Dear Dan:

It was wonderful of you to consent at this late date to speak on our Lenten School. We enclose last year's Brochure and will send you this year's as soon as it is printed.

The date is Thursday, February 28. We always invite the speaker and his wife to come to the dinner at 6:30 and sit in on one of the 7:30 classes if he should wish. But if it is more convenient you may come just in time for the 8:30 service. The topic again is: "What I Consider Today's Most Important Issue." You may use your judgment on time. The speakers usually talk for 30 to 45 minutes, and on several occasions even as much as an hour, if they see that the audience has not stopped listening before he stops speaking.

Looking forward to seeing you.

Most sincerely,

George E. Drew, D. D.

Dear Dan:

I am sorry that the flu bug attacked you this week. I hope you have no feelings of guilt about your not coming here, because I know it was against your wishes. To further relieve your mind, I was able to get Bernard Lamos to switch with you.

It may be that you are already scheduled for something else for Thursday, April 4th. But if it is possible for you to come at that time we should be delighted. You can let me know if this is possible for you when you feel well enough to check out your schedule.

Most sincerely,

Dear George:

I was delighted to receive a note this morning that you were able to switch Bernie Lomas and myself, and the date of April 4 is on my calendar and reserved for you. I am still under the "bug" but things are looking up and I hope by the weekend to be at least paroled for routine duties. You have been most considerate and I am sorry to have inconvenienced you.

With all good wishes,

Cordially yours,

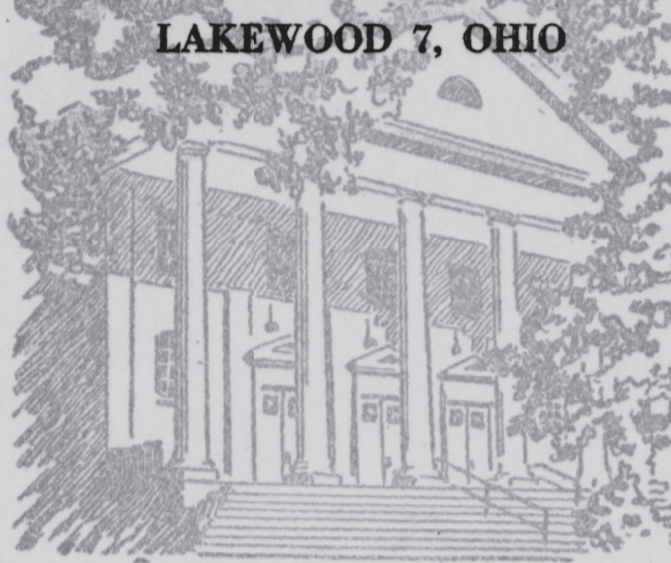

DANIEL JEREMY SILVER

Dear Dan:

Our people were very moved and stimulated by your presentation last evening. You were obviously pouring your heart out, and this always breaks beneath the surface of people's thinking and feeling.

While there is a philosophical point or two which I would love to discuss some time, in the main I couldn't have agreed with your point of view more, and greatly appreciate what you did for us.

You were especially generous in turning back your honorarium, and if there is any time when I can reciprocate, I shall be most happy.

Looking forward to seeing you on the 29th.

Most sincerely,

George E. Drew, D. D.
