Zionists Laud Truman's Letter To Ibn Saud

Jewish Telegraph Agency

ATLANTIC CITY—Zionist leaders attending the ZOA convention here warmly welcomed the President's letter to Ibn Saud.

Expressing deep appreciation of the "President's forthright statement," Dr. Alba Hillel Silver, ZOA president, said: "One is at a loss to understand Ibn Saud's interference in the matter of Palestine. Jewish rights to Palestine, guaranteed by the mandate, are not subject to the review of Saudi Arabia any more than the affairs of Saudi Arabia are subject to the review of the Jewish Agency of Palestine. This desert chief of a backward and feudal state should be asked to turn his attention to his own country to devote himself to the improvement of the conditions of his impoverished, illiterate and exploited people which he has kept in subjection. He should not worry about the Jews who have brought to Palestine not only for themselves but for the Arabs there prosperity, progress and education."

Truman Reiterates Stand on Palestine Entry

French Telegraphic Agency

WASHINGTON—President Truman in a 1,500-word message to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia this week restated this government's hope for entry into Palestine "of considerable numbers of displaced Jews in Europe." At the same time, he reiterated his intention of asking Congress for special legislation to admit "additional numbers" of displaced Jews to the United States "over and above the immigration quotas fixed by our laws."

The President's message was in reply to a letter of Oct. 15, from Ibn Saud protesting Mr. Truman's statement of Oct. 1 as "inconsistent" with previous pledges by this government.

Declaring that the United States Government and people have supported the concept of a Jewish National Home in Palestine since the end of World War I, President Truman stated that the United States still believes "that a national home for the Jewish people should be established in Palestine."

He pointed out that most of the peoples of the Near East liberated after the first World War "are now citizens of independent countries" but "the Jewish National Home, however, has not as yet been fully developed.

"It is only natural, therefore, that this government should favor at this time the entry into Palestine of considerable numbers of displaced Jews in Europe, not only that they may find shelter there, but also that they may contribute their talents and energies to the rebuilding of the Jewish National Home," he declared.

opposition of the Jewish National Home, he declared.

DR. SILVER EXPLAINS WHY DR. GOLDMANN WAS NOT INVITED TO ADDRESS Z.O.A. CONVENTION

JW

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (JTA)--Dr. Abba Hillel Silver today issued a statement //
replying to Dr. Nahum Goldmann's comments yesterday on the refusal of the Zionist Organization of America to invite him to address the recent Atlantic City convention.

"I have noted Dr. Nahum Goldmann's statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency. It is a characteristic bit of distortion," Dr. Silver said. "The facts are as follows: The executive of the Zionist Organization of America, at its pre-convention session, voted unanimously to have a report of the Paris meeting of the executive of the Jewish Agency presented to the convention. It accordingly invited Mr. Louis Lipsky, who is a member of the Executive and who, unlike Dr. Goldmann, is also an officer of the Zionist Organization of America and a delegate to the convention, to make such a report.

"Subsequently, at the meeting of the political committee of 100 at the convention, a motion to invite also Dr. Goldmann was voted down overwhelmingly. I was not present at this meeting. The few who wished to hear Dr. Goldmann forced the issue to the floor of the convention, where a motion to invite him was tabled by an overwhelming vote. Evidently the convention did not have the same estimate of Dr. Goldmann's indispensability as he himself had.

"With regard to his complaint about my not calling a special meeting of the executive of the American Zionist Emergency Council to receive his report, I should like to say that the last time Dr. Goldmann was invited to meet with this executive--which was on the occasion of his calamitous mission to Washington--he grievously misinformed the Council; and the unanimous agreements which were reached at that meeting with his concurrence he violated the very next day.

"Dr. Goldmann should not pose as a martyr who has had no opportunity to tell his story. On the very eve of the convention of the Zionist Organization of America he held two press conferences where he fully explained and defended his position, and at one of these, he also indulged in a sustained and violent attack upon me, Dr. Goldmann has spoken--far too much."

Partition Issue Aired, Defeated, At Zionist Convention; Dr. Goldman Waits In Vain To Present Viewpoint

By G. M. COHEN

ATLANTIC CITY—The story of the 49th annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America is not in the election of officers, or even the actions taken or the resolutions passed.

That is the account the uninitiated delegate will take back to his local Zionist district.

But even an acute observer will have difficulty from the vantage point of only a few days, of correctly sifting between what was only incidental and what was important, determinative and significant.

But the following observations are warranted:

Most of the delegates went home more confused than when they came.

An almost insignificant minority friendly to Nahum Goldman was built into a practical majority by Silver's bitter attack on the Jewish Agency member.

That the administration machine, although it made its way through the maze of convention activities unscathed, had more than a few bad moments, and almost lost the convention at several points.

That the convention ran smoothly, that the administration of the Zionist Organization is well equipped for the tremendous jobs in front of it, and that Rabbi Silver is a leader in every sense of the word; not only is he courageous and shrewd, but he is an excellent organizer also.

Silver Speech Was Turning Point

When the history of this convention is written, it will probably center around a speech. Silver's opening address. In it, Rabbi Silver attacked Dr. Nahum Goldman so unmercifully that the delegates heretofore inclined to agree that Dr. Goldman was untrustworthy and diabolical now saw their sense of fair play come into action so that they almost overnight found themselves pulling for the underdog. When a motion was suddenly made from the floor on Sunday that Dr. Goldman be invited to the convention to present his side of the story, the motion got the longest applause of the entire convention.

Daniel Frisch, presiding at the moment, did his best to quiet the demonstration, but in a fluster of uncomfortable indecision, sat down and called on Rabbi Silver. It was only Rabbi Silver's plea that bringing Dr. Goldman to the convention floor might harm relations in world Zionism that turned the tide and the disgruntled delegates yielded, although not at all satisfied.

Where was Dr. Goldman? He was in New York, or perhaps even closer, awaiting a telephone call to come to the convention. There were some rumors that Dr. Goldman was in Atlantic City awaiting the call in a hotel room, and there was an additional rumor that if Dr. Goldman were not allowed to place on the program, his backers would rent a hall and give him the opportunity denied to present his side of the story.

Called Fascist Organization

This matter of Dr. Goldman and the Jewish Agency were discussed fully Friday before the convention at the last meeting of the 1946 Executive Committee of the Z.O.A., a meeting that was almost thrown into an uproar when Rabbi James G. Heller hurled out, "This is a fascist organization" after Rabbi Silver refused to allow him to speak.

The executive committee decided to skirt around the dangerous partition issue, for reasons which this writer believes has to do with Rabbi Silver's candidacy for the president of the World Zionist Organization. The decision was that no resolution or action of the convention would censure the Jewish Agency for its partition stand.

This was a smart move and in a sense averted an open break at the convention. Yet it was this decision which gave Rabbi Silver a free hand to attack Dr. Goldman, making careful not to involve the Jewish Agency, and it was this attack which almost split the convention, and built up what may turn into a formidable opposition group to the Silver administration.

Rabbi Heller Refused The Floor

At the executive committee meeting Friday morning at which this decision was made, Daniel Frisch, who was reelected chairman of the National Administrative Council on Sunday, was delivering the kind of bitter attack he is very capable of doing on the person of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. Rabbi Heller asked Mr. Frisch to yield and proceeded to rebuke the speaker, when Rabbi Silver intervened declaring that he had not given Rabbi Heller the floor. Rabbi Heller insisted that Mr. Frisch has yielded, which Mr. Frisch said he had done but was sorry about. Rabbi Silver still ruled that Dr. Heller could not have the floor, and it was at this point that Dr. Heller hurled his epithet about a "fascist organization," after Rabbi Silver said he would have to call on the sergeant-at-arms to oust him.

So that Rabbi Silver's attack on Dr. Goldman in his opening address left the delegates disturbed. As a result each time that a move was made to bring Dr. Goldman to the convention to speak in his own defense, a growing number of delegates lent their support.

Rabbi Silver's speech was bitter, but to this observer, no more bitter than the accusations made in the past several weeks about Dr. Goldman and printed in many publications, including this one. Quite possibly the spoken charges sounded more reckless than the written word and this may account for the reaction of the delegates.

In the speech Rabbi Silver ended up by admitting that he was prepared to consider partition if such an offer were made. He differed therefore with Dr. Goldman and the Jewish Agency in no sense at all on partition. His point of departure with Dr. Goldman was one of procedure and tactics.

This willingness of Rabbi Silver to "consider" partition may have been responsible for the attitude of the delegates, the most informed of whom detected that Rabbi Silver did not want to be unalterably opposed to partition so that he could be free to take a stand on either side, depending upon what happened at the forthcoming World Zionist Convention.

Political Committee Session Important

To this observer the whole convention was the session of the Political Committee Sunday morning. Here in a comparatively small room, the real action of the convention took place. Here the opposition to Rabbi Silver first showed itself, and here Louis Lipsky made his first speech of the day. His second, delivered that afternoon before the entire convention, is already being hailed as one of the smartest, most diplomatic speeches of his long career.

The administration here too had paved the way smoothly. The resolutions were so framed that even those friendly to Dr. Goldman and those supporting the Jewish Agency were not expected to take exception.

But they did. And men like Dr. Heller, Robert Szold, and Louis Lipsky felt that even the mild resolutions censured the Jewish Agency, and that at another point the resolutions would so bind the delegates of the Z.O.A. to the World Congress that they would be unable to consider partition even if after hearing the argument from both sides they decided that partition would be desirable.

Telegram of Dr. Silver's Bombshell

So that as the result of this difference, the entire history of what was behind the fight between Rabbi Silver and Dr. Goldman was unfolded. Rabbi Silver, Mr. Lipsky said, had sent a telegram to the Jewish Agency, saying that as between the report of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry and partition, he "and his friends" favored partition. This was in the nature of a bombshell and continued to be argued throughout the convention, with one text saying that this telegram had ended by saying: if accepting partition now did not prevent the possibility of the realization of the Biltmore program later on.

Rabbi Heller made the statement that the phrase "a viable Jewish state in an adequate part of Palestine" was coined by Dr. Silver. It was also revealed that the American members of the Jewish Agency had sent a telegram to the Executive Committee of the Z.O.A. urging that Dr. Goldman be given a place on the program, but that this telegram was stuck in someone's pocket and never brought before that body. The motion to invite Dr. Goldman was made by Robert Szold, but was defeated after Dr. Heller said he had talked with Dr. Goldman the night before and that Dr. Goldman said that he had a great deal to say. When a call for a show of hands was asked for instead of a voice vote, although after the voice vote had been registered, Emanuel Neumann, who was in the chair, charitably refused to consider it.

Rabbi Heller pointed out that much material that should be in the hands of the delegates before they voted was not being made available, and that since the question was not one of all black or all white, Dr. Goldman should be permitted to defend his position. Had this same appeal been made from the floor of the convention instead of in a small committee room, it might have swung the vote the other way.

Silver "Called" To Avert Threat

However, after Lipsky made his presentation, some changes were made in the resolutions, and they were passed unanimously.

When the going got heavy, and it seemed that the opposition might win, Rabbi Silver suddenly showed up at the political committee meeting. I had seen Jacques Torczyner motion to a delegate, and whether Rabbi Silver was called in to help sway the tide or not, I do not know. He did, however, deliver a short talk, and as he did on the occasion that afternoon when the same question was being discussed, he was able to win over the votes to his point of view.

Silver called for an end to public pronouncements in the press by Dr. Goldman and Meyer Weisgal without actually naming the two. He said that he wanted to let the situation ride until the sessions of the forthcoming World Zionist Congress. He pointed out that the resolutions were mild, that they don't tie anyone's hands and that they free us for active Zionist moves on the world scene.

In the political committee meeting Mr. Lipsky said he was amazed on his return from the Jewish Agency Executive meeting in France to discover the kind of discussion that was going on in the United States. He revealed that even with the help of the Resolution Demands

State; Partition Not Out

Special ATLANTIC CITY — The 49th annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America this week rejected any proposals for the partition of Palestine, in a political resolution reiterating "the historic claims of the Jewish people to the whole of mandated Palestine," but did not entirely close the door to partition proposals.

The resolution, which demanded establishment of a Jewish state, urged the Jewish Agency to submit any proposals made to it by the British Government to the World Zionist Congress for approval and expressed doubt of the wisdom of Jewish participation in the London Conference on Palestine.

The Committee on Political Resolutions unanimously recommended the resolution to the convention after a heated debate at a closed session of the group. Earlier the committee rejected a proposal by Robert Szold, a former president of the ZOA, that Dr. Nahum Goldman be invited to address the convention.

The action of the convention represented a clear-cut victory for Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, who was re-elected president of the ZOA for a second term.

many moves made by the U. S. government, Great Britain was not moving from her unalterable stand, and that the Jewish Agency was not able "to break through" the impasse, all the while being subject to the implied pressure of the situation of the DPs and the tense situation in Palestine. He said that there was only one dissenting vote from the partition move and that even the Jewish Agency members imprisoned in Latrun approved of the partition proposal. Mr. Lipsky's presentation had its effect on the committee, and he emerged possibly the strongest and certainly the best-loved figure at the convention, especially after his talk on the same theme that afternoon.

Before the political committee adjourned it heard from Mr. Neumann how the Zionist Emergency Council in the United States was not kept "au courant" on actions of the Jewish Agency Executive and how on some important decisions, it learned of them from the American Jewish Committee.

Lipsky Speaks To "Stacked" Crowd

That afternoon Mr. Lipsky delivered his now famous talk. He defended the Agency action superbly. With a "stacked" audience in front of him and certainly a "stacked" rostrum behind him, he chided Rabbi Silver for his attack on Goldman, without mentioning either name, and he made it possible for the delegates to understand the Agency viewpoint in a way which no one, from Rabbi Silver on, could take exception to. It was a skillful, adroit speech, that very possibly might lose most of its effect when read on paper.

Just after the afternoon session, the first public attempt to organize an opposition to Rabbi Silver was made. In a nearby hotel, a group of more than fifty delegates heard the charges of well. Mr. Neumann was given many places of prominence in the convention program, and he carried out his assignments well. The delegates must even be now thinking of him in terms of the successor to Rabbi Silver.

A very unhappy moment for the administration took place at the election. Although the eruption was finally subdued, it augurs well for next year's convention.

The major offices were filled without comment of moment from the floor. When it came to voting for the 35 members of the Executive Committee, and nominations from the floor were called for, they flooded Rabbi Irving Miller, who was in the chair. A good many of those nominated declined to stand for election but enough did allow their name to be presented to make voting necessary.

Machine Goes To Work

That the necessity of voting was averted by a succession of moves, all democratic but still a part of machine politics, is not so important as the fact that next year these same delegates will not be so easily swayed from their purpose. Just for the record, this writer predicts that next year the nominating committee's report will not be accepted without a fight and a real election by ballot.

In the convention hall, in the hotels and on the boardwalk, delegates were asking one another what they felt about this or that, despite the fact that the convention had already voted. The delegates were in a questioning mood; their dissatisfaction was almost articulated, except among those quite politically mature, but it was obvious that the Silver administration will be the last to hold an iron-control over the Zionist Organization. No administration is going to turn the delegates aside. The lesson learned when Rabbi Silver was swept into power may be employed again next year.

Another observation has to do with the many young men, heretofore unheard of except in their local districts, who asserted themselves not only in committee meetings, but in the general sessions as well. This is the second and third generation American Jew either returning to the Zionism of his immigrant progenitor, or for the first time feeling out his strength as the scion of a staunch Zionist family. These young men from all parts of the country will be the group-in control, if not next year or the year after that, certainly in five or ten years.

The hard-bitten Zionist campaigner must have had his heart warmed by these indigenous Zionists, products of the American environment, wedded to the idea of a Jewish state. 23

Jewish State in undivided Palestine

Z.O.A. PLATFORM TO ZIONIST CONGRESS

A STRONG attack on the conduct of the British Government in Palestine was delivered by Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, President of the Zionist Organisation of America, when he reviewed the Palestine developments of the last year in the course of his presidential address at the formal opening session of the Annual Convention of the Organisation in Atlantic City on Saturday night. Over 1,500 delegates, representing 500,000 organised Zionists attended the Convention.

Dr. Silver criticised the American Government for its ineffective action in regard to Palestine. The recent British actions in Palestine Dr. Silver described as a black chapter in history, unmatched except in the Dark Ages and by Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany. The President severely criticised Dr. Nahum Goldmann, who, he charged, had "ignored and floated" agreements reached between him and the Zionist Emergency Council upon his arrival in Washington. "We agreed unanimously, with Dr. Goldmann concurring, that neither he nor we would propose the partition plan to the Cabinet Committee or any other American officials."

RESOLUTION

"The Annual Convention of the Zionist Organisation of America," the resolution reads, "re-affirms the historic claims and aspirations and legally established rights of the Jewish people to Palestine. These rights have been formally embodied in solemn international covenants and applied to the whole of Mandated Palestine, undivided and undiminished, as the territory in which the Jewish people shall re-establish its national existence as a free and equal member of the family of nations. Any further attempts on the part of the British Government, by unlawful, unilateral and arbitrary action, to curtail or destroy these rights, or to deny to the Jewish people free access to any part of its National Homeland, will be resisted to the utmost by all sections of the Jewish people with the support of democratic forces throughout the world."

Purpose of Mandate can be fulfilled

"These aims have received the sanction and support of the American people, through expressions of public opinion, Presidential declarations, the Anglo-American Convention on Palestine, action by both political parties in 1944, the joint resolution of Congress in 1947, and concurrent Congressional resolutions in 1945. The Convention directs the Officers of the Zionist Organisation of America and requests the delegates to the forthcoming World Zionist Congress to pursue a firm policy for the fulfilment of the legal rights of the Jewish people to Palestine and the early establishment of the Jewish State."

Assurance wasted

"The Convention noted the failure of the London Conference on Palestine to achieve a solution of the Palestine problem," the resolution says. "The course of the Conference to date, and its adjournment for two and a half months without the slightest change in the status of Jewish immigration into Palestine, confirms the view that it represents a further dilatory device following a long series of delaying tactics invented by the present British Government to deflect public criticism. The wisdom of Jewish participation in the Conference is left open to question. The Convention is confident that the representatives of the Jewish Agency will continue to decline an invitation to this, or any other Conference, unless there is adequate assurance that the purpose of the discussions will be the implementation of the legally established rights of the Jewish people, furtherance of immediate immigration, and the early establishment of a Jewish State. Such negotiations as may be entered upon by the Jewish Agency should be conducted in such a manner as to avoid any answers on behalf of the Zionist movement. Any proposals made by the British Government must, in accordance with Zionist procedure, be submitted, prior to their acceptance, to a regular or extraordinary session of the World Zionist Congress or, failing that, to a plenary session of the General Council of the World Zionist Organisation, which will be elected at the forthcoming Congress, and which should be given the necessary power to act on behalf of the movement."

In another resolution, the Convention voiced appreciation of the services rendered by the American Zionist Emergency Council, under Dr. Silver's leadership, during the last year, and called upon all persons holding official positions in the Zionist movement to give the group their complete co-operation.

Forty-million Dollars collected

It was reported at the Convention that the United Palestine Appeal received a total of forty million dollars from the funds raised through the United Jewish Appeal during the past year. This amount was equally divided between the Jewish National Fund and the Keren Hayesod.

Mr. Rudolph Sonnenborn, Chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, said that more than 20,000 Jews went to Palestine during the first eight months of this year and more than 1,000 were deported to Cyprus.

