of Technology is deeply indebted to Dr. Abraham Tulin for his lifetime of service to it. As the only university of the engineering sciences in Israel, the Technion's phenomenal growth since the establishment of Israel has been given enormous impetus through the historic efforts of Abraham Tulin.

Abraham Tulin . . . Captain in the U.S. Army in World War I . . . aide to Herbert Hoover in administering vast postwar relief programs . . . spokesman for Jewry before the Anglo-American Commission of Inquiry on the Palestine Question . . . builder of Israel and benefactor of Technion. The American Technion Society, together with the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology, salute one of the outstanding men of our time.

Dear Rabbi Lieberman:

I want to thank you for your most welcome note. It was deeply appreciated. Your thoughts anticipate ours. We hope to establish an Archives at The Temple, and to collect material from all over and to publish from the great treasury of sermons and lectures which remains in manuscript form. Fortunately, Dad had also completed an autobiographical manuscript which we will soon arrange to have published.

Again, many thanks for your expression of sympathy.

IN SYMPATHY

"The Lord is My Shepherd"

The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Dear Esther:

It was so thoughtful of Temple Bethel to think of me at this hour. It seems so long ago that I had the privilege of serving you in Danville, and yet it's only a matter of thirteen or fourteen years. I enjoyed our association and profited from it. You were most kind to a young fledgeling, and you have again evidenced that kindness. Many thanks.

Dear Rabbi Silver:

I hope that our friend Mr. Chaim Orlan conveyed to you our heartfelt sympathies to you and your mother and the entire family upon the passing of your illustrious and great father.

We, of the HADOAR, who record and evaluate weekly the events of the world and of the Jewish people, know of your father's place in Jewish history and, therefore, his loss is indeed irreplaceable.

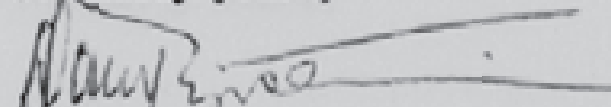

The HADOAR family feels keenly the loss of such a staunch and true friend as your unforgettable father was to the HADOAR and to the ideals for which it stands.

Please convey our sincere sympathies to your mother, brother and the rest of the bereaved family. Our language is too poor to find words of comfort, and may you all be consoled among the mourners of Jerusalem and Zion.

I am taking the liberty of mailing together with this note to-day's issue of the HADOAR in which the lead editorial is about your father, of blessed memory.

In case you would like to have additional copies of this issue, please do not hesitate to write to me and I will be only too happy to do so.

Cordially yours,

Dear Dr. Silver:

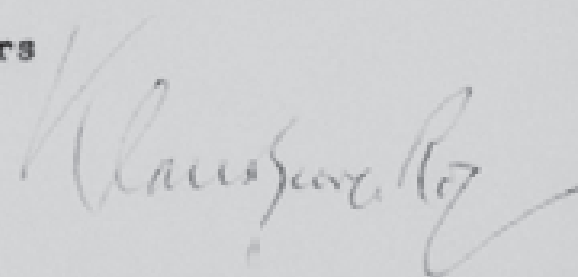

May I thank you for your very kind note of December 4.

I was very much honored and privileged to be allowed to participate in the services for your father by my chorale prelude-processional, played by David Gooding. Prepared on Friday evening, November 29, it came to Mr. Gooding the next morning. That it could contribute to the occasion, as a gesture of my deep respect and admiration for your father, means much to me.

It was good of you to write me about it so promptly, and in these hours which must still be most heavy and serious ones for you. Please accept my sincerest condolences as well as wishes for the future.

May the memory of the righteous always be for a blessing.

I will always remember your father's kind guidance during the years of my preparation for the rabbinate and his very kind help in illuminating for me the deeper issues that we must confront in our challenges as rabbis. I will always remember him primarily as a teacher, and his illustrious and colorful way of working with all of us who served on the religious school staff will always be cherished among my fondest memories.

Please also be kind enough to convey my warmest expression of sympathy to your dear mother.

Dear Dan:

I know how difficult these hours must be and pray that in His infinite goodness, God will ease your heart.

The loss of your beloved dad has stunned all of us who have felt the blessing of his presence. It is not enough that we weep for this terrible loss, but rather that we attempt in our own feeble way, to augment the dynamic program of Judaism in America of which your dad was so very much the architect. In such a fashion I would hope also that we would be upholding your hands.

Warmest regards.

It was in the subdued, mournful atmosphere of Washington, D. C. that we learned of your Dad's untimely passing. Joan, Richard, and I were spending a long-planned-for Thanksgiving in the Capital.

We have been living through a period when our nation has suffered the loss of several of its eminent leaders. Your Dad was a great American and a great Jew. I have always been proud to have known him. It must be of comfort to you and your family that he accomplished so much in his lifetime.

Joan joins me in extending our sincere condolences to you and Ray, and, of course, to your dear Mother.

My congregation received the Kaddish at Sabbath Services last night in memory of your father, and we memorialized his name on our Yahrzeit Books so that it be remembered year after year. For your father was truly one of the most creative personalities in the long history of our people and one of the noblest souls in the annals of our faith.

