My dear Mrs Silver,

the news of your dear husband's death has filled me with great sorrow. I vividly remember our last meeting in Tiberias when I was happy to see him in the best of health.

Your late husband will remain in my thoughts as a great personality and as such he will live forever not only in the memory of some individuals, but of the entire Jewish people.

My wife joins me in our expression of deepest sympathy and friendship.

Yours,

Dear Dan —

This year casts a long dark shadow for all of us, but I reach out now with these words of mine to bridge the many miles between us and to bring to you my affection, concern, and sympathy in the death of your father,

Judaism, the rabbinate, stood taller because of him — and so do you. For that, even in the midst of this sadness, we are all grateful.

Rabbi Daniel Silver
The Temple
Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Rabbi Silver,

My Congregation joined me in special memorial prayers for your father, recently. All of us who knew him were inspired by his great message to Jewry and to mankind.

We pray that you and mother and all his loved ones will find comfort from your noble memories and from your abiding faith in God.

Yours sincerely,

Hyman Judah Schachtel

Dear Mrs. Selzer, David and Ray:

We were very shocked and sad to hear of your tragic loss. Please accept our sincerest sympathy.

Being a classmate and friend of David's
I knew the rabbi through an high school years on a little more personal basis than perhaps many others who knew him from the Temple and other civic endeavors. He was a very kind, friendly and sympathetic man.

Living in New York, Erie Pa., Portsmouth West Va., and near New Castle, Penna., I have lost most contact with you and your family unfortunately; but I do want you to know that we have very pleasant memories and that we are thinking of you in your time of grief.

Best regards,

ABBA HILLEL SILVER

God fashioned a creature to serve Him, endowed him with faith and with zeal,
With eloquent, powerful tongue; and illumined his countenance clearly
So that all men who gazed there saw plainly the light and effulgence of goodness.
A preacher He made Him, to carry His word to the people.

Then the deep wish to help all his fellows and to walk ever upright and truly
He poured into this earthly creature; and gave him
The joy of a master who knows that his precepts are heeded.
And so, from the mouth of this man, came words which once heard
Must be followed by throngs of those thirsting in soul
For the draught that can quench or can kindle.
Ever brimming, the cup of guidance, of solace, of warning.-- INSPIRED!

THE CUP OF SILVER.

Dear Mrs. Silver,

Please accept my tribute to your husband.

Sincerely,

Margot Sanger.

Dear Dan:

I was very saddened to learn of the death of your father. On many occasions I have thought back to the days when we visited together, and I had the opportunity of getting to know and to love your father. He was truly a great man in every sense of the word. He served as a symbol of American Jewry and was instrumental in creating the climate that allowed the state of Israel to survive. He was truly a rabbi in the broadest and fullest sense of the term, a leader of his people in all respects.

Please extend my deepest sympathy to your mother and brother. I hope that sometime soon our paths will cross, so that we can renew the wonderful spirit and camaraderie of previous years.

Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Mrs. Silver:

Having just returned from extended pastoral trips, I was greatly shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden and untimely death of your beloved husband. We all knew and will always remember Rabbi Silver as a great spiritual leader and as a great champion of justice and freedom, opposed to all bias and prejudice, and an advocate of humanity in the best sense of the word. His efforts on behalf of Israel and her children are history; but more than that, he belonged to all the world which sorely needed men of his convictions, and which will long remember his high ideals and accomplishments. His passing is indeed a great loss, but his work will live on and will not have been in vain.

On behalf of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America and our communicants, and as well personally, we extend to you and your family our heartfelt sympathy and condolences, as we pray the Almighty to rest the soul of Rabbi Silver in eternal peace.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Dani:

First of all let me express again my deepest sympathy to you, your dear mother and your brother, on the passing of your beloved father, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver.

I thought that you might be interested in seeing a tribute to your father which I was invited to make on Kol Yisrael and Kol Zion Lagola. I shared the program with Dr. Israel Goldstein who spoke of his Zionist activity and Shulamit Nardi who dealt specifically with his role at the UN. I was asked to pay tribute to the Rabbi and within the limits of the time allotted to me, I tried to do my best to deal with his religious attitude towards Zionism and his total view of Jewish life. Very much more could have been said of his two generations of service as a religious leader and teacher, but this would have taken tomes.

Again with my warmest greetings in which Elaine joins me,

Sincerely yours,

Rabbi Daniel Silver

Dear Dan,

I still can't believe it, that your great and gifted father Abba Hillel is no longer with us. What a tremendous loss for you and your family and for the whole household of Israel!

On behalf of the National Jewish Committee on Scouting and the Boy Scouts of America, as well as on my own behalf, I would like to extend our deep felt sympathy.

Abba was truly among the giants of our generation. The likes of him will not be seen again for many, many years. He was the right man who lived at the right time and in the right place in Jewish history and in my humble opinion was largely responsible for the creation of the state of Israel. Please extend our condolences to your mother and to your entire family. May his memory always be a blessing and may you be spared sorrow for years to come.