Judge Morris Rothenberg, President of the Jewish National Fund in America, reported that 35 new settlements were established on Keren Hayesod land in Palestine during the past year and more than 40,000 dunams of land was redeemed. The Fund had remitted to Palestine a total of 12,000,000 dollars since September 1945.

A strong appeal for Zionist unity was made by Mr. Emanuel Neumann. "Nothing is so dear to the heart of British diplomacy as the desire to introduce division into the camp of their adversaries," he said. "There must be no partitioning of the Zionist movement."

"To break stalemate"

MR. LIPSKY'S ADDRESS

The Convention of the Zionist Organisation of America, held at Atlantic City, unanimously re-elected Rabbi Dr. Abba Hillel Silver as President, following his key-note address in which he attacked the "error of judgement" of the Jewish Agency in proposing to discuss partition. Dr. Silver called upon the World Zionist Congress to "disavow in some decisive manner the action of the Jewish Agency Executive", which, he said, would make partition the maximum demand of the Zionists and would encourage further whittling down.

Many delegates demanded that Dr. Nahum Goldmann should be invited to present the views of the Jewish Agency to the Convention. This was, however, done by Mr. Louis Lipsky, who explained that at the time when the Jewish Agency came forward with its proposals, negotiations had been broken off with the British, and in view of this situation, the Jewish Agency felt they must try to break the stalemate. Mr. Lipsky explained that the Jewish Agency had not proposed the compromise light-heartedly but had considered its duties of rescue and also the view of the Palestine Jewish leaders, including the detainees.

The Convention elected Dr. Leon Feuer and Mr. Jacob Fishman, Rabbi James G. Heller, Rabbi Irving Miller, Dr. Emanuel Neumann, Judge Bernard D. Rosenblatt and Mr. E. D. Stone as Vice-Presidents.

YISHUV'S MESSAGE TO AMERICA

The following message was sent by the Executive of the Jewish Agency to the Convention of the Zionist Organisation of America, which opened in Atlantic City on 22nd October:

"While deeply appreciative of the invaluable help you have rendered during the past year, we must emphasize that still greater efforts and sacrifices will be needed during the difficult times ahead. May the Convention help in closing the ranks of American Zionism thus assuring effective and friendly co-operation of all the Zionist groups and strengthening the authority of the Jewish Agency as the freely elected and internationally recognised spokesman of the entire Jewish people in rebuilding the National Home in Palestine. May your proceedings help to raise the prestige of our cause in the councils of the free nations of the world, and the achievement of the Jewish people's freedom and independence in Kodesh Israel," the message concludes.

TO THE LEFT: Leon Trotsky, the Red Bolshevik, who was the Bolshevik leader and the chief ideologist of Leninism; and, among others, Khrushchev, shown in his official portrait, which was taken in 1954, just before he became the leader of the Soviet Union. Silver, Goldman Convention Argument Continued In Bitter Statements

Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Dr. Nahum Goldman, when asked this week by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency to comment on the decision of the political committee of the convention of the Zionist Organization of America not to invite him as a speaker, made the following statement:

"I have no intention to enter into a press plemic with Dr. Abba Hillel Silver and his attacks on me. I only want to state that Dr. Silver had refused to face an open discussion with me on the floor of the ZOA convention and rejected twice a motion both in the political committee and on the floor of the convention, to invite me to report to the convention. Dr. Silver had previously declined to call a meeting of the Zionist Emergency Council, as requested by the Committee of Eight, which represents the Jewish Agency executive in the U. S. A., for the purpose of receiving my report."

Jewish Telegraphic Agency

CLEVELAND—Dr. Abba Hillel Silver issued a statement here replying to Dr. Nahum Goldman's comments on the refusal of the Zionist Organization of America to invite him to address the recent Atlantic City convention.

"I have noted Dr. Nahum Goldman's statement to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency. It is a characteristic bit of distortion," Dr. Silver said. "The facts are as follows: The executive of the Zionist Organization of America, at its pre-convention session, voted unanimously to have a report of the Paris meeting of the executive of the Jewish Agency presented to the convention. It accordingly invited Mr. Louis Lipsky, who is a member of the Executive and who, unlike Dr. Goldman, is also an officer of the Zionist Organization of America and a delegate to the convention, to make such a report.

"Subsequently, at the meeting of the political committee of 100 at the convention, a motion to invite also Dr. Goldman was voted down overwhelmingly. I was not present at this meeting. The few who wished to hear Dr. Goldman forced the issue to the floor of the convention, where a motion to invite him was tabled by an overwhelming vote. Evidently the convention did not have the same estimate of Dr. Goldman's indispensability as he himself had.

"With regard to his complaint about my not calling a special meeting of the executive of the American Zionist Emergency Council to receive his report, I should like to say that the last time Dr. Goldman was invited to meet with this executive—which was on the occasion of his calamitous mission to Washington—he grievously misinformed the Council; and the unanimous agreements which were reached at that evening with his concurrence he violated the very next day.

"Dr. Goldman should not pose as a martyr who has had no opportunity to tell his story. On the very eve of the convention of the Zionist Organization of America he held two press conferences where he fully explained and defended his position, and at one of these, he also indulged in a sustained and violent attack upon me. Dr. Goldman has spoken—for too much."

WISE MEN OF YALTA

Historic opportunity for Palestine suffered setbacks due to backdoor and personal approach methods.

SOME months ago when the controversy within Zionist ranks was at its highest, Marvin Lowenthal published an article in The American Hebrew entitled "Backstairs to Nowhere." The title was rather unkind but unfortunately we now know that the phrase, "Backstairs to Nowhere", was only too accurate a description of the policy pursued by the group whose titular head was Dr. Stephen S. Wise. This group ousted Dr. Abba Hillel Silver from leadership of the political affairs of the Zionist Movement in this country and also ousted Dr. Emanuel Neumann who was Silver's right-hand man in laying down the political line of the Zionist Movement in America.

The Jews of America and many non-Jews are in consternation over recent revelations. On the one hand, the late President made several commitments to the Zionists, on the other, he made promises to King Ibn Saud, which, though they are non-committal and ambiguous, did, however, create an impression among the Arabs that the Jews were being abandoned and that the promise made to the Zionist Convention in Atlantic City was a pure electioneering device.

It may be recalled now that Dr. Silver kept warning the Zionists that the fate of Jewish Palestine could not be entrusted to the good-will of one man, no matter how benevolent he might be, and that no man in power could be depended on to act in a matter of major policy purely in accordance with his personal sympathies and personal commitments. The policy advocated by Silver and Neumann called for bringing the question of a Jewish State into the realm of national and international American policy.

As we now see from the exchange of letters between Ibn Saud and President Roosevelt, published by the State Department on Friday, October 19th, Dr. Wise's policies led us exactly nowhere — where it took us through the back door of the White House.

"Leave the matter in my hands a little while longer," the President was reported to have said when he objected to the passing of the Palestine Resolution in Congress. "I have to see a few people first." Dr. Silver and Dr. Neumann had insisted that the Palestine Resolution was a matter of policy for the people's representatives to decide and not for any one individual consulting with other individuals. For this Dr. Silver was abused, was termed a demagogue, a fascist and was accused of being in league with the Republicans against the President. One important publication in this country, incidentally, one of the very few Jewish publications in America which opposed Dr. Silver, characterized the Silver-Neumann line as "unrealistic" and the Silver Movement as "neo-revisionist" and "neomessianic". The fate of the world, it was argued, now rested in the hands of three individuals — Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. None of them, certainly not Roosevelt, must be antagonized in any way. The fate of the world was to be decided at Yalta. Roosevelt promised. Roosevelt took along with him to Yalta Lowenthal's book.

Roosevelt came back from Yalta. In his radio address, he said he had learned more about the Middle East situation and the Jewish question from his five-minute talk with Ibn Saud than he has ever known. Roosevelt received Dr. Wise — through the back door: not as a member of a delegation but only as a personal friend. Roosevelt told Wise confidentially — very confidentially — of his conversation with Ibn Saud. "I failed dismally, Steve" and Mr. Roosevelt promised to try again and assured his friend Steve that he would continue his efforts on behalf of the Jewish Commonwealth in Palestine. Dr. Wise reported the conversation confidentially — very confidentially — to a select group of Jewish editors, exactly one day before the banquet in honor of Dr. Silver.

But it was evident from Senator Taft's address at that banquet and from Dr. Silver's address that there was nothing confidential about the conversation between Mr. Roosevelt and King Ibn Saud.

It was evident from Mr. Roosevelt's conversation with Dr. Wise that Mr. Roosevelt, though he perhaps never took Ibn Saud seriously as a person, he did, however, take seriously Ibn Saud's threats. In fairness to our late President, it must be emphasized that he did admire Jewish achievements in Palestine. Like many of his Jewish friends and advisors, he thought it was a "very fine thing." It may be said, unkind as it may sound, that in his failure to appreciate the revolutionary character of the Zionist Movement, Mr. Roosevelt had many counterparts in some of the so-called Zionist leaders in this country.

Furthermore, Mr. Roosevelt was a liberal. Liberals, as a rule, are loathe to admit that there is no solution outside of Palestine for the Jewish problem.

It was hardly to be expected for Mr. Roosevelt to be disagreeable to the Saudi who has so many powerful friends in the oil interests in this country and in our State Department, or that he should wish to antagonize either his own State Department or the British Colonial Office merely for the sake of a "very nice thing". Somehow, sometime, the way would be found to continue that "very nice thing" which the Jews are doing in Palestine.

It is natural for Gentile liberals to assume that the Jewish question could be solved outside of Palestine by the exercise and the extension of democratic freedom. It requires a great deal of education on our part to make them realize the incompleteness of their liberalism as applied to the Jewish question. Zionists in this country have neglected the task of educating Christian public opinion to the true nature of Zionism. No serious effort was made in that direction until a few years ago when a policy was evolved by Dr. Silver and Dr. Neumann. That policy might be described as based on three important factors: (a) The enlightened public opinion in this country which has to be informed; (b) The long-range true interests of this country in the Middle East as against the immediate short-sighted interest of the State Department and of the oil companies; (c) The realities of the American political scene with the contest between the various parties in their search of support by important sections of the American electorate.

Zionism as a Movement in this country ought not to tie up with any party; that while individual Zionists, as American citizens, may belong to any party and vote in any way according to their own rights, the Zionist Movement ought to treat the major parties in this country in the same way as the A. P. of L. does, as the C. I. O. does, as the Prohibitionists do, or any other important movement in this country which is not, and ought not to be, involved in politics.

It may be argued that not much good will be done in bringing up old wounds. But we must have a clear idea of the reasons why we failed and of the need for adopting bold measure if we are to salvage what there is still left of our historic public opinion in this country which has

Portuguese

At this point it would be a good idea to examine the traditional history taught in our Religious and Sunday Schools. The impression derived by the average urchin is that after the First Destruction of the Temple Jewry ceased to exist or was rather ineffectual in Palestine. But look at the record. After only a lapse of forty years the First Restoration occurred. By 516 B. C. the Temple was rebuilt. The vitality of the Jewish settlement in Palestine was never more apparent than in the quick rebound after a crushing disaster. Ezra and Nehemiah labored to reform the Jewish polity in Palestine. The Jewish state was now a theocracy. For a period of two centuries Palestine was part of a Persian satrapy. During this long period of gestation from 458 B. C. - 333 B. C. the Jewish nation and religion were remodeled. It was a time of intense spiritual work. The Persian rule was rather easy-going and two Jews were even satraps—Zerubbabel and Nehemiah. During this period the returned exiles became conscious of the spiritual individuality of Israel. This is indeed, a most significant period in Jewish history. During this period the Bible was, in part, committed to writing. The spiritual basis of Judaism was broadened and deepened. The Hebraic hold on Palestine was unquestioned.

The storm burst over the Middle East with the invasion of Alexander the Great. The mighty Persians were overthrown, and Alexander and his hungry hordes of Greek generals and assorted adventurers now became the rulers of the world. The decisive battle of Issus near Constantinople occurred in 333 B. C. The Greeks brought with them a set of customs and a culture which obtained the label of Hellenism. How closely the ideas spread by the Greek dynasties resembled the philosophy of Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle was a question. At any rate Hellenism as advocated by the Greek dynasties of the Ptolemies in Egypt and the Seleucids in Syria emphasized Emperor-Worship, devotion to paganism, and ostentatious mannerisms. However, Palestine, at first, fell under the sway of the Ptolemies, and their peaceful policies lured many Jews of the aristocracy and the upper classes into a support of Greek culture. Many a good Hebraic name became Jason or Alexander. Egyptian rule was succeeded by that of the Seleucid dynasty. The antics of Antiochus Epiphanes have been duly preserved for posterity. The policies urged by him on the Jews brought them face to face with the prospect of assimilation or death. The danger of death of the nation brought on the Maccabean revolt. This was a bitter life and death struggle in defense of a civilization and culture. Hellenism and the Hellenizers were defeated. The margin of victory had been close, but once again Jews had reasserted their claim to be the rulers of Palestine.

Unbroken Occupancy

The rapid growth of Jewish population in this era culminated in the reign of the Hasmonean princes. Some estimates have placed the Jewish population in Palestine in the neighborhood of 3,000,000. Evidence exists that Palestine supported a large population. The Hasmonean princes extended rule to include not only all Palestine but Lebanon, Ituria, and parts of Trans-Jordania. At the death of Alexander Jannaeus in 78 B. C. Jewish power was far greater than under King Solomon. Thus for 2,600 years there had been unbroken Jewish occupancy and for a long period dominance in Palestine.

The tentacles of the Roman Empire were extending towards Palestine. The Hasmoneans committed the fatal error of inviting Roman arbitration in one of their quarrels. This marked the beginning of their downfall. Profoundly irritated Jews were in no mood to submit lightly to Roman domination. Herod and Herod Antipater, at least, had Jewish coloration, but outright foreign domination was something else. The story of the Second Burning of the Temple and finally the last impassioned resistance at Massada in a period extending from 70-135 A. D. has been told again and again. Still, despite the great wars the Jews managed to remain in Palestine. Jerusalem was forbidden territory, but still they stayed in Palestine.

From 70 A. D. until 634 A. D. Palestine was under the rule of Rome and later that of Byzantium. In the latter year the great wave of Islam swept over Palestine and Byzantium was ousted. The Omaliyah and Abbasid Caliphs held sway over Palestine from 634 - 1071 A. D. It is during this period only that the Arabs held control of Palestine. And further it is noteworthy that the co-operation of Arab and Jew in Damascus, Cordova, and other great centers made these Arab cities citadels of learning in the desert of the Feudal Age. Through this beneficent work great treasures of learning were saved to be passed on to Europe when it awoke from the darkness of the Middle Ages. So at the one time Arabs really ruled Palestine. Jews reached great heights of prosperity and culture.

Middle Ages

The zeal of the Crusaders under Godfrey of Ibelion brought them to the Holy City of Jerusalem on July 18, 1099. A Latin kingdom was established. During this period there resided in Palestine Bedouins, Greeks, Normans, Italians, Franks, Bohemians, English and Scots. The mighty Saladin on October 1, 1187, became master of Palestine. The Latin Kingdom was foreign to the soil, was purely artificial, and was doomed to disappear with the first real opposition. The enlightened rule of Saladin, the ruler of Egypt, brought a ray of light to the hard-pressed Jews. To the Crusader the non-Christian was an infidel, and for the infidel it was either the sword or hopeless slavery. The Jews of Palestine were further heartened by the wise counsels of Maimonides, the physician to Saladin.

The traveller, Benjamin of Tudela, asserted only 1100 Jews were in Palestine about the year 1170, but when Saladin captured Jerusalem in 1187, the number of Jews ran into the thousands. The year 1211 found 300 Rabbis from France and England arriving in Palestine. In the 13th century the Jewish population had increased so rapidly that the Ecclesiarchate was revived. The noted Nachmanides in the year 1267 led a revival of colonizing and building. In the 14th century immigration of Jews into Palestine increased and has never since ceased. Political control of Palestine rested with the Mamelukes or Mongols from 1282 until 1517. In that year Selim became master of Palestine.

Record of Co-operation

The Holy Land was not as many people have thought a stagnant pool throughout the Middle Ages. At Safed there was a great school of the Kabbala. The scholar, Joseph Karo, the compiler of the Shulchan Aruch, lived and worked in Safed. The great Turkish prince, the Duke of Naxos, was an intimate friend of the Sultans, and he labored long over colonizing projects in Palestine. It must be strongly emphasized that until the eighteenth century Palestine was continuously a centre of Jewish culture and learning. A not inconsiderable population dwelt there.

At no time has there been a break in that long history of occupation of Palestine extending from Abraham in 2000 B. C. until today in 1945 A. D. The propagation of the idea that Jewish influence has not been felt in Palestine for two thousand years can be seen to be palpably rank nonsense. Zionism did not suddenly come from nowhere because Theodore Herzl became interested in it. It was merely that the idea received more publicity.

The studied attempt to foment hostility between Arab and Jew by various interested parties crumbles in the strong light of history. It has already been pointed out that both Arab and Jew not only lived amicably under the rule of the Arabic dynasties, the Omaliyah and Abbasid, but attained a considerable amount of culture and wealth. It can be seen that not only does recorded history indicate no great antagonism between Arab and Jew, but even more a record of brilliant co-operation. The modern Arab princelings might well read their own history for an illustrious example in statesmanship from their own revered ancestors.

The Zionist Organization might not find it amiss to issue a series of pamphlets and brochures covering the history of Palestine from the Second Destruction of the Temple until modern times. The entire subject is very much befogged. A great deal of present Arab propaganda would fall to the ground if the Zionist Organization would merely take the trouble to publicize the actual facts. A possible suggestion would be the production of a series of radio scripts based upon episodes of Jewish history in Palestine during this period. Such a demarche would bolster considerably many who are beset with doubt, as a result of reading stories that Jews are intruding in Palestine. How can anyone intrude in a country which he has never left?

Convention Adopts Militant Political Planks

The following resolutions were adopted after thorough debate by the ZOA Convention following the introduction of the proposed resolutions by Dr. Emanuel Neumann, Chairman of the Political Committee.

I THE AMERICAN SCENE

A. The 6th Annual Convention of the Zionist Organization of America expresses its profound appreciation to the Congress of the United States for having reaffirmed and authoritatively defined the traditional American policy of support for the Jewish National Homeland by the passage of the Concurrent Resolutions of December 17th and December 18th, 1945—an act of historic importance in the history of our Movement.

B. The Convention further expresses its sincere appreciation to the President of the United States for the steps which he has taken since August, 1945 to urge upon the British Government the immediate admission of 100,000 displaced Jews of Europe into Palestine and for his recent indication of sympathy for the idea of a Jewish State.

C. The Convention regrets that various officials of the Government of the United States have not only failed to give consistent and effective support to the policy defined by Congressional Resolutions and Presidential proclamations, but have, on various occasions both at home and abroad, acted in a manner contrary to that policy, thereby creating doubts in the minds of foreign governments concerning regarding the seriousness with which this policy is being pursued by the United States Government.

D. The Convention likewise expresses its regret that our Government has been induced to acquiesce in various suggestions of the British Government obviously designed to prevent or postpone action in accordance with the obviously declared American policies. At this late date, no progress whatsoever had been made regarding either admission of the first 100,000 displaced Jews into Palestine, or the opening of Palestine to Jewish immigration generally, or the setting up of a free and democratic Jewish Commonwealth.

