Dear Rabbi Silver:

I like to think that this is a fan letter to a Rabbi from a Hazzan, if you can imagine such a thing. But I feel that I have really been a fan of yours, having read most of your articles in your bulletin and having seen you at work for these past 20 years. I have admired so many of the things that you do and, as a matter of fact, I have been envious at times of so many of the projects which you carry out so effectively for your congregation. So I feel that my admiration and praise is more than justified.

I hope that you will be blessed with continued good health and peace of mind so that you may enrich our community and Jewish life everywhere. May you find abundant time to continue writing and make your knowledge and creative thoughts available to all.

I pray that you may derive much joy and nachas from your family and loved ones. I feel privileged to have been your landsman and admirer for these 20 years and look forward, with God's help, to see that all of your gifts will be shared and welcomed by the American Jewish community for many years to come.

Ida joins me in every good wish and warmest congratulations.

I am grateful for your kind note. It came just after an evening honoring the completion of my twentieth year of service at The Temple and made me realize how time has flown.

I will see to it that you are put on our Bulletin mailing list. I don't publish High Holiday sermons but do publish some lectures in the Temple Bulletin. You might want to get the two-volume A History of Judaism which Bernard Martin and I published with Basic Books a year ago for a place in the temple library.

You may know by now that the Beth Torah Congregation, your first charge in the Rabbinate, has now amalgamated with my Temple. The membership of the old timers have told me very much about your magnificent pulpit deportment. As recently as last week I heard golden reports about your magnificent sermons.

I would be most interested to have a copy of your High Holiday sermons, as well as being put on the mailing list for your Temple bulletin. I would like to have as many back copies as you can possibly spare.

Thank you so very much. With kindest personal regards from house to house, I am

Dear Rabbi Silver:

May we take this opportunity on behalf of the Jewish Family Service Association Board and Staff to express our sincere congratulations on the 20th anniversary of your association as the spiritual leader of The Temple, and the announcement of your tenure appointment by your congregation.

Few people in our community are more deserving of the accolades that have been bestowed upon you in the past several weeks. You have truly been a most dedicated leader of our Jewish community as well as your congregation. We have always been impressed not only by your deep commitment to the continuity of Jewish life, but your fine expressions of community stewardship.

We at JFSA look forward to our continued relationships with you.

Again, congratulations.

Dear Bubbles:

I am still hearing happy comments about Sunday night. It was a beautiful evening - the program, the whole feeling and, most of all, the reception. The all-purpose room was tastefully and emphatically done. Everybody appreciated the food and it had what I like to think is a Temple look to it. I know the amount of time and effort that went into the planning and I am deeply grateful. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Daniel Jeremy Silver