Sincerely,

FOR A TIME OF SORROW

I SHARE with you the agony of your grief,
The anguish of your heart finds echo in my own.
I know I cannot enter all you feel
Nor bear with you the burden of your pain;
I can but offer what my love does give:
The strength of caring,
The warmth of one who seeks to understand
The silent storm/swept barrenness of so great a loss.
This I do in quiet ways,
That on your lonely path
You may not walk alone.

Dear Daniel,

I shall always treasure, in a special sense, the CCAR of this past June, for it was my last opportunity to not only see and hear your father of blessed memory, but to be with him at his jovial best.

I just want mine added to the great number of words of thank you for the life and memory of Abba Hillel Silver.

Whenever I have read a volume from his pen I have realized the invisible losses that Israel of this generation has suffered. We will never know the dimension that your father would have added to Jewish learning if he had not found it necessary to give endless hours for the redemption of lives.

I noticed in a recent Temple bulletin that you have many recordings which are available to your congregants of sermons delivered by your father. I think that your congregation might perform an inspiring service to all of American Jewry if you made these recordings available for purchase.

Again, my heartfelt sympathy and condolences to you and to all the members of your family upon your measureless loss.

Dear Dan:

Mrs. Katz joins me in expressing to you, to your mother, and to your brother our most sincere sympathies on the sudden passing of your father.

He was for all of us a teacher and a source of inspiration. He brought dignity to the pulpit and was a figure for identification for scores of rabbis. We shall always be grateful for his life and for his love for Judaism and the Jewish people.

May you be comforted by your own work for causes so dear to him and to your family.

With kindest regards, I am

Received of Mrs.

Dear Rabbi

There really are no words that have not already been said, by great and small alike, to express the sadness we feel at the death of Dr. Silver.

Hopfully it will be a small consolation to you to know that our thoughts and hearts are with you in your loss, and too, that we will always be grateful for the privilege of having known such a wonderful man.

Monday

Dear Dan:

Since we now have a decent newspaper, the Western Times, I was able to hear about your father promptly. I know what a loss this is to you and your family, but also to Judaism and to the world. He lived a full and worthwhile life, but his loss is a grievous one. Madeline, Susie join me in sending your our condolences.

I don't mention Jon--- he is in the hospital with a rectal operation. Went in Thanksgiving day and hopes to start attending operations at Yale by to-day. He's due home in three weeks and I'm sure he'll write you when he recovers.

He is a Junior-- yes, he insisted on advanced standing when it was offered to him Last summer he was quite involved with Existentialism and the Covenant Community-- which I understand is sponsored by the Wesley Foundation at Yale. I'm not sure that we are beyond the danger of a Methodist minister in our family, but he seems while still involved in all these questions to be less insistent on finding an immediate answer.

His plan to be a writer of "Stream of Consciousness novels" is weakening--- he is now exploring how to be a therapist without taking a medical degree. Maybe he'll be a Rabbi yet?

Susie--- is being confirmed this year. She's quite concerned because she's not popular with boys-- Jon is still worried about the problem of dates. His last letter is devoted to dates with girls from Albertus Magnus--- as he says, it's a Catholic school, but here are girls there.

I see that the vendetta at last broke out into the open --- Glueck and Eisendrath.

Maggie and I went to L.A. Saturday afternoon to see "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" and took the 2 A.M. train back to S.D.

I wish there was something I could do or say for you at this time. But then we do miss you and wish we could occasionally talk over things with you. You and Don Litt still play a large part in our hearts and our thinking.

Dear Morry:

You're irrepressible, thank God. And after all the routinely ground out ten cent words it was good to come face to face with a human being. Thanks.

These have been trying days, with a whole series of new organizational burdens complicating my own emotions, but this is what I trained for and the job will be done. Except in my own immediate family, all is well. Jonathan is six and a first-grader, and semi-literate, Michael almost five and determined to be seven, and Sarah two and a character. Adele is well, busy taking up a Master's in Fine Arts at the University and acting as a docent at the Art Museum.

Come see us soon.

Mrs. A.H. Silver
The Temple
University Circle,
Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Mrs. Silver,

How grievous the news of such a passing.

America lost its great leader on Erev Shabbat. And on the erev of erev Shabbat, World Jewry has lost its great and impassioned leader.

We of the Zionist World and of all Jewry must now mourn the passing, not only of a man but of a era that had lived and contributed to such tremendous achievements in the life of our people. Now to conclude in his memory some of the unfinished work.

My own work in Zionism or Z.O.A. stems not merely from the focal point of Zionism but certainly to the influence of Rabbi Silver, that he unbeknownst, exerted upon me in my youth. And then at all Zionist functions in the years of my own maturity.

How prophetic that his passing should be in the descending hours of November 28, so as not to mar the glory of a more famous November 29, 1947, when he in majesty led the U.N. to vote partition of our beloved Israel. These two dates are now joined into a unity by the man and the ideal.

Especially we in the Ohio Valley Region shall lament his absence.