E. The Convention therefore gives expression to the widespread feeling of disillusionment and profound disappointment experienced by millions of American citizens as a consequence of the failure of their hope to see heartening humanitarian pronouncements translated into effective action and the saving of thousands of human lives still languishing in despair. Clearly such pronouncements and declarations do not suffice. We cannot believe that the diplomatic resources of the United States have been exhausted, that its immense influence is of no avail and that our Government is helpless in the matter. On the contrary, we are convinced that immediate and important results will be achieved if the public pronouncements are backed up with the vigor and energy devoted to the carrying out of other measures and policies having the support of the Administration.

F. The Convention therefore respectfully calls upon the President and the Secretary of State to exercise the full influence of the American Government and take all appropriate measures, including the issuance of explicit instructions to all officials of the Executive Departments concerned with the matter, to the end that the objectives of American policy with reference to the Jewish refugees and the Palestine problem be swiftly accomplished.

G. Nothing can satisfy the public conscience save the early movement of displaced Jews into Palestine, the prompt cessation of British assaults on Jewish refugees and the halt to the repression practiced in Palestine.

II

CENTRALIZATION OF POLITICAL EFFORT

Experience has demonstrated the futility of treating the work of public relations, political action and political negotiations as distinct or separate efforts on the American scene. American Zionists have been deeply disturbed by conditions resulting from the existence of two agencies conducting political activity in the United States on behalf of the Zionist Movement. Without questioning either the authority and jurisdiction of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, we express the conviction that Zionist political efforts in this country cannot be successful without the fullest participation of American Zionists. Recent events have shown that the existing state of affairs is no longer tolerable without inviting irreparable harm to the Zionist cause.

Be it resolved, therefore, that all political efforts on behalf of Zionism in the United States must be centralized without delay in one authoritative, over-all body constituted

Political Resolution

The Annual Convention of the Zionist Organization of America reaffirms the historic claims and aspirations and the legally established rights of the Jewish people to Palestine. These rights which have been formally embodied in solemn international covenants apply to the whole of mandated Palestine, undivided and undiminished, as the territory in which the Jewish people shall reestablish its national existence as a free and equal member of the family of nations. Any further attempt on the part of the British Government, by unlawful, unilateral and arbitrary action to curtail or destroy these rights, or to deny to the Jewish people free access to any part of its National Homeland, will be resisted to the utmost by all sections of the Jewish people with the support of democratic forces the world over.

II

The tragic experiences of the past years, the unparalleled calamities which have overtaken the Jewish people, and the record of British maladministration in Palestine, have demonstrated beyond argument that the purposes underlying the Balfour Declaration and the Mandate can be fully realized only through the establishment of a Jewish State with ~~freedom~~^{equal} equality for all its inhabitants, irrespective of race and religion. Only the early establishment of a free Jewish State can guarantee free entry of Jews into their Homeland, full opportunity for colonization and economic development, security against oppression, and the attainment by the Jewish people of national freedom on their ancestral soil. These aims have received the sanction and support of the American people through expressions of public opinion, presidential declarations, the Anglo-American Convention of Palestine of 1924, the action of both major political parties in 1944, the Joint Resolution of Congress in 1922 and the concurrent Congressional Resolution of 1945.

The Convention directs the officers of the Zionist Organization of America and requests the delegates to the forthcoming World Zionist Congress to pursue a firm policy for the fulfillment of the legal rights of the Jewish people to Palestine and the early reestablishment of the Jewish State.

III

The Convention notes the failure of the London Conference on Palestine to achieve a solution of the Palestine problem. The course of the Conference to date and its adjournment for two and a half months without the slightest change in the status of Jewish immigration into Palestine, confirms the view that it represents a further dilatory device following a long series of delaying tactics invented by the British Government to deflect public criticism.

The wisdom of Jewish participation in the Conference is thus open to question. The Convention is confident that representatives of the Jewish Agency for Palestine will continue to decline in invitation to this or any Conference unless there is adequate assurance that the purpose of the discussion will be the implementation of the legally established rights of the Jewish people, the furtherance of immediate immigration and the early establishment of a Jewish State.

Such negotiations as may be entered upon by the Jewish Agency should be conducted in such a manner as to avoid any advance commitments on behalf of the Zionist movement. Any proposals which may be made by the British Government must, in accordance with Zionist procedure, be submitted prior to acceptance, to a regular or extraordinary session of the World Zionist Congress, such Congress to be held in the United States, or failing that, to a plenary session of the General Council of the World Zionist Organization which will be elected at the forthcoming Congress and which should be given the necessary powers to act on behalf of the Movement.

with due regard both to the interests and prerogatives of the Jewish Agency and the vital and indispensable role which must be played by the American Zionist Organization; and,

Be it further resolved, that the incoming officers and Executive Committee and the ZOA delegates to the forthcoming Zionist Congress be directed to take the most energetic and far-reaching measures that may be required to correct the present intolerable condition and insure the carrying out of such imperative reorganization.

III

RESOLVED: That the Government of Great Britain, by its illegal and tyrannical rule in Palestine and by the persistent disregard of its obligations under the Balfour Declaration, the Mandate for Palestine and the U.S.-British Palestine Convention of 1924, which documents constitute its sole authority for administering Palestine, has forfeited its moral and legal status in that country and that the British officers and troops in Palestine can no longer be considered as being there in any lawful capacity, but must be regarded as the agents of an occupying power whose control of Palestine is exercised in its own selfish interest and based on sheer naked force.

IV IMMIGRATION

RESOLVED: That the Annual Convention of the Zionist Organization of America sends its fraternal greetings to the Yishuv (the Jewish population of Palestine), engaged in a heroic effort to carry on its peaceful and constructive work in building a free and democratic Jewish State while being compelled to fight against the rule of its oppressors.

That the Annual Convention of the Zionist Organization of America expresses its admiration for the efforts of the uprooted and persecuted Jews of Europe to enter Palestine irrespective of the machinations and obstacles illegally put in their way by the British Government, and for the efforts of the Yishuv in endeavoring to secure the entry of Jews into Palestine in the face of illegal British interference, and pledges its full support to assist in these efforts;

That the Annual Convention of the Zionist Organization of America expresses its appreciation to those governments and private persons in various countries who give their cooperation to this life-saving work and refuse to abet the attempts of the British Government to make of them accomplices in its illegal and inhumane policy preventing the entry of Jews into the Jewish National Homeland;

That the Convention expresses the hope that all governments and free peoples of the world will give their continued and increased cooperation to the humane endeavor of Jewish immigration into Palestine even if the British Government should persist in its unlawful and cruel policies.

V

The Zionist Organization of America recognizes that the Yishuv (the Jewish population of Palestine) through its appropriate organs must be the decisive factor in determining the extent of its resistance to the illegal policies of the British Government and the forms which such resistance may take, and

Be it further resolved that insofar as the responsible elements of the Yishuv embark upon policies of non-cooperation or resistance, they shall receive the wholehearted support of the Zionist Movement, of the whole Jewish people and of freedom-loving people everywhere.

VI

RESOLVED: By the Annual Convention of the Zionist Organization of America that it is the sense of this Convention that

A. The efforts of the Zionist Movement to mobilize the governments and free peoples of the world against the illegal British policy in Palestine should be continued and intensified throughout the world, and that adequate provision should be made for this purpose in terms of personnel and budget; and

B. That special attention should be given, in the future, to the strengthening of the efforts of the Zionist Movement to carry its just cause to the peoples of Great Britain and the British Dominions.

VII

THE JEWISH AGENCY

In view of the possibility that proposals may be considered for the reconstitution of the Jewish Agency in the future to provide for the active participation of Jewish constituencies not directly affiliated with the Zionist Movement, the Convention urges that any steps towards such reconstitution be closely guided by the experience of previous attempts to achieve the same ends. The guiding principle, which in the opinion of this Convention is indispensable to such a successful reconstitution of the Jewish Agency and which must be observed in the interest of the Cause, is the principle of democratic representation to be applied to Zionists and non-Zionists alike. The representation of non-Zionists can and should be primarily effected through the recognition of established Jewish organizations representing large constituencies, associations or groups of organizations where such exist, such as the Jewish Board of Deputies in England and the American Jewish Conference in this country.

The representation afforded to various groups and organizations should be commensurate with the constituencies they represent. The discipline and internal organizations of Jewish community life in no country should be endangered or sacrificed by the grant of disproportionate influence in the Jewish Agency to small separatist or self-constituted groups which by their record have indicated an unwillingness to cooperate with the democratically organized forces in Jewish life.

VIII

RESOLVED: By the Annual Convention of the Zionist Organization of America that it is the sense of this Convention that the future Executive of the Jewish Agency for Palestine and of the World Zionist Organization should be composed in such a manner that, while representing the broadest possible coalition of parties and groups, it should reflect the determination of the Zionist Movement to proceed in accordance with the policies outlined in our political resolution.

IX

WORLD ZIONIST CONGRESS

A. The Convention regrets the repeated postponement of the sessions of the World Zionist

Congress originally scheduled to be held last August. It also notes that the National Administrative Council and Executive of the ZOA have repeatedly extended an invitation for the Congress to be held in the United States. It is more than seven years since a Zionist Congress was last convened and further delay in the present juncture of Zionist affairs can only result in confusion, an undermining of the democratic structure of the World Zionist Organization and an impairment of the authority of its Executive.

B. The Convention draws the attention of the World Executive to the current difficulties of international travel and to the need, in order to assure full attendance, of making all arrangements with regard to the forthcoming Zionist Congress betimes and in consultation with the major constituencies of the World Zionist Organization.

X

GENERAL ZIONISM

The Convention extends the hand of comradeship to the organizations of General Zionists in Palestine and in every part of the world and calls for a union of the forces of General Zionism and a pooling of their resources to the end that the integral and cardinal principles of the movement which they represent may be upheld through our united and sustained efforts at the forthcoming Zionist Congress.

The incoming officers and Executive Committee are directed to continue to extend every possible assistance to the General Zionists of Palestine and other countries in developing their constructive projects and strengthening their organizational activities. To that end it authorizes the Executive Committee to find the necessary ways and means for adequate financial support.

The Convention also recommends that the ZOA participate in the World Conference of the Confederation of General Zionists to be held on the eve of the Congress and be represented at the Conference by the delegates of the ZOA to the forthcoming Zionist Congress and/or by such other representatives as the incoming Executive Committee may designate for that purpose.

DR. SILVER CONFERRED WITH BEVIN ON PALESTINE; BRITISH AMBASSADOR PRESENT AT TALK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (JTA) -- British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, leader of the Zionist movement in the United States, conferred for one hour yesterday on the Palestine issue, it was learned in diplomatic circles here today.

The conference took place at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York where Bovin is attending the conference of "Big Four" Foreign Ministers. Lord Inverchapel, British Ambassador to the United States, was the only other person present at the meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20. (JTA) -- Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, president of the ZOA, today met with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin for the second time within a week, it was reliably learned here.

Dr. Silver came from Cleveland at the invitation of Bevin, conveyed to him by Lord Inverchapel, British Ambassador to the U.S. Lord Inverchapel was the only other person present at both conferences which took place in Bevin's suite at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. Today's meeting lasted close to an hour.

Dr. Silver has been unavailable for comment on these conferences, but it is reliably reported that the discussions were devoted to a clarification of the Palestine political situation and were conducted in a friendly atmosphere. There was a full and frank exchange of views between the Foreign Secretary and the Zionist leader.

In Zionist circles these talks were reported as "highly important." Significance is attached to the fact that the meetings followed each other closely and that Dr. Silver had come on the invitation of the British statesman who was apparently eager to discuss the political situation with the leader of American Zionist Organization who had been most outspoken in his appraisal of British policies.

Silver, Wise See Byrnes; Hint Palestine Talk

NEW YORK (JTA)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes met today with Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York and Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, presumably to discuss the problem of Palestine.

Byrnes earlier this month took over direct responsibility from President Truman for handling the United States discussions with Britain in the Jewish-Arab dispute.

The United States has urged immediate entry of 100,000 homeless European Jews to the Holy Land and has lent tentative approval to a plan setting up separate Jewish and Arab states in Palestine.

Byrnes announced previously that he would discuss the question with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin during the foreign ministers' council session here. Although he has seen Bevin privately on several occasions, there has been no indication that the Palestine problem has been taken up as yet.

Discusses Resumption of Conference on Palestine in London

Secretary of State Byrnes conferred yesterday with Zionist leaders, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver. Their talk concerned the whole situation in Palestine.

A particular point discussed was the possibility that the round-table conference resuming in London Dec. 16 might be delayed if the United Nations Assembly should continue in session at that time. The Zionist organization, which refused to attend the first round-table meeting, is seen to meet in Basle, Switzerland, to decide whether it will join in the next session.

ZIONIST LEADERS CONFER WITH SECRETARY BYRNES ON PALESTINE: FRANK DISCUSSION HELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. (JTA) -- American Zionist leaders today conferred with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on the Palestine question for the first time since it was announced in Washington that Mr. Byrnes has been authorized by President Truman to discuss the Palestine issue with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin who is now in this country.

Participating in the conference were Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, Dr. Stephen S. Wise and Dr. Nahum Goldmann. Mr. Bovin had been informed that a meeting with Byrnes was scheduled, during his second conference with Dr. Silver, which was held this week in the Waldorf Astoria at the invitation of the British Foreign Secretary. The three Zionist leaders had a full and frank exchange of views with Secretary Byrnes on various aspects of the Palestine problem.

Following the conference, Dr. Wise sailed on the Ile de France for Europe to attend the World Zionist Congress, and to participate in the first meeting of the European Consultative Council of the World Jewish Congress which will take place in Paris at the end of this month.

"I am hopeful that the British Government will see that there must be a Jewish State in Palestine," Dr. Wise said in a statement issued to the press in connection with his departure. "Either that, or the end of the British Mandate. At the same time, and even though the problem of Palestine be settled alright, our government and the Congress must face the fact of immigration of refugees into our own country."

"The truth that Palestine alone can solve the problem of Jewish displaced persons does not alter the obligation of the U.S. to welcome and give a home to Jewish immigrants," Dr. Wise continued. "President Truman has spoken on behalf of this. I believe the Republican Congress ought to take and will take the same position. Both great labor organizations have spoken in favor of immigration possibilities to be granted to refugees. It would be the decent and American way of dealing with certain aspects of this problem."

THIS time has come for me to put in my two cents' worth in some of the controversies of The Jewish Post that I have sat out. First, about partition, etc. I never could make out the sense of the Biltmore Program. I sat there in Biltmore Hotel four years ago listening to Ben Gurion's long harangue and the only thing that made sense to me at the time was the demand that the Jewish Agency be given control of Jewish immigration and colonization. What I could not make out was how you could have a Jewish Commonwealth or State in a country in which there are two nationalities.

Whether it was politically wise to adopt that program and to repeat it later at the first session of the American Jewish Conference, honestly I don't know. But I do know that Silver tried hard to work according to the Biltmore Program and the author of the same, David Ben Gurion, has not been too helpful. He preferred to work with people who were never enthusiastic about it. As I pointed out in these columns, Palestine is a bi-national country. What we want is the chance to increase the Jewish population without any artificial barriers put up there either by the British or by the Arabs.

Things have come to a pass now when the Executive of the Jewish Agency decided that the quickest way to attain our basic aim—increasing the Jewish population of Palestine—is to be given full control over an "adequate part" of Palestine in which we could establish a "viable" Jewish state with sovereign rights. Whether that was a wise decision or not, honestly I don't know. They thought it was worth trying.

WHAT IS "Viable" and what is "adequate"? Clearly 5 per cent of Palestine is better than 3 per cent, and it makes all the difference in the world how much you are going to get in the deal. It depends on whether you are going to get enough land to colonize more people and boundaries that will enable you to develop irrigation schemes.

For my money, it would still be a bi-national country, because even "a viable Jewish state in an adequate area of Palestine" will contain a substantial Arab population. But the advocates of the plan figure that, at least, it will mean less trouble with the British and the Arabs and you'll be able to start settling immigrants at a rapid pace.

I don't think a little Jewish state in Palestine will stay that way forever. Sooner or later the little Jewish state and the little Arab state will have to get together into some sort of federative plan. But that is not the immediate problem. The question now is what plan will get the most Jews into Palestine in the fastest time, and give them a chance to live a dignified life as human beings and as Jews.

NOW SUPPOSE a guy owes you the sum of five hundred dollars which is what you settled for instead of the two thousand he originally promised you. He refuses to pay, giving all sorts of excuses and calling you names and beating you up in the bargain. You figure out that if he pays you two hundred you can still do something with the money, say, start a little stationery store and maybe work it up to some real business. If you hold out for the full amount, there is the chance that your heirs and successors in law will have to collect it for you, while you are sound asleep in your grave. What are you to do about it?

Offer to settle for two hundred? What if the guy don't want to pay that either and just judges by the way you rush with the offer that you're a sap anyway and he don't have to bother paying you? How do you know what's in his mind?

One way of finding out is to ask a mutual friend to find out without committing yourself. Another way is to wait until he makes the offer. After all, if he knew how to chisel you down from two thousand to five hundred, he'll find a way of making the proposition about a ~~cash~~ cash settlement for two thousand.

Now what did the Jewish Agency in Paris do? It was in an awful hurry to make the offer of a cash settlement for cash, and to carry out the proposition, it sent to Washington and to London a fellow who is pretty sleek and pretty smart and knows how to pat a fellow on the back and tell good jokes, but it's a fellow what's always talking too much.

So this here Nahum Goldman came flying to Washington and then to London and everywhere he went he hired a brass band to tell the world we are ready to settle for two hundred on the original two thousand. Before long he became so excited over the proposition that he went up and down the countryside shooting off his mouth as to how better two hundred is than five hundred and as to how we haven't got those five hundred coming to us anyway. I never did hear of a diplomat shooting off his mouth did you?

What I cannot understand is this: why does he insist on shooting off his mouth? Who ever heard of a diplomat with a brass-band?

Incidentally, the Jewish Agency Executive has still to submit its decision to the Zionist Congress. The Zionist Actions Committee has met in the meantime, has taken cognizance of the decision of the Executive, but has not yet ratified it. So that this partition business still is in the same position as a treaty negotiated by the Secretary of State but not yet ratified by the Senate.

So why does Nahum go around talking of it as if it was final?

Truman Hit on Jewish Policy

Rabbi Silver Charges President "Falters"

Press 12-10-46

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 10—(U.P.)—Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, president of the Zionist organization in America, today told the twenty-second World Zionist Congress that U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes "understands the full gravity and urgency of the Palestine problem." He added that in recent weeks there were clear indications that Byrnes had "taken active charge of the matter."

"He has been personally conferring with Mr. (British foreign secretary) Bevin on the subject," the Cleveland rabbi said. "It is too early to say how firm and persistent he will be in pressing for Jewish rights in Palestine and for a just and early solution."

Dr. Silver, an advocate of establishing a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine, reported there were rumors that some opponents of the commonwealth plan had been won over to the idea of a partition "to a little Jewish commonwealth." He added that "we should make sure that they are indeed repentant and converted before we assign them with any responsible role in any negotiation which may involve the fate and destiny of the Jewish national home."

It was regarded as the keynote in a Z. O. A. campaign to gain a dominant role in the world movement and possibly to assure the election of Silver as president.

Silver said that both Truman and President Roosevelt gave "lip service" to Zionism. Truman, he said, "took a far more positive attitude than his predecessor," particularly in his recent rejection of King Ibn Saud's protest against Jewish plans for Palestine.

He outlined the Z. O. A.'s campaign against the Government policy and added: "American Zionists have succeeded in convincing the Government that the Palestine issue must become one of the main objectives for American foreign policy."