To me personally his life was a "Kiddush Hashem", and through his writings particularly he influenced my ministry and my thinking. "Zichrono Tsaddik Livrocho!"

Please convey this message of sympathy to your bereaved mother. May God console and comfort you.

Dear Rabbi Dan;

Please accept our deepest sympathy on the unexpected passing of your father this past week. This is a loss which we all share. People everywhere are a bit poorer with the death of Rabbi Silver.

In the very brief five year span that our family has lived in Cleveland, we have been constantly aware of the rare gift which we possess in being members of The Temple. Rabbi Silver brought a dignity and depth of expression to Reform Judaism which we had never experienced before. For this we will be forever grateful.

We are equally aware of your religious leadership, particularly in evidence with our two children, and we take comfort in the knowledge that The Temple continues to enjoy the leadership of another Rabbi Silver of outstanding qualities.

Selma joins me in conveying to you and your family this token of sympathy at this time.

Dear Rabbi Jerezy Silver,

For half a century I have had the pleasure of knowing your father. His passing was not only a loss to Jewry but to the world.

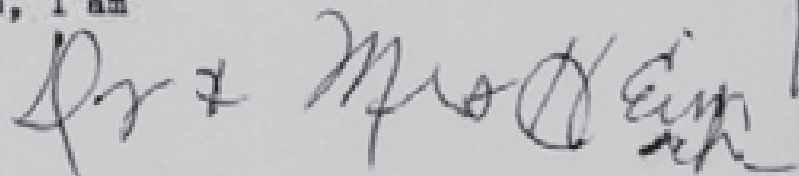

As I knew him, a man of status and powerful voice, but soft so that all who heard him knew he was sincere and wished the best for all mankind. Whenever I went into the Temple, or in fact, wherever I met him he took time to help me, for he knew that I was teaching Judaism and was president of Federation 13 before it went into the Southeast.

All know that no one is indispensable; and therefore, in your grief he has left to Jewry you to carry on his work--what a blessing to mankind in all this world.

May I take this time to say when I finished college in the South, Rabbi Stephen Wise was the speaker; but even he did not have the voice of your father.

To you and your family I wish to express my sincerest condolences at this loss.

My Dear Mrs. Silver,

We share with you your great loss of one of the greatest leaders in world Jewry in general and in our city of Cleveland in particular.

Rabbi Silver had been the inspiration and genius of the great cause for Zionism. In 1937 I had the privilege to preside at a meeting of the Cleveland Zionist Society, and it was a great privilege for me to introduce Dr. Silver with the following words: "Our old teachers enumerate the signs which distinguish the man upon whom the Divine Spirit rests. He must be a sage, a hero, a man of wealth, and a man of commanding height."

I believe everyone of them properly understood found in our inspired leader, Dr. Silver; he was a sage because he foresaw the future; he was a hero because he consecrated most of his life to heroic battle for the children of Israel and for the Land of Israel. He was a man of wealth, of spiritual wealth, as a gifted orator and a great scholar who was able to inspire the Jews the world-over to an abiding interest in their future.

Of course, it is too soon yet to evaluate his great life, his fame will grow with years and the whole Cause of Israel will hallow and bless his name in all eternity.

In the spirit of Chanukah, may we say the soul of man is the lamp of G-d.

May G-d comfort you and all the mourners of Jerusalem.

With Deepest Respect,

Dear Dan,

Please accept our profound expression of sorrow and sympathy in your tragic bereavement. The entire Jewish people identifies with you in your moment of grief. Myriad of good people the world over join you in your loss. For it is a historic loss to be measured only by the magnitude of what your beloved father gave. Not lesser all of those who loved and received your great-hearted Atah, truly impoverished. We know that you will convey this word of comfort to your dear mother and brother.

May God give you strength to bear your pain with serenity in the realization that He gave so much of a binding value to so many. May His memory and His influence sustain all of you as it will sustain all of Israel in the years and generations to come.

Sincerely,

Dear Dan and Adele.

I want to express our deep and sincere condolences on the loss of your Beloved Father. The whole world feels the loss and I know how close and deep the hurt is to you. Bob and I have thought of you so often and I am ashamed of the time gone by without any contact. We all get caught up in our daily routines and somehow our days grow from weeks to months to years.

I can't begin to tell in all the time passed but as our family is like we have a very grown up young man in Jeff. He has gone off to Oakland University - Rochester Michigan. He has proved to be a very good student and very good boy. Randy is a freshman in High School and our little Dale is in sixth grade. We feel we have much to be grateful for in our family. Both of our boys celebrated their Bar Mitzvah and did extremely well. Randy is now attending Confirmation preparations.

The young group of teenagers that you had as your last Confirmation class here are all young housewives or preparing to be. The community has changed somewhat but for the most part is still fairly much the same. Carol Goldberg is married to a fine young man as is Joni Faden. Judy Rosenberg was married this summer and Roberta Lee is being married in the Spring of next year. It seems incredible to me that this is the young group of girls today but time has a way of passing. Marilyn Meyers is down in St Louis at Washington University and Sue Fair and Paulette Shtitz are downstate at Illinois. I guess I could go on but I am not too sure where to leave off.