I express not merely my feelings but certainly the loss felt by all communities in our Region.

May his name always be for a blessing.

To you and your whole ^{family} goes our deep sympathy in this sad hour. Of course, Rabbi Silver was much too young to go, but you must be consoled that ~~he~~ ^{he} was spared a long, painful illness.

Dear Sir:

May I express my profound sympathy at the loss of Rabbi Silver. While I am not a member of the congregation and, while I never met Rabbi Silver, I held him in great esteem for his works.

The devotion with which he served the cause of Jewry through his labors for Israel inspired me as a Jew; the constant efforts he made to serve this nation inspired me as an American.

On this Thanksgiving Day, we may be grateful for his having been. He added much to the prestige of our faith through his unending efforts on its behalf. Surely he will be noted for the great religious leader and the great American that he was.

His family may take comfort in the knowledge that this loss will be felt throughout the world, by men everywhere who looked upon him as a moral spokesman for what is right and just and good.

At the end of this most tragic week, we have lost two inspired men, two men for whom words are inadequate and thoughts insufficient.

Dear Mrs. Silver,

We were deeply shocked by the sad news we read in the newspapers and could almost not believe that your great husband had left us all for ever. The loss is irreparable, not only for yourself and for your sons, but for all his friends and for mankind.

His constant and devoted dedication to Israel went much further, for the love of justice, of righteousness, of spirituality goes far beyond the limit of one people, it is meant to better the condition of the whole of mankind.

Not only was he great in his soul, he was also so kind and congenial as a man. I shall never forget the words he said about my father, the manner in which you and he welcomed me, encouraged me in Cleveland. If you remember, I was cordially received at your home, met your sons, who were young and charming boys at the time and are now the worthy successors of their father.

We had met again, when Rabbi Silon was in Paris, already years ago - but we followed his activities and even in silence friendship does not vanish.

May the sympathy of all those who had the privilege of knowing him help to comfort you in your bereavement and may the knowledge that his work will remain and bear fruits for years and years give you the courage to continue your own work.

My husband and daughter join me in sending you our deepest sympathy and in asking you to convey it to your sons -

Sadly yours

Maxa Nordan

Dear Rabbi Dan:

It came as an extreme shock to read in the Los Angeles newspapers of the passing of Dr. Silver. May I express my deepest sympathies to you on your great personal loss and the tremendous loss to Jewry the world over.

I regret that I can't extend my sympathies to you personally, but I am on temporary assignment for our company in Los Angeles.

Perhaps you would like to know that we broadcast a tribute to Dr. Silver here in Los Angeles last Sunday. It was the same program that was presented on WERE in Cleveland.

Again, on behalf of myself and my family my deepest heartfelt sympathies.

Sincerely,

Harry Dennis

Dear Jacob:

I am grateful to you for your kind note and for your message of sympathy which was conveyed by Ambassador Harman. Dad died as he would have wished, without illness and at the fullness of his powers. For us his time was fore-shortened, but how often have I read out the line: "God's thoughts are not our thoughts". These days have been difficult ones, but they have been lightened by countless acts of friendship. I count your letter among these.

Sincerely yours,

Daniel Jeremy Silver

Dear Dan:

I was to have called Del this morning, but somehow it seems that neither of you would be much in the mood for bright long distance conversation.

I learned of your father's passing while watching television and it was quite a shock to hear it. I was very moved and then caught myself wondering why it had affected me so quickly and so strongly. I had never met your father, had never heard him speak and so I asked myself why the loss seemed almost personal to me. I think I know why. He has always seemed to me, from what I have heard and read of him, from what Del has told me of him, from the "image" of him that has appeared in print, to be what our faith seems to be alone among the world's minority groups in lacking: a spiritual leader. Combined with my feeling for you and your wife, this made the death of your father seem personal to me, as the death of our President did only so recently.

No one is more impatient with cliches than I am, nor more aware of the fact that words are no comfort at this time. But being separated from you both by these miles makes me feel inadequate in being unable to shake your hand or clasp your shoulder as so many people have. I know, these past few days.

Dorothy and I want you and your family to have our warmest condolences at this time.

All our love,

December 11, 1963

Dear Jack:

I am most grateful for your kind note. Adele had told me that you had spoken to her just about a week before Dad's death and it was good to hear of your continuing success.

I am going to be in New York for a meeting Sunday evening, January 5, and will spend some time there the next day. Perhaps we can get together. If it's possible to have breakfast, drop me a line. I'd enjoy it.

Adele joins me in sending you my best.

Sincerely,

Dear Dudley:

I am most grateful to you for your kind note. We are, indeed, proud of Dad's legacy, but it is the private and intimate memories which flood the mind. Dad died as he would have wished, without illness or any diminution of his powers. He died full of confidence in the vitality of the House of Israel.

Please accept my deep sympathy. The Jewish community -- indeed, the entire nation -- has lost a giant. The knowledge that your father lived so rich and full a life and left enduring contributions must be a great source of comfort to his loved ones.

Best personal regards.