He said Secretary of State James F. Byrnes "understands the full gravity and urgency of the problem." But he added that it was too early to say how firm and persistent Byrnes would be in pressing for Jewish rights in Palestine and for a "just and early solution."

In the first test of voting strength, Chaim Weizmann, current president of the World Zionist Organization, was elected president of the congress. The vote was 191 to 48, with 136 abstentions.

Silver was the only American elected to the 15-man all party coalition presidium for the con-

22ND WORLD ZIONIST CONGRESS OPENED WITH PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS BY WEIZMANN

Address Avoide Partition Issue - Condemns Terrorists; Thanks Truman for American Aid to Cause. Emphasizes Claims for Jewish State.

Against a background of spirited pre-Congress concuses of all parties comprising the World Zionist Organization, the 22nd World Zionist Congress opened in the Kulturmesse in Basle Monday afternoon December 9th with a 50-minute address by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, President of the World Zionist Organization and of the Jewish Agency. More than 370 delegates from 61 countries as well as 2,000 guests including diplomats from various legations in Switzerland, overflowed the historic meeting hall in Basle where fifty years ago Herzl opened the first congress.

A Jewish Telegraphic Agency dispatch reports that Dr. Weizmann, in his address, appealed to the British Government either to carry out the provisions of the Palestine mandate "in the spirit and in the letter" or to surrender the mandate after first creating a "political finality" in Palestine by establishing a Jewish State. Dr. Weizmann bitterly charged Britain with being largely responsible for the annihilation by the Nazis of millions of Jews in Europe. If Britain had not kept the doors of Palestine closed to Jews, under its White Paper policy, many could have found refuge in Palestine instead of being asphyxiated in gas chambers, he stressed. At the same time, he pointed out that the Jews do not want to drive the British out of Palestine, but insist that they carry out the terms of the mandate which provide for the establishment of a Jewish National Home.

Dr. Weizmann made no direct reference in his 5,000-word keynote speech to the question of Jewish participation in the Conference on Palestine which will resume in London next month. Nor did he refer to the burning issue of partitioning Palestine into separate Jewish and Arab states. These two questions are the central points of interest at the Congress.

Condemns Terrorism in Palestine; Calls It "Moral Cowardice"

The aged Zionist leader scathingly condemned the use of terrorism in Palestine. Terrorist activities, he said, are alien to the Jewish spirit and an insult to Jewish history. "Jews came to Palestine to build, not to destroy," he pointed out. He denounced the "heroics of suicidal violence" and called for the "courage of endurance."

"Terrorist acts," he told the Congress, "apart from being morally abhorrent, are also barren of all advantage. They expose our hard-won achievements to the prospect of destruction, and they lead us to a bottomless abyss of nihilism and despair." He expressed the certainty that the Congress will support the efforts of the Jewish institutions in Palestine to combat the "vicious movements which threaten the good name of the Yishuv and its very survival."

Dr. Weizmann pointed out that he does not underestimate "the cruel pressures which have been at work" on the minds of Jewish youth in Palestine and have given rise to a feeling of despair. "It was the cruel destiny of our young generation," he said, "to see their kinsmen brutally murdered in Europe while they stood by helpless and impotent. The White Paper policy prevented them from rising to the rescue, and later that policy forbade them to receive the few survivors whom Providence had spared. In their native homeland, the country of the National Home, they found themselves excluded on racial grounds from all but five percent of the land."

Assures Arabs of Jewish Desire to Live With Them in Peace

Touching upon the question of Arab-Jewish relationship, Dr. Weizmann said that this relationship "is too often envisaged in terms of incompatibility and conflict." He reviewed Arab-Jewish relations since the period following World War I to prove that "it was not always so," and pointed out that the Arab people now possess seven independent states and that they have emerged unscathed from wars which have devastated the Jews.

"Before the whole world I have said that our work has brought no injury to the Arab peoples," he declared. "Against the sterile assumption of conflict, we set the higher conception of potential accord. We wish to bring Jewish effort into harmony with the wider interests of the Middle East. But if we are to do this, the respect which we give to the national rights of others must be recognized for us."

Dr. Weizmann pointed to the recent letter sent by President Truman to King Ibn Saud asserting that it is not against the interests of the Arab world to urge the immigration of Jews into Palestine and the recognition of the Jewish National Home. "I whole-heartedly concur in that opinion," he stated.

Thanks President Truman for American Aid to Zionist Cause

"I have mentioned the name of President," Dr. Weizmann continued, "and I would like to express here our deep appreciation for the sympathy and support which the President and the Government of the United States has consistently lent to our cause in these difficult days. Wherever American influence has been brought to bear on our problem - whether in treatment of our survivors in Europe or in the wider issues of preservation and development of the Jewish National Home - we have felt the great liberal impulses of that great country to be warmly alive. For all this, we are deeply grateful". The reference to the U.S. brought applause from the audience.

Dr. Weizmann, whose sight is now seriously impaired, read his address from a specially prepared manuscript in large type. On the platform seated behind him were, in addition to the other members of the world Zionist executive, representatives of the Swiss federal and cantonal governments and of the Basle municipality.

British Absent From Session; U.S. and Soviet Diplomats Attend

British representatives were conspicuously absent from the diplomatic gallery, but diplomats from 24 other countries were present, including United States Vice-Consul John A. Lehrn and I. F. Lunkow, First Secretary of the Soviet Legation. The British Consul in Basle sent a letter expressing regret on behalf of the British Minister to Switzerland, T.H. Snow.

A huge portrait of Dr. Theodor Herzl, father of political Zionism, dominated the assembly from the rear stage, flanked by huge blue-and-white flags. The session opened with the playing of Matikvah as the delegates stood at attention. They remained standing and cheering as Dr. Weizmann ascended the platform. He delivered a short greeting to Palestine in Hebrew, which was broadcast, and then introduced various Swiss dignitaries, including the mayor of Basle, who welcome the delegates.

Following their addressees, David Remez, chairman of the Jewish National Council, made a brief address on behalf of the Jews of Palestine, during which he invited the next Zionist Congress to meet in Palestine, "the land which Zionism created as a home for all Jewry." Replying, Weizmann said that he, too, hoped that the next Congress will be held in Jerusalem.

Speaking at tonight's session on "Fifty Years of Zionism," Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who was English secretary of the Second Zionist Congress, held in this city in 1898, called on the Jews of Palestine "to resist, resist, resist oppression of our brothers, but let no deeds soil the blameless record of our long, uncalled history." If the high moral standards of Zionism are forgotten, he warned, it will sink to "the level of rabble-rousing chauvinism."

Reviewing Zionist history, he said that "nothing worse befell us throughout two generations of resettlement than the White Paper; the failure to reject which out of hand was a terrible blunder by all of us," which, he added, "cost the lives of tens of thousands of Jews.

"It is barely credible that the British Government should in one generation descend from the heights of the Balfour Declaration to the depths of Yagour and Cyprusism," he continued. "Surely this government, which long stood as a friend of the Jewish people, will not be satisfied with the role of the betrayer o' Zionism."

Reaction to Weizmann's Speech Mixed, Cables Margoshes

Dr. S. Margoshes, in a cable from Basle to the Yiddish daily, The Day of New York, declares that "Dr. Chaim Weizmann's opening address was received with mixed feeling. However, all sections welcomed enthusiastically his statement that the logical conclusion of the Balfour Declaration must be the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine."

The biggest sensation was Dr. Weizmann's bitter attack upon the terror acts in Palestine. Opinions are divided as to whether Weizmann should have so sharply condemned the extremists. Weizmann's statement in this respect will possibly evoke a sharp debate at the Congress sessions. There was particular dissatisfaction with the remark in his speech that the fight of the Jewish heroes in defending Masada, the last Jewish fortress at the time of the second destruction of the Temple was a catastrophe in Jewish history, despite the great heroism by the Jewish fighters.

Weizmann presented a tragic figure when in a voice choked with tears, he described the sufferings of the Jewish people in the face of a hardened and indifferent world. Dr. Weizmann's greatest political supporters, the delegation of the Labor bloc, are divided, Dr. Margoshes cabled further. David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, is opposed to the re-election of Dr. Weizmann, while Joseph Sprinzak, also an important leader in Jewish Labor in Palestine, favors Dr. Weizmann's reelection. Margoshes States.

Locked Enthusiasm, Cables Fishman

Jacob Fishman, in a cable dispatch to the Jewish Morning Journal of New York, comments that the opening session lacked the usual enthusiasm which used to pervade the opening sessions of previous congresses. He attributes this to the seriousness of the Jewish position. Dr. Weizmann as usual, was received with a great ovation but the greetings of the high personalities and Jewish representatives in Basle were monotonous and took over an hour's time, Fishman says.

Fishman further reported that Weizmann began his speech at 5:30 P. M. and spoke an hour long under great strain because of his failing eyesight.

Silver Elected President of General Zionist Bloc

Dr. Abba Hillel Silver was elected president of the General Zionist bloc comprising 130 delegates. A. Alpern, in a cable to the Day, reporting on the debate between Dr. Silver and Dr. Goldman at the conference of the General Zionists prior to the opening of the Congress, states that following the conference, a discussion took place which lasted past midnight and which was led by Rabbi Irvin Miller, Abraham Goldstein, Isaac Gruenbaum, and Dr. S. Margoshes.

Basle, Switzerland - Dec. 9th. - ON EVE FORMAL OPENING WORLD ZIONIST CONGRESS IT IS ABUNDANTLY CLEAR THAT THE Z.O.A. IS SITTING PACE ON ALL FRONTS. THERE IS GENERAL RECOGNITION OF THE FACT THAT AMERICAN GENERAL ZIONISTS ARE AT PRESENT PRINCIPAL FACTOR IN THE DELIBERATION AND DECISIONS OF THE CONGRESS. IN MUSTERHUSSE, SITE OF CONGRESS, IN HOTEL LOBBIES AND IN STREETS AND SQUARES OF BASLE, CHIEF TOPIC OF CONVERSATION AND DISCUSSION AMONG DELEGATES OF ALL PARTIES IS THE ROLE AMERICAN ZIONISM SEEMS DESTINED TO PLAY HERE.

WITH THE CONVENING OF THE WORLD CONFEDERATION OF GENERAL ZIONISTS, WHERE ZOA REPRESENTS LARGEST BLOC, ON SATURDAY NIGHT DECEMBER 7th IN KLEINMASEL CASINO, SUCCESS OF ZOA'S POLICIES IS TO BE EXPECTED. THERE CAN BE NO DOUBT ZOA'S POSITION AS VOICED BY DR. SILVER HAS GAINED ADDED STRENGTH FROM WORLD CONFEDERATION.

AFTER BEING ELECTED PRESIDENT CONFEDERATION BY ACCLAMATION, SILVER DELIVERED AN ADDRESS SATURDAY NIGHT WHICH COINCIDED JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE'S ACTION REGARDING PARTITION AND WHICH CALLED ON CONGRESS TO REAFFIRM THE FULL ZIONIST PROGRAM. "PROCLAIM OUR FULL RIGHTS AND PRIORS FOR THIS". HE DECLARED, ADDING IT WOULD BE FOLLY TO PARTICIPATE IN THE LONDON CONFERENCE UNDER PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES.

REPORTS FROM CAUCUSES OF VARIOUS PARTIES INDICATE CLEARLY SOME MEMBERS OF JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE, WHO HAD ORIGINALLY INTENDED TO STAND FOURSQUARE IN FAVOR OF PARTITION IMMEDIATELY BEGAN TO REVISE TEXTS OF THEIR ADDRESSES FOLLOWING DR. SILVER'S SATURDAY ADDRESS AND ARE RECONSIDERING THEIR POSITIONS. THIS TREND HAS BEEN DESCRIBED IN MUSTERHUSSE CORRIDORS AS FOLLOWS, "SILVER SEEKS TO BE WRITING ALL IMPORTANT SPEECHES AT THIS CONGRESS".

UNDER THE LEADERSHIP OF EMANUEL NEUMAN, THE ZOA IS CARRYING FORWARD AN INTENSIVE PROGRAM OF EDUCATION AMONG DELEGATES. THERE IS A HEALTHY RESPECT EVERYWHERE FOR THE EFFECTIVE MAINTER IN WHICH EMANUEL NEUMAN AND OTHER MEMBERS OF ZOA HIGH COMMAND INCLUDING DANIEL FRISCH RABBI IRVING MILLER RABBI LEON FEUER AND OTHERS HAVE BEEN FIGHTING FOR ZOA'S POLICIES.

PRE-CONGRESS EVENTS

Throughout the whole week preceding the opening of the Congress, the atmosphere was charged with speculative reports on the issues and personalities linked with the Congress sessions. Out of the welter of statements, reports and rumors that flooded the press, there emerged three clear-cut issues which confronted the Congress as it officially opened its sessions on Monday afternoon, December 9th, with the Presidential address by Dr. Chaim Weizmann:

- 1) The composition of the World Zionist Executive and the presidency of the World Zionist Organization.
- 2) The partition issue.
- 3) The question of participation by the Jewish Agency in the London Conference on Palestine.

The 22nd World Zionist Congress was unanimously characterized - as expressed by the New York Times - as the most crucial political world gathering in Zionist history. A Jewish Telegraphic Agency dispatch from Basle stated that on the eve of the opening of the Congress, the battle-lines were sharply drawn between those who favored Jewish participation in the London Conference in January and those who opposed Jewish attendance.

The announcement by Secretary of State Byrnes that America would sit in on the talks, if the Jews agree to attend, has so far failed to sway opponents of participation. The question of attendance at the parley will - along with the major question of partition - be fought out on the floor of the Congress.

There is a deep cleavage of thought, the JTA dispatch continues. Dr. Weizmann is known to favor acceptance of the British invitation and believes that the Jewish negotiators should be given a free hand to act as they see fit to obtain maximum terms from the British Government.

Among the Laborites there is a strong difference of opinion on this subject. Moshe Shertok favors unconditional participation on any terms not harmful to the Zionist cause in order that a fight may be waged for a better plan than the Morrison-Grady scheme. David Ben Gurion, on the other hand, opposes unconditional participation and wants the Congress to leave the negotiations in the hands of the new executive which it will elect.

Americans Favor Attendance Only on Congress' Terms of Reference

Spokesmen for the American delegation said that they would insist that participation in the conference can be only on the basis of definite terms of reference adopted by the Congress. They added that they would oppose giving a free hand to the negotiators, if the invitation to attend is accepted.

The American stand on partition, as outlined last night by Dr. Abba Hillel Silver in an address to a conference of the General Zionists, was the subject of considerable discussion today. Dr. Silver strongly attacked the partition scheme, which he said "was not even offered to us." He declared that "for years we have carried on what amounts to unilateral negotiations by ourselves in order to please people who continually interpreted every concession on our part as a sign of weakness."

"It is important that the Congress disavow the action of the executive, and reaffirm the basic Zionist position," he added, "or else the opinion will continue to prevail that a partitioned Palestine represents the authoritative Zionist program. It would be folly to enter the London Conference with a partitioned Palestine as our maximum demand, even assuming that it would be tactically sound to attend," the IOA president concluded.

Prof. Selig Brodetsky, member of the World Zionist Executive, took issue with Dr. Silver. He stated that Silver failed to present in practical terms what is to be done. Brodetsky favored participation in the London Conference and called on the Congress to reiterate Zionist aims to the whole of Palestine. He also criticized Silver's reference to "so-called terror."

Dr. Nahum Goldmann, Jewish Agency representative in the United States, warned the meeting in blunt terms that the Zionists must be ready to compromise, since they cannot "by their present acts" force Britain to allow large scale immigration which would allow Jews to become a majority in five or ten years. He said that even friends of the Zionists in government circles were not prepared to recommend admission of 100,000 Jews without a final solution.

Sneh Attacks Goldmann

Dr. Goldmann's statement was bitterly attacked by Dr. Moshe Sneh, security officer of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, who charged that "men like Goldmann were dangerous because they depict a non-existent rosy world. The truth is that Britain does not seek a solution at all, but is following a policy dictated purely by strategic bureaucratic considerations."

For a compromise to be arrived at, Dr. Sneh said, there must be two offers, but at the moment, "we are alone." He demanded that the Zionists refuse to participate in the London conference and refuse to offer any compromises. "Why should Jews serve as an ornament to a British conference seeking an anti-Zionist solution?" he asked.

The security chief of the Jewish Agency, who was the target of a country-wide British manhunt last summer, demanded that the Congress call for an exodus from Europe of Jews who desire to go to Palestine. He urged resistance to the British, and accused the London representatives of the Jewish Agency of misleading the Jerusalem leaders by presenting a false picture of the realities of the situation in London.

Executive Holds Final Meeting

The outgoing Jewish Agency Executive held its final pre-Congress meeting in Basle on December 6th under the chairmanship of David Ben Gurion with all members from Palestine, Britain and the United States in attendance. Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, who resigned some time ago as a member of the Executive, did not attend.

There were also held other pre-Congress meetings including those of the General Zionist Workers (Haoved Hatzioni Haklali) and the General Zionist Youth Pioneers (Hanoar Hazioni), which were attended by Louis Lipsky, Dr. Israel Goldstein (who left New York by plane last Thursday), Daniel Frisch, Rebecca Sieff, Berl Schmorak and representatives of all territorial Federations of General Zionists. According to a Falcor dispatch, Zvi Hermann, reviewing the position of the General Zionist movement, disclosed that the Pioneer Youth had 130 training corps throughout Europe and overseas with thousands of organized members. Dr. Abraham Granovsky, head of the Jewish National Fund (Keren Kayemet) in Jerusalem, announced that the General Zionist workers are preparing to establish two new agricultural settlements in the Nazareth hills in northern Palestine and in the Negev, in southern Palestine.

Hebrew And English Official Languages At The Congress

The official languages at the Congress will be Hebrew and English. The spoken languages at the sessions will be mostly Yiddish, Hebrew and English, with a number of delegates speaking French, German, and Ladino, a Spanish-Yiddish jargon.

Report Weizmann To Retire

All the newspapers, both Yiddish and English, carried reports that Dr. Chaim Weizmann has indicated that he will not be a candidate "for any office."

Alvin Rosenfeld, special staff correspondent of the New York Post, cabled to his newspaper that "an associate of Weizmann's telephoned that statement from Legano where Weizmann is resting." "At 72, Weizmann is sick, tired and bent by the crushing blows to his people and by his personal tragedy—the death of his RAF pilot son."

A UP press dispatch from Basle, announcing that Dr. Weizmann is expected to retire from active leadership, reports that the followers of Dr. Abba Hillel Silver are expected to reaffirm a demand for an independent Jewish state consisting of all Palestine.

Rumors as to who is to succeed Dr. Chaim Weizmann are rampant. A Palcor dispatch, datelined Basle, December 4th, states that "rumors are current that Dr. Abba Hillel Silver will be proposed for the presidency but it has not yet been established whether the office of president will remain."

A later JIA dispatch states that a movement is under foot to elect Dr. Weizmann as honorary president, with David Ben Gurion president and Dr. Silver chairman of the Zionist Actions Committee, which is the supreme body of the World Zionist movement between Congresses.

A. Alpern associate editor of The Day, cabling from Basle, reports the American ZOA delegation is strongly for Dr. Silver to succeed Weizmann, but that the Labor bloc is opposed to him. The arguments of the American delegation run as follows: American Jews now represent one-half of world Jewry. American Jewry is the largest political and financial center and therefore deserves to play a commensurate role in the leadership. Furthermore, Washington should become the headquarters of the World Zionist Organization.