I am sorry that the loss of a loved one would inspire me to write to you. I should have chosen a happier occasion. We do think of you and would love to hear about your family.

Our Sincere Sympathy

Dear Dr. Silver,

I am enclosing an editorial written by Dr. Abraham J. Feldman in tribute to his old friend, Dr. Abba Hillel Silver. I thought you might be interested in seeing it, even if it is one of so many tributes which have been paid in recent days to the memory of your great father. Dear Dan:

As many others, Pearl and I were sorry to hear of your father's passing. He was such a wonderful man, and an inspiration to all of us younger rabbis, that one cannot conceive of American Jewish life without his physical presence. Yet, those causes and values for which he stood remain always with us. So his spirit has become a part of the future of Judaism in this country and throughout the world.

I know how close you two were, through the years, and how much his teaching meant to you, personally. There is no way to minimize the loss. All we can say is that we are grateful for the blessing of the past and will live by the inspiration for the future.

Please remember us, and also my Mother, Carolyn Kory Hachen, to your Mother.

Sincerely,

Dr. David S. Hachen,

Dear Rabbi Silver:

Along with many millions the world over in this devastating fortnight just passed, I was terribly shocked to hear of your father's passing. It was my unpleasant task after hearing the news on television in New York, to call my father, Harry Weinraub, in Cleveland and tell him and my mother of the tragic news. I have just received a letter from my Dad who reminds me that he heard the first address made by Dr. Abba H. Silver in 1917 at an eulogy on the death of then Rabbi Margolis to a packed house at the Hippodrome Theater in Cleveland, that he was in Israel at the ZOA Convention celebrating the Rabbi's 70th birthday, and that on Sunday, November 24th, 1963, he attended services at the Temple presided over by Rabbi Silver with you at his side when he made his last benediction. May I add my voice to his in expressing heartfelt condolences and sympathy.

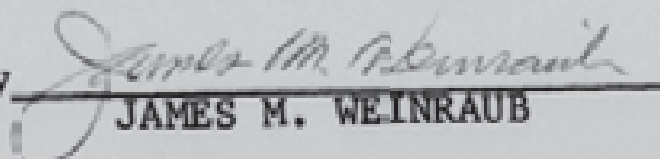

Ever since we met in Sasabo, Japan where you came to conduct Sabbath services when we were both in the Navy, I have followed your career and your progress with interest and admiration. I am aware of your, and our, tremendous loss. I simply want to stand side by side with you through it.

My wife Sheila and my partner, Bob Schwartz, have never met you or your dad, but like many others, not as fortunate as I in this respect, they too feel a sense of grief and loss and wish to stand and be counted with you and yours.

Sincerely,

SCHWARTZ and WEINRAUB

Dear Rabbi Dan,

Words are only the messengers of our thoughts and emotions, and they are often poor messengers at that. I hope that these few words may not be entirely inadequate expressions of what I feel.

I had the privilege of studying under Dr. Silver and of receiving the benefits of his wisdom. I can, therefore, understand the loss you must feel. I can offer only my sincere sympathy and the grief which I too feel at your father's passing.

Dr. Silver's spirit has become a heritage of the Jewish People, for whom he never ceased to labor. The memory of his righteousness is a blessing.

Kind friend :

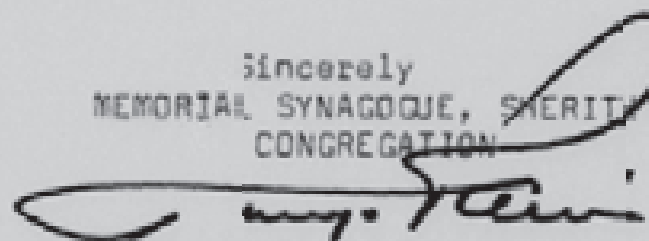

On behalf of our congregation, including my self and family, permit us to join with the thousands of followers and friends who mourn the untimely passing of a great leader and teacher, your dearly beloved father, the late Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, in expressing our deep regrets and sincere condolences.

No superlatives will catch the true assessment of his earthly demise more, than by saying that your fathers memory is enshrined in the hearts of those who are worthy to value his achievements, for the good of his people and humanity.

As you well know, according to our rabbis, when a righteous individual answers the last summons of the Almighty, they tell us " eyn lo t'murah " he is irreplaceable. Without the slightest exaggeration, we shall not look upon his like, very soon again. " Torah V'gdulah B'makom echad " it is your great fortune to have known him as your father and teacher.

Hoping that courage and strenght will be given you, your dearly beloved mother, brother and family, we are with understanding symphaty,

Sincerely

Dear Rabbi Dubin:

I want to thank you for your most welcome message of sympathy. These days have been difficult ones, but they have been lightened by many expressions of friendship and respect.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dan:

Having received countless messages of condolence on the death of your father, you know how genuinely all of us grieve. I did want you to know that I was thinking of you particularly at this time and we are confident that that which was great in your father will have continuance in you. That, of course, would be of supreme comfort to him.

Yours truly,

Aniel Wohl