In London, en route to Basle, Dr. Emanuel Neumann, vice-president of the ZOA is quoted as having told reporters that "if, as assured, Dr. Weizmann will take the honorary presidency—as he has repeatedly indicated retirement from active presidency—then a new president will be elected by the Congress in Basle." The presidency, Neumann pointed out, has been held in unbroken fifty-year tradition by General Zionists, even when they were a minority group at the Congress. "Today", he said, "the General Zionists are the largest group, therefore they are entitled to the presidency. The idea of a triumvirate is interesting, but everyone realizes that it has serious disadvantages."

Composition of Executive

Further speculations as to the composition of the World Zionist Executive include a report that the leaders of the General Zionists offered a proposal that there would be no president of the Jewish Agency in the future, but a du-imvirato composed of a representative of the General Zionists and a Laborite. This proposal was said to be considered by the Laborite delegation which offered the following proposal:

Dr. Weizmann is to become honorary president, while the Executive is to be divided into three sections, each electing its own president. One section of the Executive would have its headquarters in Washington, the second in Jerusalem and the third in London. It is suggested that Dr. Abba Hillel Silver become the head of the American section of the Executive; David Ben Gurion be the head of the Jerusalem section, and Moshe Shertok, president of the London section.

This proposal was said to have been unfavorably received by General Zionist leaders and by the Mizrachi who contended that under this plan, the Laborites would retain two-thirds of the leadership in the Executive.

A Falcor dispatch of December 5th states that the Praesidium of the Zionist Actions Committee has considered a proposal for the reorganization of the Actions Committee with 45 instead of 71 members, thus enabling it to assemble more often. Of the 45 members, 23 would reside in Palestine where they would constitute a quorum on short notice whenever necessary.

A Basle dispatch reports that Revisionist delegates to the World Zionist Congress may be denied their seats unless they dissolve their "New Zionist Organization" which is not a part of the World Zionist Organization. This matter will be taken up at the World Revisionist Conference which opened Saturday night.

The Executive at its meeting last August, welcomed the return of the Revisionists to the Zionist Congress on condition that it liquidate the separate Revision organization, permitting the Revisionists to establish themselves as a faction within the framework of the World Zionist Organization as other parties have done. Under the constitution of the World Zionist Organization, no member or group is permitted to adhere to an independent organization outside the world organization.

ZOA Opposed to Paralax J.N.Y. Autonomy

At the world conference of Jewish National Fund which preceded the opening of the Congress, Daniel Frisch, chairman of the ZOA Administrative Council, stated that the ZOA is opposed to all plans which will harm the autonomous status of the J.N.Y. Representatives of more than 20 countries attended the conference which closed Sunday night with addresses by Dr. Stephen S. Wise and Mrs. Moses P. Einstein, president of Hadassah.

Yiddish Press on Congress

On the day of the opening of the Congress, the greetings of American Jewry were extended in editorials published in the New York Yiddish dailies, "Jewish Morning Journal" and "The Day". Declaring that the eyes of the Jews throughout the world in the forthcoming few weeks will be focused on Basle, the Jewish Morning Journal in an editorial declared:

"The Congress will have to uproot the spirit of defeatism which has begun to penetrate certain Zionist circles and will also have to put an end to appeasement which is usually a by-product of defeatism. While we should always stand ready to receive offers from the Mandatory Power and should not reject the possibility that such offers will be made, it must at the same time be made clear that the Attlee-Bevin government has launched an attack upon us and that we have as yet not received any indication that it is ready to retreat from its anti-Zionist policy.

"The recent statement by Secretary of State Byrnes should serve as new proof that the Labor government has as yet, made no concession. While Byrnes repeats President Truman's statement that America supports the partition plan in Palestine, Bevin does not go beyond a promise that the forthcoming Palestine conference in London will be gracious enough to listen to all proposals which will come from Jews and Arabs.

"The Zionist Congress in Basle will have to act so as to prevent Zionism from being enmeshed in a net of political intrigue and obstruction and that the partition plan proper which emanates from the Jewish Agency - and regarding which Jewish public opinion is divided - should not be the trap into which we should fall and thereby be exposed to England's continued deception, as was the case heretofore. A clear-cut program and a properly effective leadership to direct Zionism in the future, are the two main conditions for the success of the present Congress in Basle.

The Day voices the prayer that Basle, over which hovers the illuminating and immortal figure of the creator of Zionism, Theodor Herzl, should sound a clarion call for the strengthening and consolidation of the forces of Jewry and that its light should light the way of our people and lead us out of the wilderness in which we find ourselves. The eyes of five and a half million Jews in America and of the remnants of European Jewry are directed at the Congress. May the spirit of Zion in Jerusalem attend your deliberations for in your hand lies the fate of the Jewish people and the future of the Jewish Homeland.

The delegates of the Mapai Labor Organization in Palestine feel very disappointed at the attitude of the British Labor Party toward the Congress. Not a word of greeting on the part of the British Labor Party was sent.

61 Countries Represented At Congress.

A total of 380 delegates from 61 countries are participating in the Congress deliberations. Of these, 120 are from U.S., 79 from Palestine, 16 representatives of displaced persons camps in Germany and Austria, 17 from France and French protectorates, 14 from Poland, 10 from Hungary, 10 from the British Isles, 7 from the Union of South Africa, 9 from Canada, 4 from Italy, and about 30 from various South American countries.

It has been reported that there are over 300 newspaper representatives from all over the world covering the sessions of the Congress.

FIVE-DAY GENERAL DEBATE FOLLOWS ADDRESSES BY WEIZMANN, SILVER AND BEN GURION

NEUMANN OPENS DEBATE WITH ATTACK ON PARTITION PLAN

Neumann Warns Against Jewish Participation in London Conference. — Supports Rajanah

Report Agency Executive Retreats From its Partition Plan

Dr. Emanuel Neumann, Vice-President of the ZOA and Chairman of its Interim Committee opened the full dress political debate at the World Zionist Congress with a scathing attack upon the partition plan proposed by the Jewish Agency Executive which he charged "has abandoned the principle of a Jewish state in an undivided Palestine."

In what was considered one of the greatest speeches of his career — a speech which was frequently punctuated by applause — Dr. Emanuel Neumann warned against the participation of the Jewish Agency in the London Conference on Palestine, asserting that the conference should be regarded "as a maneuver of the British Government designed to promote its own basically anti-Zionist policy."

The debate opened by Dr. Neumann followed addresses of Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, who indicated his opposition to the partition scheme and by David Ben-Gurion, who agreed that the Zionist movement should not propose any partition plan to the British government, but should be amenable to an acceptable compromise.

A J.T.A. dispatch reports that Dr. Neumann in his speech charged that the "new line" adopted by the executive at its conference in Paris was a failure without any results to justify it. "The executive experimented and its experiment failed," he said. They speculated on the hope that a compromise would be accepted and they lost. It was a costly experiment. The Zionist movement will continue to pay a heavy price for it in many ways.

Criticizes Submission of Partition Plan to U.S. Government

As far as the governments of the United States and Britain are concerned, Dr. Neumann continued, the executive presented the partition plan to them as an expression of the Zionist policy. "If this policy is to be changed now it means that new methods are to be applied and new men elected," he declared.

The partition plan has not been accepted by the British as a basis for discussion, nor does it find favor with the Arabs, Dr. Neumann pointed out. He added that if some Arabs are inclined to accept the partition scheme, they are "discreetly silent" about it. "The Arab official position is as inflexible, as adamant as before," he asserted.

Discussing the question of participation in the London Conference, Dr. Neumann stressed that the Zionist movement had once before accepted an invitation to a round table conference in London, which resulted in the issuance of the White Paper. He also cited the report of the Anglo-American inquiry committee whose recommendations the British Government refused to accept.

"We have not declared war against the British people," he stated, "but we must frankly recognize the fact that Britain is waging a war against the most vital interests of the Jewish people."

Urge Shifting of Zionist Headquarters to Non-British Country

Pointing out that the Zionist movement has not dissolved and does not intend to dissolve its historic association with Britain, but cannot behave as if nothing had happened since the Balfour Declaration, Dr. Neumann declared: "Britain will understand if we say that no Zionist executive will ever be elected by the Congress to participate in the liquidation of the Zionist movement. We cannot change our policy to follow exclusively a British orientation."

The American Zionist leader said that the time may have come to symbolize the change in the relations between Britain and the Zionists by shifting the center of Zionist political activity to a country which is not under a British flag. At the same time, Dr. Neumann told the Congress that the recent statement issued by U.S. Secretary of State Byrnes urging Jews to attend the London Conference on Palestine was an attempt to make the Zionists agree to unconditional participation in the parley.

Discussing Jewish resistance in Palestine, Dr. Neumann said that the Yishuv itself must determine the form that the resistance should take and the point to which it should be carried. "If responsible elements in the Yishuv are engaged in a struggle not for themselves, but for the sake of all people, we intend to back them to the limit and to extend them every moral and material assistance," he stated.

Cabling to the New York Herald Tribune John Cabot Smith, special staff correspondent at Basle of that paper reports that Neumann in his address said that through Rabbi Silver's dynamic leadership the Zionists in the United States are transforming the traditional American sympathy for the Zionist cause into "an active political factor." American Zionism has "forged a powerful weapon in our struggle for liberation," he said.

Neumann criticized the recent statement by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on the subject as "directed more toward us than the British." He added: "Byrnes has been lending his co-operation to British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in their efforts to get us to the conference, without insisting on the conditions which our Executive had made. Byrnes joins Bevin in advising us to waive that condition and come along without it." Neumann commented that constant pressure is necessary to overcome the inertia of the American State Department and force it to follow a pro-Zionist policy.

Bargaining Power

The strength and bargaining power of the Zionist cause, Neumann said, came from three factors: "The growth of the Jewish community in Palestine in numbers, armed strength and organization; the terrific pressure of the desperate plight of the surviving Jews in Europe, and the unprecedented power and influence of the United States in world politics."

"This fact," he continued, "coupled with the rise of Soviet Russia to a power position of the first magnitude, has made Great Britain dependent on the political support of America to a much greater extent than ever before. The Jewish community in the United States is large and not without political influence in public affairs."

He asserted that for the first time since Britain issued the Balfour Declaration under the stress of World War I there is at least a "favorable constellation of political forces" which the Zionists can take advantage of for bargaining purposes.

He insisted on the importance of continuing the "struggle and resistance" against British policy in Palestine, and said it is up to the Jewish community in Palestine to decide "the forms which its resistance must take, and the point to which it should be carried."

Neumann's speech was the first of many answers to the statement of policy made by David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive last night. Neumann respectfully but firmly pointed out that Ben-Gurion had not made his meaning unequivocally clear, and said he 'gathered the impression' that Ben Gurion's policy meant a return to the demand for Jewish rule over the whole of Palestine, abandonment of the proposal for partitioning Palestine and rejection of the British-sponsored Morrison Plan for a federated Palestine.

Partition Plan Dead

The Herald Tribune staff correspondent comments that "However equivocal the speeches of Ben-Gurion yesterday and of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, on Monday, it is impossible to escape the conclusion that the partition plan, as advanced by Weizmann in August, is now dead, at least as far as the World Zionist Organization and its subsidiary agencies are concerned. At the same time Ben-Gurion and Weizmann are trying to keep open the possibility of attending the London conference. To Neumann, Rabbi Silver and their followers the London conference is useless, if not actually dangerous."

"Ben-Gurion adheres to the Weizmann formula of a 'viable state in Palestine' to the extent of saying that if the British government proposed such a compromise the Jewish Agency might consider it, provided that a large enough area was offered to the Jews and that Jewish immigration into the rest of Palestine was allowed to continue freely."

The New York Times correspondent reports that Neumann said American Zionists' views were identified with Hajjnah. He said American Zionist felt themselves part of the "resistance movement" whose aim was to extend and strengthen the Zionists' position in Palestine and bring hundreds of thousands of Jews into the country by all means while maintaining a political offensive outside Palestine to obtain statehood recognition. He called for new men and new methods to lead the Zionist movement, which, he said, must eliminate "Vichy defeatism in favor of the Dunkerque spirit".

General Debate

The general debate will be mostly devoted to the crucial issue of the partitioning of Palestine as proposed by the Jewish Agency Executive. The JIA reports that while the General debate continued the various delegations were holding special party conference to hammer out their stand on the many critical issues facing the Congress.

While the Canadian and American Poale Zion delegates voted to support the partition plan of the Executive, the meeting of the Mizrachi delegates was marked by sharp clashes on the question of partition and the composition of the executive. Rabbi Meir Berlin, Mizrachi leader now in Palestine in a letter to the Mizrachi delegates urged unmodified rejection of partition in any form and demanded support for revamping of the Executive to include new personalities and allocation of seats on the basis of party strength. He also opposed placing JIF funds under the control of the Jewish Agency.

Opposing this program is the 71 year old Rabbi Judah L. Fishman, Mizrachi member of the World Zionist Executive who favors the Executive's present policies. Rabbi Fishman said he would not be a candidate for office again and this was his farewell speech.

Labor Mizrachi Stand

The Hapoel Hamizrahi, the labor Mizrachi, at a meeting, heard Moshe Shapiro, head of the organization and its representative on the Zionist Executive, propose a political platform which would reject the Jewish Agency's position on partition and return to the demand of the 20th Congress in 1937, which called for a Jewish State.

At a meeting of Revisionist delegates, speakers declared that Revisionists will not assume responsibility for the policies of the Jewish Agency Executive and will continue to fight, with the Zionist movement and at the Congress, for the election of a Jewish government-in-exile, a JIA dispatch reports.

A further dispatch reports that prior to the opening of the general debate, Ben Gurion addressed a meeting of all laborite delegates at which he pleaded for unity and urged the creation of a united front at the Congress of the Palestine Labor Party, the L'Achduth Avodah and the Hashomer Hatzair. He stressed the serious external and internal political situation of the Zionist movement, and urged the two opposition groups within organized Palestine labor to join at the Congress with the Mapai, the Labor Party, of which he is the leader.

Hashomer Hatzair Adament

Delegates of the Hashomer Hatzair expressed their reluctance. They emphasized that they cannot join with the Mapai unless Ben Gurion comes out clearly against partition and until he is ready to pledge that he will not favor unconditional participation in the London talks on Palestine. All indications point to the fact that the Hashomer Hatzair leaders will not retreat from these demands.

Criticism of Dr. Nahum Goldmann for having submitted the partition plan to the U. S. Government was voiced by some of the laborite delegates but Ben Gurion defended Dr. Goldmann's mission. He pointed out that it was undertaken with the authorization of the Agency's Executive. If the mission failed, he argued, it was a failure that all members of the Executive should share, and if it was a success, the whole Executive should share the credit. He made clear that he strongly believed that the mission was a success.

Report That Executive Has Retreated From Its Position

The Jewish Morning Journal of Dec. 12 carries a special dispatch from Murray Frank, its Basle correspondent, in which he states that the Executive of the Jewish Agency has decided to ask the Zionist Congress not to discuss the partitioning of Palestine, but to approve the demand for a Jewish State. "The Agency Executive thus wants to nullify its decision, taken at its Paris meeting, favoring a viable Jewish State in an adequate area of Palestine."

"This decision by the Agency Executive is a retreat from its previous position."

However, the dispatch further reports that the Agency Executive has decided to ask the Congress that authority be given to the incoming Executive to decide on participation in the London conference. The Agency Executive wants the Congress not to adopt any conditions for such participation but to give discretion to the Executive.

Silver Proposed As Head Of Triumvirate

Another dispatch by Morris Zak to the Jewish Morning Journal of New York states that the main issue in the debate will be the composition of the Jewish Agency Executive. Zak reports that he has learned from reliable sources that the followers of Silver will demand that Dr. Nahum Goldmann be withdrawn from Washington, although they will not oppose his election in the Executive.

The dispatch further states that speculation is rife as to whether Weizmann will again become President of the Agency. Zak reports that he has learned that Weizmann has expressed his willingness to remain President. He further reports that Weizmann, however will probably not be able to accept the presidency because he would have against him a considerable minority which would, on one hand, be embarrassing to him and would, on the other hand, bind his hands.

The dispatch further reports that there is a strong sentiment that a praesidium of the Agency, with Dr. Abba Hillel Silver as chairman, be elected. The carrying out of such a plan is dependent upon the Labor group at the Congress, since Dr. Silver would not accept the chairmanship of the triumvirate should the Labor faction fail to support him.

Sneh Says Ben Gurion Fell in Line with Silver

A. Alpern, in a cable to the Yiddish daily, The Day, of New York, reports that in a interview, Dr. Moshe Sneh, member of the Jewish Agency Executive, stated that Ben Gurion, by abandoning the partition formula offered by the Jewish Agency Executive, has come around to the viewpoint of Dr. Abba Hillel Silver.

Leo Gelmar, President of the Mizrachi of America, stated that Ben Gurion's rejection of the partition formula should be a source of satisfaction to all devoted Zionists. Alpern further reports that, on the whole, Ben Gurion's speech against the partition plan has stunned his followers and aroused great joy among the opponents of the present World Zionist leadership.

On the other hand, Margoshes cables to The Day that Dr. Isaac Gruenbaum, member of the Jewish Agency Executive, stated to him that Ben Gurion's change of mind will have an adverse effect on England. Gruenbaum contends that the British Government may interpret Ben Gurion's change of mind as an indication that the Zionist leadership is not clear as to what it wants in relation to Palestine. Berl Locker, Laborite and political representative of the Agency in London, defended Ben Gurion. Locker stated that Ben Gurion's address was not correctly understood. Locker maintains that Ben Gurion still adheres to the same standpoint as the Agency Executive.

Margoshes further reports that Daniel Frisch, member of the ZOA Administrative Council, termed Ben Gurion's opposition to the partition plan as a belated return to true Zionism. Frisch emphasized that there can be no excuse for Dr. Weizmann's and Ben Gurion's bitter attacks upon so-called terrorism in Palestine and for their mild expressions in regard to England's actions.

THE ZOA PROGRAM BASED ON THE RESULTS OF THE RECENT CONVENTION AT ATLANTIC CITY HAS MADE A DEEP IMPRESSION ON THE DELEGATES TO THE CONGRESS.

SECOND DAY HIGHLIGHTS: ADDRESSES
BY SILVER, BEN GURION AND WISE

The second day of the World Zionist Congress was highlighted by a militant one-hour address delivered by Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, head of the Z.O.A. delegation and president of the General Zionist bloc of 130 delegates, in which he denied the assertion that President Truman committed the United States to the partition proposal of the Jewish Agency. The speaker added that all that President Truman said was that the U.S. government will support a compromise between this proposal and the British "federalization plan."

Another keynote speaker at Tuesday's session (December 10th) was David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, who opposed "placing Palestine under trusteeship as this would bring the Jews no nearer to a Jewish state than the mandate did." He asserted that a Jewish state in Palestine is the only guarantee of peace in the Middle East.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise who also spoke at this session, called upon Britain "as an old friend of the Jewish people" not to be satisfied with "her role of the betrayal of Zionism and to either cancel the White Paper immediately or relinquish the mandate entirely."

Speaking in the morning session, Dr. Silver reviewed the activities of American Jewry. He made it clear that he did not intend for the present, to embark on a discussion of the position of American Zionists on "the partition proposal presented in Washington by a representative of the Jewish Agency, but would reserve that for a later session."

According to a Jewish Telegraphic Agency dispatch, Dr. Silver in his speech said:

"It is too early to say how firm and persistent Secretary of State Byrnes will be in pressing for Jewish rights in Palestine and for a just and early solution of the Palestine problem," he declared. The Secretary of State, however, now understands "the full gravity and urgency" of the Palestine question, Dr. Silver added. He praised Truman for dealing forthrightly "for the first time" with the "unwarranted intervention" of King Ibn Saud in the Palestine issue.

Audience Applauds Silver's Opposition to Partition Plan

A statement by Dr. Silver that many Zionists regarded the partition proposal of the Jewish Agency as "an error in judgement" and that this proposal was presented in "most unfortunate way" was a signal for a short demonstration by part of the audience, which stamped its feet and applauded. The delegates also applauded when he warned against trusting "constant unrepentant sinners" with the task of negotiating on Palestine.

"The establishment of a Jewish state in our time is the only conceivable recompence of any that can be conceived at all for the slaughter of 6,000,000 Jews," he said. Referring to the recent announcement by Byrnes that the United States will send an official observer to the London Conference on Palestine if Jews and Arabs participate in the parley, Dr. Silver said that the Byrnes statement was made "made seemingly with an eye on the World Zionist Congress," and was not very revealing.

The leader of the American Zionist movement blamed American Jewish organizations for their failure to convince the American Government of the necessity of removing Jews from Europe immediately after the war. Simultaneously, he criticized "the inadequate efforts of the U.S. Government in solving "the greatest humanitarian problem in modern history." The United States, he said, could admit 250,000 Nazi and Fascist war prisoners, but not its Jewish allies.

The cooperation of all Zionist groups in the American Zionist Emergency Council was lauded by Dr. Silver. He also praised the work of the American Jewish Conference saying that it triumphed "over the vestigial oligarchy of self-appointed Khaz-Juden."

A dispatch to the New York Times by Julian Louis Meltzer reports that Dr. Silver, in his address, strongly criticized by implication what he called the Truman Administration's failure to tackle "the greatest humanitarian problem in modern history, that of rescuing millions of men, women and children from mass extermination."

Speaking about the alleged mass murder of Jews through the absence of any "appreciable exertion to rise above the quiddities of technicalities and barriers of routine," he asserted that the United States shared the blame for this. It did not open its doors wide to rescuing numbers of trapped persons and did not offer even temporary asylum for numbers commensurate with the enormity of the tragedy, he noted.

He made these additional points: "There has been a growing knowledge of Zionism in the Jewish youth of America, many of whom have been stirred by events of recent years, and American Zionists have impressed on their Government the fact that the Palestine issue is not peripheral and cannot be treated lightly but must become a major objective of American foreign policy."

Alvin Rosenthal, in a dispatch to the New York Post, reports that Silver lashed out at America's war-time record on the Jewish problem. "America found it possible to transport to the United States more than 250,000 Nazi and Fascist prisoners. It did not find it possible to do as much for the Jews who were its friendliest allies." Silver was no less scathing in his attack on the Roosevelt administration which made "no representation whatsoever to the British Government."

Another dispatch from the United Press reports that Dr. Silver said that American Jews supported the resistance campaign against "illegal" British rule of Palestine. The U.P. further reports that Dr. Silver "told the cheering, stamping delegates" that the Zionist Executive had made an "error in judgment" in accepting the principle of partition of Palestine into Jewish and Arab states. He said all Palestine should be turned over to the Jews and denied that such a demand was extreme. The present British rule in Palestine is not in accord with the terms of the League of Nations mandate and hence is illegal. Dr. Silver said, "We have the right to resist this rule and I pledge the support of American Jewry to this resistance."

Ben Gurion Calls for Jewish State

David Ben Gurion, in his address, made a vigorous appeal for the creation of a Jewish state. According to a Palcor dispatch, Mr. Ben Gurion declared that the Jews must fight now for the immediate establishment of a Jewish state, but warned simultaneously against "those who acquire a pound of dynamite and hope thereby to foist their will on the country." Mr. Ben Gurion, leader of Jewish Palestine's Labor movement, lashed out against the British Labor Party, particularly Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, asking: "How should Jews regard this man who now implements the White Paper policy in view of his statement in 1939 "that the White Paper was a cynical breach of faith."

Mr. Ben Gurion asserted that a Jewish State in Palestine is the only guarantee of peace in the Middle East. The Jews he said want only to work and live in peace with the Arab, he added, declaring that a Jewish State would bring the "Four Freedoms" to the Arab peoples of the Middle East. He outlined the aims of the Jewish State as follows:

- 1) To bring in all Jewish survivors in defiance of the White Paper; 2) To develop Palestine's resources to their fullest; 3) To abolish poverty among Jews and Arabs in the Middle East particularly the Arabs of Palestine by a complete industrial and economic transformation; 4) To give the Jews representation on international councils.

He then listed the weapons with which the Jews will fight for their State:

1) Immigration, which, Mr. Ben Gurion declared is a spontaneous movement, not an organized drive; 2) Colonization, regardless of restrictive laws. As an example, he referred to the recent colonization drive in the Negev; 3) Global propaganda, pressure on governments and the marshalling of public opinion the world over.

Mr. Ben Gurion denied "absurd, erroneous" rumors that a Jewish State would be a theocracy, a state in which all Jews the world over would have to be citizens, or a state in which the Jews would be the only citizens, denying rights to minority groups. It goes without saying, he asserted, that a Jewish State could arise only in a regime of democracy and complete equality of rights, civic, religious, political and national, regardless of race, religion or sex.

The New York Times' dispatch quotes Ben Gurion as having insisted that any proposals for partition in Palestine would be considered by competent Zionist institutions only if they came from Britain. Jews will not make overtures to Britain, he said.

John Cabot Smith, correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, in a dispatch from Braila states: "Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver and David Ben Gurion, chairmen of the Jewish Agency Executive, expressed themselves in favor of defying Britain, and after Ben Gurion's speech there was little doubt that the Congress would ever permit the Jewish Agency again to discuss the partition of Palestine.

"For Rabbi Silver the occasion had special significance, because his policy of abandoning any hope for Britain's willing cooperation is based on the assumption that the United States government will force Britain's hand and will take Britain's place as the outstanding champion of Zionism among the world powers."

Weizmann Heads Praesidium of Congress

A praesidium of 16, headed by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, was elected to direct the sessions of the Congress. His election was marked by sharp clashes, with Revisionist delegates bitterly attacking Weizmann, charging that his policy had brought the movement to its present "catastrophic situation," a JTA dispatch reports. The Mizrachi delegates abstained from voting. Dr. Weizmann was elected as head of the praesidium by a vote of 191 to 45. The American members of the praesidium are Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, Mrs. Judith Epstein, president of Hadassah, Chaim Greenberg, Labor Zionist, and Joseph Shachman, United Zionist Revisionists.

Hints Delay in Jewish State

A further JTA dispatch states that a cryptic statement by Dr. Weizmann during memorial services for the six million Jews martyred in Europe, aroused considerable speculation among the delegates. Reviewing the martyrdom of Jewry in its struggle to a national life in Palestine, he said: "Be strong. Remember we are going to have a Jewish state, if not in my generation, then in yours." Some observers interpreted the statement as an indication that the Zionist leader did not expect that present demands for a Jewish state will be realized, the dispatch adds.

Comments of Yiddish Press

A. Alpern, cableing to the Yiddish daily, "The Day," of New York reports that Dr. Silver's speech was listened to with great attention, as he is head of the American Zionist movement criticized the United States government for having in the midst of the most overwhelming Jewish tragedy in Europe preoccupied itself with the Intergovernmental Refugee Committee.

Both the English and the Yiddish press have given great prominence to Dr. Silver's address.

Alpern reports that Dr. S. Margoshes, member of the ZOA delegation, was among the first American delegates to participate in the General Debate on Dr. Weizmann's address. Dr. Margoshes criticized Dr. Weizmann for having failed to voice sharp condemnation of England's action in imprisoning the leaders of the Jewish Agency, "a sense of condemnation which every Jew felt."

Weizmann's Election

Jacob Fishman, cabling to the Jewish Morning Journal of New York, dwells at length on the incidents attending the election of Dr. Weizmann as head of the Congress praesidium. Fishman expresses the view that "many of the delegates believed that the election of Dr. Weizmann as head of the praesidium of the Congress implies that he will be re-elected as president of the World Zionist Organization, as he is the only figure upon whom all conflicting factions can unite." Fishman adds that the Mizrachi and the General Zionists hold in their hands the key to the situation. Fishman reports that Dr. Silver's address was well received. "His review of American Zionist events for the past years and his statements regarding the growth of the responsibilities of American Jews were incontrovertible facts, known to all. When it came however to his statement regarding the controversies within the American Zionist Emergency Council, he dealt somewhat too strongly with Dr. Wise's administration," Fishman comments.

Ben Gurion's Statement on Partition Questioned by Delegates

The Jewish Morning Journal, in a special cable, reports that Ben Gurion's statement on the partition plan aroused a storm among the delegates. Some of them interpolated "If you agree to the partitioning of Palestine, why don't you state so in clear terms?"

Ben Gurion continued: "At the present moment there exists no compromise which we are prepared to consider. We therefore have no alternative but to stand steadfast upon our full legal and historic right."

Levde Weizmann's Speech

The Yiddish daily, The Day, in an editorial of December 11th, comments in warm terms on the address of Dr. Chaim Weizmann. "He spoke as a true statesman and he formulated Jewish demands relating to Palestine clear and convincing," the editorial says.

New York Post's Alvin Rosenfeld, reporting on the beginning of a gruelling five day General debate, comments that "to some observers it was significant that Ben Gurion called for "establishment of Palestine as a Jewish State" only a few hours after Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, president of the Zionist Organization of America and battering-ram of the opposition to the present Agency leadership, demanded a "Jewish State in the whole of Palestine" and sharply criticized the Agency's strategy in putting forward partition.

"Ben Gurion, however, indicated he was willing to negotiate on the basis of partition, an issue which has almost split this Congress.

"In his speech, Ben Gurion sought to justify the Agency's action of last summer. He was heckled by members of his own Labor party. And some delegates of other parties charged there was great inconsistency between the Agency's action then and Ben Gurion's demand now for all of Palestine."

POLITICAL DEBATE CLOSES Amidst TURBULENCE

LIPSKY WARNS OF CONSEQUENCES OF REFUSAL TO PARTICIPATE IN LONDON PARLEY

OPPOSING VIEWS CONTINUE TO BE AIRED

Palestine Labor Party Votes to Reaffirm Biltmore Program

Division in Parties Accentuated. - Further Conjectures
on World Zionist Leadership

After a one-day interval because of the Sabbath, the Zionist Congress resumed on Sunday morning its stormy debate which reached a new height of turbulence, with the suspension by the Executive of six members of the Central Committee of American Revisionists for breaches of discipline.

The Sunday session was highlighted by an impassioned address by Louis Lipsky, American member of the Jewish Agency Executive who, according to a JTA dispatch said that "refusal to participate in the London Conference might set in motion forces which would jeopardize everything achieved by the Zionist movement in the last fifty years."

The New York Herald Tribune reports that Lipsky in his speech pleaded "with the World Zionist Congress to give the British Government one more chance to co-operate with Zionism before burning the Zionist bridges by an openly anti-British policy.

"It would be folly for us to accept the long list of wrongs done to us as the final form of British relations with us," he said. "England has been known before this to have a change of heart in one moment, almost in a flash, and to rectify a policy that has continued over a long period of time. England may one fine morning wake up to a new concept of its obligations to the Jewish people under the covenant entered into in the Balfour Declaration."

The suspension of the six American Revisionists was based on two counts, according to the New York Times. The first was the unauthorized submission of a request to the United Nations' secretariat to bring the Palestine question before the General Assembly. The second was the fact that Revisionists in the United States, among other groups there, published an appeal for money contributions to a Zionist "Resistance" fund "for active fighters of the Palestine underground."

"The Zionist Executive said the whole matter would be laid before the Zionist Congress' court of honor for a decision. At the moment the Revisionist party contemplates no counter-action."

At Sunday's session, (December 15th), William B. Ziff, American Revisionist leader, urging the boycotting of the London Conference on Palestine, called upon the delegates to "cross the Rubicon and take a firm position in behalf of a provisional Jewish government for Palestine." Ziff charged the present British government not only with anti-Zionism but with exporting anti-Semitism to America. He asserted that British propaganda is spreading the word that "to fulfill the Zionist program will mean war with the Arabs involving half a million American troops, that the Arabs will turn toward Russia, and that the Arabs will confiscate American oil in the Middle East."

According to an A.P. dispatch, Ziff said that "all this expertly organized mis-information paints Britain as an innocent peace-maker whose friendship for the Jew is creating a condition of jeopardy for the entire Anglo-American coalition, and it has not failed to produce its effect."

Louis Lipsky's Address

Addressing himself to Dr. Moshe Snob, one of the bitterest opponents of both partition and participation in the London parley, Louis Lipsky asked why he was so determined "to reject an opportunity to test Britain by a new presentation of the Zionist case." By joining in the Conference, the Zionists would help retain the support of the United States Government, "Lipsky said, adding that "it would be the height of folly to accept Britain's wrongs against us as the final form of Britain's relations with us."

Lipsky, - according to the New York Herald Tribune - said the opposing views were crystallized by Nahum Goldmann, who advocated compromise with Britain at the forthcoming London Conference on the basis of partition of Palestine between the Jews and the Arabs, and Meir Sneh, who said the armed strength of the Palestine Jews and the political influence of the United States could force Britain to give the Jews the whole of Palestine. Sneh said the Jews should not even take part in the London Conference, for fear of being out-maneuvered by the British.

"Dr. Sneh approaches the political situation on the assumption that Britain has unquestionably decided for all of time to liquidate its Zionist obligation," Lipsky said. "He believes that all negotiations are merely an attempt by Britain to gain time to build up public sympathy for what might be regarded as a dastardly betrayal of the Jews. He thinks Britain is committed to this betrayal. Dr. Sneh is amazed to find that anyone refuses to accept his conclusions."

Lipsky told Sneh he had nothing to lose by delaying the decision another three months or six months, but that if he threw away this last opportunity to test Britain's intentions, he risked destroying everything that Zionism has achieved in fifty years.

Gruenbaum Defends Partition

Isaac Gruenbaum, Palestine member of the Jewish Agency, defended the partition plan and urged participation in the London Conference because "Britain must report on Palestine's future status to the United Nations." A JIA dispatch quotes Gruenbaum as having insisted that the creation "of a Jewish state in the whole of Palestine was not possible at this time and that there must be more than one million Jews in the country as a solid basis for a Jewish state in the whole country. If the Jews were given the whole country, they could not defend it at this time," he said.

Dr. Bernard Joseph Calls for Biltmore Program

Dr. Bernard Joseph, legal advisor of the Jewish Agency who was among those released from the Leiria detention camp, declared that England has already in advance rejected the partition plan and that Jews therefore must fight for the realization of classic Zionism by demanding a Jewish state in the whole of Palestine in accordance with the Biltmore program.

Taking an opposite view, Hayim Greenberg, leader of the American People Zion came out strongly in support of partition. He said that there were three alternative solutions of the Palestine problem without partition, but none of them was feasible.

They were, he said, immigration of at least 1,000,000 Jews; forced evacuation of the largest part of the Palestine Arab population to another country; or establishment of a Jewish state with Jews to be granted the status of a legislative majority. Since the last two were obviously not feasible, and the first required either assistance from Britain or the United Nations, which would not be forthcoming, the only practical solution was partition, he said.

Greenberg told the delegates that in some historical situations the part is sometimes greater than the whole, and all Palestine without a Jewish majority is less than a partitioned Palestine under Jewish control. He warned that the Zionists would have to put up a fight even to secure partition.

Palestine Labor Party Asks that Partition be Scrapped

The split in the Palestine Labor party on the question of partition was accentuated at the Friday session, when a resolution of the Palestine Labor party calling for the reaffirmation of the Biltmore Declaration was made public. The JTA reports that the resolution contains four recommendations:

- 1) that the Congress should not adopt any political resolutions; 2) that David Ben Gurion should declare at the Congress that the Biltmore program which calls for the establishment of Palestine as a Jewish Commonwealth remains the political program of the Zionist movement; 3) that the incoming Executive participate in the London Conference only on the basis of the Biltmore Declaration; and 4) that the struggle for large-scale Jewish immigration and colonization as well as for Jewish security should continue.

The JTA comments that although this resolution is certain to be endorsed by many of the Labor delegates, it is unlikely that its suggestions that no political resolutions be adopted will be followed, or that the opponents of participation in the London parley will be swayed by its called for attendance on the basis of the Biltmore Program.

Shertok: Urges Participation in London Conference; Sneh Opposes.

At Friday's session, Noche Shertok, head of the Political Department of the Jewish Agency, urged participation in the London Conference, declaring that "if we go to London, it will be a new opportunity for putting up a fight for our future." He assured the Congress that the delegation which will attend the London parley "will not preside over the liquidation of Zionism and that any discussion of the federalization plan is out of the question."

Sneh Debates Shertok

Dr. Noche Sneh strongly took issue with Mr. Shertok and advised against participation in the Conference. "Britain does not seek a solution of the Palestine question and is not examining now as to when, how and to whom to yield the strategic Palestine key." He expressed the opinion that "England has decided against Zionism."

Dr. Snob said that Britain is planning new restrictive laws against Jews in Palestine. He urged the Zionists to seek the cooperation of the entire world and not merely of England. Asserting that the United States is more friendly to Zionists aims than Britain, he declared that he was not ruling out cooperation with Soviet Russia and with the Arabs.

While urging active resistance in Palestine, Dr. Snob stressed that he favored only "responsible resistance." He attacked the extremists, saying that their means did not justify the end. At the same time, he appealed for Jewish unity all over the world, especially between the Jews of Palestine and American Jewry.

Prof. Selig Brodetsky, another member of the Agency Executive, told the plenary session that he favored Jewish resistance, but was against acts of terrorism. He strongly urged Jewish participation in the London conference. At the same time he disclaimed any preference for partition as an ideal solution of the Palestine problem.

Other speakers at the Friday session were Louis Segal, Poale Zion delegate of New York, who threw the Congress into a turmoil for three-quarters of an hour when the Revisionist bloc took violent exception to the reading of an interpolation demanding in behalf of the World Zionist Laborites "clarity on the position of the Revisionists in the World Zionist Organization"; Dr. Aryah Altman, leader of the Palestine Revision, who launched a violent attack against Dr. Weizmann declaring that "he symbolized the defeat of Zionism, which has brought it to the present crisis"; and Isaac Riftin, delegate of the Hashomer Hatzair, who urged a bi-national state in Palestine. "peaceful life and development in Palestine is not possible without an agreement with the Arabs on the basis of bi-nationalism," he said.

Speaking in opposition to partition were also Zerubabel, leader of the Left Poale Zion in Palestine who called for a Jewish state with a socialist orientation; Eleazar Bentov of the Hashomer Hatzair, and Aaron Zisling, of the Left wing, Achdut Avodah, who said that only an undivided Palestine can solve the Jewish problem.

U. S. General Zionists Ask for Triumvirate

A JTA dispatch from Basle reports that at a special meeting on Sunday, December 15th, the General Zionist delegation from the U.S. voted to support Dr. Chaim Weizmann for Honorary Presidency of the World Zionist Organization and called for a three man praesidium to replace him as president.

Rabbi Bornstein, American Advisor, Reports Hundreds of Thousands Of Jews in D. P. Camps Want To Go to Palestine

Another speaker at Friday's session was Rabbi Philip Bornstein of Rochester, N. Y., advisor on Jewish affairs to the U.S. Army of Occupation in Germany, who reported that of the 192,000 Jewish displaced persons in the American zones of Germany, and more than 350,000 in other allied zones, between 80 and 90% are determined to go to Palestine. "We are no longer dealing with 100,000 Jews who want to go to Palestine," he said. "That concept has now become antiquated." He praised the U. S. Army for its treatment of Jewish D. P.'s in its zones.

Heroine of Warsaw Uprising Presides at Session

Alvin Rosenfeld cables to the New York Post that the handsome, plainly dressed young woman was the youngest person ever to preside over a session of the "Parliament of the Jewish people." As she strode to the chairman's seat the hundreds of delegates to the Congress rose and cheered.

To them, this woman with close-cut brown hair and a strong face which bore no lipstick or rouge, was a symbol of Jewish resistance.

Sivia Lubetkin, 30, a leader of the heroic but doomed revolt of the Warsaw Ghetto, had been given up for lost after the Ghetto's fall. Her obituary had been printed in several underground newspapers. But she rose miraculously from the dead several months afterwards and now lives in Palestine.

Delegates Hail Freedom in Gaoling Votes

The JIA reports that Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, speaking at a meeting of the General Zionist Confederation, stated that party discipline should not apply to political questions and that every member should be free to vote as he thought best on the basic political issues before the Congress.

Fishman Cables On Executive Composition

Jacob Fishman, cabling from Basle to the Jewish Morning Journal of New York, comments that the burden of defending the Executive against its critics in regard to the partition plan was borne entirely by Emil Leibler, Nahum Goldmann, Moshe Shertok and Dr. Solig Brodetsky. Fishman observes that it is "peculiar that David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Executive, has virtually said not a word in defense of the Executive and, in general, spoke in nebulous terms." Fishman adds that the general impression in Basle is that the political commission will work out a compromise formula which will permit the new Executive to participate in the London conference but on certain conditions.

Fishman further states that it is certain that the Congress will not support the stand which seeks to break entirely with England. He expresses the opinion that the outbreaks of the Revisionists should not be taken seriously. "Privately I know that Meir Grossman, leader of the Revisionists, has a lot of trouble with his followers, and his aggressive attitude at the Congress appears to be a kind of front to show that his party is united."

"The most difficult question before the Congress is the composition of the new executive. The solution of this question is linked with the tone and content of the political resolutions which the Congress will accept. I can state categorically that if Dr. Weizmann should remain in the administration, regardless of the post he will take, it will be on the condition that the Executive is granted discretion in regard to participation in the London conference and that the Congress should sharply condemn the Irgun and the Sternists in Palestine."

Fishman adds that there are few people here who visualize a new executive without Dr. Weizmann as an active or an honorary president. He predicts that most of the present members of the Executive will remain. The most important change will be that the Americans will be given larger representation and greater influence in the incoming Executive.

Alpern Reports that Silver, Ben Gurion and Rabbi Fishman will Comprise Triumvirate

A. Alpern, cabling to the Day, New York, predicts that regardless of the composition of the Executive, the following will be included in its membership; Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, Emanuel Neumann, Dr. Nahum Goldmann and Dr. Moshe Sneh. The addresses of all of those mentioned have made the strongest impress upon the Congress. All also agree, Alpern reports, that the American delegation is the primary factor at the Congress. He predicts that Weizmann will be elected honorary president and that the three-man triumvirate which will be proposed will be comprised of Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, head of the General Zionists, David Ben Gurion, leader of the Laborites, and Rabbi Judah Leib Fishman, Mizrachi leader.

Margoshes states Congress will Adjourn On Dec. 23rd

Dr. S. Margoshes cabled that the most popular delegates at the Congress are representatives of the D. P. Camps. They include such heroic figures of the Warsaw revolt as Zivya Lubetkin, Chaya Grossman and Stephen Ryack.

Margoshes states that the Congress will close as scheduled on December 23rd with the election of a new Executive and the adoption of political resolutions. He says almost all American delegates have booked passage on planes or steamers leaving around the 23rd. Margoshes quotes Silver to the effect that the new Executive should be elected under the theme - new people and new methods.

Zack Reports Mizrachi against Partition

Moshe Zack, Basle correspondent of the Jewish Morning Journal, cables that the Mizrachi has proclaimed its unequivocal stand against partition and against participation in the London conference.

He further states that at a conference of the Poale Zion, it was decided to negotiate with other groups regarding the composition of the new executive. It appears that the Poale Zion has not reached any decision as to the re-election of Dr. Weizmann as president, although the general impression is that if Weizmann's candidacy will be put forward as honorary president but not as president, he will surely be elected.

CONGRESS DEBATE MARKED BY SHARP CLASHERS

U. S. Hadassah Leader Calls for Discontinuance of Mandate

As the general debate moved into its second day (Thursday, December 12th), there came on the surface the sharp cleavages of the various factions attending the Zionist Congress.

Meltzer of the New York Times cabled that the first major uproar of the Congress occurred "when the Revisionist delegates took offence at an alleged slight by a Labor party member. They kept up the commotion for twenty minutes until the chairman restored order."

"The scene began when Louis Siegel of New York, representing the Jewish Socialist party, accused Meir Grossman, President of the United Zionist Revisionists of America, of threatening the Congress in his speech yesterday. Mr. Siegel also charged that the Revisionists were blocking the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation in America," the Times dispatch says.

The sharp differences were particularly apparent in the debate when Meir Grossman, leader of the American United Revisionists in a fiery speech called for the establishment of a provisional Jewish government for Palestine and urged the removal of the present World Zionist Executive. On the other hand Jacob Chasen, Palestine delegate of the Hashomer Hatzair appealed for the establishment "of a bi-national state in Palestine under the supervision of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union." Chasen criticized the Biltmore Program and asserted that a Jewish State cannot be established with an Arab majority in the country.

Counteracting Chasen's argument Isaac Tobenkin, representative of Achduth Avoda, which together with the Hashomer Hatzair make up the left-wing Labor opposition, launched a double-barreled attack upon partition and Britain, which he declared is opposed to a Jewish homeland, "because it wants to use Palestine as a military base for a third World War."

A third viewpoint was presented in the debate by Dr. Felix Rosenbluth, representative of the small group of Aliyah Hadasha, composed of German refugees in Palestine who urged cooperation with England.

Thursday's plenary session was also highlighted by addresses by Nahum Goldmann who declared that partition is the only solution of the Palestine problem, Moshe Shertok, political head of the Agency who declared that the choice for the Jewish people lay between independence and integration into a sphere of influence, Mrs. Judith Epstein, president of American Hadassah who took issue with Dr. Weizmann's view - expressed in his opening address - that continuation of the British Mandate was possible, if the British would live up to the terms of the Balfour Declaration.

A JIA dispatch reports that Mrs. Epstein charged that there is no longer any possibility of continuing the Mandate. "One must not lull oneself into a false sense of security and prevent action to solve the problem now." She traced the events in Europe and Palestine for the last fifteen years and declared that those who believed that the Mandate can be revised so as to wipe away the past, are indulging in "a false dream."

Calling for independence, Mrs. Epstein emphasized that the Zionists must find a way to establish the kind of a freedom in Palestine "that will give us the right to create an economic capacity for the absorption of hundreds of thousands of immigrants."

Resistance Is Ugly But Necessary, Says Mrs. Epstein

Dealing with the resistance in Palestine, the Hadassah leader said it was ugly, but necessary. She emphasized that she accepted "uncertified Jewish immigration" into Palestine unqualifiedly. "No political casuistry will convince the immigrants that a National Home is not a place where one can enter as one wills when one needs to and wants to," she declared.

Mrs. Epstein did not rule out cooperation with the Big Powers. She urged the continuation of Zionist work on the diplomatic front, both in the United States and other lands, "to bring on our side the great nations without whose aid we cannot achieve success." She said that it is possible to get increased support from the United States for the establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine on the basis of enlightened self-interest -- that a Jewish State would appeal to the United States' desire for the establishment of a stable highly-developed industrialized economy in the Middle East.

Goldmann's Address

In his address Dr. Nahum Goldmann, according to a JIA report, told the plenary session that Zionists must be ready for "tragic concessions" to break the political deadlock in Palestine, yet rid of foreign rule and open the gates of the country to large immigration.

Assuring the delegates that no agreement has been reached with Britain on the basis of the partition resolution which the Jewish Agency Executive adopted at its Paris conference this summer, Dr. Goldmann said the Executive is not asking the Congress for blanket powers to conduct negotiations with the British Government, but asks only that it not be forbidden to negotiate in order to ascertain what proposals can be worked out. Such proposals, he said, will be brought before a special Zionist Congress for approval, if necessary.

Recalling that he was one of the authors of the Biltmore Declaration he told the assembly that at the time the Biltmore Declaration was proclaimed no one, including himself, thought of partition. It was drawn up on the assumption that millions of Jews would be transferred to Palestine after the war, but this did not materialize. Even the 200,000 recommended by the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee are not allowed to enter, he pointed out.

Partition Is Only Solution, Goldmann Says

Under the circumstances, partition is the only way out, Dr. Goldmann argued. He warned that if no solution of the Palestine issue is found Britain will place the problem before the United Nations, or the Jews—or the Arabs—will themselves have to do so.

Should the issue go to the United Nations, he added, the Zionist movement must be prepared well in advance to state its aims. "The Jews must know that nothing is more harmful to a cause than a policy of waiting. The situation of the Jews both in Europe and in Palestine is bound to deteriorate."

Turning to what he called "diplomatic realities," Dr. Goldmann reported that only small nations who could play power politics have offered aid to the Zionists. He warned the Congress that there is a vast difference between the world situation of 1918 and that of the present with regard to Palestine. The belief that a United Nations trusteeship would be preferable to the British Mandate is a mistaken one, he continued.

He emphasized that, meanwhile, the status quo continues in Palestine and time works for the Arabs as long as there is no Jewish immigration into the country. He expressed personal opposition to terrorism, but added that people are entitled to use any weapon in order to protect themselves.

Warns U. S. Will Not Endanger Its Relations

Dr. Goldmann warned that the situation in Palestine is getting more explosive. He also warned that the belief that the United States may endanger its relations with Britain over Jewish rights is delusional. The American Government, he said, would protest as it protested against the developments in China, India and elsewhere, but that will be all.

Labor Delegate Says U. S. Jews Not Ripe For Leadership

John C. Smith of the New York Herald Tribune cabled from Basle that Berl Locker, Labor member of the Jewish Agency Executive, said "the American Jews are not ripe for leadership of world Zionism, because they do not have the cultural background and the strong ties with Palestine that characterize the Jews of eastern Europe." Locker supported the partition plan adopted by the Executive in Paris, stating that with Jews on the road from Poland and ships on the high seas headed for Palestine, there could be no delay in the establishment of a Jewish State. Locker also defended Dr. Goldmann's attempt to secure United States support for the decision taken in Paris.

Grossman's Address

In his address Meir Grossman, president of the United Zionist-Revisionists of the United States stated, according to a JTA dispatch, that "there must be no retreat from our basic formula—a Jewish State within the historic boundaries of Palestine, based on a Jewish majority."

Mr. Grossman's address was frequently interrupted by shouting and heckling which at one point forced him to halt his address. The most vociferous opposition demonstration occurred when he declared "If the Congress compromises, subsequent events in Palestine may nullify its decision."

The JTA described the scene during Grossman's delivery as follows: "Grossman spoke as much to the members of the pressidium seated behind him as to the audience, turning frequently to emphasize points which he buried in a ringing voice. Revisionist delegates seated in a bloc rose to their feet in a body when he mentioned the name of "Jabotinsky," late leader of the world Revisionist movement. The remainder of the delegation maintained an icy silence. The same demonstration was repeated when he offered greetings to all the young men and women who "stand with arms in their hands" in Palestine.

Turning to the praesidium, Grossman cried; "Three months before the Congress you dared to negotiate on partition behind our backs, now you dare to come to the Congress and tell us there is no other way out except partition." He charged that the members of the Jewish Agency Executive had negotiated with every one except with "the mounting power of the new resistance" in Palestine. "We are at war with the British," he shouted, "and this war should be recognized by the Congress."

Weizmann Favors Participation in London Conference

A Basle dispatch reports that Dr. Chaim Weizmann, speaking at a meeting of European delegates of General Zionists made a fervent appeal for Jewish participation in the conference on Palestine which will resume next month in London.

Dr. Weizmann stated that there is no alternative other than participation, since taking part in the London parley will, at least give the Jews a chance to present their views.

Speaking in the general debate S. Z. Shrapai, of the Labor Mizrachi urged that the Agency Executive and the Zionist Actions Committee should be empowered to decide whether to participate in the London conference.

Report Efforts At Compromise On Partition

Noshe Zak, Basle correspondent of the Jewish Morning Journal of New York cables that the end of the first week of the Zionist Congress indicated that an effort is being made to find a formula which should satisfy the opponents of partition and at the same time not to bind the incoming Executive in its negotiations with England in the event the latter will propose partition.

Zak reports that such a formula has already been agreed upon by the Palestine Labor party Mapai delegates. The Mizrachi delegation is still split. A similar division also prevails among the General Zionists and it seems that these delegations will not vote as a bloc, Zak reports.

Zak believes that the following compromise will win a majority: The Congress will vote for a Jewish State and give the Executive freedom to consider a partition plan if such a plan will be proposed by the British Government.

Attempts To Discredit American Zionists

The Day of New York, in its issue of December 13, carried a most interesting sidelight on the attitude of some of the Labor delegates toward American Zionists. On this aspect, Dr. Margoshes cables as follows:

"The last few years have demonstrated that American Zionism, and the ZOA, are in possession of first-rate political talent which, in the interest of the Zionist movement as a whole, should be drafted for service on the wider scene."

And to make sure they are understood, the American Zionist delegates point to Dr. Silver.

"There are other American delegates who speak out more bluntly. America, they point out, now harbors a half of the whole Jewish people. That's our numerical strength, but financially and politically American Zionism constitutes about three quarters of the full strength of the World Zionist movement. With strength goes leadership. That's a universal law. Power belongs to the greatest party. That's a democratic dictum. Hence the leadership of the World Zionist Organization belongs to him who is the choice of the ZOA. And again they point to Dr. Abba Hillel Silver.

"The Labor Zionists counter with a line of argument of their own. Some resort to name calling as an instrument of policy. Thus Ben Gurion at a party caucus called Silver the "Fuehrer," hoping, I suppose, there to demolish him forever. The more moderate and sensitive, however, play on a much more delicate, and, I might add, dangerous instrument than name-calling. They play up the old antagonism between Europe and America. America, they complain, wants to win the race for leadership with the aid of its big pocketbook. Time was when in the pocketbook were only dollars; today one finds next to the dollar bills resolutions passed by U. S. Congress and Presidential pronouncements. That's very important indeed; and the European would be the very last to try to minimize it. But that's no reason why the leadership of the World Zionist Organization should be awarded to America. European Jewry, decimated and almost annihilated as it is, still represents the great Zionist tradition, and no mere American can supplant it. The world may be undergoing a process of Americanization, but there are still values that cannot be exposed to American regimentation, -- and Zionism is one of them.

"Still others are busily engaged in trotting out the old stalking horse of class hate. The ZOA and the Americans generally, the canard goes, are bloody capitalists. Silver is anti-labor. His chief aim in life is to destroy the Histadruth. His friends and associates are all reactionaries. Thus far nobody has called them fascists, but the Congress is still young.

"Mizrahi, in an attempt to stop Silver, has conjured up the religious issue. Dr. Silver is a Reform rabbi and Mizrahi will never support a Reform rabbi for the World Zionist leadership. Put so tenuous is this line that Mizrahi had to withdraw it after its offshoot, HaPoel Mizrahi, had openly dissociated itself from it. To insist on an orthodox religious test for the presidency of the World Zionist Organization is to inject an issue that's too dangerous at this moment. One wonders how orthodox Herzl was when he rallied the Jewish people behind him.

"The emergence of Silver on the Zionist world scene is the most sensational as well as far-reaching development thus far. He may be stopped; the array of forces against him is formidable. But he cannot be silenced. Before this Congress is over much will be said that will set this assembly by its ears. Zionism is in the midst of its worst crisis. And those who brought the movement to this pass will have to hear plenty, if and when they are to be continued in office.

"And it may be that the long-foretold revolution is on its way. If this forecast is to prove true, then Silver may well be the next man. For a revolution must have its strong man, and as one looks about him here, nobody seems to qualify more for this title than Abba Hillel Silver."

Rabbiner Dr. Abba Hillel Silver

aus New York, der prominenteste Vertreter der amerikanischen Zionisten. Er gehört der stärksten Partei der Allgemeinen Zionisten an. Ob er, wie schon gesagt wurde, der Nachfolger Dr. Weizmanns wird, wird sich erst bei den Wahlen erweisen.

und den ersten Zionistenkongress in Basel. Stephen Wise erklärte, nur eine einheitliche zionistische Bewegung könne allen gegenwärtigen und zukünftigen Gefahren trotzen. Theodor Herzl habe ihm einmal gesagt, er — Wise — werde den Judentum noch überleben. Ich bin fest überzeugt, dass auch dieses Wort unseres genialen Führers Herzl sich bewahrheiten wird.

Dr. Nahum Goldmann wies in seiner Ansprache darauf hin, dass die zionistische Bewegung die einzige Weltorganisation sei, die die beiden Weltkriege überstanden habe, ohne unvergängen zu sein, sich gespalten oder neue Ausdrucksformen angenommen zu haben; das sei der stärkste Ausdruck der ungeheuren Vitalität der zionistischen Bewegung. Wenn in absehbarer Zeit die erste Konstituierung der jüdischen Nationalversammlung in Palästina stattfindet, werde eine Delegation aus Basel zur Teilnahme eingeladen werden. Von den weiteren prominenten Rednern sei hier Prof. Brodetsky erwähnt, der sehr überzeugend ausführte, dass England an der Errichtung eines jüdischen Staates in Palästina tatsächlich mithelfen werde. Der politische Leiter der Jewish Agency, Moshé Shertok, zollte der Schweiz und ihren Behörden hohe Anerkennung und lud die Schweizer Zionisten schon jetzt zur Teilnahme am 22. Zionistenkongress ein, der unter allen Umständen in Jerusalem abgehalten werde.

Die Zukunft des akademischen Standes in Palästina

Über dieses Thema sprach in einer von der Basler jüd. Studentenschaft anlässlich des Zionistenkongresses veranstalteten öffentlichen Matinée Dr. O. Wolfsberg (Jerusalem). Unter den akademischen Berufen nimmt der Arzt — im Gegensatz zum Juristen, der dem Erwerbshaben zu nahe steht — eine besonders würdevolle Stellung ein; Jerusalem hat die kleinste Kindersterblichkeit in der ganzen Welt. Dr. Wolfsberg orientierte eingehend über die Forschungsinstitute im Heiligen Lande, von denen das Weizmanninstitut in bezug auf seine Einrichtungen auf besonders hoher Stufe steht.

Die künftige Rolle des Akademikers in Palästina hängt natürlich von der politischen Lage im Heiligen Lande ab. Dr. Wolfsberg ist davon überzeugt, dass sich die jüdische Bevölkerung in Palästina in Kürze durch Neuzuwanderung verdoppeln wird; deshalb erscheint die Rolle des Akademikers berufsmässig gesichert. Eine immense Bedeutung wird im Heiligen Lande eingesetzt, so dass Architektur und Ingenieure besonders gesucht sind. Die Fürsorge der displaced persons erfordert Psychiater; auch werden zur Bildung von neuen Seminarien Lehrer von hohen Qualitäten gesucht. Besonders stark ist das Bedürfnis nach jungen Ärzten mit guter Ausbildung. Dr. Wolfsberg war abschließend darauf hin, dass der Akademiker in Palästina über seinen Beruf hinaus als Diener am jüdischen Volk aktiv teilnehmen muss. Der Beitrag des Akademikers in Palästina kann nur der sein, intellektuell, beruflich und moralisch zu der Stufe zu gelangen, die ihm in jedem Fall eine Funktion im Leben verleiht. Der Akademiker der Zukunft in Palästina wird zwar anspruchsvoller und weniger glänzend, aber viel bedeutender sein als derjenige der salten Welt.

Nach dem Vortrag von Dr. Wolfsberg sprachen verschiedene Vertreter des jüdischen Weltstudentenverbandes; besonders interessant waren die Ausführungen von dessen Präsidenten Dr. Perlitz (New York).

E.G. Am Sonntagmittag wurde schon vom Abschluss der Generaldebatte am nämlichen Tage gesprochen. Aber der Redestrom, der den ganzen Tag floss, verlängerte sich bis in die Nacht, und erst heute abend werden Ben Gurion und Dr. Weizmann die Debatte abschliessen. So hatten wir denn Gelegenheit, die Splitterparteien der Sozialisten noch besser kennenzulernen und zu erfahren, wer alles dafür ist, dass man die Londoner Palästinakonferenz besucht, und wer dagegen.

Der «bürgerliche Arbeiter» Kelenyi plädiert für Widerstand, bis England seinen Fehler einsieht.

Der Kommunist Serubabel hat nicht nur den schönen Namen jenes antiken Führers der Heimkehrer aus dem bayrischen Exil, sondern auch den gepflegtesten und weißesten Bart unter allen Kongressteilnehmern. Er führt sehr scharfe Kritik an Bevin, der nur deshalb so judefeindlich handelt, weil er ein schlechter Sozialist ist.

Die beste Rede hält Chaim Greenberg vom rechten Flügel der Sozialisten. Er verlangt, der Kongress solle eine elastische Resolution fassen, die der Exekutive in keiner Weise die Hände bindet.

Dr. Wollberg empfiehlt sofortige Teilung. Er verzerrt die Minderheit der Miarachi.

Der folgende Redner hat sich schon tags zuvor durch Verbreitung einer revisionistischen Kampfschrift dem Kongress vorgestellt. Es ist ein amerikanischer Schriftsteller, und im Kongresssaal war seine 1937 in Amerika gedruckte und in Palästina verbotene Schrift «Die Vergewaltigung Palästinas» (The rape of Palestine) in neuer Auflage verbreitet worden, eine Broschüre, die an England nicht viel Gutes lässt. die Balfourdeklaration entsprang nur eigenmütigen Motiven, weil es galt, die Türken aus Palästina zu vertreiben. Kaum war dies geschehen, so vertrieben die britischen Militärbehörden gegen den Geist der Deklaration, und der erste Hochkommissar Sir Herbert Samuel, ebenfalls selber Jude, wird als ein moderner, vom eigenen Volk verhasster Herodes geschildert. «Die fiktivsten Köpfe der Welt», die zur Zeit in Palästina wohnen, werden geflissentlich übergegangen, und wenn man dort Leute braucht, so sucht man durch Insertate in der «Times» Arer. Ganz Depariemente der Verwaltung seien «judefreien». England soll sofort seine Truppen und seine antisemitischen Beamten zurückziehen und die Türen für den Einstrom von Juden offen halten. Araber und Juden werden das Land schon selber verwälten und auf Beste miteinander auskommen. Auch ließen sich die Araber Palästinas leicht nach dem Irak umsiedeln. Was neuerdings sich in Palästina abspielt, das erinnere an die Deportationen durch die Nazis, und man könne mit einem riesigen Blutbad rechnen. Aber die Juden würden bis auf den letzten Mann, die letzte Frau und das letzte Kind lieber sterben, als ihre Waffen niedergelegen.

Dann kommt ein zionistischer Léon Blum, ein früher Dichter, an die Reihe. Er heißt Lippas, ist Mitglied der Exekutive und spricht für Goldmann und gegen Sneh. Gehe man nur ruhig zur Round Table. Zu verteidigen ist dabei nichts, meint der alte Dichter.

Sein Nachfolger Zissling ist anderer Meinung: «Der Gang zur Untersuchungskommission ist uns nur geschadet!» Warum man alles provisorisch mache? Die Arbeiterpartei werde das zionistische Ideal verwirklichen, nicht die Revisionisten.

Zuletzt spricht wieder einer von der Hasschomr Hatzairgruppe für den binationalen Staat. Es ist nicht uninteressant, dass es die sonstigen kommunistisch lebenden Siedler sind, die bereit wären, mit den arabischen Brüdern zusammenzuspannen, während oft Leute, die weit weg von Erez Israel wohnen, jegliche Arabersympathie missbilligen.

Ein unentwegter Revisionist ist der Rabbiner von Johannesburg, Rabinowitsch, der in gutem Englisch anti-englische Propaganda macht. Hellerkeit erzeugt seine Versicherung, es sei ganz unnötig, in Palästina englisch zu lernen. Wenn man mit einem Gesetz an die Regierung gelange, so bekomme man stets die gleiche Antwort: Einleitend stehe immer wieder «Dear Sirs, am Schluss cœurs obéients, und irgendwo in der Mitte «regret» (ich bedaure).

Festabend im Stadtcasino

Im Stadtcasino, wo vor 50 Jahren die Wiege der Zionistischen Weltorganisation gestanden hat, fand am Samstagabend ein vom Schweizerischen Israelitischen Gemeindebund, der Israelitischen Gemeinde Basel und der Wizo Schweiz veranstalteter feierlicher Empfang zu Ehren des 22. Zionistischen Kongresses statt, welcher der Fühlungsnahme der Kongressdelegierten mit der Schweizer Judentum dienen sollte.

Der Präsident der Basler Israel. Gemeinde, A. Götschel, und Dr. O. Brunswig, Präsident des Schweizerischen Israel. Gemeindebundes, wiesen in ihren Begrüßungsansprachen darauf hin, dass das Verlangen der Schweizer Juden gross sei, einen Abend mit den Kongressdelegierten zu verbringen, alte Erinnerungen aufzurufen und neue Freundschaften zu schliessen.

Nach Gesangsvorträgen von Mario Rothmüller (Klavierbegleitung: Irma Schachet) ergriff Prof. Ch. Weizmann, dem die überaus zahlreichen Anwesenden siebend eine Ovation brachten, das Wort, er erzählte von persönlichen Erinnerungen an Herzl

PALESTINE

No Refuge

As Jerusalem echoed with the shattering thud of mines and the staccato gibberish of machine-gun fire, the overwhelming majority of Palestine's 600,000 Jews last week turned definitely and bitterly against the terrorism of Zionist extremists. They had gone too far.

A bomb was placed in the central railway station. Grenades were thrown at the heavily guarded Mustashfi police station.

Wise World

ABBA HILLEL SILVER

In an election, the answer . . . A policeman caught outside ran into a burst of searing machine-gun fire which hit him in the stomach. From rooftops all over the city, Stern Gangsters opened fire on troops and police.

High Commissioner Sir Alan Cunningham's patience had reached the breaking point. For the fourth time in five days he summoned 62-year-old Isaac Ben Zvi, acting head of the Jewish Agency. In the thickly carpeted lounge of Government House on the Hill of Evil Counsel, Cunningham gave the bespectacled Jewish leader a frank warning that the British troops might be hard to control. The Jewish Agency would have to take positive action.

Next day the Hebrew press in a body attacked the terrorists.

Moderate Zionists prepared to combat the terrorists in part by terror. Some even planned to kidnap leaders of the extremist bands, hold them until the fanatics ceased their activities.

In one instance, poetic justice did not wait for the moderates. One night last week in the Street of the Prophet, a gang of terrorists were literally hoisted on their own petard. Their car, a 1941 Plymouth, swerving under the impact of a British machine-gun burst, hit a traffic island. Then, with door open and amatol mines falling out, it swerved and hit a child, crumpled into a tree, and exploded, blowing the two occupants into tattered shreds. Several houses on both sides of the street collapsed as the mines went off. All that remained of one Arab-style villa was a wall with a torn picture of Dr. Theodor Herzl, founder of Zionism.

The Question. Fifty years ago Herzl, after presiding at the first Zionist Congress, wrote in his diary that within 50 years the world would have heard of his dream of a Jewish state. Last week delegates to the 22nd World Zionist Congress, meeting in Basle, Switzerland, where Herzl's group had met, knew with pride and some disquiet that his prophecy had been fulfilled.

Among the delegates were tanned, freckled farmers from the Holy Land, businessmen from the U.S., Britons with Oxford accents, worn, pale graduates of Europe's D.P. camps, Jews from Finland and Aden, Dutch Guiana and China. All had come to Basle to answer the question: "Shall the Congress approve the Jewish Agency's formula for the partition of Palestine into separate and independent Arab and Jewish states as a bargaining basis with Britain?" On this question depended Jewry's attitude toward the London conference in January.

The Congress' answer would show itself largely in the election of a new president to succeed aged, ailing Chaim Weizman, distrusted as pro-British in spite of a lifetime given to Zionism. Two candidates were angling for his job. One was dynamic David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive. His opponent was a Cleveland rabbi, Dr. Abba Hillel Silver. Sad-eyed, smooth-talking Dr. Silver, who led some U.S. Jews in opposition to the British loan, opposes Ben-Gurion on the ground that the Agency's offer on partition was a tactical blunder which gave ground too readily to the British.

The partitionists had already been given the go-ahead by U.S. Secretary of State Byrnes. As the Congress got under way, they received unexpected impetus from another all-important direction. Despite fierce Arab opposition, Ernest Bevin was reliably reported as having adopted "some form of partition" as Britain's official policy.

With this head start, the Congress in Basle might well find a means to end the nightly warfare in Jerusalem. If they did not, Palestine in 1947 would surely be, as one Jerusalem newspaper called it last week, "no refuge for the wanderer."

Dr. Silver On the American Scene.

His Indictment of the Administration.

Strictures On Zionist Leaders. The Program.

By DR. S. MARGOSHES

Basel, December: — Highlights of Dr. Silver's Address On the American Scene And Running Comment:

"The contribution of America to the solution of the greatest single humanitarian problem in modern history, that of rescuing millions of men, women and children from mass extermination, is not one which fills us with any measure of pride. It consisted mainly in sending representatives to a do-nothing conference on refugees; in belatedly appointing a committee on refugees of its own, whose accomplishments were insignificant; in sending away from its shores a shipload of helpless human beings who were to find their ultimate doom in the death holes of Eastern Europe; and in the setting up, on the eve of a national election, an American detention camp for 1,000 refugees at Oswego.

The whole world, and not only America, remained blind to the ruin and outrage of our people, which is beyond words, beyond tears, beyond all utterable woe. Spiritual palsy attacked the world, and our moldering age found all sorts of excuses for doing nothing. There were transportation difficulties. There were immigration laws. There was a war on. Nowhere was there any appreciable exertion to rise above the quiddities of technicalities and the barriers of routine. And so, millions of our precious sons and daughters perished who might, otherwise, have been alive today.

The U. S. is not without its full share of blame for this terrible failure. Our country did not open its doors wide to rescue the trapped men, women and children. It did not offer even temporary asylum to them in numbers commensurate with the enormity of the tragedy. Actually, the number of visas which were granted was far below the quota allowed by our immigration laws. The number of Jews who were permitted to enter in some years was only a small fraction of the number which could have been admitted under the quota. America found it possible to transport and to admit to the United States more than a quarter of a million Nazi and fascist prisoners and to give them domicile for the duration of the war. It did not find it possible to do as much for Jews who were its friendliest allies."

Delivered at an international Jewish gathering this true depiction of the behaviour of our Government at the most critical juncture in Jewish history took on the import and the sharpness of an indictment. In my opinion it was long overdue and most certainly did not come too soon.

"The attitude of the American Government towards our cause through the years, in all fairness, might be characterized as one of mere benevolent neutrality. Our Government was at all times kindly disposed, but it persisted in doing nothing about it. It was fashioned for public officials to give warm endorsement to our movement, and it was generally assumed, even among some of our Zionist leaders, that that was all we could really expect from our Government. This attitude persisted even after the White Paper of 1939 was issued. Our Government made no protest whatever against this unilateral and unwarranted action of the British Government which clearly violated the Anglo-American Convention of 1934."

"This doc, in my judgment, had to be said about the attitude of our Government to the Jewish aspirations in Palestine. Not only have we been the recipients of honeyed words from the administration but the administration has been on the receiving line for compliments, often wholly undeserved, from us. It was high time that the bitter truth was told. This bitterness was the more notable because it contrasted with the sweetness and light served up by Weizmann to the Washington administration. But the bitterest truth Silver reserved for some Zionist leaders in America of whom he said:

"The issue which agitated American Zionists most in the last few years was the proper attitude to take towards our Government's handling of the Palestine issue. Some of us felt that our Government was derelict in pressing for our rights to which the American Government and the American people stood committed. Others were unwilling to embarrass the Administration or to embarrass themselves with the Administration. This issue in our own ranks was bound, sooner or later, to come to a head and it did. After a period of sharp controversy and public debate, the issue was decided in favor of those who believed in a frank, forthright and resolute approach to our Government and in the mobilization of American public opinion—Jewish and non-Jewish for a determined representation to our Government that it must not rest content with promises and empty statements, but that it must act."

Some expressions in the above passage are likely to shock some people back home. Dr. Silver has been noted for his forthrightness and this time he has surely left nothing unsaid about one of the worst spots in American Jewish leadership.

Silver's summary of the achievements of the Zionist movement of America, achievements to the attainment of which he has greatly contributed, is remarkable indeed. Said he:

"If I was to summarize the activities of American Jewry with reference to Palestine during and since the war I would say that in the fields of organization, education and propaganda, and material support, it did well. It carried on an effective job of public relations. It brought the message of Zionism to Christian and Jew alike. It enrolled leading Christian Americans, both of the laity and the clergy, in our cause. It won the cooperation of nearly all the members of the Congress of the United States. More than forty State Legislatures in our Union, which represent approximately 65 percent of the population of the United States, adopted resolutions in our behalf. Organized American labor came solidly to our support. A scientific poll, taken among the American people, registered an overwhelming sympathy for our objectives. American Jewry is solidly behind our movement. The Anglo-Jewish press and especially the Yiddish press have been valiant champions. The American rabbinate, orthodox, conservative and reform alike, and in our country we do not investigate the theological credentials of those who wish to serve our cause, have been strong spokesmen of our movement, and much of our effective leadership has come from their ranks.

"There has been a growing awareness of Zionism among the Jewish youth of America. Many of them have been aroused and stirred by the events of recent years. Not only the tragedy of world Jewry, but the magnificent struggle of the Yishuv has appealed to the imagination of American Jewish youth. The fact of an embattled Israel fighting heroically for its rights against tremendous odds is drawing our young people closer to us in bonds of pride and solidarity. It is our hope that we shall be able to develop a large movement of Chalutzim among the young Jews of America, and that we shall be able in the years to come to provide Palestine not only with financial support and political under-girding, but also with the fine human material."

And it is on the nose of hope that he ends his remarkable address:

"Here is where, my friends, the road ends for the moment. In the political field we have as yet only minor tactical successes. We fully realize that our battle days are far from over. The future is very uncertain. We may be facing new disappointments. We shall not be discouraged. We know our strength, our faith, our resolute purpose. We have learned not to yield to wishful thinking and pleasant illusions. We have forged a strong movement. We have a loyal and disciplined army of followers ready to give of themselves, of their substance and of their loyalty and devotion to the cause of a free Israel in a free land of Israel. This great testing hour of Jewish destiny will not find American Jewry wanting."

The whole program of American Zionism for the immediate future is put in a nut shell in these words:

"The Palestine issue is not a peripheral one, one that can be treated lightly, but one that must become one of the major objectives of American foreign policy, to which it must devote as much of its thought and energy as it does to other important political problems in other parts of the world. Palestine is a major international political problem."

Dr. Silver Slated for Key Post in Zionist Congress

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 11.—(P)—The World Zionist Congress, after a week's debate on the principal issues—whether to attend the Palestine conference in London and, if so, whether to consider the partition of Palestine—was in recess today and various committees went to work.

Slated to become chairman of the important political commission was Rabbi A. H. Silver of Cleveland, who last night declared in favor of "an undivided and undiminished Palestine" and said he personally was not in favor of going to London to negotiate with Britain. He urged the congress to elect a new leadership.

Dr. Silver is from the Central Zionist Party. Chairmanship of the standing committee, another important post, was to go to Mrs. Goldie Meierson of Palestine, Laborite.

An authorized spokesman of the congress said Dr. Chaim Weizmann of London now had a majority in favor of re-election as president.

The presidential election is expected in about five days, with Weizmann and Dr. Silver running.

The spokesman, an employee of the present administration under Weizmann, said Weizmann would not accept a secondary or honorary post in the Zionist organization and would stand or fall on his announced policy of continuing negotiations with Britain for establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine.

Dr. Leo Lauterbach, head of the organization department, announced that the rights of the executive of the United Zionist Revisionists in America had been suspended because of a breach of discipline.

$60,000,000 BUDGET FOR JEWISH AGENCY

Palestine Board's Treasurer Gives 1947 Figure—Jews in Country Put at 630,000

BY JULIAN LOUIS MELTZER
Special to The New York Times.

BASLE, Switzerland, Dec. 17.—A 1947 budget of $60,000,000 for the work of the Jewish Agency for Palestine was announced last night at the World Zionist Congress.

Eliezer Kaplan, the treasurer, indicated the vast expansion of Zionist efforts by comparing next year's target and the total of $72,000,000 collected by voluntary Jewish subscriptions in the last twenty-five years.

Reviewing Zionist activities in Palestine since 1939, he said the Jewish population had grown to 630,000. Of this number 470,000 live in urban areas and 160,000 on the land.

The Zionist movement, Mr. Kaplan declared, has equipped itself to tackle the varied tasks of state building. He said Palestine Jews were rapidly becoming a nation-economic entity with a composite social structure.

The chairman and vice chairman of eleven congress committees were chosen today. Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, president of the Zionist Organization of America, will probably become chairman of the important political committee when it meets tomorrow for the first time. This committee will draw up the mission or responsibilities of the character and size of the proposed state in Palestine and on the question whether to attend the talks on Palestine in London next month.

Revisionist delegates introduced a motion on the recent labor dispute in Petach Tikvah, Palestine. They urged that a neutral commission arbitrate clashes between Revisionist and Socialist workers. Isaac Gruenhau, a member of the Jewish Agency Executive, in charge of the Labor Department, replied at length. The Revisionist speaker and he were constantly interrupted by Socialist delegates.

C. PRESS Dec. 16, 1946

Silver Chairman Of Zionist Unit

BASLE, Switzerland, Dec. 17.—(P)—Dr. Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, president of the Zionist Organization of America, was elected chairman of the important political commission of the World Zionist Congress today.

Eliezer Kaplan, treasurer of the Jewish Agency, told a meeting of the finance committee it would have to consider an investment budget, which he believed would exceed $60,000,000.

RABBI ABBA HILLEL SILVER of Cleveland, chairman of the American Zionist Organization, criticized by implication President Truman's failure to tackle the problem of rescuing millions of Jews from "mass extermination" in an hour-long speech before the 22d World Zionist Congress in Basle, Switzerland.
